GROCERY WINDOW DISPLAYS.

SEASONABLE DISPLAYS.

THERE ought just now to be a good demand for canned fruits and vegetables. The season for small fruits is hardly yet in full swing, and on account of their cheapness and fitness for baking and cooking purposes an enterprising grocer should be able to do quite a business in them during the next ten days. A well-dressed window serves best to bring the goods before the people and canned apples may be made the subject of such a dressing.

Take a number of empty boxes, and place them in a row parallel to the front of the window, two or three feet from the glass. If the window has glass on two sides, arrange the boxes so that they will present a solid front at both sides to the glass. Let the pile of boxes be about four feet high and place a row of canned apples along the side of the pile facing the glass with the pictures of the apples on the cans all turned outward.

Another row of cans of apples is then placed on the top of the first, the cans being placed close together in every case, and each in the second row so placed as to rest on two cans in the first. Repeat the process until the boxes are hidden from view. Two or three piles, three cans wide at the bottom and three cans high, two being in the second row and one at the top, complete the display.

The use of the boxes gives the whole affair solidity without the use of more cans than are necessary.

A window may be dressed in the same way with other canned goods.

SOME SUGGESTIONS.

A good way to dress a window with peas, corn, pumpkins and other fruits and vegetables in small cans is to place boxes of different sizes in the centre of the window against the back, and so arranged that the largest box is at the bottom and the smallest at the top. A pile of three boxes arranged in this way serves best. Cover the boxes with red or blue cloth, and pile up against the sides of the cans of vegetables in an orderly way. Have the faces of the cans all turned outward in the same way, and on top of all pile them in a sort of pyramid. This being the central figure, it need not take up the whole of the window. Boxes of currants, raisins, etc., may be placed on each side and in front to fill up the window. A display of this kind can be made very attractive.

ORIGINALITY IN WINDOW DRESSING.

One of the prizes offered for the best article on window dressing at an exhibition at Islington was won by a Sheffield grocer, who said, in part:

"One sees many shop windows always well dressed, but possessing no claim to originality, and having practically the same design from month to month. Such a window grows stale, and the sameness which it possesses fails to attract any attention; the public pass it without notice, as they will some public buildings they are constantly in the habit of seeing. Such a window is valueless from its most important standpoint. It fails to sell, and does not pay. It's not worth its salt, and wastes the most important part of the proprietor's premises. Novelty of design is the great thing, and a window-dresser should always be on the lookout, and quick to grasp any new idea he thinks of, or has suggested to him. Having got the idea, work it out well, paying special attention to details. It's the little things that count, and an otherwise good window is often spoiled by some little omission. Care should be taken that goods such as soap and tea should not be placed in the same window; that the goods shown are seasonable lines, and that colors do not clash. I like, if possible, to get a striking contrast. Having worked out your design in front, the back must be well balanced, and the different colored labels so arranged that they blend well with the whole, and produce an artistic effect. Don't overcrowd your window. A crowded window defeats its object, and looks heavy and out of proportion.

"Your object should be to get it as symmetrical as possible, producing a picture, not painted on canvas or modeled in plaster, but built up of eatables appealing to the eye and palate of every passer-by.

"Current events should be noted, and use made of anything popular that is taking place. Triumphal arches used to decorate the streets of London during the Coronation would, if modeled in grocers' windows, prove a great attraction in the provinces. The window back should be suitably draped. Well worked out, this would make the public talk.

"Provision windows do not lend themselves so easily to novelty of design; still, much more than many attempt can be done. A few good plants greatly enhance the appearance and tend to make the shop look cool during the summer.

"I think it would pay anyone with a large provision window in a good-class district, or at any popular seaside resort, to have a miniature fountain playing in the centre of the window, with chunks of ice placed in the fountain bowl. If it were dressed around with tongues, luncheon pastes, potted meats and similar delicacies (suitable for picnic parties or afternoon tea), two or three plants and a few sprigs of parsley, it would have a very pleasing effect, look very tempting during the hot weather, and more than repay the necessary outlay and cost of working."

IDEA FOR WINDOW DISPLAY.

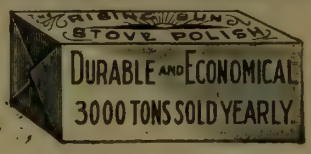
Take a good sized box and cover it with attractive-colored tissue paper, inside or out, place a picture or ad. on the rear or bottom, in front of which place any preparation you wish to bring to the attention of the passers-by, says Retail Druggist, and cover the same with a white net, although other colors could be used according to the background.



Place the front of the box towards the window, which will draw the attention of people who chance to pass that way and their curiosity will do the rest. This would be a good ad. for any preparation you wish to put in, but be sure you do not hide or obscure the picture in the background of the box. Of course, goods can be displayed in the same way, but it is the newness of the idea which will be noticed.

BUSINESS AND HOME LIFE.

By Col. George Rathbone Dwyer.

NO business man likes worry, but it is an inseparable part of his existence. He need not look for worry ; it inevitably comes to him. To worry about one's business, and then in a moment forget it all, is absolutely impossible. It is not in human nature to be able to do so. The average busy man assuredly wishes it were.

A man's home is what he lives and works for, and the greatest pleasure he has in life is to go home and forget the worries, great or small, which are the heritage of the business man.

A man's business is his own and that of his business associates, and though he cannot help thinking, he can certainly help talking.

It is a breach of confidence for a man to discuss his business affairs with anyone, save only those who are personally interested.

He goes to his office in the morning and transacts his business throughout the day, and as soon as the office door closes behind him he ceases, theoretically speaking, to be a business man.

His uptown life and his downtown life are quite distinct. He does not permit the former to interfere with the latter, and what is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander.

In my opinion, a man has no right at all to discuss business matters at home.

A business man has quite sufficient to think about during the day and quite enough matters to discuss without doing so all the evening as well.

Besides, the strain of business in these days of competition and hustle is so severe that it would be highly detrimental to him physically were he not to enjoy the relaxation which his home affords. He goes home to rest, not to work ; and though the impressions left upon his mind by the events of the day cannot be entirely obliterated at home, yet they can be so associated with other more pleasant thoughts that they cease to worry.

Office life is one phase of a man's existence and home life is another ; each has its own sphere, from which it should never be permitted to stray.

DRIED FRUITS IN SWITZERLAND.

HENRY H. MORGAN, consul at Aaran for the United States, is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Feller-Villiger, of Zurich, one of the largest dealers in dried fruits in Switzerland. It is claimed that United States' dried fruits always find a ready sale in Switzerland, no matter whether the home crops are good or bad.

The kinds bought from the United States are principally the so-called apple rings and apricots ; then follow pear chips, prunes and peaches. The first two kinds are imported in very large quantities, unless the prices are exceptionally high.

Other countries (Germany and Bohemia) furnish the ordinary dried pears, and Turkey and Servia send plums. These articles are consumed in enormous quantities and are very cheap, especially when the crops are good, and Mr. Feller-Villiger is of the opinion that the United States could not enter into competition.

The duty is favorable to the import of fruits ; for apricots, apples, peaches and pear chips (that is for all kinds without stones), 15 francs per 100 kilograms ($2.89 per 220 lb ), and for stone fruit only 2.50 francs per 100 kilograms (48c. per 220 lb.) are charged.

The late frost has done great damage to the fruit trees of Europe. The prospect, therefore, seems good for a largely-increased import of all kinds of fruits despite the fact that the new tariff, now under consideration by the Swiss Government, provides for a considerable increase in the duties on these articles.

The tables of the Trade and Navigation of Canada, compiled for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, show exports as follows :

CANADA'S EXPORTS OF DRIED APPLES.

|---|---|
| Great Britain | 656,247 |
| B. W. Indies | 76 |
| Nefoundland | 9,762 |
| Belgium | 61,938 |
| China | 1,200 |
| France | 65,192 |
| Germany | 1,783,867 |
| Holland | 1,300,124 |
| United States | 447,148 |

Total exports, 4,325,854 lb.; value $191,193.

The apple crop of Canada is reported to be a good average. Why is it not feasible to add to the above list Switzerland as well? Why should not Switzerland furnish a market as well as Holland? It might, perhaps, be well for dealers to investigate.

BEGIN AT THE BOTTOM.

A successful business man sent his son to college, and when the young man graduated the father called him into his office, relates Boyce's Hustler, and said : "My son, in a few years I wish you to take my place and continue the business I have established. I think all the world of you, and there is nothing I would not sacrifice for your benefit. The first thing necessary for you in conducting the business is experience. If I could buy experience for you I would gladly pay $100,000. I would not hesitate a minute. But since the world began no man has been entitled to start in at the top. If you are to make a success it is necessary for you to give careful attention to every feature of the business you expect to manage. You must begin at the bottom and spend several weeks in each department of every kind of work so as to learn for yourself how to do the things which you tell others to do. No one is fit to manage until he has himself been managed. Whenever you read about a house continuing in prosperous business through several generations you may be sure that the successive proprietors started in at the bottom and learned how to do the things they afterwards told others to do."

OTTAWA GROCERS' EXCURSION.

THE second annual excursion of the Ottawa Retail Grocers' Association, which took place on Dominion Day, was a great success in every way. The day was a perfect one, and everything went off smoothly. A large number of ladies and children accompanied the excursion. It was, indeed, as nice a company as ever left Ottawa for a pleasure trip.

The train pulled out of the Central Depot sharp at 8.15 a.m. with over 700 excursionists on board. Every seat was occupied, and a great many had to stand. A fast run was made to Cornwall, where the electric cars conveyed the excursionists to the lower dock. The steamer Valleyfield was in waiting, and when all was ready she started on her trip to Stanley Island.

The boat trip was made in good time, arriving at the Island before noon. The scenery along the route is very beautiful, and, from the decks of the steamer, was greatly admired by all. The only inconvenience, and it was a trying one for many, was for those who had to wait for their dinner. The number to provide for was so large that it thrice filled the dining-room, but the discomfort was more than paid for after all enjoyed the first-class meal provided by the proprietor of the Algonquin.

During the afternoon a great many of the excursionists took in the boat trip farther down the river and for two hours enjoyed the scenery.

Dancing in the spacious ballroom of the hotel was indulged in by the young people. Bowling in the bowling alley, and football on the grounds, and bathing in the river was good amusement for some of the boys; so that the hours passed too quickly when 6.30 arrived, the time for making a start home. Cornwall was reached at 7.45, and the train left for Ottawa at 8.40, reaching there at 10.15.

A very pretty part of the day's pleasure was the dancing of the little son and daughter of Mr. John Baskerville, one of Ottawa's leading grocers. The young boy Basil danced the sailor's hornpipe and the Irish jig, and little Winnifred the Highland fling and the skirt dance. It was indeed a treat to all.

The Ottawa Dairy Co. deserve great praise for the way they looked after the catering. Their employes were in white coats and aprons, and the refreshments they supplied were of the best.

Tippin Bros'. orchestra rendered the music on the boat and for dancing, and did so well that there will be no doubt that the grocers will engage them again.

Two members of the Ottawa pipe band were along also, so that music was no scarcity on the trip.

Among those noticed were Lieut.-Col. Pinault, Deputy Minister of Militia; Stewart McClinaghan; Ald. Shouldis; Albert Allard, of Provost & Allard; Gerald Fitzgerald, of Bate & Sons; J. D. McCusker, of Bedingfield & McCusker; J. E. Cox and Wm. Anstics, of J. G. Whyte & Sons; C. H. Cochrane, of C. H. Cochrane & Co.; A. E. Hall, of The E. B. Eddy Co.; A. M. Ross, of F. J. Castle; J. D. The Association have good reason to be gratified at the success of this excursion, as it will aid them so much financially.

Manager G. W. Phillips and Passenger Agent Geo. C. Hamilton, of the Ottawa and New York Railway, accompanied the excursion, and the grocers appreciate very much the way they looked after their trip.

SELECTING A SITE FOR A STORE.

When looking out for a site for a new grocery store most people pick out the place that has the fewest grocers roundabout, but the wise man investigates a little further. He finds out what kind of grocers are in the neighborhood, and if they are well-trained, enterprising dealers, he goes somewhere else for a home for his new business. That question of the training and skill and enterprise of established grocers has more to do with the ill-success of bankrupt dealers than is generally believed. Why should it be assumed that the new grocer, struggling for a foothold, is the victim of incompetency or other circumstances beyond the control of the established dealers, when it is quite possible that it is the satisfactory service of the older grocers that prevents the newcomer succeeding?—New York Merchants' Review.

TRYING TO CLASSIFY THE FROG.

The Dominion Department of Marine and Fisheries has a peculiar constitutional problem to solve. The exportation of frogs' legs into the United States has grown to an enormous industry which threatens in a few years to almost exterminate the species in this country. So the Department has been requested to institute a close season during the month of May, but a question as to its power to do so arises. If the frog be a fish the Dominion authorities have power to institute a close season, but some scientists contend that frogs come under the category of game, and this would leave the fixing of the close season in the hands of the Provincial authorities.

MOUNTAIN OF SALT.

Probably one of the greatest natural curiosities in the world, whose existence is but little known, according to an exchange, is the great mountain of salt located at Cardona, Spain, in the foothills of the Pyrenees. This marvel stands in a dreary and inaccessible region, off the highway of travel, and is only reached by a drive of 25 miles in a mule cart.

A party of scientists recently visited this giant salt mountain and reported some interesting facts in regard to the same. The mountain is several thousand feet high and is estimated to contain 500,000,000 tons of rock salt. This enormous quantity of salt is made more apparent by the fact that the bordering country of France consumes 700,000 tons a year, so that this mountain alone could furnish France with enough salt to last for 700 years.

The mountain is on private land and only worked to a limited extent.

A GOOD DELIVERY.

The schooner Helen M. Atwood has just discharged her third cargo of molasses in Montreal. She is one of the largest schooners employed in this trade, and brought a full cargo, consigned by Jones & Swan, Barbados, to various Canadian concerns. Her entire loss on the cargo only amounted to $2.72, which is, it is said, about the record.

Cause of the Advance in Beef—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

CAUSE OF THE ADVANCE IN BEEF.

THE relative percentage of high-priced, medium-priced, and low-priced beeves received depends very largely upon such conditions as the season of the year, the conditions which have prevailed during the year previous and the condition of the market.

During the fall and winter the percentage of high-priced beeves is larger than during the spring and summer. From November to June cattle are on full feed, and the beef produced is of a higher quality than that of the grassers which are received from the latter part of June to the beginning of winter.

The price of the carcass of beef is always regulated by the cost of the animal on foot. A thorough and painstaking investigation made by Government officials in 1893, in Kansas City, in which the prices of beef cattle on that market for a year were compared day by day with the selling prices of beef carcases as shown by the books of the local packing houses revealed the fact that the one went up and down with the other. An advance in the price of cattle on foot was followed closely by an advance in the price of the carcass. A decline in the price paid for beef cattle was quickly followed by a decline in the selling price of the carcass.

The general manager of the Kansas City stockyards says: "I believe that packers have actually lost money since the 'beef trust' agitation began, because they did not want to give color to the absurd stories of extortionate prices published in the daily press by advancing the prices of carcases when they were justified by the prices paid for cattle in doing so. Many feeders are now breaking up oil cake on the grass and getting excellent results. By that method of feeding flesh is put on rapidly and at less expense than when cattle are fed in the dry lot. When the movement of grass cattle from the Southwest does set in, it is probable that the number marketed will not fall much short of previous years. In the meantime there will be a decrease of 25 to 40 per cent. The supply next fall and winter will depend altogether upon the corn crop this season. If this crop is good, the supply of corn-fed cattle will not be much short of the normal by the opening of 1903. If the corn crop is a failure there will be a greater scarcity of fed cattle than there has been the past few months."

TO CURE OX TONGUES.

The following is a recipe given by The Butchers' Advocate, New York, for curing ox tongues:

"To 10 gals. of water add 3 lb. of sugar, 12 lb. salt, ½ lb. saltpetre, ½ lb. dry antiseptic. Also place in a thin cloth bag ½ lb. of bruised Jamaica ginger; 2 oz. bruised cloves and ½ lb. of bruised pepper corns, and let it float in the brine. The pickle should be boiled to 98 degs., salinometer, and skimmed till clear. If it is stronger than 98 degs., reduce with water that has been boiled. The tongues should be fresh and free from slime, and if possible chilled to 38 degs. F. before curing is attempted. The tongues should be rubbed with a little fine salt so as to free them from slime, and the needle of the pickle pump stuck two or three times into the roots and once down the centre from the root end. Immediately after throw the tongues into the pickle and weight them down with stones. They should be left in the pickle seven days, and then the bag containing the ginger, etc., removed. The tongues are then mild cured. To cure them perfectly let them remain in the pickle seven more days."

BEST PAYING STEER FOR CARCASS BEEF.

By N. L. Shubert, Rockport, Me.

An animal to be most profitable for a beef steer must be an early maturing one, one that fattens quickly and lays on lots of flesh. In order to lay on flesh the animal must have a form which has plenty of room for flesh. This form must, therefore, be broad, square and blocky. Also to lay on flesh the steer must be a good feeder, one that will eat lots of food and utilize that food for making flesh.

To get an animal that is a good feeder we want one that has what is known as good quality—that is, a loose, pliable skin covered with fine glossy hair. Why? Because it has been found that animals having a loose, pliable skin covered with fine glossy hair do feed better than those with a tight skin covered with bristly hair. Fine, smooth bones are wanted in a profitable beef steer so as to get a large per cent. of flesh from him when he is dressed, and not a pack of large rugged bones.

A profitable beef steer must be one that will lay his flesh on the parts which bring the most when sold at the butcher shop. And this a steer cannot do unless he is so formed that the parts on which the best flesh is are developed so as to hold plenty of it. I will now endeavor to describe the qualities a profitable beef steer should have and tell why they should be such:

The head should be short and small, because it does not contain any valuable flesh, and because a short head invariably goes with a short, thick-set body.

The forehead should be full, broad and high, so as to show intelligence.

The mouth should be large and the muscles of the jaws well developed, so as to indicate a good food grinding apparatus.

The eyes should be full, bright and clear, because this indicates great vitality and vigor, two of the most important qualities.

The neck should be short, thick and set firmly on the shoulders, because this indicates a short, thick-set body and a tendency to lay on flesh.

The shoulders should be compact and well covered with flesh, so as to give smoothness of form and flesh on forequarters.

Short, straight and wide-apart forelegs are wanted to give a good foundation for the forequarters. Legs should be short, because they are not worth much, and, anyhow, short legs are stronger than long ones.

The chest should be wide, deep and thick-set through the heart, so as to give plenty of room for the most important organs of the body, viz., heart and lungs.

The brisket should be deep and moderately projecting and breast wide, because this goes with a well-formed chest.

The girth of the animal should be large, because this indicates a good chest.

The chops, or that portion just behind the withers, should be full, because this is one of the most valuable meat portions.

The back must be short, straight and broad; short, because a short-backed animal is an early maturing one; broad, so as to give room for lots of flesh; straight, so as to give good support.

Ribs should be well sprung and arched in order to give plenty of room for the digestive organs. It is a well-founded fact that a large, deep chest and a capacious stomach are good indications that an animal has the capacity to utilize large quantities of

COOKED MEATS

During the past year or two there has been a large and increasing demand for Cooked Meats. The housewife does not care to burn coal and heat up her kitchen when she can procure what she wants for tea, dinner or luncheon ready cooked at her grocer's or provision dealer's, not only so, but at a moment's notice, and at less cost than it can be bought and prepared at home. food and make rapid progress in fattening. The ribs should be well covered with flesh, because this is a good indication that the animals fatten well.

The rump should be long, level and wide, so as to give plenty of room for rump steak.

The thighs ought to be full and well fleshed, in order to yield plenty of good round steak.

The flank should be full, low and thick, because, if they are, the thighs will generally be full and well fleshed.

The hind legs should be short and straight so as to give good foundation for hind-quarters.

The tail should have a smooth base, fine bone and a fine hair switch; smooth base so there will be no fear of having lumpy patches of fat gathering there. This is very objectionable, because it spoils the looks of the steer, and looks go a great ways in effecting the sale of an animal. Fine bone in tail indicates that the animal is fine boned.

Then after all this we want an animal that has some life in it, one that will always be there to eat and one that is not wild, because a wild one is bothersome, and besides he is wasting flesh while running and jumping everywhere.

Now we might ask in what breed will we find such a beef steer? Well, there is no distinct breed of animals best for beef purposes, but any of the Shorthorn, Hereford or Aberdeen-Angus breeds will do, because they originated in England where they were bred strictly for beef purposes. These are the best breeds of to-day, and a steer of any of these breeds, and having the qualities already described, will be the most profitable beef steer.—National Provisioner.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Trade in dressed hogs is slow and the receipts are small. Beef continues active and strong and prices for carcasses have advanced $1 per 100 lb. Veal is selling freely and lambs are firmer. The live stock market continues stationary. Our quotations follow: Dressed hogs, $8.75 to $9; beef carcasses, $8 50 to $9.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $8.50 to $9.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $6.50 to $7.50 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 8c. per lb.; lambs, 10½ to 11½c. Live hogs: Selects, $6 87½; lights, $6.50 to $6 75 per 100 lb.; choice export cattle bring $6 to $7.00 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $5 to $5 75.

Trade in provisions continues steady and the prices are unchanged. The demand for lard is good. The cold and damp weather of last week and the early part of this has been against the business. We quote: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.;

smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23 to $23.50; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.; plate beef, $15.

MONTREAL.

The market for almost all lines of hog products is firm. Fresh pork has been selling much better, and during the past week an active trade is reported. Smoked meats have been moving out well, as have hams and bacon. The latter is somewhat scarce at present.

Live hogs are somewhat lower in price this week, small lots selling at $7, which was the price paid for round lots a week ago. The tendency, however, is towards a higher price, the market having become somewhat firmer, and packers being willing in some cases to pay $7 for round lots.

In dressed hogs the demand has been good, but is falling off some, and at present the market is quieter. Butchers are now pretty well supplied, and until their stocks have been cut into pretty well, the demand will be limited. The price, however, has been steady at $9 to $9.50 per 100 lb., for country killed, and $9.25 to $9.75 per 100 lb. for fresh abbatoir stock in jobbing lots. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $23.75 to $24.00; Chicago clear pork, $26.50 for heavy and $25.50 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 13 to 14½c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.32½ to $2.35 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 10c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20-lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20-lb. wood pails, ½c.; 10-lb. tins, ⅝c.; 5-lb. tins, ¾c.; 3-lb. tins, ⅞c. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.95 per pail; Cottolene, 11¼c. for 20-lb. pails, and 11c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

OTTAWA.

Ham and bacon is high in price for the best brands. Some smaller manufacturers are selling at lower prices, such as 12½c. for ham and bacon, while the best quality is worth 14 to 15c.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled meats, sale is light and the prices are high and rather firmer. In smoked meats only a retail business is done. Lard is firm at full figures. There is a fair sale. In fresh meats, beef is still held at the high figures. Lamb is quite freely offered, but at full figures. Little veal is now seen. Pork is scarce and high. We quote: American mess pork, $23 to $23.50; domestic mess pork, $21.50; plate beef, Canadian, $14 to $14.50; clear pork, American, $25.50; plate beef, American, $17 to $18; veal, 4 to 7c.; lamb, 4 to 5c.; mutton, 10 to 12c.; fresh beef, 8 to 10½c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 12c.; pure lard, pails, 12¼c.; compound lard, tubs, 9½c.; compound lard, pails, 9¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾ to 11c.; pails 11¼ to 11½c.

A car of Fairbank's "Standard" lard was distributed to the trade this week.

Mr. Saunders, Calais, Maine, representing Armour & Co., has been calling on the trade.

WINNIPEG.

DRESSED MEATS — The market is firm and there is no surplus supply. Beef runs from 8½ to 9½c.; mutton, 13c.; lambs are still scarce at $3 50 to $4; veal, 8½c.

CURED MEATS—The market is strong with a tendency to advance, and the trade all week has been heavy. We quote: Hams, 14¼c.; shoulders, 10¾c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 15¼c.; backs 14c.; spiced rolls, 11½c.; long clear, 12c.; dry, salt long clear backs, 12½c.

LARD — Market normal and prices unchanged. Tierces, 11⅞c. per lb.; 50-lb. tubs, $6.05; 20-lb. pails, $2.50; 10 lb. pails, $7.60; 5 lb., $7.70; 3-lb. pails, $7.75.

GROCERY CLERKS' PICNIC.

THE Grocery Clerks' Association of Toronto had a most enjoyable picnic on Dominion Day at Niagara-on-the-Lake. About 80 clerks and their friends went over on the Chicora and Chippewa.

On the 9 o'clock boat a guessing contest was held that elicited considerable interest. It was confined to those wearing badges of membership of the association.

After dinner had been enjoyed at the American Hotel a football game was played on a field near Niagara Park. Sides were chosen, and the way the ball was kicked around the field was astonishing to the beholders. Several times it got through the goal. The honors of the game were conceded to Messrs. Bail, Helstrop, Turpin and H. Brett, the goal-keeper of the winning side who only allowed the ball to pass through his goal once, while it got through the other six times.

Shortly after 2 o'clock, according to the programme, there were held running and jumping contests. Several of the contests were keenly contested. The tug-of-war was exciting, as the sides were well matched; and the experience of the contestants in rolling and handling barrels of sugar and sacks of rice was apparent in their perseverance. Nineteen prizes were awarded for the races alone.

The committee of arrangements, Messrs. Bail, Turpin, Helstrop, McGrath and Anderson, are to be congratulated upon the success attending their efforts, for the clerks say it was one of the best picnics they ever had. Mr. R. H. Hudson was referee for the games, and gave satisfaction to all.

TWO NEW AGENCIES.

Mr. William H. Dunn, Montreal, has recently been appointed agent in Eastern Canada for the Borden's Condensed Milk Co., of New York. This company has bought up thirteen condensed milk companies in the United States, and they now have a factory at Ingersoll, Ont., from where shipments will be made of their different brands of milk, including the "Eagle" brand. Mr. Dunn has also just been appointed the direct agent in Eastern Canada for Bensdorp's Royal Dutch cocoa. He is to be congratulated on securing these two agencies, each of which is among the best of its line in Canada.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are offering good values in green Rio coffees.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have a special snap in mixed pickles in pint and quart gem jars.

R. & J. H. Simpson Co., wholesale grocers, Guelph, Ont., are receiving this week a large shipment of selected Valencia raisins, which they are offering at remarkably low prices. Quality guaranteed.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are offering canned salmon for present delivery at very interesting quotations.

LEAD IN TINS OF CANNED GOODS.

A number of complaints have been received by grocers lately from their customers regarding the presence of loose pieces of lead in canned fruits and vegetables. A portion of the lead becomes detached in soldering the tin and falls into the contents of the can.

Serious results might follow should anyone swallow a piece of this lead.

The packing season is near at hand and the present is therefore an opportune time for the packers to devise ways and means of remedying the evil.

OUTLOOK IN LARD PRICES.

THE N. K. FAIRBANK CO., Montreal, advise us as follows, under date of July 2, in regard to the American market for hog and compound lard, and its probable effect on the Canadian market:

"The week closed in the United States with 5c. advance on lard, and substantial advances in the grain market. Corn, which very positively affects the price of lard, is particularly strong, due to considerable talk of serious damage to the corn crop in some sections, notably Texas and Indian Territory.

"The week's packing in the west of the United States was less than last year to the extent of 95,000 hogs, making the shortage since March 1, 1,115,000 hogs, or 15 per cent. behind last year in the same period.

"Strange as it may seem in face of the foregoing, the market in Canada for hog lard is some cheaper, although good sales of compound have been maintained, and should any decline occur it will be because of a temporary lower price for hog lard, which, no doubt, will react, as the conditions that affect the price of hog lard in Canada are the same as in the States. For although the fluctuations in price do not occur simultaneously, sooner or later the effect of a firm market in the States shows its influence here. There is nothing to indicate lower prices on lard compound, except lower prices for hog lard, and the fact that compound prices in the United States are badly demoralized (as a consequence of circumstances which have no bearing on the intrinsic values), and in the event of quotations coming from the United States to Canadian trade, "Boar's Head" brand of refined lard compound would probably meet this competition; so it would be unwise for any buyer to purchase foreign goods on the temptation of a cut price. The actual price of the best cotton oil frying and shortening mediums is practically the highest of the season."

On Saturday the wife of Mr. S. H. Moore, Fern avenue, Toronto, city traveller for the Comfort Soap Co., presented her husband with triplets, two girls and a boy. The trio are rosy, healthy babies, and weigh collectively 19½ lb. THE CANADIAN GROCER joins with the young couple's numerous friends in offering their congratulations.

Carelessness.

It is safe to estimate that fully one billion dollars of Merchandise is annually given away by kind hearted merchants who have formed the habit of Down Weight. At the same ratio we figure that the Money-Weight System now in use in over one hundred thousand stores is annually saving fifteen million one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars.

Shouldn't this convince you of its usefulness and importance in every well regulated business?

THE TOURIST ASSOCIATION MOVEMENT.

CANADIANS feel a national pride in their country, a pride increasing with wider information and a more thorough knowledge of its boundless resources. The strenuous activity of its industrial enterprises throbs with a quickened pulsation under the vitalizing influence of a limitless supply. Broad harvest fields, ever extending their boundaries, flout at famine or at want. But even we Canadians are just awakening to the capabilities of the land we own.

In no country can the realization of the adage "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" be better attained. Canada can supply the means for rest, for recreation, as well as for work. Nature laughs in the ripples of sparkling rivers, and frowns with the grandeur of towering mountains, and teems with the life of fine old forests. Island homes give a charm and a repose to refreshing holidays.

When these advantages are seized by us, it means a vitalized energy and a freshened zeal which represents great capital when we resume work. When these advantages are seized by strangers, it means expenditure for our good, the development of great pleasure places, and profit for the country.

The only way to attract others is to extend our reputation, to let people know about us, to acquaint them with the fact that Canada is, par excellence, the place for tourists. Tourists' associations effect the required advertising better than all other means. In previous numbers the commendable zeal of associations already formed has been noted.

Victoria has taken the lead on the Canadian Pacific Coast, but others have been formed at Nelson and New Denver, and Vancouver is agitating for one.

The formation of tourist associations diverts from other quarters to our own districts much of the summer expenditure of wealthy outsiders.

THE RIGHT VOCATION.

NEXT to the possession of enterprise and energy that will not be balked by obstacles, there is nothing more necessary to success in life than the choice of vocation.

Unless there is adaptibility there can scarcely be success. It is better to be a first-class bootblack than a poor lawyer. One of the evidences of this is to be seen in the experience of a certain New York bootblack.

Eighteen years ago he began business in that city. His outfit consisted of the usual bootblacking kit slung across his shoulder. He was industrious as well as ambitious, and he finally secured a stand in the Produce Exchange building, and became known as "Tony, the Bootblack." Eventually he had stands in other buildings throughout the city besides, and it came out in court the other day that he was now worth $1,000,000.

It should be stated that all this million dollars was not made by blacking boots, but he saved a large sum of money from his work, and with the money thus saved he did some speculating, and with successful results.

Possibly, if Tony had gone into any other vocation than blackening boots he would have been a failure rather than a success.

THE STRONG EGG MARKET.

THE Toronto egg market continues strong. Quotations this week are 14½ to 15c. per doz. for fresh eggs, against 11 to 11½c. for the same period last year; and there are yet no signs of a decline in value. On the contrary, it looks as if eggs will continue high all season.

The causes of this firm tone in egg circles are not easily explained. The receipts and the amount of stocks in store seem to be large. The season opened two weeks earlier, and for the first week or so the prices were weak. Merchants and exporters commenced pickling operations and the prices went up and stayed high until the present time.

It is said that there has been much competition among local buyers for this product for purposes of pickling and cold storage. Not so many have been placed in pickle this year, but reports say that large quantities have been laid away in cold storage, a thing that could not be done last year through lack of proper facilities. More people also are in the egg-pickling, cold-storing and exporting business this year than last, and the result has been that the competition has forced the prices up to their limit.

Another important factor in sustaining the high prices of eggs is the strong market for beef and pork. Farmers find that it pays better to consume their eggs and sell their hogs and cattle for export, instead of selling their eggs, as heretofore, and eating pork and beef. The home consumption has been large all round, owing to the strong meat market, thus leaving fewer eggs for pickling and cold-storage purposes.

Reports from Great Britain do not show a strong market there for eggs. A letter recently received by an egg exporter says that in Liverpool first-class Russian eggs can be bought at from 4s. 10d. to 5s. 6d. The former is equal to 12c. and the latter 13 to 20c. per doz. Here competition has forced prices up to 14 and 15c. for eggs just as they run, and it is rather a singular condition of our market for us to pay more for stock to the stores than they can be bought for to-day at current market rates in Liverpool.

THE ALL-POWERFUL SUGAR INTERESTS.

WHILE the sugar market in the United States may at times be weak, the sugar interests there appear to be always strong. At least, this appears to be the experience of recent years.

The well-known power of the Trust has been time and again exemplified in influencing Congress in legislative matters. And during the last two or three years, since the question of securing treaties with the different islands in the West Indies came up, the influence of the cane sugar producers of Louisiana has been more than once in evidence in preventing the ratification of the proposed treaties.

Now another branch of sugar industry has come greatly into evidence, namely, that of the beet-sugar industry, in preventing the ratification of the proposed treaty with Cuba. This treaty only proposed a reduction of 20 per cent. on Cuban products, which, of course, means sugar principally.

This is the same reduction that was proposed by the Dingley tariff. At that time there was no beet-sugar industry, and the opposition was not strong enough to prevent the proposal becoming law. Now, of course, the case is different.

It may perhaps be interesting to know that according to the last census there were 31 establishments making beet-root sugar, the invested capital of which was nearly $21,000,000. The average number of wage-earners was less than 2,000, and the wages paid a little over $2,000,000.

This industry, comparatively small as its employes are, has, for the present Congress at any rate, succeeded in preventing the treaty being ratified in spite of the strong influence of President Roosevelt, who was in favor of liberal concessions being granted to the new Republic, which was four years ago liberated from Spanish rule by the United States.

The cane-sugar interests in the United States appear to have held aloof in the present contest between the beet-sugar men and the advocates of reciprocity with Cuba, while the Sugar Trust is preaching free sugar, its idea being, of course, to deprive the beet-sugar industry of the protection of the tariff.

In Canada, or, more correctly speaking, in the Province of Ontario, the beet-root sugar industry is beginning to develop. There are four or five refineries under way. It is to be hoped that the industry in Canada will not, like that in the neighboring Republic, exercise its influence in preventing Parliament from passing necessary legislation which would be to the general welfare of the country.

BOARDS OF TRADE AND LABOR TROUBLES.

THE successful manner in which the representatives of the Toronto Board of Trade carried on the negotiations which brought about a settlement of the street railway strike in Toronto, has emphasized the importance of the Toronto Board of Trade as a medium of conciliation in labor disputes.

The Toronto Board of Trade, as all other boards of trade, is essentially a representative business body, and no one knows better than its members the evil effects of strikes, for no one certainly suffers more, next to the families of the strikers, than the business interests of a community in which there is an open rupture between capital and labor.

Some years ago the Toronto Board of Trade obtained certain powers to enable it to act as a board of conciliation in regard to disputes of various kinds, but hitherto its work in this direction has been of little importance, and certainly has never attracted as much attention as its recent successful efforts in regard to the street railway strike in Toronto.

The London Chamber of Commerce has for some years done a great deal of good work in the way of conciliation, and there is no reason why such important boards of trade as those of Toronto and Montreal should not be as useful.

No one is certainly more competent than business men to adjudicate upon such questions as are embraced in disputes between capital and labor. They do not look at the questions in dispute from a technical standpoint, nor are they influenced by fine points of law. They look at it from a business and common-sense standpoint and act accordingly.

It is to be hoped that the experience of the Toronto Board of Trade will inspire other boards of trade throughout the country to emulate its example in the matter of local disputes between capital and labor.

THE LOBSTER INDUSTRY.

A DESPATCH from Ottawa a few days ago said that the Government had decided to extend for this season the time during which lobsters could be taken in the Maritime Provinces. This will be welcome news to those engaged in the industry, in view of the fact that the present season has so far been an unsatisfactory one, on account of the lightness of the catch.

This action of the Government again draws attention to one of our most importan industries. According to the Statistical Year Book for 1901, the total value of the catch of lobsters in the four Provinces, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, is a little over $3,000,000; the number of 1-lb. cans put up is 10,548,290, valued at $2,109,655, and the number of canneries, 119. The tota[l] number of persons employed in the lobster industry is over 18,000, while the aggregate value of the different plants is about $1,500,000.

The lobster fishing industry in the United States has become almost a thing of the past, and there is great danger that the industry in Canada will also fail, unless some scheme is devised whereby this industry will be saved.

The Canadian Government has given a great deal of attention to the matter and various experts have been engaged in trying to devise ways and means of perpetuating the industry. The fishing at present is carried on in comparatively shallow water, but it is held by fishery experts that there are two species of lobster. One is found in shallow water, and the other in the deep sea. It is to this latter lobster, which is held to be as good as that which is at present caught in the shallow water, that attention is at present being given. The difficulty, it seems, is of securing the fish in the deep waters. It goes without saying that there is a general hope that the desired ways and means will be finally discovered.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

UNITED STATES CORN PACK.

PRIVATE mail advices from corn-packing sections in the United States say that the outlook for the coming corn pack is poor. The letter states: "Cool weather has interfered with the growth seriously, and in some sections the prospects do not favor more than 80 per cent. of an average pack, as a great deal of replanting has been done which will hardly come to maturity before the close of the season."

CURRANTS IN NEW YORK.

Spot stocks of currants were increased to-day by the arrival from Greece ex Georgia of 3,403 bbls., 1,815 half-cases and 100 quarter-cases. In view of the already large stocks and slack buying interest the arrival, while at the moment affecting the situation but slightly, is conceded in some quarters to be a somewhat depressing factor. To-day business in the article was light, and, while holders quoted 4¾c., it is believed that a firm offer a shade under this figure would purchase in several quarters.—New York Journal of Commerce, June 30.

DAMAGED RICE CROP.

New Orleans advices say that the rice crop in Louisiana has been damaged at least 25 per cent. by the prolonged drouth. The rains of Friday have benefited the sugar cane and saved the crop, but the rice crop is too far advanced, harvesting having begun in many localities. Salt water from the Gulf entered the bayous and streams in the rice district and made it impossible for the pumping plants to pump the water into the irrigating canals. As a result the rice was permitted to parch under the burning sun, and much of it is ruined. The experience of the present season will have the effect of causing all of the large planters to abandon the water supply from bayous and make them sink deep artesian wells for irrigating purposes.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

The salmon market remains very firm, and though market transactions are not on a large scale, a fair amount of business has been done, more especially in Fraser flats. Fraser River talls are in exceedingly small supply, and holders of these goods are inclined to advance prices still further. The cheapest grade of salmon at the present moment is the finer quality of Alaska, which as yet show only a small, if any, improvement in value. This class of goods on present valnations is not only the cheapest line of canned provisions offering, but should prove the most profitable to the retailer; and, although buyers up to the present have only been filling their requirements on the hand-tc-mouth principle, it becomes now a question whether it would not be wiser to hold larger stocks, as there is a possibility of quotations advancing any moment.—Produce Markets' Review, June 14.

SITUATION IN CURRANTS.

There is a better general demand for currants, resulting in market operations of a more liberal character than last week. Prices are now sufficiently reasonable to induce some measure of confidence among traders generally as regards, at least, the immediate future, whatever the new season —still some three months distant—may bring forth. The late arrivals of better fruit have been very welcome at the reasonable prices asked, and have met with a good reception. One further shipment of about 400 tons, which may also be reasonably expected to include some good fruit, is due to arrive in about a fortnight. A definite report as to the new crop, received viva voce from a very reliable authority, who travelled through the growing districts at the end of last week, is as follows: "The only damage which has occurred has been in the Campos (Amalias), Pyrgos and Zante vineyards, and may be considered to have so far reduced the yield by some 10,000 tons. There are at present no indications of further damage, but the risks continue unabated from now until the fruit is actually gathered. Should circumstances be favorable, a fairly large yield of excellent quality may be expected."—Produce Merchants' Review, June 14.

THE PEA PACK IN THE UNITED STATES.

The situation in peas will be one remarkable in the history of pea packing. It would seem that this staple is seeking to emulate tomatoes in respect to value, and fine grades of peas are almost daily advancing in price. It is now carefully calculated by experts that there will be, for the next 12 months a shortage in the supply of sifted and extra sifted peas of all kinds. The pea crop of the Chesapeake region is virtually a thing of the past for this year; that of New York State only began to come to the packers last week, and is known to be seriously injured, which injury, coming on a retarded crop, is almost certain to reproduce in that State the conditions which have caused the shortage in the finer grades of peas. Wisconsin is even in a worse condition than New York, and the middle section of the West is not regarded as a producer of fine peas; hence the outlook for a supply of fine grades of peas is quite gloomy. On this calculation, all the finer grades have advanced in price, and, we believe, will continue to further advance. Even in marrowfats, the fine grades are as scarce as in the early June varieties, and, on an average, peas will be good stock for the next twelve months.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md.

IT IS A TAX ON PEDDLERS.

In a recent issue referrence was made to a tax which the city of Quebec proposed to place on commercial travellers. It turns out, however, according to an explanation which has been furnished by the authorities of that city, that the tax is not aimed against the regular commercial traveller, but is to apply to what are commonly called peddlers.

Peddlers, as we all know, contribute very little towards the support of the municipality, while they frequently do a great deal to disturb trade and the profits of the legitimate merchant. While the Quebec tax of $300 may be excessive, it is obvious to everyone in business that the ordinary peddler should be made to pay at least a fair tax.

Toronto, July 3, 1902.

GROCERIES.

TRADE in groceries continues to keep up fairly well notwithstanding the cold and wet weather of last and the early part of this week. The dullness pervading the local sugar market has been mainly owing to these unfavorable weather conditions, which keep back the ripening of the fruit. The prices of corn and peas, in sympathy with the late advances in canned tomatoes, have stiffened, peas being now 2½c. higher than last week. There has been an advance in fine raisins of ¾ to 1c. per lb., and the market for them is active and strong, with small stocks on hand. Business in Indian and Ceylon teas keeps up fairly well, but China teas are scarce on the local market, and China greens are held at high figures. The coffee situation shows a fair demand for green Rios and roasted coffees. Rice and tapioca continue to move quietly. Little is being done in syrups and molasses, the prices of which are unchanged.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for all classes of canned goods this week has been not quite so active as last week. The late advances in tomatoes have been maintained, and this has affected the prices of corn and peas, which latter are held firmly at 82½c. and upwards, an appreciation of 2½c. over the prices of a week ago. Some houses are demanding even higher prices than those quoted above for peas, and one or two have advanced to 70c., their prices of corn. Others, however, while holding the latter firmly, have made no quotable difference in prices. Our quotations are $1.10 and upwards for tomatoes, 82½c. and upwards for peas, and 65 to 70c. for corn. Io fruits, trade has been fair. Some new strawberries are quoted to arrive at $1.50 to $1.75. The demand for canned meats is moderate, and prices are steadily maintained. Salmon still shows activity, and the new catch of lobsters are now on the market. The first of the new kippered herring are expected to arrive this week. We quote as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality, and canned haddies, $1 to $1.10.

COFFEES.

There has been a light local demand for green Rios; the market for mild greens is dull, and roasted coffees show fair activity. The outside markets continue quiet with a tendency to sag. The European markets still show signs of weakness, which is ascribed to large receipts of coffee at Rio and Santos. Our quotations are now as follows: Green Rio, No. 7, 7⅞c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

NUTS.

The local market for nuts is still without features and the movement from stock is very small. There has been a recent advance in the outside markets, which has been firmly maintained.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The local trade doing in rices continues fair and tapioca is steady and unchanged. The outside market reports indicate that rice is firm, with a steady demand for the better grades. After the recent rains in the Southern States, the general impression is that the outlook for a good crop of rice in that quarter is more promising. Tapioca outside was quiet and slightly easier for shipment.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Not much trade is being done here in either syrups or molasses, which continue unchanged in price. Outside reports tell of steady markets for the grocery grades of New Orleans molasses, a decidedly limited business, light offerings, and only a moderate call for deliveries on outstanding contracts. The tone of the outside syrup market holds steady. We quote as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in barrels and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle.

SPICES.

The local trade is quiet and unchanged. No important changes have occurred in the foreign markets. The prices of pepper are steady, and ginger is reported strong.

See pages 35 and 36 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John and Halifax prices current.

SUGAR.

The stagnant tone of the sugar market was more pronounced at the beginning of this week owing to the unfavorable weather delaying the ripening of fruits. Prices are weak, with no perceptible change over the quotations of a week ago. London, Eng., advices report a dull and easy market for beet sugar at unchanged prices, and cane continues without change. There was a slight declension in the prices of raws in the United States last week, the change being from 3-16 to ¼c., but refined remained steady. The total meltings in the Republic were 33,000 tons, and the receipts were 44,030 tons, making the total stock in the four United States ports 130,620 tons, as against 119,590 tons last week and 270,799 tons last year. The decline in raw sugars followed the decision at Washington to do nothing for Cuba, at the present Congress. This made holders of Cuban sugars discouraged and anxious to sell. Buyers, having sufficient supplies, were disinclined to buy, and so few sales were accomplished, and all showed a reduction in prices below the lowest heretofore reached. The sugars are being pressed for sale faster than they are needed, and, as the refiners must carry them meanwhile, a reduction in price is necessary to offset the storage expenses. There has been an increase in the receipts from Cuba, and the exports from the island are 173,000 tons, as against 12,300 tons for the same week last year. The free selling of Cuban sugars will undoubtedly continue, and the general situation is not reassuring. The total stocks of sugar in the United States and Cuba together last week amounted to 552,620 tons, against 553,590 tons last week, and 412,081 tons last year, an increase of 140,539 tons over last year

TEAS.

The Eastern tea markets are reported as holding firm. The London, England, markets show a widening in the difference in price between good and common Indian teas, the tendency of the former being to advance, and of the latter to recede in value. The few new season's teas brought forward attracted but little attention, being only of ordinary quality. A further weakness was shown in low-class Ceylon teas, that have been gradually falling in value for some weeks past, but fully maintained were the higher prices lately ruling for good and fine teas. Slowness in sales of the low grades of Java teas were reported, and the better kinds were fairly steady. The local tea market is experiencing a fair demand for Indian and Ceylon teas, and very little is doing in China teas, the market being completely bare of all kinds of China greens, and what few are on hand are held at almost prohibitive prices. The primary Japan tea market being still high nothing can be purchased locally on spot in Japans under 17c. This marks an advance of 2c. in the common grades of Japan teas.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—There is an easy feeling in the outside currant markets, and favorable crop reports continue to arrive from Greece. Locally, the movement is free. We quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c., and Patras, 6¼ to 7c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The market here continues bare, and quotations are unchanged at 8c. up for selects.

DATES.—The local date market continues moderately active, and the prices are unchanged. Dates in bulk are quoted at 4½c., and in packages at 6¼ to 6½c.

PRUNES.—The demand for prunes is somewhat light. The tone of the outside market is healthy with fair transactions recorded, and quotations are: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The market here is inactive and the prices steady. Our quotations are now as follows: 11 to 14c. per lb. for peaches and 13 to 17c. for apricots. New Santa Clara apricots are quoted f.o.b. the Coast at 7c. in 50-lb. boxes, and 7½c. in 25-lb. boxes in carload lots.

GREEN FRUITS.

The wet weather at the beginning of the week considerably decreased the receipts of strawberries, cherries and other small fruits at the local market, but trade has shown healthy signs of improving with the advent of fine weather. New pototoes and red currants are now on the market and the trade doing in them is sufficient to absorb all the stock offered. Strawberries are worth from 4 to 5½c. by the case; cherries, poorer grade, 75c., and better grades, $1.30 to $1.40 per basket; red currants, 65 to 75c. per basket; new potatoes, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.; tomatoes, $1.20 per case; canteloupes, $5 per case; watermelons, 40 to 45c. each; cucumbers, $2 per crate; cabbage, $1.75 to $2 per crate; beans, $2 to $2.25 per basket; pineapples, $3.50 per crate; bananas, 75c. to $1.25 for seconds and $1.25 to $1.75 for firsts; oranges, Californian late Valencias, $5.25 to $5.50 per case, and Messina emons, $2.25 to $3.50 per case.

VEGETABLES.

No improvement has been noted in business in vegetables, which in common with fruits have been dull by reason of the bad weather. Rhubarb will soon be done and old potatoes are scarce. The retail price of the latter has advanced 15c. per bag. We quote: Green onions, 8 to 15c. per doz.; rhubarb, 15 to 20c. per doz.; lettuce, 15 to 25c. per doz.; radishes, 20 to 30c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; turnips, 40c. per doz.; cauliflower, 50c. to $1 per doz.; cabbage, 60c. to $1; carrots, 30c. per doz.; beets, 40 to 50c. per doz.; peas, 40c. per peck; new potatoes, $2 to $2.15 per bag; old potatoes, $1.25 per bag; spinach, 50c. per bush.; dry onions, $3.50 per sack.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS— The market for these remains strong and the receipts are moderate; 15c. per doz. will be paid for eggs of good quality on arrival, and 16c. is the price to the retailer.

BEANS—This line is still quiet and prices are unchanged. Quotations are $1.30 per bushel for hand-picked beans.

HONEY—The demand for honey is light. Quotations follow: Honey in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c.; combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES — Dried apples are very dull at 5 to 6c. per lb., and the market is cleaned out of evaporated.

HAY—The receipts of hay have been fair and the prices are steady at $10.50 per ton for hay of choice quality.

POTATOES—The between-season in this line is now on and the old potatoes are about done. The offerings are light and prices have advanced to 90 to 95c. per bag on track.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The butter market continues steady, with a good amount of choice dairy stuff in tubs coming forward. The demand from Great Britain during the week for creamery butter has not been so brisk as heretofore, but no serious falling off is apprehended. This declension is accounted for by the fact that large stocks had been laid in over there to tide over the Coronation festivities. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 15 to 16c.; large rolls, 15c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 15½c.; large rolls, medium grade, 12 to 14c., and tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints are worth 19 to 20c., and creamery solids, 19c. per lb.

CHEESE—The cheese situation is unchanged, and prices rule about the same as a week ago. The local demand is quiet, and not many inquiries are reported to have been received from the Old Country. Sales continue at the factories at prices ranging from 9¼ to 9½c. per lb., and the local quotations are 10 to 10¼c.

FISH.

The movement in fish continues brisk. The only change is an advance of 1 to 1½c. in trout, which are lately quite scarce. The supply of other lines of fish is quite sufficient to meet the demand. We quote as follows: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c.; blue fish, 9c. per lb.; mackerel, 12 to 15c.; rock bass, 4c.; eastern salmon, 25 to 30c.; speckled trout, 25c.; halibut, 15c.; Niagara whitefish, 9c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The market this week for Manitoba and Northern wheats is 1c. higher all around, the result of advances in Chicago. The world's visible supply is now below 20,000,000 bush. Our quotations are: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 86c.; No. 1 Northern, 84c., and No. 2 Northern, 83c. Locally, prices on the St. Lawrence market are steady. White wheat sold at 80 to 83½c.; red wheat, 75 to 79c.; goose, 69½c., and oats, 49½ to 50c. per bush.

FLOUR—There has been a better business done in flour with the advancement in the prices of wheat and the market rules strong. The prices are unchanged. Quotations are as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4 to $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There has been no change in these which are only in moderate demand owing to the warmth of the weather. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.20; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.90 per bbl.; in wood, 10c. extra; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100-lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—There are no new features in this market to report. Quotations are as follows: No. 1 green, 7½c.; No. 2 green, 6½c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8 to 8¼c.

SKINS—A change in the method of buying calfskins has been inaugurated amongst the local dealers owing to the poor condition of some of the skins arriving. We quote: Veal skins, 6 to 14 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 10c.; No. 2, 8c.; do., 15 to 20 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies), 60 to 70c. each; sheepskins, 80c. to $1; shearlings, 20c.

WOOL—The wool business continues very dull and the prices are very weak at 13c. for fleece wool and 7c. per lb. for unwashed.

TALLOW—The scarcity of this article is still a feature. Quotations are 6¼ to 6½c. per lb.

MARKET NOTES.

Canned peas have gone up 2½c.

Fine raisins have been advanced ¼ to 1c. per lb.

The prices of potatoes have advanced 10 to 15c. per bag.

There has been an appreciation of 2c. in the lower grades of Japan teas.

Manitoba and Northern wheats have appreciated 1c. per bush. all around.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, July 3, 1902.

GROCERIES.

DURING the past fortnight the grocery trade has been somewhat broken into by the preparations made for a holiday on Coronation Day, and by the holiday on Dominion Day, which was pretty generally observed. This has brought on a rush of business on two or three other days of the week, but on the whole the volume of trade has kept about up to the average. Wholesale grocers have again advanced the price of American pork, this time 75c., and medium to heavy is now quoted at $26 and $27 respectively. Sisal rope has gone up ½c. per lb. There has also been an advance in Clark's canned meats, the 1-lb. tins being 15c. higher and 2-lb. tins, 30c. higher. Union salad oil has advanced, and is now quoted between 90 and 95c. in barrel lots, and $1.05 to $1.10 in less than barrel lots.

SUGAR.

The sugar market remains about the same as at our last report. There was an inclination on the part of one refiner here to reduce prices again in sympathy with the New York market, but this idea was finally abandoned, and the price of granulated sugar is still quoted at $3.65 and yellows, at $3 to $3.55. Business is still quiet.

TEAS.

The local tea market is fairly active, and trade with points in the country has much improved. The high price and firm feeling in the Japan market is having its effect on buyers here, in that they are willing to give good prices for any of last year's teas on the market. June pickings will likely be as high as the first garden pickings in price. Green teas are still firm.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Shipments of Barbados molasses have continued to arrive freely, and stocks are accumulating. The demand is still small, and both wholesale and retail trade are buying in small lots for immediate requirements. The demand will not likely improve to any extent until fall. The price now quoted for Barbados molasses by jobbers is 23 to 24c., according to the quality; Antigua, 24c.; Porto Rico, 38c. for finest. In corn syrups the market is dull and featureless, and nominal prices are as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a good demand for canned vegetables and meats. The prices of Clark's canned meats have been advanced by 15c. for the 1-lb., and 30c. for the 2-lb. tins. Gallon apples are exceedingly scarce, and the supply on the market is diminishing quickly. They are now being quoted by jobbers at $2.95 to $3, and our quotations are as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 80c.; tomatoes, 97½c. to $1.00; gallon apples, $2.95 to $3.00; 3-lb. apples, $1.10. Salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet, red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River red sockeye, $1.40.

SPICES.

The firm feeling in the spice market is retained this week. A fairly good trade is doing, considering the season. We quote: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The demand for both the above lines continues good. There is no important change to report, and our quotations are now as follows: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice,, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags, and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅛ to 3¼c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The new currant market has opened earlier than usual, and at low prices, namely, 13s., cost and freight, for fine Filiatras, for shipment by the first direct steamer. The gloomy forecasts regarding the crop have happily not turned out true, and it is reported that the crop is a good one. Locally, though prices are easy, there is no change that can be quoted, and quotations follow: Fine Filiatras, 5⅛ to 5¼c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5¾c.; 1-lb. cartons, 7¼ to 7½c.; finest Vostizzas, 7⅝c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—Owing to the scant supplies the business doing in this line is of small volume. Layers are practically out of the market, and only a small amount of fine off-stalk can be had. The usual amount of low-grade stuff is on the market. Prices are nominally as follows: Finest off-stalk, 6½c.; selected, 6⅝c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS.—A fair amount of business is doing at 9c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—These are quoted lower this week. Trade is fair. Citron peel sells at 15c.; orange peel at 11c., and lemon peel at 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS.—These are moving out fairly well at steady and unchanged prices. Our quotations are now as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ½'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ½'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There is a fair demand. Hallowees are quoted ¼c. lower this week, and now sell at 4½c. per lb.

FIGS.—There is no business being done in figs. The market is absolutely bare. A few orders have been taken for import at low prices.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—Trade continues fair, and prices are steady. Seeded raisins are quoted at 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—We hear of some slight concessions made from the opening prices. There is a steady and good demand locally for prunes. Prices are unchanged on this market, as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The market is quiet but steady. We quote: Apricots, 14½c.; peaches, 10½c., and pears, 10c.

NUTS

The trade in most lines of nuts remains quiet. Peanuts have taken a further advance of ½c., and are now worth 8 to 12½c., according to the brand. F. Baller & Co., Messina, report a stronger market for filberts, both spot and new crop, and prices have advanced for prompt shipment by 2s. per bale. We quote: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 15 to 16c.; shelled almonds, 24½ to 25c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—The postponement of the Coronation and consequent desertion of the city by so many hundreds of thousands of people, who are greater butter consumers than the English people themselves, must leave the market in England in bad shape. Stocks were very heavy, and already efforts are being made to dispose of it at reduced prices. This state of affairs will keep this market down also. The market here is rather weak at present, 20 to 20½c. being paid for finest creamery, the latter price being paid only to pet factories. Good to fine creamery is also lower, and is worth from 19 to 19½c. Dairy has not changed in price, and we quote: Eastern Townships, 17½ to 18½c., and western, 16 to 17½c.

CHEESE.—The cheese market remains practically unchanged, and our quotations are as follows: Finest Ontario, 9¾ to 9⅞c.; finest townships, 9⅞ to 9¾c.; finest Quebecs, 9⅞ to 9¾c.; undergrades, 8½ to 8¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Business in eggs is somewhat quiet, and the prices are unchanged from those of last week, namely, 13½ to 13¾c. for round lots of straight receipts, and 12½ to 13c. for No. 2 stock, according to quality.

POTATOES.—Since our last report potatoes have advanced 10c., and are now quoted at 95c. to $1.05 per bag, in carlots. Jobbing lots sell at $1.15 to $1.20 per bag. The market is still firm, but at the advanced price trade has not been so active.

HONEY.—The market is dull and featureless, and we quote: White clover, comb, 13 to 14c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c.; buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; extracted, 7 to 8c.

BEANS.—The price of beans dropped to $1.20 to $1.25, for jobbing lots, but since the decline the market has shown more steadiness.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—No change in prices has been made, and the market remains very quiet. We quote as follows: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 80c.; in small tins, 50 to 60c. Sugar is selling at 7 to 9c. per lb.

ASHES.—Nothing new has occurred in this market, which is very quiet. Our quotations are: Firsts, $4.15 to $4.20; seconds, $3.70 to $3.75; pearls, $6 per 100 lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

All lines of seasonable fruits have commenced to move fairly well, and this week we have to report an active market. The strawberry season has been a very satisfactory one. A good demand was experienced, and the market was not glutted, on account of the chilly weather which prevailed. Canadian cucumbers are on the market in fair supply, and sell at 35 to 65c. per dozen. Our quotations are as follows: Jamaica oranges, in barrels, $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75; Valencia oranges, 420's, $5.75; 420's, Jumbo, $6.50; 714's, $6.50; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 6½ to 16c.; Canadian apples, $5 to $6.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $5.50 to $6; grape fruit, $4.25 to $5 per box; Florida tomatoes, $3.25 to $3.75 per crate; radishes, 15c. per doz.; spinach, $2.00 per barrel; strawberries, 8 to 12c. per box; asparagus, 40 cents per bunch; Boston lettuce, 35c. per dozen; Canadian spinach, $2.00 per barrel; Egyptian onions, 3½c. per lb.; Canadian cucumbers, 35 to 60c. per dozen; wax beans, $2.50 per basket; green beans, $3 per basket; cabbage, $3; Californian cherries, $2 to $2.50 per box.

FISH.

Fresh fish continues in good demand, and prices have kept steady throughout the week. Business in prepared fish is reported very satisfactory. We quote: Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; whitefish, 7½c.; dore, 7½c.; pike, 6c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 12 to 13c.; trout, large and medium, 7½c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50; No. 1 British-Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—The flour market has been steady at unchanged prices. Our quotations are as follows: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4 to $4.20; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN.—Trade in grain has been somewhat quiet. Peas are firmer, but there is no change in price reported, and we quote: No. 2 Ontario oats, ex-store, 48 to 48½c.; rye, 66c.; peas, 85½ to 86c.; corn, 70 to 70½c.; buckwheat, 68½ to 69c.; No. 2 barley afloat, 61c.

FEED.—Ontario bran is quoted at a lower figure this week. Otherwise there is no change in the market. Trade is fair. We quote: Ontario bran, $17.50 to $18 per ton; Manitoba bran, $17 to $18; Manitoba shorts, $23 per ton.

OATMEAL.—There is a moderate inquiry for rolled oats. The price is $5.65 per barrel, and $2.77½ per bag.

BALED HAY.—The market has been somewhat steadier. Our quotations are now as follows: No. 1 timothy, $9 to $9.50; No. 2, $8 to $8.50; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton in carlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Peanuts have advanced ½c.
Candied peels are ½c. lower.
American pork is 75c. higher.
Creamery butter is about ½c. lower.
Hallowee dates are quoted ¼c. lower.
Clark's canned meats have advanced.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, June 30.

TRADE is fair and shows improvement during the last few days, largely owing to fine weather. The business of the week was somewhat upset by the calling off of the Coronation celebration, as no doubt has been the case all over the Empire. The interest taken in the bulletins as to His Majesty's health is unabated. If His Majesty is declared out of danger at that time there will probably be very considerable celebrating on Dominion Day. There is little of interest to report so far as change in prices is concerned.

CANNED GOODS — Tomatoes have advanced sharply and are now quoted at $2.50 to $2.60 per case, according to brand. Corn, on the other hand, is again weaker, and is freely offered at $1.60. Peas are normal at $1.95 to $2.10, according to pack. Canned fruits of last year's pack are in moderate demand. Cherries and strawberries, newly packed, are both offering in this market, but, so far, few orders have been placed.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—The only change to report is an advance of ¼c. on currants. The trade in both currants and raisins is very small, and the advance will affect trade very little one way or the other. Evaporated apricots, peaches and pears are all in moderate demand and without change of prices.

SUGAR—The trade in sugar continues to be very heavy, but prices are unchanged at $4.35 for granulated and $3.75 for bright yellows.

SYRUPS— Corn syrups are higher, and the best grades now run about 3⅝ to 3¾c. per lb.

COFFEE—The market has sagged a little, and No. 5 Rios are now worth 8¾ to 9c. per lb.

TAPIOCA—The low price continues, and has materially increased trade for the moment.

FLOUR—There has been a sagging of prices this week, and local trade has been rather stronger. In export trade the prices are too low to tempt out millers—No. 1, $2.05; No. 2, $1.90; No. 3, $1.75; No. 4, $1.60; No. 5, $1.25.

CEREALS—The cereal market is without change and demand can only be said to be normal in any line. The price list of the week is as follows: Rolled oats, 80's, $2.20; 40's, $1.10; 20's 55c. Granulated and standard oatmeal, $2.75, split peas, $2.85; cornmeal, $2.85; barley, pot, $2.35; white beans, $1.65. Package goods—"Quaker" Oats, $4 per case of 3 dozen; Pettijohn's Wheat, $2.85 per case of 2 dozen; Cream of Wheat, $5.50 per case of 3 dozen; Malt Breakfast Food, $3.35 per case of 2 dozen; Swiss Breakfast Food, $3.25 per case of 3 dozen; Grape Nuts, $2 per case of 2 dozen; Postum Cereal $2.25 per case of 2 dozen.

GREEN FRUITS—The first Ontario strawberries are on the market, and one fruit dealer probably voiced the sentiments of everyone in town when he said: "If that's the best they can do why don't they keep them at home?" Irregular in shape, badly packed, green and very sour, a greater contrast to the Hood River berries could hardly be imagined. At $3 per case they are dearer than Hood Rivers at $4.25. Watermelons are in, are $6 per dozen. Peaches, plums and apricots are only arriving by express, but the first straight car is due to arrive in 10 days. At present prices are: Peaches, $2.50; plums, $1.75; apricots, $2.75; cherries, $2 per case of 20 lb. Late Valencia oranges remain at $5 to $6, according to size; lemons, $4.50.

VEGETABLES—New potatoes are 2½c. per lb.; tomatoes, $1.25 per case of four baskets; cucumbers, $1 per doz.; cabbage, 5c. per lb.

BUTTER—Creamery is in fair supply, but the quantity offered is very considerably under the corresponding period of last year. Prices run from 16½ to 17c. factories. Dairy—The supply is now large, but unfortunately the bulk of the offerings are distinctly second grade; 11½ to 12c. Winnipeg is offered for round lots of the best.

CHEESE—The supply offered for the week has not been large and prices remain firm at 9½ to 10c. Some small lots have brought quite fancy prices from wholesale grocery houses, but these figures do not express the market.

EGGS—The market is slightly firmer and 11c. straight is being paid this week, as against 10½ to 11c. last week. These prices are at Winnipeg.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

HALIFAX, June 30, 1902.

TRADE during the last week has not been so active at this port as it has been for some weeks, although the volume of business has been fairly well sustained, and the month of June as a whole compares most favorably with the same month of previous years. The financial condition, however, remains most satisfactory, and dealers have little to complain of, as a slack season now, after weeks, or rather months, of an excessive trade, is what might be expected.

The notable feature in the grocery trade to-day is sugar. This article has been down to the low record point, and it now seems as if there might be another break. Raw sugar has declined, but the refineries here still maintain a recent advance on western trade, while the wholesalers are still selling at the decline of 10c. which occurred on June 5. There is now a large quantity of Cuban sugar being put on the market. Planters there have been holding for months in hopes that they would receive some advantage in the United States market. This having been denied them, they are now forced to sell at a sacrifice.

The price of molasses remains firm and the market is on a better basis than for some time. Parties who were cutting prices a month ago have found that it did not pay, and prices are regular now for all grades.

To-day closes the year's business in old fish, but figures are not yet available. About the usual quantity of dry and pickled fish has been exported, but the wholesalers have not done a very profitable business. On account of hard times in many of the southern markets, the quantity of fish required was much less and prices ruled extremely low. Some of these markets, notably Porto Rico and Brazil, have lately improved somewhat, but they are not yet up to the standard of former years. One reason for the shortage of sale in these markets is given as the result of large importations of cheap jerked beef from Argentine, which, to a considerable extent, displaced fish. The new season for fish promises to be a good one, as far as reports come from the fleet, but prices will no doubt rule low, as the wholesalers have the experience of last year to guide them in fixing prices.

Green fruits, imported, are now very plentiful in the market, and the direct fruit steamer to Jamaica is bringing up large quantities regularly, besides what come by other steamers. Nova Scotian strawberries appeared in the market last week, and are now selling, retail, at 15c. For some weeks the market has been supplied with Ontario berries, which were of good quality and got here in good condition. They retailed here at 20c. The Nova Scotian crop is reported as likely to be very small.

All flours and feeds are firm. No change in quotations. Beef and pork are still very high and liable to advance further. Fresh beef is more plentiful in the market. Since spring opened up the farmers are fattening up young stock. Lamb is in good supply. Butter is now more plentiful and prices are easing off every week. Egg supply is still light.

R.C.H.

offered at even figures. Onions are in fair supply and the price is rather higher.

DAIRY PRODUCE—In butter, the supply is rather ahead of the demand. If stock is right the goods turn over quickly at fair figures, but medium quality sticks. Eggs, while held quite high, tend rather easier. There is but a fair sale. Cheese is rather easier. Quite large supplies are offering. For local market only twins are sold.

SUGAR—Price is still at the low figure we have quoted for same weeks. There is a large sale. There is but little demand for yellows. It would look as if prices would remain unchanged for some little time.

MOLASSES—There have been quite free arrivals of both Porto Rico and Barbadoes, and a little Antigua is to hand. Prices remain low. For two years this has been a line showing very little profit. Dealers are inclined to name very close figures.

FISH—Fresh fish have almost all the attention. Salmon, our best fish, are being quite freely caught. Boston is the large market, and the "Fourth" always means firm figures. In gaspereaux the catch is over. There will be about 10,000 barrels of alewives packed. Shad are out of season, though still a few fine fish are offered. In dry fish, smoked and pickled herring, business is dull. There is a fair sale for boneless fish. We quote: Haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 5 to 6c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.50 to $1.75 per half bbl.; Canso herring, $5 75 per bbl.; kippered gaspereaux, $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per half bbl.; dry cod, $3.50 to $3.65; halibut, 6 to 7c.; shad, 10 to 20c.; salmon, 14 to 15c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is quiet at about even figures. Feed is hard to get, it does not seem a matter of price. Oatmeal is in light sale. Full figures are asked. Oats are quite high. Market is fully stocked. Cornmeal is rather higher and very firm. Hay is not so firm. Beans are rather easier. Barley is unchanged. Peas are scarce. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $4.20 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $4.00; oatmeal, $5.20 to $5.25; cornmeal, $3.20 to $3.25; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 52 to 54c.; hand-picked beans, $1.45 to $1.50; prime, $1.35 to $1.40; yellow-eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $5.15 to $5.25; barley, $4.40 to $4.50; hay, $10 to $14

OTTAWA TRADE GOSSIP.

BUSINESS here is about the same as last week. The weather has only commenced to improve the last day or two, but prices in seasonable lines are good. Strawberries have kept their price well throughout the week, two cars and more per day being disposed of. Bananas are getting a little scarcer, but the demand has slackened, and prices rule the same. Good lemons are hard to get and oranges are about cleaned up.

The price of sugar remains the same, although a drop was expected, owing to New York market being lower, but there has been no change so far.

Potatoes are getting very high ; dealers are asking and getting $1.30 per bag, so that consumers are paying $1.50 now. It looks as if this price will hold until the new potatoes come in.

EARLY CLOSING.

In connection with the Saturday closing movement there is a general feeling among most of the merchants in favor of shorter hours ; not only the clerks, but the merchants themselves want the change. The Retail Grocers' Association are in favor of a by-law, but want to see it made general, so that dairies will close also. Unless dairymen and fruiterers are willing to sign, it will be unfair to the grocers to expect them to do so. At the next regular meeting of the association the question will be discussed.

THE CHEESE BOARD.

At the cheese board on Friday afternoon cheese sold at two prices; 1,718 boxes were registered and 9¾ and 9 3-16c. were the prices obtained. J. S. Howson, instructor for the board, was present and gave his weekly report in part as follows : "During the last week I visited eight factories making cheese part of two days, and took 32 samples of milk. In the first factory I visited I found a very fine quality of cheese being manufactured. The maker had everything in fairly good shape. The second factory I visited was a good building, but it was not being kept in good order. I found the maker was cooking his curd too high and also using too much acid, and as a result making the cheese too hard and dry. The third factory is also a good building and kept in good condition. The maker was manufacturing a fine quality of cheese, but it could be improved. I found him using the right amount of acid at the time the whey was removed, but he was piling the curd too soon and too high, thereby holding too much moisture and causing it to mature too fast, consequently it was not getting sufficient time before milling. I explained this to the maker and told him not to pile it so high. I found everything at factory No. 4 in good condition. This maker took a course at the dairy school last winter. I found factory No. 5 in a dusty condition. The maker was using too much acid and not getting the curd properly cooked. I also visited three other factories and found a fairly good quality of cheese being manufactured.

"All the factories visited are good buildings, but there is one fault that should not be overlooked, and that is that better drainage is required around most of the factories. As the weather will soon be getting warmer it is most important that no whey or wash water should be allowed in the trenches. It will cause not only a foul stench, but will be the cause of spoiling the water, especially if the well is close by, as I have found to be the case at most of the factories. There should be no leakage from those etevated whey tanks, which are sure to give trouble sooner or later. So far this season the cool weather has been of great assistance to the makers so that a fairly good quality of cheese has been made."

A quantity of butter manufactured at L'Ange Gardien was offered for sale subject to inspection here, but the Montreal buyers would not touch unless they could have it inspected in Montreal. No sale made.

H. G. Stanley is making an addition to his store on Elgin street.

OTTAWA MARKETS.

At the Fruit Exchange the past week the following prices were received : Berries, 6½ to 8½c.; bananas, 80c. to $1 ; smalls, $1.25 to $1.50 ; lemons, not repacked, $1.50 to $2.50 ; repacked, $2.50 to $3 ; oranges, Sorrentos, $3 to $4 ; pineapples, 30's, 12½ to 14c.; Californian cherries, in boxes, $1.60 to $2 ; cherries, Canadian, 50 to 60c., ½ baskets ; $1 to $1.50, baskets.

On the market potatoes bring $1.25 to $1.50.

Butter, in pails, 15 to 17c.; prints, 19 to 21c.; creamery, in prints, 21c.; bulk, 20c.; eggs, 14 to 17c.

Green vegetables are becoming plentiful and prices are considerably lower. Lettuce, 10 to 12½c. per doz ; onions, 12½c.; asparagus, 50 to 60c. ; spinach, 20c. per basket ; rhubarb, 25c. per doz. ; carrots, 30c. per doz.; beets, 35c. per doz.

Flour is in good demand and prices firm, although unchanged, at $3.50 to $4.10 per bbl.

Bran is worth $19 and shorts $22 to $23 per ton. Hay is selling from $8 to $9.50 per ton for choice timothy, and the demand is equal to the supply.

Tomatoes are the same, but prices are quite firm.

Molasses is 25c. in puncheons.

So far this season two cars of melons were received. One arrived last Thursday and the other to-day. They sold at 30 to 32c.

Coarse salt is 50c. a bag in small lots.

PORK PACKING IN THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

From The Homestead.

IT now begins to look as if some practical work would be done in bringing together the hog-grower and the pork-packer. For years our farmers have been saying, and perhaps with some show of reason that they have no market for their pigs. At the same time our lumbermen and our best grocers have been buying very largely pork and pork products raised outside the Maritime Provinces. Some years ago there was a discussion on the topic of raising pigs of the bacon type all through the country and efforts were made to establish modern pork-packing plants in the three Provinces. The only Province where the plant materialized was on Prince Edward Island. In New Brunswick, and to some extent Nova Scotia, the farmers took the institute speakers who were sent to them, in good faith, and tried to raise and feed pigs such as they understood to be fit for bacon purposes. Unfortunately, however, for the business no packing houses were established nor buyers sent out to buy the live hogs as had been promised, except on Prince Edward Island. At Charlottetown, there is a modern packing house with all the facilities for making good bacon. It is a matter of great regret that the management of this establishment has been such as to antagonize many of the farmers in Prince Edward Island, and as a result the business there is at a standstill.

NO LOCAL SALE.

In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, efforts were made to start factories at Middleton and St. John, but they did not materialize. The result was that the following summer the farmers who were breeding and feeding for the bacon type of pigs found when they got them ready for market that there were no buyers awaiting them; but that they had to kill them themselves and take them to the local packers in the old-fashioned way, and there the light sided pig met with scant welcome; for it so happened that that year all the local packers were looking for heavy pork, the demand for such being exceptionally good, and, as a result, those men who had followed the advice given them had a lot of light pork worth less than 5c. per lb. dressed, while the heavy pork that they had been in the habit of making was sold for 1c. per lb. higher, and, worse than this, the buyers were all the time chiding them for being so foolish as to kill and bring pigs to market which were not fit for its demands. Now, however, there is a better prospect in view; our local packers are beginning to see that there is something in the contention of four years ago, viz.: That pigs should be marketed on foot and killed and dressed in uniform and properly handled throughout, in order to make the class of meat that the markets are demanding.

A BETTER PROSPECT.

Mr. F. W. Hodson, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, and the officers of the Maritime Stock Breeders' Association also see that there is now a chance of bringing the producer and the buyer closer together. With this end in view some pork-packers have been approached with a view of securing a guarantee of what they will be prepared to do when the Department of Agriculture undertakes to stimulate the production of the proper kind of pigs. Messrs. Davis & Fraser, of Halifax, will probably be among those who will guarantee a market for the proper kind of hogs. F. E. Williams & Co., of St. John, last week, when Mr. Hodson was in that city, said they were willing to give a guarantee that they would take, beginning next September, at least two carloads of pigs per week, buy them on foot and pay market prices. Mr. Williams will be prepared next year to run his factory at full blast during the whole summer if the pigs are promised. We hope to see the Department and the Stock Breeders' Association take hold of this matter in earnest, and seize this opportunity now opened of working up a large and profitable bacon trade in these Provinces.

ON THE OTHER HAND.

From the Interstate Grocer.

SO MUCH has been written about the retailer who gives credit, and the heartless manner in which he is frequently defrauded that, as a diversion, this article may find some readers who may profit by its suggestions. Therfere we launch it. Hit or miss, it may be worth the space it occupies. Some of the very brightest minds of this country have been burning the midnight oil trying to solve the great credit problem, and it remains at a point about where it started, as far as late advices would indicate. We all know that there is one sure way to solve the credit plan, and that is to abandon it. A cash basis is the only truly scientific and safe principle to employ in business, but credit giving has been a fact ever since the beginning of the world, and it probably will always exist to a more or less extent.

All these things are well known and volumes have been written about them, pro and con, but it is not possible that a word of defence for the consumer may adorn a tale in this connection? The dealer has had all the best of it up to date as far as we know and we are just going to advance a brief defence for the customer—not the professional dead beat, understand, but the unfortunate who, by force of circumstances, is compelled to ask for credit. In making this defence we may possibly tread lightly upon the bunions of some dealers, but it must be borne in mind that all this is merely for the sake of adorning a tale. Let us assume that our client goes by the name of Jones. Jones establishes a line of credit with his grocer when he (Jones) is in rather hard lines and as his means will permit, he pays up and discharges his obligations as rapidly as possible, but does not get entirely free from indebtedness and there is always, at the end of each month, a little balance left with the grocer or butcher.

In the meantime he is giving all his trade to the man or men who befriended him in his hour of need, and, while his monetary obligations are being gradually discharged, he feels that, by giving his trade to his friends, he is thereby discharging a debt of gratitude as well.

Now, right here is where we may injure the corns.

Under the conditions just enumerated is it not true that these dealers are found gouging Jones a little on prices? Jones has now recovered from his temporary embarrassment and he finds that he is being overcharged by his dealer friends, who were friends in need, but he don't like to register a kick, for didn't he need this help badly when it was extended to him? Things drift along in this manner until Jones feels that he must, as a matter of self-protection, make a change and this information comes to the ears of his erstwhile friends and sometimes we hear from them, "No, he won't quit me. He dare not do it, Wasn't I his best friend when he needed a friend?"

That's it. That's the way Jones feels too, but isn't it a fact that sometimes Jones has to pay too great a premium for this friendship? Jones feels grateful for favors extended his family, but he also feels that he would like to get a square deal now. All of these conditions have been known to prevail, and Jones paid the freight until he grew weary and began to talk out in meeting, and, as a result, the very object which the grocer hoped to gain was defeated—namely, continued friendly expressions from Jones in favor of the grocer at all times and at all opportunities.

We do not know where this will hit—whether it will hit at all—but, as we stated at the beginning, it may be worth the space it ocuupies. If it serve as a preventative of such practices it will have filled an acceptable mission and make it possible for the grateful Joneses to become walking advertisements for their bonefactors.

SUGAR BEETS IN EUROPE.

AT the late international sugar conference at Brussels, as the readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER are well aware, an agreement was reached to abolish sugar bounties. Though the Bundesrath, under the law of 1896, can abolish sugar bounties, the consent of the Reichstag must be had for the reduction of the tariff. It is confidently hoped in Europe that the Brussels convention will meet with universal approval and that a healthy readjustment of beet-sugar production to the market at home and abroad will ensue. The new iegislation will not go into effect until September 1903; but, in view of that event and of the future increased cost of production, it was expected that there would be a large reduction in sowings already this year.

|---|---|
| 1900-1 | 4,546,630.3 |
| 1901-2 | 4,845,935 |
| 1902-3 | 4,332,651.4 |

There is a decrease in acreage in Germany, Austria, France, Belgium and Holland, and a slight gain in Russia. The average shortage in this year's sowings is about 17 per cent., which is less than had been generally expected. It is reasonable to believe that the yield will improve year by year, through careful and scientific farming, and, therefore, we may look forward to another large crop this year.

It is to be expected that the visible supply of sugar in the world on August 31 (the end of the European season), 1903, will continue to show an enormously overstocked market. For, even if there should only be a fair average, the 17 per cent. decrease in sowings would not only bring about such a diminution in the production of sugar as to relieve the present glutted market, especially if the United States and the cane-growing countries should increase their production.

POPULARITY is the proof of merit, and no brand has ever achieved popularity so quickly as

SOME JULY WINDOW DISPLAYS.

CANNED GOODS AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

A WINDOW in a downtown Toronto store had a display of canned goods and breakfast foods that looked well. At the very back of the window was a tall pile of canned salmon, the central portion of which reached almost to the ceiling. The cans were piled around boxes which held them in position, and the labels of the cans were all turned outward, facing the front.

In front of the cans was a small pile of boxes of prepared breakfast foods, against which were leaning two boxes full of sugar with price tickets placed on them.

On both sides of the central get-up cans of peaches were so piled as to curve backwards from the two front corners of the window to the pile of salmon at the back. These two piles were quite high.

In front of all against the glass on the bottom was a miscellaneous pile of cans of sardines, and other small packages, which served to fill up space between the boxes of sugar and the front.

MEATS AND VEGETABLES.

Another window dressed with meats and vegetables had a shelf along the back on which was piled a quantity of sides of cured pork and hams. In front of the shelves were placed on plates, not too close together, cooked ham, sausages and similar articles of food. Between the plates, at regular intervals, were placed bottles of pickles. Bunches of lettuce also played a prominent part in the get up of this window, and some onions and beets in bunches were used with good effect. Along the front of the window, next the glass, there was a row of salmon, in nicely-labelled cans, between each one of which was a bunch of lettuce. A small jet in the centre of the window scattered fine spray over some vegetables placed around it, and kept the place cool as well as the vegetables fresh.

A PROVISION WINDOW.

July is a month during which dried, smoked, pickled, potted and cooked meats are in good demand. A good window dressed with these will often bring in customers. It is wise to have an awning in front of such a window where things might be kept cool and away from the sun. Besides the meats other articles could be kept in the windows, like pickles, and canned goods.

In a window that presented an effective appearance dressed in this way were four shelves covered with a red cloth. On the front shelf was a row of pickles and canned salmon, arranged alternately, and pickle bottles were placed on the top of each can. In the second row were placed slices and round cakes of cheese alternately. Between the cheeses were some pickles in bottles. The fourth row had placed in neat piles on plates, sausages, tenderloins, ham, pork sides, and backs. On the top shelf were piles of cooked meats, sides, bacon and hams. In one corner of the window was arranged a neat pile of canned goods, salmon, tomatoes, pickles.

OUTING DISPLAYS

Outing displays are timely, and may be made as elaborate or as simple as circumstances indicate, says Inland Grocer. As a means of attracting attention to summer goods, they can be utilized in a variety of forms, successfully. As a catching centrepiece, a lunch basket of the largest size obtainable may be used to advantage. One with covers is best. It should be placed well in the centre of the window space, tilted forward, and packed so as to overflow with articles especially desirable for picnics, fishing parties, etc.

A bottle of mineral water, cans of potted chicken, devilled ham and the like, jars of jam and peanut butter, celery salt, pickles, packages of wafers and biscuit may be used to make an attractive showing for that class of goods.

It is best to wrap the lower part of the jars, cans, etc., in tissue paper, and colored napkins may be used to set off the display.

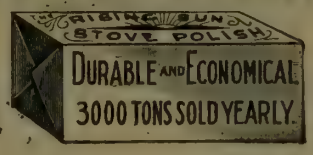
On either side and the back of the basket may be arranged individual displays of outing goods. Mineral waters, ginger ale and like drinks which are called for in midsummer may be placed in half circles, the larger bottles in the rear and the smaller ones in front, on one side.

A large cake, placed on a Japanese napkin or wooden plate, may be given a prominent place in the front and centre. Cans of potted meats arranged like the bottles, in half circles, make a good appearance on the other side.

For a background, a wall of glass-front cases, such as is provided for wafers and crackers for sale in bulk, may be arranged.

The picture may be given added attractiveness by placing large potted plants back of the wall referred to, in such a way as to show the foliage only.

CARD WRITING.



What is an up-to-date show-card writer? Just ask yourself this question. Here is our definition: He is the man who knows enough to know there is a lot he does not know. He is the man who strives to learn all that is to be learned in his chosen profession. There are thousands of men who might become competent card writers if they only had proper instructions. In this issue W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., offers a book of instruction at $1 post paid, which will teach you this art in a thorough and practical manner. He has hundreds of students in all sections of the country who are already reaping the benefit of his instructions. A good salesman can get a good salary. A good card writer can get a good salary. The man who can do both can get a big salary.

TEA AND COFFEE IN A WINDOW.

IN order to avoid crowding the window too much, says Irish Grocer, it may be necessary to use only the smallest samples obtainable, for a beverage trim ought to contain a sample each of cocoa, chocolate, condensed milk and coffee. Everything should have its price mark, and its name tag also, provided that it is not easily recognized. A few days later, the beverage display can be divided so as to show a "summer beverages" trim, a coffee trim and a tea trim separately. When this is done, a full assortment should be shown. If it is a coffee trim, green and roasted whole beans should be exhibited, and also ground coffee, coarse and fine. If an illustrated work on coffee is at hand, the same should be placed in the window open at a picture of the coffee plant.

A small coffee mill adds to the effect, if shown with the goods and utensils for preparing the berry for the table. It would be as well to use coffee-colored drapings in the windows while the coffee trim is exhibited. A coffee hand-mill for the kitchen, a coffee strainer and a coffee pot should be added to the exhibit. Packages of coffee extract and essence should flank the coffee trim. In the same manner the tea department should be represented at another time. It is a waste of time and space to fill the window with a dozen different grades of tea. Half a dozen are sufficient for the purpose, say, a couple of green, a couple of black, and a couple of mixed leaf. Show the labels used on your own brands, and also your handsomest shelf canister. Pictures of the tea leaf, the plant, the methods of cultivation and cure are in order, and so also is a specimen plant if one can be procured. Tea caddies, teapots and teacups, if of different sizes and styles, should be shown, the more particularly if they are costly, owing to intrinsic value of the associations that attach to them from previous ownership. A Chinese or Japanese street scene or house interior would add to the attractiveness of a tea window, but it would require more skill and time than could usually be devoted to such a purpose. A large vase or handsome lantern would do almost as well, or, better yet, a mechanical Chinese or Japanese doll, with clock-work interior. A few puns from the golf links would be excusable in the placards of a tea window.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Messrs. J. W. Powell and Fred. Mitchell, northern and eastern Ontario representatives of The E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, have been in Toronto the last few days.

Mr. T. T. Cartwright, eastern representative of The E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, was in Toronto for some days and left again for the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland. He reports trade good and prospects good.

KEEP DOWN EXPENSES.

"IT is a great deal easier to write 'look out for the expense account' than to keep to its precept," is what the grocer said, declares the Retail Grocers' Advocate.

"Expenses!" he said, "that's what keeps a man up nights, and is more effective in destroying sleep than a crying baby, and the Lord knows, that's effective enough."

"Expenses?" "Say, young man, I'd have been very rich many years ago if it was not for expense."

It was argued then that expenses in the sense meant was not what a man spent but what he expended that he need not have expended.

It is the unnecessary dollar here, and the unnecessary half dollar there that multiplied by the days in the year, make the expense account spoil the profit account.

There is, you know, a general impression that almost anybody can run a grocery store, and that impression is probably true enough about many grocery stores.

There are, however, but very few men who can run a grocery store successfully.

It is generally thought that the man with the fine store is making money, but that is not always so, for his competitor from a less expensive block is probably the man who in the end buys the fine store out when it is sold by the creditors.

He got himself in that happy condition by keeping his expense account down, and while personally he may like a well-equipped store, yet did not think it wise to put all his money in fixtures, believing that a good stock of goods, and a bank accout that would enable him to discount, were better money-makers for him than some other things that were prolific of expense mostly.

Most men in fine stores did not begin their business career in them.

They mostly had small stores first, and the money that they had came largely from their early experience, for with the fine stores came heavy expenses, and in particular more competition.

If money has to be made, however, whether in big stores or in little, it will always be represented by the skill which gives results and obtained by the exercise of judgment that keeps down expenses.

Many generous-minded men find it difficult to be close in small things but no doubt it is this closeness that makes wealth.

BOWSER OIL TANK IN EUROPE.

Mr. Rosser McClure, who has been Canadian manager for S. F. Bowser & Co. for the past three years, leaves next month to introduce the Bowser oil tank in Great Britain and Ireland.

There have been numerous inquiries from the Old Country, and Mr. McClure is confident of doing a large volume of business over there. It is more than likely he will also open up trade in Russia. He will leave matters in the Toronto office in competent hands during his absence.

BRANTFORD STARCH WORKS REBUILDING.

The Brantford Starch Works, Brantford, whose factory was destroyed by fire on May 29, has begun rebuilding and expects to have its new factory completed and in operation before the end of the year.

The plant will be materially enlarged, being practically two starch factories, one for the manufacture of corn starch and one for wheat starch. The former will be a three-storey building 132 x 90 ft., and the latter 100 x 70 ft., also three storeys. A feed drying building 42 x 30 ft. and a grain elevator of 30,000 bushels capacity will be erected. The whole plant will have a capacity of 9 to 10 tons of starch per day, and will furnish improved facilities for the manufacture of the brands of the company, which now hold so prominent a position on the market.

WANT FRUIT MARKS ACT CHANGED.

The Fruiterers' Section of The Toronto Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada held its regular meeting on Monday evening, July 7, at the headquarters of the Association, at the corner of Bay and Richmond streets.

This sectton is of the opinion that several changes could be made in the Fruit Marks Act that would much improve its effectiveness. So they have decided to call a meeting of the fruiterers from all over the Province who will be in attendance at the coming convention of the Retail Merchants' Association in Toronto next September, and have them discuss the proposed amendments to this statute.

The remainder of the evening was taken up in arranging for the annual picnic and games of this organization, which will be held at Island Park, Toronto, on August 27. There will be a number of races and a baseball match, and suitable prizes will be awarded the winners. In the evening a supper will be provided for their guests.

How to Find the Age of Eggs—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

HOW TO FIND THE AGE OF EGGS.

WHEN poultrykeepers adhere to a rigid system of controlled nesting and daily collection and marking of eggs, there is little or no trouble about bad or stale eggs. But where dealers and shippers have to handle eggs from all quarters, a method of testing for freshness is indispensable. There are various ways, says Planting Opinion, of doing this, the holding of the egg to a light being perhaps the most favored. In Saxony a large poultry breeders' association has had under consideration what is claimed to be a new method of determining the age of eggs, and have been so satisfied with it that they have awarded the inventor a special medal.

The apparatus is based on the physiological property that the air bubble at the blunt end of the egg increases in size with the growth of the embryo. When the egg is placed in liquid it has consequently an increasing tendency to become vertical, with the blunt end uppermost. The apparatus itself consists of a glass vessel, bearing at the back lines drawn at various angles, each line being marked with the age. The vessel is filled with some harmless liquid, in which the eggs to be tested are laid. Each egg will take up a certain position, and, according to its age, its longer axis will be more or less inclined to the horizon. The direction of this axis is compared with the lines at the back of the vessel, and the age of the egg read off at the line to which its axis is parallel.

A new-laid egg lies horizontally at the bottom of the vessel. An egg three to five days old raises itself from the horizontal so that its axis makes an angle of about 20 degs. At eight days old this angle has increased to about 45 degs., at 14 days it is 60 degs., at about three weeks it is 75 degs., and after four weeks it stands upright on the pointed end. A bad egg floats. With practice it is stated that the age can be told to a day.

POLITE AND FAMILIAR BUTCHERS.

Being pleasant behind the counter is one thing. Being familiar is another. It takes no time or effort to be pleasant while working right along. It takes a lot of time and waste of attention to be familiar. It takes three times as long to please and serve a lady who feels that she is on familiar terms with you than it does to serve one who is attended to in a nice way. She doesn't ask you to take down all of your meat to let her see it, nor to unload your ice-box to let her see what you have.

A butcher on Third Avenue, New York City, and his brother butcher almost next door, illustrate the above. The over-familiar butcher has a few talkative customers while the other has only time for a word to the crush who come to buy. Take a hint.—National Provisioner.

BUTCHERS' PICNIC.

The Butchers' Section of The Toronto Branch of The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada will hold its third annual picnic and games at Exhibition Park, Toronto, on July 30. A programme of races and games has been arranged, and the services of a good band have been secured.

FOREIGN MEATS VERY HIGH.

The English wholesale fresh meat market is interesting reading in view of the statements which have been recently made to the effect that the American dealers were charging unnecessarily high prices for carcass meats.

On July 11, according to the official Smithfield (London), wholesale market reports to The National Provisioner, American refrigerated beef was bringing 12¾c. by the carcass. The same beef on the same date was selling slowly in New York at 11½c. per lb. by the carcass.

On the same date (June 11), and in the same market, dressed mutton by the carcass sold at the following high prices:

|---|---|
| Scotch mutton | 18 c. per lb. |
| English mutton | 16½ " |
| German and Dutch mutton | 16 " |
| English lamb | 19 " |
| German lamb | 15 " |
| New Zealand frozen lamb | 9¾ " |

American lamb and mutton ruled remarkably low considering the above English prices. The fact that antipodean frozen stuff undefrosted sold at nearly 9½c. per lb. in the carcass as landed tells the story of the world's high prices and meat shortage. Americans are paying high for meats, but the people of other nations are paying more.—National Provisioner.

ICE AT A NOMINAL COST.

It is so simple and the cost so small that it seems probable that the method will prove extremely popular. Numerous attempts have been made by the inventors to utilize natural cold and make ice in storage houses during winter by freezing water in the houses themselves. It is not a difficult matter to thus make ice in cold climates, but no successful scheme was devised for separating it into cakes or layers. It was in solid blocks of the size of the houses, and there was no certainty that it was frozen solid if of any magnitude.

The new method referred to above consists of freezing water by natural cold into successive layers which can be easily cut up and handled. Its success has been demonstrated in Chicago by the freezing of a houseful of ice during the past winter at a merely nominal cost. The ice thus formed is clear and pure as the water from which it is made, and the cost is much less than that of ice cut from ponds or streams and hauled to storage. The rights to utilize the invention for a large territory have been secured by local men who will establish plants all over the territory.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

There has been an advance of 25c. per 100 lb. in the price of dressed hogs, and live hogs have gone up 37½c. The supply of the latter is small and the market is strong with an upward tendency. There has been a heavy demand for hind quarters of beef, with a falling off in the trade for carcasses and front quarters, resulting in a decline of 50c. to $1 in the last two named, and an advance of $1 in the first named. Our quotations are now as follows: Dressed hogs, $9 to $9.25; beef carcasses, $8 to $8.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9.50 to $11 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 7 to 8c. per lb., and lambs, 9½ to 10c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $6 to $7 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.

There has been an improvement in the demand for smoked meats, due to the warm weather setting in, and the business being done in lard is large. The prices are unchanged. Quotations follow: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23 to $23.50; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.; plate beef, $15.

MONTREAL.

The tone of the provision market has not greatly changed since our last report. There is a steady demand for hams, bacon and lard. Armour's barrel pork has declined, and 50's to 60's is quoted at 50c. less, now selling in small lots at $25.50. In the 40 to 50 piece bbls. no quotable change has occurred.

The market for dressed hogs has been fairly steady. Butchers are still taking a fair jobbing lot, and as offerings are not large, prices have been easily maintained. Country killed stock is worth $9 to $9.50, and for fresh killed abbatoir stock $9.25 to $9.75 is being paid.

Both pure and compound lard have been in good demand. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" brand of lard compound has been reduced ¼c., the tierce basis now being 9¾c. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $23.75 to $24.00; Chicago clear pork, $26.50 for heavy and $25.50 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 13 to 14½c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.32½ to $2.35 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 9¾c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20-lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20-lb. wood pails, ½c.; 10-lb. tins, ⅝c.; 5-lb. tins, ¾c.; 3-lb. tins, ⅞c. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.95 per pail; Cottolene, 11¼c. for 20-lb. pails, and 11c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Sales of barrelled pork and beef are light at the very high prices which still hold. Still there is some movement. Smoked meats are high and the sale is a retail one. Lard is firm. There is a fair movement, even at the full figures, in both pure and compound. In fresh beef the high prices still hold for best heavy stock, but light country beef is more freely offered and prices are rather easier. In veal, some very fine is now offered. Prices are firm. Lamb is now freely offered and is very good; while full prices are asked, they are not so out of the way as in Western beef. Mutton is not in much demand. Pork has but limited inquiry, but is not largely offered. The price is high.

HALIFAX.

All kinds of beef and pork are still very firm and ruling high. Fresh beef is coming in a little better than a month ago, but only barely enough to meet the daily local demand. Purchases are being made in small lots, no carload lots apparently being available. American plate beef is quoted at $21, duty paid; Canadian, $15. American clear pork, duty paid, $25; mess pork, $22.50; P.E. Island mess pork, $22.50; thin mess, $21.50. Hams are quoted at 15c. and rolled bacon at 13c. Lamb is coming in better, but price is still high, retailing at 15c. Turkeys are scarce and best stock is quoted at 15c.

WINNIPEG.

DRESSED AND CURED MEATS — The supply of grass-fed cattle has increased materially this week, and as a consequence prices are considerably lower. The top of the market is now 8½c., as against 9¾c. last week. Other grades run as low as 7¾c.

Veal is in good supply at 8 to 9c.; mutton, mainly Western, at 9c.; spring lambs are still $3.50 to $4.50.

Cured meats continue in good demand, but without change of prices. Hams, 14¼c.; shoulders, 10¾c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 15¼c.; backs 14c.; spiced rolls, 11½c.; long clear, 12c.; dry salt backs, 12½c.

PROVISION NOTES.

QUESTION OF SUNDAY SELLING IN MONTREAL.

AN interesting judgment in regard to Sunday selling in Montreal was given by Recorder Poirier on Monday, July 7, and if it be endorsed by all authorities it will appear that the Sunday selling by-law has, in several ways, overshot the mark. Twenty-one cases were considered together; some merchants were accused of selling one article and some another.

His Honor said, in effect, that the by-law either allowed the defendants to sell what they had or prohibited them from selling such articles, but, in the latter case, it was unconstitutional. He contended that if all the provisions of the by-law were to be applied it would be oppressive and arbitrary, and that its definitions were not clear enough to enable one to make distinctions between those who handled certain goods, and no others, during the week, and those who sold other lines—groceries, for instance—on week days, but confined their Sunday trade to those lines which the by-law allowed. The Recorder continued:

"The by-law does not state if these persons who are selling all goods permitted or allowed under the by-law are carrying on such trade on Sunday only or on all days of the week. Would it be fair to deprive the defendants of the privilege granted by the amendment of June 2 because they would also sell other goods than those actually prescribed? The court has to recall the circumstances known to the public when the amendment was passed.

"It is known that in our mixed population the same ideas are not entertained by all. Some want all amusement, work, etc., stopped on Sunday; others want to tolerate a certain trade on Sunday in the interest of the classs who go in for recreation and buy refreshments on that day only.

"The amendment passed by council was adopted with a view of allowing certain stores to open on Sunday and to carry on what is known as a small retail trade. If the by-law allows the sale of fruit, cigars, etc., on Sunday only by those who do not sell any other things on other days of the week, is it arbitrary, oppressive and impracticable? The council has not mentioned tobacco, matches, cigar holders, newspapers, pipes, postage stamps or ice cream among the permitted goods. Are we to infer that all those things are prohibited? Are we to say that 11 of the defendants shall be fined for selling tobacco, while others are permitted to sell candies and cigars? If they can sell cigars, why not cigarettes, cigar holders, candies, etc.? If merchants are allowed to sell tobacco, cigars, why debar them from selling tobacco in plugs or package, or chewing tobacco or snuff?

"Shall we say that people have to be condemned to chew cigars or that people smoking pipes have a less right than those indulging in cigars?

"And if the second article of by-law 281 means anything, why does it say that purchasers shall be allowed to remain in stores or adjoining rooms during the time required to make and consume the purchase? If a man is allowed to buy a cigar how can he be prevented from consuming that cigar in one of these rooms?

"Applying to this matter all the principles which govern the making of by-laws I think that if its validity were tested before the Superior Court it would be quashed as being oppressive, arbitrary and illegal.

"By-law 222 concerned the early closing of shops, and it made an exception in favor of pipes, cigars, newspapers, etc., although in its provision the establishments that could be kept open on Sundays were not much more clearly defined than under by-law 281 now under discussion.

"The defence claim to have done nothing but what was required by law and only what was permitted. I must adopt this view of the case because the contention of the city would lead us to absurdities, unjust dircrimination, oppression, injustice and a result altogether opposed to what the framers of the by-law had in view at the time it was prepared.

"It has been urged that the spirit of the by-law rather than the letter should be considered. I quite agree with that.

"I do not see what line is to be drawn between storekeepers who need to keep open on Sunday in order to meet their business demands and those whose business does not demand Sunday trading. I do not think that it is fair that one citizen should be branded as inferior to his fellows because his business requires him to do Sunday trading.

"I do not wish to conflict with the religious authorities of the city, and I desire that the police shall do all in their power to have Sunday observed in a condition satisfactory to all classes and nationalities and compatible with requirements for the comforts governing modern existence.

"I do not see any other decision can be given than the dismissal of the 21 actions of June 3 last."

DID NOT DELIVER GOODS.

Damages to the extent of $326.40 were allowed to James Rutherford, tea merchant, of Montreal, in the action he took against J. J. Macy, New York, for the latter's failure to deliver a consignment of Japan tea. Mr. Macy was unable to deliver the promised tea, but offered another grade with $250 damages, which was not accepted, and the courts decided as above.

A MERCHANT KNIGHTED.

Sir Robert Boak, as President of the Legislative Council, has done much service for the Province of Nova Scotia, and deserves his knighthood.

Sir Robert was born in Leith, Scotland, on September 19, 1822. His father, Robert Boak, of Shields, in the county of Durham, Eng., on his retirement from the army, became an officer in Her Majesty's Customs in Halifax in 1837, and retained that position until he was superannuated.

The present knight came to Halifax with his father in 1831, and in 1847 became a member of the firm of John Esson & Co., wholesale grocers. In 1854, he retired from that firm and formed the firm of Esson, Boak & Co., and engaged in the West-Indian trade. In 1864 this latter firm was dissolved, and he then continued business in his own name, and under the firm style of Robert Boak & Son, until 1875, when he retired from business. Sir Robert became a member of the Legislative Council in 1872, his commission as M.L.C. being dated February 20; on March 20, 1878, he was appointed president of that body. He was a member of the Government and treasurer of the Province from December 1877 to October 1878.

It will be seen that Sir Robert Boak has been for 30 years a Legislative Councillor, 24 of which he has presided over the second chamber. His services well entitle him to be marked out for the honor of knighthood now conferred.

COLOMBO TEA AUCTION.

Dodwell & Co., Limited Colombo, under date of June 4, write as follows regarding the previous tea auction of 19,175 packages, 1,526,784 lb. brought forward 15,187 packages, 1,384,289 lb. were sold. The sale passed off with a brisker tone than last week. Common leaf teas were in better demand at steady rates, but biddings for medium kinds were irregular, and in many cases easier. Good tippy broken Pekoes attracted attention, and the finest sorts sold well, while common to medium kinds show no improvement. Dusts and fannings remain in strong demand at previous rates. Quality is poor. The average price for the sale held on June 21, was 33c., against 34c. for the previous week. The total exports to the United Kingdom for May were 9,750,000 lb., and the estimate for June is 12,500,000 to 13,000,000.

THE GROCERY CLERKS' PICNIC.

THE annual excursion and picnic of the Grocery Clerks' Association of Montreal was held on Sunday, July 6, and was one of the most successful, from all standpoints, of any yet held. Over 500 persons left the Windsor station in the morning for the historic old village of Carillon, and from the beginning to the end of the journey the trip was one of unalloyed pleasure. About 10 o'clock the train arrived at Point Fortune, where the excursionists went on board the steamer John for Carillon. A good part of the population of the town turned out to welcome the visitors. Houses were decorated throughout the place, and everybody stood ready to make the excursionists enjoy themselves to the utmost.

A banquet was served in the Hotel Gauthier, at which Mayor D. Murphy, of Carillon, attended and made a speech of welcome. Mr. Z. Martineau, president of the association, responded. Owing to the limited time, the toasts were limited to one, that of "The King," which was proposed by Mr. J. O. Levesque.

The party then repaired to the spot chosen by the organization committee for the games. This was some distance from the village, on the banks of the Ottawa River. The sports were keenly enjoyed, and were participated in by many of those present.

Following is the list :

OTTAWA TRADE GOSSIP.

BUSINESS at Ottawa has been good. The past week's warm weather has made things better, particularly with the fruit business. Sugar is selling fast, the demand, owing to preserving time being on, is great.

Strawberries look as if they were about done, as the arrivals from the west are becoming less. Locals have been coming in well, but growers say they will not last long.

Raspberries made their first appearance this season last Saturday, and sold high, but as receipts have increased since prices are lowering.

It has been remarkable how steady the price of strawberries has kept this year. Ever since American berries started to come there has only been one day that the market broke. It looks very much as if G. W. Hurst made good arrangements to bring in the right quantity each day.

Two carloads of what had been No. 1 bananas arrived Monday night in horrible shape. They were two days longer on the road than they should, and were completely cooked. They were sold, however, on Tuesday afternoon, and brought from 15c. to $1 per bunch. A car of Californian fruit was sold Tuesday also, and prices were very good. Peaches brought $1 to $1.35; plums, $1.65 to $2.55; apricots, 90c. to $1.10; apples, $1.55 to $1.75; cherries, $1.50 to $1.75. Wednesday a car of Californian vegetables was sold, and prices were very unsatisfactory. Green beans sold at 65 to 80c. per basket; cucumbers, $1.55 to $1.65; tomatoes, $1.25 per 4-carrier crate, and new potatoes, $3.05 to $3.15 per bbl. It would have been a different story had they arrived a week sooner, but potatoes, beans and cucumbers can be bought on the market here at much lower prices than last week.

At the Cheese Board last Friday afternoon, 1,836 boxes were registered for sale, of which 1,510 were white and 326 colored. The offerings sold for 9¼ and 9⅜c.

On the market, potatoes took a drop to day from the enormous prices paid the last few days. They could be bought easily at $1 per bag, and new ones at $1 per bush.

Oats are scarce, 52c. being the price paid.

Mr. Hodge, of Chase & Sanborn, is in the city, also Mr. McGregor, of J. O. Wilson & Co., and Mr. Maclette, of Park, Blackwell & Co.

Next Monday evening the regular meeting of the Ottawa Retail Grocers' Association will be held in the rooms at the Ottawa Fruit Exchange, Nicholas street. All reports in connection with the excursion will be received. The early closing on Saturday night and other important questions will be discussed. A full attendance is looked for.

The Ogilvie Milling Co. have removed from Queen street to Sussex street. They find it necessary to carry stock for the convenience of wholesale dealers. Heretofore they only had an office, but now their office and warehouse is together. Mr. A. E. Forde, their new manager here, is an old Ottawa boy, having left here some years ago for the West and was in the employ of the same company there, and was recently promoted to take charge of this office. He reports business exceedingly good.

MADE CHEESE ON SUNDAY.

On June 27, Charles McDride, of the Forest Mills factory, laid a complaint against James Ansley for making cheese on Sunday. The magistrate at Napanee found Ansley guilty and fined him the minimum penalty, $1 and costs, ruling that the making of cheese on Sunday was not a work of necessity.

P. McINTOSH & SON'S MILL BURNED.

Just as we are going to press we learn of the destruction by fire of the mill of P. McMcIntosh & Son, flour and feed merchants, etc., Front and George streets, Toronto. The fire broke out on Thursday morning, July 10. The loss to the property of Messrs. McIntosh is about $40,000 to $50,000.

The most serious part of the conflagration is the loss of five firemen of the Toronto Fire Brigade, who were killed by the falling of the walls on the east side of the burning building.

Messrs. McIntosh this spring purchased the business of The Ireland National Food Co., Limited, and were shortly about to transfer their entire business to their new premises.

JUDGMENT IN YEAST CASE.

IN the Trial Court, Toronto, on July 9, Judge Street gave judgment in the case of Gillett vs. Lumsden, for infringement of registered trade mark, "Gillett's Cream Dry Hop Yeast." The facts as found by the trial judge are as follows: Plaintiffs sold large quantities of goods with the said label thereon from 1877 down to the year 1885, when they began selling the same goods marked "Royal Yeast," and gradually gave up the sale of those marked "Cream Yeast," although they still kept the original labels in stock and affixed them to the packages upon the rare occasions when "Cream Yeast" was asked for. In January, 1901, defendants began to sell yeast cakes under the name "Jersey Cream Yeast," put up in packages marked with defendants' own name as manufacturers. The defendants swore that when they adopted the name, "Jersey Cream Yeast," they did not know that any other article called "Cream Yeast" was on the market. In May, 1901, plaintiffs wrote to defendants, warning them against continuing the sale of their "Jersey Cream Yeast" under that name, and threatened proceedings. The defendants replied, refusing to withdraw the article from sale. Since 1892, defendants have owned a trade mark for baking powder, being the words, "Jersey Cream Baking Powder," but defendants had never applied the words "Jersey Cream" to yeast cakes. It was held, that the words "Cream Yeast" are not the proper subject of a trade mark, being common words of description; also held, that plaintiffs are entitled to succeed upon the ground that their yeast had long ago acquired a reputation in the market under the name "Cream Yeast," and that such name is their property, as against other persons seeking to use it for selling other goods of the same character; and that the evidence that plaintiffs had not for some years before 1901 sold many boxes of the article does not show an abandonment of the right to use the name in connection with the goods, for plaintiffs have always been prepared to furnish the label upon the few occasions between the end of 1894 and the beginning of 1901 when it was asked for.

Judgment granted, declaring that defendants, by using the word "Cream" as applied to their yeast, have infringed plaintiffs' rights, and granting a perpetual injunction restraining defendants from doing so. Defendants to pay the costs of the action.

SOMETHING NEW IN CHEESE.

The MacLaren Imperial Cheese Co., of Toronto, is taking control of a new method of placing our Canadian cheese before the consumer. The cheese is put up in blocks weighing about 12 lb. each, and each block is marked off into ½-lb. squares. It is wrapped in white cotton, and a wax covering is also put over it. No rind or skin can form on the cheese, and in this way there is no waste in cutting, either for the retail grocer or the consumer. The cheese is manufactured in one of our best Canadian factories, and it is of the finest quality. Grocers should make themselves familiar with this as soon as possible. See the company's advertisement in this issue.

UNSATISFACTORY CHEESE.

THE following cable was received by the Montreal Board of Trade from the Bristol, Eng., Provision Trade Association: "Monteagle cheese arriving unripe. Most prejudicial. Can you induce factories and shippers to hold on shelves longer?"

Complaints in regard to Canadian cheese being sent to England before being sufficiently cured have been heard before on different occasions, but there seems to have been no decided stand taken to prevent the recurrence of this state of affairs. The Monteagle sailed from Montreal on June 6 with some 15,000 cheese on board. The price paid for cheese just previous to that was around 11c., and factorymen were anxious to get rid of their make at these figures, with the result that a good deal of cheese was sent out in a green condition.

The trouble, besides the fact that in many cases factorymen were too eager to obtain the highest price for their goods, regardless of future consequences, seems to be that most factories lack proper storage facilities. The cheese should be allowed to cure in a temperature not greater than 60 deg. Fahrenheit, if the best quality is to be procured, while not less than two weeks in the curing-room is necessary to allow the cheese to ripen sufficiently to be shipped. According to Mr. A. W. Grant, a Montreal exporter, there are scarcely a half-dozen factories throughout Canada with proper storage facilities for curing the cheese, and makers were consequently afraid to hold their goods for any length of time for fear of it spoiling on their hands.

Mr. P. W. McLagan, president of the Montreal Produce Merchants' Association, had no doubt but that a large proportion of the Monteagle's cheese cargo was altogether too green. The demand for cheese for export account at the time was very good, and makers, as well as some shippers, were in too great haste to place the goods on the market.

The export cheese trade of Canada exceeds $20,000,000 in value, and it is most regrettable that greater care is not taken to preserve it. Our export butter trade once sank into insignificance because of the inferior character of the goods which were shipped to Great Britain, and unless some drastic steps are taken to prevent the shipment of inferior cheese there is danger that we may have a like experience in this, one of our most important articles of export.

HOLIDAYING IN THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

IT is gratifying for THE CANADIAN GROCER to note that business men in Ontario are taking more interest in the Maritime Provinces as a summer resort.

There is undoubtedly no part of this continent which affords greater attraction for tired business men who are seeking a holiday. The scenery is grand and the climate delightful and bracing, and there is a variety of sport for those who are fond of the rod or gun.

The tourist associations, such as those at St. John and Halifax, as well as the Intercolonial Railway, are doing a good work in acquainting the west with the attractions which the Maritime Provinces afford as a summer resort. There is still, however, a great deal to be done in this respect, for we find in conversing with business men in the west, who are thinking of taking trips to the Maritime Provinces during the summer months, that they have very little definite information as to routes, hotels, etc.

AN UNJUST INSINUATION.

IN his address of welcome to the convention of the ironmoulders in Toronto on Monday, Mayor Howland insinuated that President Ames, of the Toronto Board of Trade, and his fellow associates who were instrumental in securing a settlement of the street railway strike, were merely a committee representing the Street Railway Co. This was a most unfortunate statement for His Worship to have made, as it is well known that but for the business-like way and untiring zeal of the representatives of the Board of Trade the strike would not have been settled when it was. And this would not have been the worst feature of the situation, for after the rioting which had taken place on the Sunday previous to the settlement of the strike, it is no telling what might have happened, as there were undoubtedly a large number of hoodlums, sympathizing with the strikers, who were ready to do almost anything to prevent the cars being run by any other than union employes. Besides this, there was the great inconvenience which the public would have suffered from long stoppage of the street car service.

His Worship has heretofore not resorted to the methods of the ward politician in public affairs. If there has ever been a gentleman occupying the position of chief magistrate in Toronto it is Mayor Howland, but one cannot think otherwise than that in the present instance he has dropped what has hitherto been his practice, and followed a course more akin to that of the professional or ward politician.

It may not have been that he was talking for votes, but it looks extremely like it indeed, and we very much regret that he has tried to belittle the successful efforts of a body of business men whose sole object was the public good.

WANT GRAIN AND LUMBER ON THE FREE LIST.

RECIPROCITY with Canadais a question that is likely to receive some attention at the next session of the United States Congress. At any rate, the Minnesota delegation in the House of Representatives seem bent on seeing that it does receive attention. It was intimated a few days prior to the adjournment of the House that a Bill would be introduced in favor of reciprocity and putting Canadian lumber, wood pulp and grain on the free list. It was, however, finally deemed advisable to leave the question in abeyance until next session, as it was felt that no good would be done to the cause by any such formal action at present. In the meanwhile, it is proposed to prepare plans and inaugurate a vigorous campaign next season in favor of reciprocity with Canada. In order to overcome the difficulties and delay entailed in an ordinary reciprocity treaty, the proposal appears to be to call upon the Joint High Commission to look into the question and recommend some satisfactory arrangement.

Hitherto the centre of the movement for reciprocity with Canada has been in the New England States with the business interests in New York a strong supporter of the idea. It is, therefore, significant to see the movement obtaining such headway in the Northwest. The motive, however, is not the same in the west as it is in the east. The advocates of reciprocity in the west want Canadian lumber, wood pulp and grain, the last named for grinding into flour in the mills at Minneapolis. They are not much concerned about the question of protection to the manufacturing industries of the country. The manufacturers in the east, however, are very much interested in this particular. They want protection and want it just as high as ever, but they want the Canadian market as well. They are extremely generous in regard to the shadow, but the substance they grapple to their breast with zealous hands.

Even in the west, where the reciprocity idea is said by the Washington correspondent of The Journal of Commerce, New York, to be growing, the farmers are likely to set their faces against the proposal to admit Canadian lumber and grain at lower rates of duty.

Canada's export of wheat to the United States last year was only 53,186 bushels. Of grain of all kinds, except beans, the quantity was only 463,233 bushels, while the total to all countries was 25,282,512 bushels, of which 9,738,758 bushels were wheat.

Taking lumber and manufactures thereof the value of the exports to the United States in 1901 was $13,176,717, which was about $3,000,000 less than five years before. The total value of our exports to all countries last year was about $33,000,000, and our best customer is Great Britain, which in 1901 took $17,301,960 worth, an increase during the five years of almost the same amount as the decrease during that period on United States account.

At present the United States Customs duties on grain, pulp and lumber are as follows: Barley, 30c. per bushel; buckwheat, 15c. per bushel; oats, 15c. per bushel; rye, 10c. per bushel; wheat, 25c. per bushel; mechanically ground wood pulp, one-twelfth of one cent per lb.; chemical wood pulp, unbleached, one-sixth of one cent per lb.; ditto, bleached, one-fourth of one cent per lb.; sawed boards, planks, deals, etc., $1 to $2 per 1,000 feet.

With a material reduction in the United States duty on those articles our exports to that country would undoubtedly increase. But we see nothing to anticipate in the near future any such reduction. No matter how earnest the Minnesota delegation in the House of Representatives may be, there are contending forces in the United States which are stronger than they.

Economically closer trade relations between Canada and the United States are desirable. But, unfortunately, political exigencies transcend economical requirements.

GROCERIES AT SUMMER RESORTS.

THE summer resort trade in groceries is gradually becoming more important. Canadians, as their wealth increases, are yearly going to summer resorts in increasing numbers. It can scarcely be said, however, that the number of merchants who make a specialty of catering to this kind of trade has increased in proportion. The most progressive merchants catering to this trade so far appear to be departmental stores, which seems to us a pity.

As a rule, the prices obtained for the goods supplied at these summer resorts insure a much better profit than can be obtained in the towns and cities, where the competition is naturally keener. It is, therefore, worth seeking.

Some of the houses which cater to this kind of trade get out a neat little illustrated booklet giving prices, etc., in regard to the goods they handle. This appears to be a successful way in getting at the summer resort trade, but this is only one of the many methods which might be employed.

This summer resort trade is woith the attention of the merchants in every locality where such trade is to be secured.

A WEAKER BUTTER MARKET.

AFTER continuing steady for over a month the Toronto butter market is commencing to weaken, and, although no quotable change has been made in prices, the tone of the market is considerably easier. This is a reflection of the conditions of the English market for butter, which recently showed a decline, and now English buyers are unwilling to offer holders on this side of the water prices large enough to give shippers here a safe margin in laying down the Canadian butter on English soil.

The cause of this depreciation in the price of butter in the Old Country it is difficult to get at exactly, but holders there seem to have on hand fairly large stocks of this product.

The exports from Canada have been steady all spring, and Canadian creamery, which this year has been of excellent flavor and possesses good keeping qualities, has made for itself on the British market a reputation that commands a large trade. It is stated on good authority that Canadian is now the best butter on exhibition there, and that Danish, once so formidable, is not pressing it hard at present.

An improvement in the weather in England and consequent improvement in the pastures there has resulted in a larger make of butter than was expected earlier in the season, and this has had something to do with the recent decline.

According to the latest reports Canadian creamery is selling freely on the London market at 98 to 100s. per cwt. for the finest.

Around Toronto and westward the recent rains, combined with the warmer weather, have had the effect of much improving the pasture and a large make of butter is the result. The deliveries on the Toronto market are large and buyers are placing quantities in storage for future sales. Some inquiries are being received from Old Country buyers, but the complaint is that the prices offered, as mentioned above, are not sufficiently high to enable a good export business to be done with profit to the exporter.

ONTARIO FRUIT IN THE WEST.

A COMPLAINT has just been made to the Agricultural Department at Ottawa by one of its fruit inspectors in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories regarding dishonest packing of Ontario apples. This only corroborates what the Manitoba correspondent of THE CANADIAN GROCER has from time to time said in regard to this matter, and, in spite of the precautions which the Government is taking, the practice does not yet appear to have been discontinued.

It is to be hoped, however, that during the ensuing season, now that the Fruit Marks Act is in operation, and has been made more effective by recent amendments, that such steps will be taken as will prevent the continuance of those dishonest practices. Although they are our own countrymen, some of the fruit dealers in Winnipeg and other centres in the West are so dissatisfied with their experience with Ontario fruit that they prefer to give their business to the United States. This is most regrettable, but, certainly, in view of the circumstances, they can scarcely be blamed.

With a vigorous enforcement of the law and the exercise of care by shippers, who are really not the ones responsible for the dishonesty, the bad name which Ontario fruit now has in the West should in time be overcome.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

SALMON AND LOBSTERS IN LONDON.

BUSINESS in salmon continues good and valuations for all grades are very firm, with a tendency to advance. There has been a strong feeling in the wholesale trade for some little time that prices sooner or later must show an improvement, and any reliable parcels that importers wished to sell at a reasonable figure have been secured. Although the weather since the beginning of the year has not been inducive to a large trade in this article, yet the deliveries from the wharves have been on a very large scale, thus proving its relative cheapness compared with any other class of provisions in the market. There is a good steady trade doing in lobsters, and packers this year, as far as arrivals up to date are concerned, are to be congratulated on their excellent deliveries as regards quality. Quotations for choicest quality goods again this year are very high, but it is satisfactory to note that for once the quality is meeting with the approval of the buyers. — Produce Markets' Review, June 21.

STRONG PEANUT OUTLOOK.

Writing from Smithfield, Va,, the Gwaltney-Bunkley Peanut Co. have the following on the situation in peanuts : "A few months ago we intimated that 5c. per lb. would be refused for fancy hand-picked peanuts before August 1 ; it now seems more than probable this suggestion will become a reality. A careful investigation shows there are in Virginia and North Carolina less than 200,000 bags Virginia peanuts ; the requirements of the cleaners average 75,000 to 100,000 bags per month. There are four and a half months before new nuts will be in condition to market with safety ; making due allowance for stocks in the hands of jobbers, and wholesale dealers, it is very apparent that supplies will be exceedingly scarce, if not entirely exhausted, before October 1.

"Present prices will cut no figure in consumption ; a year ago, fancy hand-picked goods sold freely at 4½c., while stocks exceeded 500,000 bags ; besides, the relative price of peanuts now is below many other products. The few farmers and country speculators who have goods are not disposed to sell except at prices that leave no margin of profit if worked at to-day's quotations for cleaned goods. Commission merchants in Norfolk and Petersburg have nothing to offer except a few lots of old goods, most of which are scarcely fit to shell and worthless for any other purpose.

"Stocks of Spanish have rapidly reduced ; supplies are far short of July 1 last year, while the price of No. 1 Spanish shelled is ¼ to ½c. per lb. less. This situation is not likely to remain very long, and well-informed dealers expect 6c. or more before the season closes. The growing crop is not showing up well in some sections ; the plants are small ; a good many fields have poor stands, owing to cold weather and lack of moisture. Some farmers are now planting or replanting with the prospect of only a light harvest ; in other sections prospects are better."

SITUATION IN CURRANTS.

The market for currants is only moderately active, and as some first hand sellers continue to show anxiety to quit their remaining stocks, prices remain barely steady. This position, when viewed in connection with the very moderate dimensions of remaining universal stocks, may be partly explained by the desire to clear up outstanding accounts, and start fresh for the coming season, but it is probably also due to the general anticipation, failing accident, of an abundant yield from the crop which is now growing. These indications are constantly confirmed by the latest reports, which indicate favorable climatic and other conditions. Even thus early, a moderate quantity of the new crop has been sold in both Germany and England for August and September shipment. Present prices are low enough to tempt buyers who are carrying very small stocks of existing currants ; and, if no damage ensues during the next two-and-a-half months, the new season will open with very reasonable rates. This is a matter for congratulation for all concerned ; relieving as it does buyers from the necessity of too much caution in operating, through fear of a fall later on, and, indeed, inducing them to buy freely for their requirements, with the added prospect of the probability of a market turn. In spite of the small actual volume of the London stock, the market is not suffering greatly from want of selection, if the finest qualities and also small currants are excepted.—Produce Markets' Review, June 21.

TO PREPARE FOR EXCURSION.

The regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association will be held on Monday evening, July 14, at St. George's Hall, Elm Street, Toronto, and the chief business will be the completion of arrangements for their annual excursion. Several new members will probably be admitted.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, July 10, 1902.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS, generally, in the grocery line during the week has been quiet. There are few new features in the market to report, and prices all round rule about the same as they were last week. There has not been quite such a good trade in canned goods, excepting that a brisk business in salmon is being done for future shipment. Only a few more tomatoes are left on the market, and most houses are asking $1.15 for what stock they have on hand. There is a firmer feeling in canned corn, due to reports of the probability of a short crop of corn. The demand for sugar has improved but the prices are still weak. Some houses have advanced fine raisins to 8½c. on account of their scarcity. Peels are quiet, but a few orders are being booked for future delivery. There has been an improved business in green Rio coffee at prices easier but unchanged. There is a good trade doing in currants, and the market is bare of tapnet and natural figs.

CANNED GOODS.

In canned goods, trade on the whole during the week has been good. Tomatoes continue firm and little stock thereof is at present on the market. Corn is reported much firmer, owing to the prospects of a shortage in the crop this season. Peas are now quoted for future delivery at $1.25 to $1.50 for extra sifted, and for other kinds from 82½c. upwards. We quote $1.10 and upwards for tomatoes, 80c. and upwards for peas, and 65 to 70c. for corn. Fruits have not been as active as they were, and canned meats have quieted down a little, owing to the merchants having already laid in a stock for their summer's trade. The salmon market has been active and numbers of sales have been made of this season's pack for delivery on arrival. There is also a good business being done in haddies and kippered herring. Lobsters also are selling nicely. We quote as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality, and canned haddies, $1 to $1.10.

COFFEES

The demand locally for green Rio coffees has improved and prices are unchanged, but the feeling of the market is easier. The demand for mild greens is quiet, but trade in roasted coffees continues good. The outside coffee markets are weaker, and slight declensions have occurred in both actual supplies and contracts. Quotations follow: Green Rio, No. 7, 7⅞c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

NUTS.

The local nut market is quiet and unchanged. A cable despatch from Bordeaux states that the prospects there are for only half a crop of Marbot walnuts. The outside markets are firm with no quotable change.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is a good local trade doing in rice and tapioca, and prices are unchanged. The sales of tapioca outside were limited and the markets lack tone. Rice is fairly active in the outside markets. Advices from New Orleans are stronger, the outlook for the growing crop being unfavorable. We quote: B rice, 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The local demand for syrups and molasses has somewhat improved. Midsummer dullness is being experienced in the outside market for the grocery grades of New Orleans molasses, but stocks are well under control and the prices are unchanged and steady. The outside syrup market is quiet and steady, and we now quote as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3⅝c. in barrels and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle.

SPICES.

There is a quiet movement in spices, but the fall trade has not commenced yet. Quietness prevails on the outside markets, which are featureless.

SUGAR.

The demand for sugar locally has improved, but the market still continues weak. The London, Eng., market for both cane and beet sugar is unchanged, and in the United States last week a decline of 1-16c. in raws was followed by a reaction of ⅛c.; refined continued unchanged. The receipts in the Republic for the week totalled 37,493 tons, and the meltings were 35,000 tons, leaving the total stock in the four United States ports at 133,113 tons, against 130,620 tons last week, and 289,705 tons for the same period last year. In Cuba the receipts kept up to 6,500 tons and the exports increased to 21,300 tons, leaving the total stock on the island at 107,000 tons, against 129,946 tons last year, and with two centrals still grinding. The decline and reaction in raw sugars mentioned above, marks a check in the decline in that product. The arrival of a cargo of Egyptian crystals of unusually high test commanded an advance of 1-16c., turning the market, and refiners became free buyers of all offerings at 3 5-16c. and 3⅜c. At the latter price a very large business was done, as sellers appeared quite willing to let go of their offerings. The market closed steady and firm at 3⅜c. for 96 deg. test centrifugals, and indications pointed to a continuation of this price, rather than to any further advance or decline for the present. The refined sugar market remained unchanged all week and since raw sugars improved there may not be any necessity for the considerable reduction that has been generally anticipated, and should the demand increase sufficiently no decline may take place just now. The present margin between refined and raws appears larger than it really is, for only a small quantity of raws was sold at the low prices. There has been an increase in the meltings and for a long time to come there is expected to be a larger demand.

See pages 39 and 40 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John and Halifax prices current.

TEAS.

Trade is fairly good in Indian and Ceylon blacks. Practically no new Japans have been ordered in the staple lines as the market is many points above what Canadian buyers have been in the habit of paying. The cheapest teas available in Japan now are worth in the neighborhood of 20c. and show a flat dusty leaf. The stocks in the hands of the wholesalers here are not thought to be sufficient to last the trade over a month, and as there are no high-class Japans offering buyers will have to content themselves with cheaper values. A cable has been received from Shanghai saying that the market opened there on June 1 for pingsuey teas 35 to 40 per cent. above the opening price of last year and that these opening prices are now prevailing for old teas. Decidedly irregular prices prevail on the London, Eng., market for all Indian, except a few fine liquoring teas, and the tendency there is towards rather easier rates, quotations for undesirable liquoring kinds being very low. Ceylon teas lacked animation and common and undesirable kinds fell away in price a little. The market for the better grades showed a distinctly quieter tendency and previous quotations were barely maintained. A slight recovery is shown in Javas from the low prices recently current for poor descriptions, and the better grades keep selling fairly well.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The local market is fairly active. The outside situation is quiet and void of special feature or activity. We quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c., and Patras, 6¼ to 7c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The market is denuded of stock and quotations are unchanged at 8c. upwards for selects.

DATES.—The market is quiet without particular features. We quote: Dates, in bulk, 4½c., and in packages, 6½ to 6¾c.

PRUNES.—Trade in prunes continues light and prices are unchanged. There is a fair demand outside for export. Our quotations are as follows: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS —There has not been much change in the volume of the trade doing for these, which continues light. Quotations are now as follows: 11 to 14c. per lb. for peaches and 13 to 17c. for apricots. New Santa Clara apricots are quoted f.o.b. the Coast at 7c. in 50-lb. boxes, and 7½c. in 25-lb. boxes in carload lots.

GREEN FRUITS.

The receipts of strawberries during the week have been large, averaging from 10 to 15 carloads per day, and the prices have been as low as 2c. per small basket. Quotations for these are 2 to 5c. per quart. Raspberries are now on the market at 12 to 13c. per quart, with the prospects of prices remaining firm this season, as the crop reports indicate that the yield this year will not be large. Some blackberries are being offered at 6 to 8c., and red currants are quoted at 65 to 75c. per basket for those of good quality. Black currants are scarce at $1.10 to $1.25 per basket, and good cherries are worth 75c. to $1. A shipment of Californian fruits has arrived, consisting of cucumbers, selling for $2 per basket; apples, at $2 per bushel; plums, $1.50 to $2 per box and peaches, at $1.50 per box. Beans are quoted at $1 to $1.10 per 12-quart basket and cauliflowers, $1.50 per dozen. Gooseberries are selling at 10 to 50c. per basket; watermelons are worth 35 to 40c. each and $30 per 100 for the larger sizes and $25 per 100 for the smaller stock. There is a good trade doing in Messina lemons which are worth $3.50 per case. Sorrento oranges are selling at $3 to $4.50 per case and late Valencias are firm at $5.50. New potatoes continue to arrive in increasing quantities, and the price for them is $1.25 per bushel.

VEGETABLES.

Larger receipts of carrots, peas, cabbage and beets have resulted in a decline in the prices thereof. Rhubarb is scarcer and has advanced 5 to 10c. Old potatoes are very scarce. Trade generally is fare and there is a good demand for vegetables for use on the boats. We quote: Green onions, 8 to 15c. per dozen; rhubarb, 20 to 30c. per dozen; lettuce, 15 to 25c. per dozen; radishes, 20 to 30c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; turnips, 40c. per dozen; cauliflower, 50c. to $1.25 per dozen; cabbage, 40 to 60c.; carrots, 20 to 25c. per dozen; beets, 20 to 25c. per dozen; peas, $1.25 to $1.40 per bag; new potatoes, $1.25 to $1.40 per bushel; old potatoes, $1.25 to $1.40 per bag.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The receipts of eggs continue fairly liberal. Pickling operations are through with a number of merchants who are now putting their eggs in cold storage. The market is strong at 15 to 15½c. per dozen for eggs of good quality.

BEANS.—Not much trade is being done in beans, and prices have weakened. The top figure is now $1.25 per bushel for choice handpicked.

HONEY.—The demand for honey is very light. There are a few combs selling. We quote: Honey, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c., and combs, $2 to $3 per dozen.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES.—Very few dried apples are offering and the prices are nominal at 5 and 6c. per lb.

HAY.—There have been free receipts of hay, and the market is 50c. weaker. We quote $9.50 to $10 for good hay.

POTATOES.—The offerings of old potatoes are very light and the prices are nominal at 90 to 95c. per bag in carlots on track.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—The improvement in the weather has resulted in an increase in the receipts of butter and the market is weaker. There has been little demand for this product from the Old Country, and this has a tendency to cause prices here to sag. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 15 to 16c.; large rolls, 15c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 15½c.; large rolls, medium grade, 12 to 14c., and tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints are worth 19 to 20c., and creamery solids, 19c. per lb.

CHEESE.—The cheese market this week has weakened considerably. This is mainly owing to the weakness of the English market and was not unexpected. There is little being done locally in cheese, and the prices here are 10 to 10¼c. per lb. At the factories the ruling figure is 9¼c.

FISH.

There is a fair trade in fish which is likely to continue throughout the summer. A scarcity of pike has resulted in an advance of 2c. Speckled trout are also firmer, and eastern salmon, 7 to 10c. per lb. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c.; blue fish, 9c. per lb.; mackerel, 12 to 15c.; rock bass, 4c.; eastern salmon, 18c.; speckled trout, 25 to 30c.; halibut, 15c.; Niagara whitefish, 9c. per lb.; blue pike, 4c.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN.—Favorable growing conditions in the wheat growing regions of this continent has resulted in a decline of 1c. per bushel in Manitoban and Northern wheats, and our quotations are as follows: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 85c.; No. 1 Northern, 83c., and No. 2 Northern, 82c. On the St. Lawrence market the receipts have been very light and the prices are a little higher than a week ago. Quotations are nominal at 80 to 84c. for white Ontario wheat; 75 to 80c. for red wheat; 69½ to 72c. for goose wheat, and 50 to 51c. for oats.

FLOUR.—The demand for flour has eased off with the decline in wheat, and the market is weaker. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4 to $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS.—Business in this line continues quiet with very little buying, and the prices are unchanged. We quote: Oatmeal standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.20; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.90 per bbl.; in wood, 10c. extra; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100-lb. bbl; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES.—The market for hides continues quiet and unchanged. We quote: No. 1 green, 7½c.; No. 2 green, 6½c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8 to 8¼c.

SKINS.—Little trade is doing in these and the prices are steady. We quote: Veal skins, 6 to 14 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 10c.; No. 2, 8c.; do., 15 to 20 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies), 60 to 70c. each; sheepskins, 80c. to $1; shearlings, 20c.

WOOL.—The wool market is still inactive and weak. We quote 13c. for fleece wool, and 7c. per lb. for unwashed.

TALLOW.—The offerings of tallow continue light and prices are unchanged at 6¼ to 6½c. per lb.

MARKET NOTES.

Cheese has declined ¼ to ½c.

Natural figs are in some cases ¾c. per lb. higher.

Messina lemons have advanced 50c. to $1 per box.

Dressed hogs have advanced 25c. and live hogs, 37½c. per 100 lb.

There has been a decline of 1c. in the prices of Manitoba and Northern wheat.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, July 10, 1902.

GROCERIES.

WHOLESALE grocers report a good trade during the past week. The great number of people going out of town to the different summer resorts has given an impetus to the trade with out-of-town dealers; but the city retailer loses just in proportion as his brother in the country or at the seaside gains. With the jobber there is not much difference in the volume of business done, except that there is an increased demand for certain lines for picnics, etc. Canned goods have been particularly active during the past week or so. Canned corn has advanced considerably, and some dealers are expecting still higher prices before the new crop comes in. There is some scarcity reported in white beans, which now sell at $1.40 to $1.45 for finest quality. The combine to maintain prices in Dewar's Scotch whiskey has come to an end, the agents themselves having issued a circular to that effect on July 2. We understand that this was done under pressure made by two of the leading wholesale liquor dealers in Montreal, who wanted to protect their own interests. These two firms were also partly instrumental in breaking the combine in Hennessy's brandy, Booth's Old Tom Gin, and other liquors. Dewar's Scotch whiskey is now being sold at much lower prices. A few barrels of Canadian pork have recently been on the market, for which jobbers asked $25.50. Armour's pork (50 to 60's) declined 50c., and is now selling at $25.50. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" compound lard is ¼c. lower. Cotton ropes are now quoted at 14½ to 14¾c., in sympathy with the rise in price made some time ago. It has been selling on this market at the former prices notwithstanding the advance, but stocks are now becoming depleted and prices had to be raised. Sisal rope is lower, being now sold on a basis of 12½c.

SUGAR.

refiners here, and they report a good demand, which is expected to increase as the season advances. No break in the prices is expected, and none has occurred during the week. Granulated sugar sells at $3.65, and yellows at $3 to $3.55.

TEAS.

The demand from country buyers has increased of late, though the local market is quiet as is usual at this season of the year. A cable received on July 4 reported a decline of 1c. per lb. in some grades of Ceylon teas. The market for Japans remains firm, with some business being done between the wholesale houses. The following circular was issued on July 7 by a Montreal agent for Japan teas: "To-day's cable received from Japan reads, 'Second crop is poor in make and price 1c. per lb. higher than first crop.' While first cablegram on 27th ultimo., mentioned second crop looks fine, this could have only been a small sample lot which was the first arrival from the district of production. Now, however, coming in large quantity, it proves poorer in quality and relatively higher than first crop basis of prices. It is therefore a foregone conclusion that prices of first crop in this market will not decline, but a further advance may be anticipated."

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There has been no important change in the situation for either syrups or molasses. The demand for Barbados molasses is light, and orders are small and intended only to fill immediate wants. The price remains unchanged at 23 to 24c., according to quality. Antigua molasses is quoted at 24c., and best Porto Rico at 38c. Business in syrups is slow. We quote corn syrups as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for all sorts of canned goods is excellent, as is usually the case during the season of picnics, camping, and holiday outings. The feeling in tomatoes is constantly growing stronger, but jobbers are still selling at from 97½c. to $1. Corn has advanced 2½ to 5c., and the market is firm. The advance was made in view of the new crop, the outlook for which is such that holders felt justified in raising prices. Private advices from France state that the sardine packing is late, and that the loss to packers has been large. A further advance was made in codfish roe, and the outlook was for high prices for canned fish in general. Business in the new pack of salmon for future delivery has been somewhat quiet of late, but prices have been maintained. Quotations are: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; tomatoes, 97½c. to $1; gallon apples, $2.95 to $3.00; 3-lb. apples, $1.10. Salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet, red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River red sockeye, $1.40.

SPICES.

There has been no material change in this market. The feeling, in general, remains firm. Our quotations are as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground,

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Prices on rice and tapioca have not been altered by the jobbers here. There is a brisk inquiry, and the market is active. We quote: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice,, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags, and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅛ to 3½c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—There is a fair local demand for currants, which are quoted at unchanged prices. The situation in Greece has not materially changed. A recent report states that shipments from that country to all parts continue on a fairly satisfactory scale, the total clearances in May amounting to about 3,000 tons leaving remaining stocks estimated at 10,000 tons. The new crop is apparently progressing satisfactorily and the first estimate of the expected outturn, from reliable quarters, is placed at 165,000 tons, but this may be largely reduced should unfavorable conditions develop before the housing of the fruit."

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The market conditions are practically unchanged. The quantity of fine fruit is very small, and prices are only nominal. We quote as follows: Finest off-stalk, 6½c.; selected, 6⅝c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS.—These are in fair demand, and the price is 9c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—No further change in price is noted in this line. The market is quiet. We quote: Citron peel, 15c.; orange peel, 11½c., and lemon peel, 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There are still a few of these in stock, but the market is growing bare rapidly. We quote as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There is nothing new to report. Hallowees sell at 1¼c. per lb., with a fair demand.

FIGS.—There are no figs to be had on this market, and the new crop is being awaited. Private advices from Smyrna state that the opening prices on the new crop will be from 2s. 6d. to 3s. higher than the opening prices of last year. The indications at present are that the crop will be about 25 per cent. less than that of a year ago, which was about 45,000,000 lb. Shipments from the interior to packing points are looked for about the middle of August.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—There is no change. A fair trade is doing, seeded raisins being quoted at 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—Business is as usual. The demand keeps up and a fairly good trade is doing. We quote as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—There has been no marked change in this line, and the demand is no more than moderate. Apricots sell at 14½c.; peaches at 10½c., and pears at 10c.

NUTS.

The demand for nuts is small. Prices are the same as those of last week. Reports from Sicily state that the new crop of filberts has been damaged by the cold weather and high winds. It is difficult, however, to arrive at a correct estimate of the damage, and doubtless the reports have been much exaggerated. The local prices are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 15 to 16c.; shelled almonds, 24½ to 25c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—Creamery butter has again dropped off in price, finest make being 1c. lower, and good to fine, ¼c. lower. This has been caused by the falling off in demand, which, at present, is very light. There has been no quotable change in dairy butter, which remains at 17½ to 18½c. for Eastern Townships, and 16 to 17c. for western. We quote creamery at 19½ to 20c. for finest, and 18¾ to 19¼c. for good to fine.

CHEESE.—The cheese market, both locally and in the country, is easier and a decline has taken place all round, although in undergrades a wider range of prices is quoted and in the best stuff a higher price is asked. The market has been quiet. Finest Ontario cheese is now quoted at 9½ to 9⅝c.; finest Townships, 9⅝ to 9¾c.; finest Quebec, 9¼ to 9⅜c.; undergrades, 8 to 9c. The general feeling is for lower prices still, but the decline is not taking place as rapidly as had been expected.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The egg market has been steady all round since last week and no change whatever is to be reported, the price of round lots of straight receipts being still 13½ to 13⅝c., while No. 2 stock sells at 12½ to 13c. per dozen. The demand, however, is limited, and the market is quiet. Supplies are not too abundant by any means, the loss, during the week or two of hot weather, being considerable.

POTATOES.—Old stock has been pretty well used up on this market and the demand was small, prices being $1 to $1.10 in carload lots, an advance of 5c. over last week. New potatoes have commenced to arrive in fair quantities, and sell for $3 per bbl. in small lots.

HONEY.—This is dull and entirely unchanged. Quotations are: White clover, comb, 13 to 14c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c.; buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; extracted, 7 to 8c.

BEANS.—The market has been steadier this week with a moderate jobbing trade doing. The price remains at $1.20 to $1.25, carload lots selling for $1.10 to $1.12½ for primes.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—The only change in this market is in sugar, the highest price of which is now 8c. instead of 9c. Otherwise no change has occurred, and the demand is still light. We quote as follows: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 80c.; small tins, 50 to 60c. Sugar, 7 to 8c. per lb.

POTASH.—No change whatever is to be reported in this market, which remains quiet and without feature. We quote: Firsts, $4.15 to $4.20; seconds, $3.70 to $3.75; pearls, $6 per 100 lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for green fruits of all sorts has been good throughout the week, and new arrivals on the market have been picked up rapidly. Californian apples, peaches, plums, pears and apricots are now in fair supply on the market. Watermelons and muskmelons are also selling well. A few red raspberries have made their appearance and sell at 15c.

per box. Pineapples have advanced and are now quoted at 13 to 20c. Vineland's sweet potatoes are from $1.50 to $2.00 lower. Strawberries are also lower, and are now selling at 5 to 7c. per box. Canadian cabbage has now displaced the imported article. It is quoted at $1.75 per barrel. We quote: Jamaica oranges, in barrels, $1.50 to $1.75; in boxes, $2.75; Valencia oranges, 420's, $5.75; 420's, Jumbo, $6.50; 714's, $6.50; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $4; grape fruit, $4.25 to $5 per box; radishes, 15c. per dozen; spinach, $2 per barrel; strawberries, 5 to 7c. per box; asparagus, 40c. per bunch; Boston lettuce, 35c. per dozen; cucumbers, 35 to 60c. per dozen; wax beans, $2.50 per basket; green beans, $3 per basket; Californian cherries, $2 to $2.50 per box; Canadian cabbage, $1.75 per barrel; potatoes, $3 per barrel; tomatoes, four basket carriers, $1; watermelons, 35 to 40c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; raspberries, 15c. per box; gooseberries, 75c. per basket; blackberries, 8c. per box; Californian apples, $2.50 per box; peaches, $2 per box; plums, $2.50 to $3.25 per box; pears, $2.50 per half box; apricots, $1.50 per box; limes, $1.50 per box; red currants, 6c. per box.

FISH.

Considering the extremely warm weather business in fish has been very satisfactory. Arrivals have continued fairly good, but there has been some falling off during the past few days. Salmon is now quoted higher, and large and medium trout has advanced ½c. and our quotations are now as follows: Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; whitefish, 7½c.; dore, 7½c.; pike, 6c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 14c.; trout, large and medium, 8c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50; No. 1 British-Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—Manitoba spring wheat patents are somewhat lower this week, being quoted at $4 to $4.10. Strong bakers' flour is also 10c. lower. The condition of the market is not greatly changed. A fair demand for carload lots has been experienced both for local and country accounts. We quote: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4 to $4.10; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.80; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN.—The good demand for oats is the most prominent feature of the grain market. The price has gone up ½c. per bushel on account of this demand coupled with the scant offerings. Peas have also advanced 1c. We quote: No. 2 Ontario oats, ex store, 48½ to 49c.; rye, 66c.; peas, 86½ to 87c.; corn, 70 to 70½c.; buckwheat, 68½ to 69c.; No. 2 barley afloat, 61c.

FEED.—A further decline of 50c. has taken place in Ontario bran. Manitoba bran is quoted lower also. Shorts are steady and somewhat scarce. We quote as follows: Ontario bran, $17.50 to $18 per ton; Manitoba bran, $17 to $18; Manitoba shorts, $23 per ton.

OATMEAL.—Trade in this line is quiet and business is chiefly of a jobbing nature. The price, in small lots, is $5.65 per barrel, and $2.77½ per bag.

BALED HAY.—No change in the price of baled hay is reported. The demand for export has decreased materially, but the local demand is still fairly good. We quote as follows: No. 1 timothy, $9 to $9.50; No. 2, $8 to $8.50; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton in carlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cheese has declined ½c.
Pineapples are 4c. higher.
Strawberries are 3 to 5c. lower.
Creamery butter is ¼ to ½c. lower.
Canned corn has advanced 2½ to 5c.
Sweet potatoes have dropped $1.50 to $2.00.
Fresh Gaspe salmon is 1 to 2c. higher, and trout is ½c. higher.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., July 7, 1902.

SOME few years ago an effort was made to introduce Eastern standard time here. The Customs house and post office did use it, and, of course, the railways; but the people in general did not approve of it, and we went back to local time except, of course, the railways. This year the Board of Trade took the matter in hand, and aided by other bodies, made a successful effort to have Atlantic Standard or Intercolonial time, as it is sometimes called, established as the time for the Maritime Provinces. A day was set for the change and without the least trouble everyone moved his time ahead 24 minutes. After about a month's trial everyone is satisfied; in fact, most people have forgotten there has been a change everything is so natural. And the satisfaction of having but one time for everything is great. While with the railways it made a full hour's difference, they readily fell in with the new time. In fact without them there could not have been success.

OILS.—In burning oils business is quiet. Prices are unchanged, there being nothing to affect the market. All paint oils are high, particularly turpentine. There is a light business. In lubricating oils there is a large steady movement at even figures. Fish oil keeps firm.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt there is quite a stock held in store. There are also further shipments due. The demand continues large, and prices are well maintained. Sales for the week ex-store have been large. In fine salt the sale of Canadian has been good this spring. Little English is now sold, though the amount has been increased this spring by parties here repacking it into wood boxes. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 55 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 dozen; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per dozen; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—There is a steady sale. The market is low on tomatoes, and not many are offered from outside. Prices will be higher. In peas stocks are light, but a local packer has been placing some spot goods. In corn prices are unchanged. Packers offer spot goods. A local packer is offering new peas below western prices, and local tomatoes have been quite freely sold. The outlook for canned goods, particularly tomatoes and strawberries, is said to point to full figures. Local strawberries are also sold. In gallon apples, local packers have supplied the market. In the full line, while a very large quantity of western goods are still sold, local goods are an important factor. Salmon are not a large stock. The sale of futures has been fair, particularly for spring fish. Lobsters will be a fair supply. In fruits there is a fair sale. There are no spot apples and but few blueberries. Other lines are unchanged. Meats are high, and there is a steady business. Domestic fish, such as sardines, haddies and herring, are now offered. The supply of haddies will not be large. Prices are still low.

GREEN FRUITS.—Business is active. Ontario strawberries have sold freely, but domestic are now coming in, and are preferred. Californian plums, apricots and peaches have more attention, but are not yet large sellers. Oranges are only in fair demand. Lemons move freely at firm figures. Bananas are in large supply. This is the staple line. Tomatoes are still high and quite scarce. Pines and melons have a steady sale at even figures. Rhubarb has held its price better than for many years, the supply not being as large as usual.

DRIED FRUITS.—Business is quiet. In futures, Californian prunes, first shipment of Valencias and figs have been largely bought. Prunes will be low. There is some difficulty to get the small size which is so popular here. The spot stocks of dried fruits are lighter than usual at this season. Currants have a fair sale, and prices are unchanged. In apples a few dried are about all that are offered. Onions are held firm, and they are in fair supply. Peanuts are rather higher.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Eggs have held high this summer. The supply is light and prices are rather firmer and tending higher. In butter there is an easier feeling. In dairy, rolls or prints, there is no demand. For tub butter, best stock sells quite freely, but the prices are quite low. There is little sale for creamery. Cheese have a fair movement, and the price is rather easier.

SUGAR.—Owing to the market being easy sales have not been so large. Still, there is a very steady business. The low price continues and there is no prospect of a change. The sale is for granulated.

MOLASSES.—There is rather more Barbados here than last season. There is just a fair sale. Prices are easy. In Porto Rico stock here and to arrive is quite large. The prices have been very low, but there is a firmer feeling.

FISH.—Salmon are the matter of par-

LOGIC.

You know a good thing when you see it. But do you always know a better when you see it?

It is easy to know a good thing. Five cents is a good thing. But the goodness there is in five cents can never be enjoyed till you spend it. And you don't spend it till you know something better than five cents.

The value of five cents, therefore, is as much in your own quick insight and keen perception as in the money itself.

If your good sense tells you that a better thing than five cents is a horse car ride over that long, dusty road you are travelling, you are indebted to your own sagacity for at least half of the benefit you enjoy by the exchange.

Then what you and all the rest of the world seek is a thing that is better than your money, so that in the spending of your money you will get more than its value.

Is there anything that you can buy just at this time that will give you more return than ticular interest. The catch is quite large and prices are well maintained. Our local salmon are the best, we think, in the world. A few halibut are still offered. Gaspereaux and shad are out of the market. There are plenty of alewives. In dry cod prices are easy. Pollock have been quite scarce but are more freely offered. Smoked herring is rather firmer, and pickled is dull. We quote : Large and medium dry cod, $3.40 to $3.50 ; small, $2.50 to $2.60 ; haddies, 4½ to 5c ; smoked herring, 5 to 6c.; fresh cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb ; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.80 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; halibut, 8 to 10c. ; salmon, 13 to 14c. per lb.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—Flours are somewhat firmer, particularly Ontarios, and there is just a fair sale. Feed is high and very hard to get. Oats are scarce and high, and oatmeal is firm at full figures. Cornmeal is firmly held. In beans the stock is light. Prices show some advance. Barley is very slow in sale. Peas are scarce. Hay is not as active and is rather easier. We quote as follows : Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.75 ; best Ontario flour, $4.20 to $4.25; medium, $3.85 to $4.00 ; oatmeal, $5.20 to $5.25 ; cornmeal, $3.25 to $3.30 ; middlings, $22 to $23 ; oats, 55 to 58c.; handpicked beans, $1.50 to $1.55 ; prime, $1.40 to $1.45 ; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00 ; split peas, $4.95 to $5.00 ; barley, $4.40 to $4.50 ; hay, $12 to $14.

ST JOHN NOTES.

J. Hunter White has been appointed the representative of the British Columbia Packers' Association.

H. S. Daly, the representative of D. W. Hoegg & Co., the leading canners of this Province, is finding an active demand for both spot and future goods. Their peas are finding a particularly good market.

Baird & Peters have landed and to arrive 2,616 casks of Porto Rico and 1,378 of Barbados molasses, the largest quantity ever imported by a local firm during one season.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, July 7, 1902.

THOUGH the grocery business has slackened off to the normal conditions of midsummer trade, still the wholesalers are kept busy, as a visit to the places of business conclusively shows. Price conditions generally are not materially changed ; there is no striking feature in the trade except that of sugar, which is felt to be somewhat uncertain : orders are coming in regularly and are being as promptly filled ; payments are being made as promptly as heretofore and there is a most healthy tone prevailing all round. Orders are much smaller than in the earlier part of the season, but this is somewhat accounted for by the fact that sales are generally made this season on shorter time. Provincial business, generally, is good.

Flour continues firm. Some millers are asking an advance, but local quotations, possibly on account of a slackness in demand, are unchanged. Patent Manitoba is quoted at $4.60 to $4.70 ; Canadian pastry, $4.30 to $4.40 ; 75, 80 and 90 per cent. roller patent from $4.20 down to $3.75 ; straight and extra, $3.45 to $3.30. Rolled oats and oatmeal continue firm, and though quotations are somewhat less, $5.25 is about the bottom price. Cornmeal is very firm. Quotation, $3.40 to $3.45, with Halifax ground at 5 to 10c. less. The demand at present is not heavy. Middlings and bran are both scarce and dealers find it difficult to get their orders filled at the mills. Middlings are quoted at $27 to $28, and bran, at $22 to $23. The demand in both of these is fairly good as considerable is being used by the farmers in fattening stock for the market. The price will no doubt remain firm for some time yet.

The fish business is in a rather bad condition and the prices made for the opening of the new season's catch are somewhat lower than prices paid for the last of last year's fish. Bank cod is quoted at $3.50 ; Newfoundland, $3.50 to $4 ; shore, $3.25 ; grocery cod, $3.75. Herring, shore No. 1, $2.50 ; No. 2, $2 ; Newfoundland, $2.25 to $2.40. The fishermen have been making good catches and fish is already coming in in considerable quantities from the shore ports. The West-Indian markets have not, on the whole, improved very much, and unless they do prices will rule low for the season.

The molasses market remains steady at former quotations, as follows : Porto Rico, 32 to 33c.; Antigua and New Orleans, 30c.; Trinidad and Barbados, 28c.; St. Croix, 26c. There is said to be some shading in both sugar and molasses quotations, and very probably this depends on the quantity sold.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, July 7.

ALTHOUGH there has been considerable rain during the week, the condition of the country roads has considerably improved, and many farmers are now busy hauling in the remainder of their last year's crop. This is bringing more money into circulation, and the jobbing trade is feeling the benefit. The sorting trade is now going forward steadily, and there is an active demand for all seasonable goods.

SUGARS—Trade is heavy, but there is no change of price. Jobbers report that there is no buying for store, but that the consumptive demand has increased enormously. We quote: Granulated, extra standard, $4.35, and bright yellow, $3.75.

CANNED GOODS—New strawberries are in and selling at $3 40, or a shade over the opening price of last year. It is thought they will go higher. Raspberries are opening at about last year's prices. Canned vegetables are active, as, owing to excessive rains, green vegetables are scarcer in supply and higher in price than is usual at this season. Tomatoes are firm at $2.50, corn at $1 60 to $1.65, and peas at $1.85 to $2.10, according to pack.

EVAPORATED FRUITS — Apples are now 12c., and jobbers are experiencing great difficulty in getting sufficient to fill orders. New apricots will arrive about August 15, and the present understanding is that they will be considerably lower than present held stock. The stocks in the city are light and prices are firm at 13½ to 14c. for the choicest last season's goods. Dried fruits show a very limited demand and no change in price.

TEAS—Latest advices indicate that there will be still further advances in Japans as the season progresses.

GREEN FRUITS—The strike on the Canadian Northern, in which over 1,000 men are involved, has delayed fruit shipments materially this week. Lemons have advanced $1 per case, and are now $5.50. Oranges are without change. Plums, apricots and peaches are still confined to express shipments. Prices are higher. Latest shipments of Ontario strawberries have arrived in good condition. They sell at $3 per crate. Watermelons are $6 per dozen. Tomatoes are lower at $1.10 to $1.25 per crate.

CEREALS—Business is slow and prices are unchanged. Among the new claimants for favor as a breakfast food is Wheat Marrow which sells at $2.75 per case of 2 doz.

FLOUR—Business is good and prices are without change: No. 1, $2.05; No. 2.

BUTTER—The receipts of creamery are fair, but materially below those of the same period last year. Prices are firm at 16½ to 17c. In dairy butter receipts are large, and for a small amount the quality is very fine, but a large amount is distinctly second-grade stuff. Prices run from 9 to 12c., according to grade.

CHEESE—Supplies are increasing and the market has declined 8½ to 9c. factories being the outside figures.

EGGS—The supplies are not large, and, while the demand is good, prices hold at 11 to 11½c.

MONTREAL GROCERS.

THE regular monthly meeting of The Montreal Grocers' Association was held Thursday, July 3, in the Monument National, with Ald. R. Turner in the chair, and with an average attendance.

The first subject to be brought up was that of the excursion and picnic, and Highgate Springs, Vt., was definitely agreed upon as the place where it should be held; the date, July 16, also being kept to.

It was decided to hold a special meeting of the Association on July 14, at which final arrangements in connection with the picnic would be made.

An interesting incident of the meeting was the reading of a letter from Hon. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, in regard to the four-dollar bills now in circulation. It will be remembered that at the Association's meeting on June 5 a resolution was passed to have the secretary communicate with the Minister concerning these bills, which are so much like the one-dollar bills in appearance that in the hurry of making change in the store much annoyance was sometimes caused by taking one for the other.

In reply to this, Mr. Fielding said that there was a vast difference between the two bills, and failed to see how one could possibly be mistaken for the other. However, he was willing to consider the matter, and requested the Association to make some definite statement as to the change they thought necessary in the four-dollar bills. This was deemed fitting, and a committee was appointed to decide on the matter and report.

Several new members were admitted. They were: Maisonneuve & Clouthier, L. Legault, Joseph Laniel, Louis Aumais, H. Legault, Ald. W. Labrache, E. Menard, E. Vallade, Ferron & St. Onge, E. Masse, A. Gaudry, J. A. Lobisseur, Choynette & Dupuis anc H. Benoit.

A DISSERTATION ON CHEESE.

From a Denver Paper.

"THE American people scarcely know as much about the excellence of cheese as a rat," said A. S. Gamblee, representing one of the largest cheese manufacturing concerns in the world, which is located at Toronto, Canada. Mr. Gamblee is in this country to educate the people on the benefits resulting from a more free use of cheese, incidentally to sell his wares, and while in the city is a guest at the Brown Hotel.

"The trouble is," continued Mr. Gamblee, "the American people are not educated to the use of cheese. They nibble at it, and that is about all. They have never understood what cheese is for. Their taste runs more in the line of ordinary staples and they have looked upon cheese as an after-dinner affair; something to come in after the salads and desserts at the late dinner, instead of being a part of the man's meal of the day. The hotel proprietor even knows no better. He gives it as if it were a piece of knick-knack, a something that he had to have on his bill of fare, and the piece that he usually gives a guest will not average any larger than that which one would bait a trap with.

"In every other country but the United States the one item of cheese forms a part of the daily existence. Take the Frenchman and he will make a meal off Roquefort. The Englishman is never without his Cheshire or Stilton, and the laborer of O'd England will have nothing else in his pail but a couple of slices of bread and a pound or more of cheese. The German and Swiss is equally partial to and a daily consumer in large quantities of the Swiss cheese. The Italian must have his Gorgonzola and the Hollander his Edams. The people all are equally as healthy as the Americans, and I have no doubt but that the cheese-eating laborer of the foreign countries is a healther and stronger man. The American has never realized what cheese really is to the line of articles that make up the daily food.

"Cheese is a by-product of the cow; it is next to butter. The manufacture is very simple, and the making up of a cheese to suit the palate is like an old granny making a dumpling—few know how. Cheese is the most nourishing article of diet that could be imagined. There is more nourishment and more muscle-producing qualities in three ounces of cheese than there is in a pound of meat. There is no waste to it. It is all eatable, and while it makes fibre it also produces heat. It is also less injurious to the system than meat.

"It has frequently been said to me that one reason why Americans did not eat cheese so much was because of the strong odor of some of the makes. That is not a reasonable excuse for turning down an article that is so wholesome as cheese. Limburger is not the only cheese made. Others complain of the live germs in some cheese. The American may be too considerate of the possible skippers, but they are a part of the material necessary to nourish the system and not at all as dangerous as the canned goods one buys. It is the process of decay that goes on as the cheese grows older that makes the strong aroma, but in the development of cheese it is the age that improves it—it improves the nourishing qualities, and all dangerous substances that may be in the cheese when it is new are eliminated as it gets older. Good wine and good beer are only attained by age. It is only good articles that benefit.

"I am pleased to say, however, that the American people are being educated to the use of cheese. The consumption the past few years has been increasing at the rate of 100 per cent. per annum, and with the home and foreign demand the manufacturers are unable to keep up. England's trade is showing a great increase. She takes 75 per cent. of the cheese made in Canada and a like share of the production of the United States, while she also draws 50 per cent. of the production of Australia, besides using all made at home. The total annual consumption of England is 6,000,000 boxes, averaging 65 lb. to the box. Last year Canada sent 2,000,000 boxes to England of its total product of 2,500,000 boxes, and none came to the United States. This country sent about 300,000 boxes to England.

"With an education of the value of cheese as a food comes the demand, and we see an increase by the increase in the number of factories. I am of opinion that the tradesmen are also in considerable measure to blame for the poor sales of cheese in this country. They do not keep it properly. They have it exposed, it gets dusty, becomes dry or mouldy, making the package uninviting to the eye and naturally to the taste. There are rules to be followed in the care of cheese that will always make it palatable. It should be kept in a temperature of 50 to 60 deg., then it will continue to improve in quality. There is a butter fat quality in a cheese, which, if it is kept in a dry place, escapes and is never recovered, to the detriment of the cheese.

"Cheese manufaceurers are working on plans that will make cheese more popular. They have concluded that the method of handling in the stores is the basis of the poor sales. The result is that before long you will never more hear of 'twins,' 'Cheddars,' 'stovepipes,' and so on, but instead it will be put up either in sealed tins or jars; no tradesman will ever injure its quality and the demand will thereby increase, and you will have a healthier people. To show you that America is increasing her consumption of cheese, the export figures show that in 1898-99 $4 943,609 worth went out of the country, and in 1900-91 this was reduced to $3.950,999."

CURRENCY IN THE YUKON.

UNITED STATES CONSUL H. D. SAYLOR reports from Dawson City, April 29, 1902, that a recent Order-in-Council changes the rate of royalty on the gold output of the Yukon Territory. The present rate is 5 per cent. on all the gold produced by any individual, exceeding a gross output of $5,000 per year. It is now intended to reduce the royalty to 2½ per cent. with no exemption. The consul explains that gold dust is generally used in that section to liquidate debts, and merchantable gold dust, or dust thoroughly cleaned, is worth on an average $16 per ounce. Commercial dust is understood to mean a mixed dust of different creeks, adulterated with black sand or crushed white quartz, which is worth from $14 to $15 per ounce. Every practical miner will, if his dust be above the average in value, sell it to the bank, buy commercial dust at an average of $15 per oz., and pay his creditors with it at the rate of $16 per oz. The merchant, on the other hand, receives for the dust, on exchanging it for currency, only about $14.75 per oz. As the large commercial houses are mainly American and buy their goods in the United States, they will be obliged, under the new order, to lose not only the discount of $1.25 on the dust, but pay the export tax as well; hence, they are endeavoring to force the dust out of circulation. Already, the mechanics in many trades have refused to accept gold dust for wages, and are now paid in currency. In order to put the Territory on a currency basis, if possible, the merchants have decided to accept, after May 1, 1902, merchantable dust at $15 per oz., the merchant to pay the 1½ per cent. export tax.

D. A. Simpson, general merchant, Wardsville, Ont., has sold out to R. Scales.

See through it?

It doesn't take long to see the advantages of our new CRYSTAL WASHBOARD.

You see it here as it is now made with its new crimp, and finished frame. It is better than the old board in many ways. Never rusts or flattens, cannot tear clothes, is always clean and sanitary, will stand hot and cold water, and never wears out.

Costs less than any other really good board on the market. Sells easily, because housekeepers recognize its good points at a glance.

We would like to quote you.

How to Succeed.

A Business Man's View.

AN address was recently delivered in London, Eng., before a gathering of young men. The speaker was a well-known business man, and his remarks were so interesting and valuable that "The Grocer" takes pleasure in reproducing a few of the most pointed of them :

YOUTH IS YOUR PRESENT GLORIOUS POSSESSION

Value it. It is a time of vision—when we build our castles, and weave our romances, and dream our dreams ; but it is also a time of possibility, of special opportunity, of enthusiasm, of quickened and unbounded life, when our characters are formed, and our destinies are determined. For, although I believe "there is a divinity that shapes our ends," I also believe that we ourselves have much to do in shaping our ends and determining our destiny.

And with this consciousness, I want for a few minutes to stand with you upon life's threshold, and to ask the question, "What are you going to make of life? How can you succeed?" For, I take it, we shall be in general agreement when I submit that it should be the resolute determination of every young man to succeed in life. He should early form a lofty and noble purpose, and then pursue it with persevering and courageous tenacity. A drifting, aimless life is a sorry spectacle. A youth without a definite aim is like a ship upon the ocean without rudder or compass, at the mercy of the wild tempestuous sea. It is impossible to overestimate the importance of having

A WELL-DEFINED, NOBLY CONCEIVED AIM

Let our aspirations soar high. We may probably fall short of them, but it is gloriously possible that we may rise above them, and it is absolutely certain that the higher our ideal the higher will be our life.

But supposing we have formed a life purpose, and that it is worthy of our best powers of mind and heart, the question naturally arises : How is success to be attained ?

Well, first of all, it is not to be attained by merely desiring it. We do well to fix this in our mind as an unalterable fact. Visions never evolve into fulfillment except as they are translated into the practical details of daily duty. No man ever yet became successful by dreamingly contemplating his ideal.

Nor is success secured by spasmodic effort. Dash and brilliance may captivate and dazzle, and suggest in the minds of some great promise, but observation and experience show that permanent success is not achieved by fitful and capricious endeavor. There is no royal road to success. The road we have to travel is the highway of life, which is the common heritage of all mankind.

So then for our encouragement let us remember that

SUCCESS IS POSSIBLE TO ALL.

There is an open competition for the world's prizes. It is not, however, absolutely certain that we shall attain success. Many worthy and good men fail - we may ; but it is nevertheless our duty as well as our right to strive for it, and to do all within our power to secure it.

'Tis not in mortals to command success,
But we'll do more . . . . deserve it.

Let us see that if we do not succeed the fault shall not be ours.

I have closely observed young men for nearly 30 years, and have mixed intimately with them during that period spent in the heart of city life. I have seen men succeed, and I have seen men fail. And in most, if not in all cases, success has been achieved or failure experienced through circumstances largely within the control of the individuals themselves.

First, I would suggest that no man is likely to succeed who does not throw his heart and soul into his work.

HALF-HEARTEDNESS IS FATAL TO SUCCESS.

Said one to me who had attained great proficiency in the art of elocution, "The secret is to lose yourself in the piece that you are rendering." And so it is.

The reason why many young men do not make headway is because they lack spirit and grit. They appear to manifest no interest in what they are doing, and perform their duties in a listless, apathetic way. It is with them, so much work for so much wage. Not how much, but how little they can do. Their thought is rather for the hour of leaving the office or warehouse than to excel in the duties entrusted to them. How can such reasonably expect promotion or advancement ? or be surprised when they are passed over and others selected ? No, depend upon it, life's prizes are not thus won. We must put our heart and soul into our work if we are to succeed in it.

Self-improvement is another condition of success. We do wisely to acquire all the knowledge we can of the particular work in which we are engaged. There is always room for the man of ideas. So let us cultivate

AN INQUIRING MIND.

Be on the alert for information. Not be above being told. Let us take pains, do our best, and be ever seeking to fit ourselves for some higher niche. As a rule, such men are not overlooked. Let us perform our duties faithfully and well, not so much for the purpose of securing success, as for inward satisfaction, and the commendation of our own conscience. The conscientious performance of present duty is a never-failing preparation for some higher sphere.

Further, in the pursuit of success, punctuality must be cultivated and exercised. An unreliable man cannot expect to succeed ; he does not deserve to do so. So I would that we should say to one another, "Be punctual. Keep your engagements." It has been well said that "Punctuality is the jewel on which the whole machinery of successful industry may be said to turn." Lord Nelson once remarked that he owed all his success in life to his being ready for every appointment a quarter of an hour beforehand.

But there is a further point I would strongly emphasize, and that is perseverance, without which lasting success is absolutely impossible. Many men of ordinary abilities, by their have risen to honorable and distinguished positions, while others, possessed of exceptional capabilities, through lack of this essential quality have failed to make their mark in life. It is the man who, to use Abraham Lincoln's wise maxim, keeps on "pegging away," that is most likely to achieve success. Do not let us, therefore, be easily discouraged, but rather regard every difficulty as an obstacle to be overcome, and as a stepping-stone to further achievement. Never give up. What appears insurmountable to-day may be comparatively easy to-morrow. Do not make the fatal and disappointing mistake that success is to be attained without effort and difficulty. You cannot pluck the fruit of success without climbing the tree, and the fruit cannot be reached without difficulty oft repeated.

No man can be really successful unless he strives after and cultivates true nobility of character. He may win the world's prizes, and attain brilliant success, according to the world's verdict, but is is the "conscience void of offence toward God and man" that will yield real happiness, and it is the life dominated by Christian principles that is the successful life indeed. My closing word, therefore, is, "Keep your record clean."

"'Tis not in mortals to command success, but we'll deserve it."

A GOOD WAY TO INVEST CAPITAL.

IN a booklet entitled "Success with Small Capital" is given a large amount of information which will be found useful by all merchants. We make the following extracts :

We are going to tell you how to start a small department store.

But before we begin we want to clear your mind of the doubt that may be there as to the advisability of investing your money in an enterprise of this kind.

We firmly believe that there is no other commercial avenue open for men of small means that compares with this one in its possibilities. Many of our largest and most successful customers started in business only a few years ago with but scant capital and an unlimited supply of energy and ambition. That they have succeeded and that to-day they are selling more goods in an hour than they once sold in a week may not argue that you will succeed as they have done, but it certainly does indicate that monopoly has not yet devoured all the chances of success and that if you are willing to work you are sure to be rewarded for your labor in proportion to the energy—both physical and mental—that you expend.

Success is possible in any business. If you take a man like Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller or J. Pierpont Morgan sweeping out a country store he would own the store in a short time. Not many men are Carnegies, Rockefellers or Morgans—luckily for the rest of us. But it is certain that the effort that will earn a man a competence in any of the exclusive lines will make him independent in a department store.

The cry of the times is that a man of small capital has no chance—that the big concerns have made small businesses impossible. That may be true in some lines. It certainly is not true in merchandising.

The man with a few hundred or a few thousand dollars can do more with it than he ever could before, providing he chooses the right business and starts right.

The reason why a man with a small stock of variety goods can hold his own against concerns that have dollars where he has dimes, is simple. Every penny of his capital is in quick turning goods.

The big store has its shelves loaded down with merchandise which turns but once or twice a year, while a variety stock turns six to fifteen times in the same period. In other words, you can show as large sales with an investment of, say, $1,000, as you can with an investment of $3,000 in any other class of goods.

The variety store handles nothing but quick sellers. It ties no money up in domestics, nails, sugar, or other goods in which there is little or no profit. It omits the heavy staples of the one line stores, which take a lot of money to handle and require a lot of room.

THE MANUFACTURERS' CONVENTION.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association will hold their next annual meeting in Halifax on August 13 and 14. As the membership of the association, which has now reached 1,000, will be representative of the great business interests of Canada, this will probably be the most important convention of business men ever held in Canada. Beside the importance of the questions to be discussed the trip itself offers one of the finest excursions on the continent. The secretary of the association, Mr. R. J. Younge, should be notified by members of any question or resolution which it is desirable to discuss at the convention, or of any change desired in the constitution and by-laws of the association.

COFFEE AND ITS COLOR.

The appearance of green coffee indicates its origin to the best judges. Ordinary Jamaica coffee, for example, is a large bean, varying in color from dark green to nearly white ; the finest selections are bluish-grey in color and uniform and handsome in shape. Porto Rico coffee, which is mild in flavor, is generally greenish in color and averages larger in size than Rio coffee. Maracaibo coffee when first gathered is greenish, but later has a yellow cast, and the finer Cucuta kinds resemble the best Java beans in size and shape. Good Merida, Tovar, Bocono and Trujillo coffee, which is all grown in Venezuela, should have a light bluish color and aromatic smell and an even, regular size and shape. Java and Sumatra coffee is noticeable for its dark yellowish brown shade and its large size ; it is the largest of all coffees except the Liberian. The true Yemen Mocha is a small, hard, round and symmetrical bean, a translucent olive-green when new, but growing yellowish with age. Brazil coffee varies from the small Rio bean, with a color ranging between light and dark green, or sometimes yellowish, to the large Santos bean which ranges from green and yellow to a full white.—N.Y. Merchants' Review.

SENDING A REPRESENTATIVE TO THE YUKON.

The secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has sent a special notice to the members of that organization drawing their attention to the fact that S. M. Wickett, Ph.D., a member of the executive council, will leave on July 15, as a special representative to the Yukon to report upon trade conditions there, and to make arrangements as far as possible for Canadian firms to place their goods upon the market. Dr. Wickett may be seen before that date at the association rooms in Toronto by arrangement with the secretary, and in Montreal at the association office there (Temple Building) on July 10 and 11. Firms and individuals interested should write to the secretary at once regarding any inquiries which they may wish the representative to make, together with a few copies of their catalogues and price lists.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

No. 1

THIS style is particularly suited for a reading light—the shades prevent the light from tiring the eyes and the burner can be raised just the same as any other students lamp.

IT can be carried around the house with perfect safety and as the base is heavily weighted there is no danger of its up-setting.

THE light is soft enough for the most sensitive eyes and yet strong enough for the finest print.

THE PREFERENTIAL TARIFF QUESTION.

By ROBERT MUNRO, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

THERE is much more general agreement on this subject than we are apt to infer from the varied opinions expressed in its discussion. It is no question of party politics. There can be no doubt that the people of Canada, as a whole, are favorable to giving British possessions every tariff advantage that is possible, consistent with our general financial system and the maintenance of our industries.

There is a remnant of our people who would refuse to consider our industries in the question at all. These do not consider that the investment of Canadian capital in manufacturing industries amounts to probably $500,000,000, and that at least one-third of our population is dependent on these. There is also a further consideration. These industries were largely induced by the measure of protection the tariff incidentally afforded, and, as a community, we cannot afford to so alter our fiscal conditions as to prevent this enormous investment yielding some return, nor can we afford to materially reduce the number for which these industries find employment.

The Pro-British view of the tariff looks to increased trade between Canada and other British possessions. Of this view Canada is the author. Its development will probably be intercolonial before it becomes Imperial. We may expect a return of preferences from the other colonies before reciprocal preferential trade is adopted by Great Britain. Our fellow-Britons in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, West Indies, etc., are thinking hard on the question. We may surely arrange to help out the discussion with them in detail, and it cannot prove fruitless. A general agreement among the colonies is the great lever which will move Great Britain. This intercolonial agreement is just what many of our British people would delight to see in operation. The discussion of the principle will help to bring the financial systems of the colonies into similar lines, and as one colony gradually increases its consumption of the products of the other, the preferential tariff will be a matter of less and less difficulty.

But the Pro-British view has another very important feature. It seeks to retain British trade for Britons. In carrying out this view it has no favors to confer on foreign nations. Nor has it any prejudice against dealing with them on a fair "tariff for tariff" basis. While one part of our creed is to give a preference to British possessions, another is to give to every other country as fair terms as they give us, but we object to give more than this. If they tax our farm products and our manufactures we also tax theirs. We want to trade with the wide world on a business basis. We want to trade with our fellow Britons on a preferential basis, and we expect them to recognize us as Britons also.

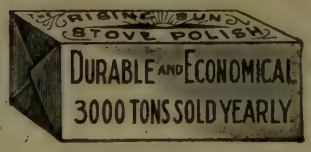
This view is worthy of Canada. There is nothing in it that is not businesslike, straightforward, fair and just.

Now, what would be the outcome of this Pro-British policy if carried out from these two viewpoints?

Based on the existing tariffs of Germany, United States and other countries, the principle of tariff for tariff would so restrict our trade with these countries that a large additional volume of trade would be available between us and Great Britain and her colonies. One effect would be a higher Canadian tariff on a large number of items, which is not, in itself, desirable, but it would be necessary to equalize with foreign tariffs. The other effects would be that not only would a larger amount of trade be available between us and Britain, but that a greater percentage of preference could be given to Britain.

I am not forgetful that some few industries have suffered severely from the preference now given. These industries were established on a tariff which appeared to offer a return on their investment, but the abatement of one-third upset their calculations, and in some cases changed profit into loss. These are the exception, however, and call to be dealt with exceptionally, but generally the increased aggregate business that would result from fair trade with foreign nations and the special increases incident thereto would adjust matters. I have tried to deal with principles. Let me give only one illustration in detail.

Our agriculturists are very heavy sufferers in this regard. There is approximately $20,000,000 lost to Canada every year to pay United States farmers for produce for which they will not take produce in return, but are paid in gold. Every dollar of this is lost to our Canadian farmers.



The pro-British principle of "tariff for tariff" to foreigners and reciprocal preferential between British possessions is the principle that will do justice to Canada and her people.

THE BRITON AND HIS TEA.

If they are looked at in a proper light, statistics are by no means dull reading, and may supply some most interesting facts and subjects for speculation. The returns of the imports into Great Britain of tea and coffee open up some very curious questions. The average Englishman drinks in the course of the year six times as much tea as the average American or Dutchman, and very nearly 100 times as much as the average Frenchman. On the other hand, the Englishman does not drink coffee, and only gets through, in a year, about a twentieth part of that which the average Dutchman consumes. This liking for tea as compared with coffee, in contradistinction to the taste of all the rest of the world, cannot be put down to Great Britain's much abused climate, for the same law holds good in the colonies. Wherever the Englishman goes he drinks tea if he can get it, and he usually sees that his supply does not run short. It is not a matter of taste, but of temperament. The Englishman is always more or less at work and in a hurry, and has no time to waste making coffee as it should be made, if it is to be drunk without nausea. A handful of tea thrown into a pannikin of boiling water will brew a very excellent drink, but a handful of coffee treated in the same way would prove detestable. To make tea is easy; to make coffee takes trouble, and the Briton adopts that drink which is easiest to make.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION

An Agreement with the Bakers—The Excursion Discussed—Trouble over an Agreement.

THE Toronto Retail Grocers' Association held their regular monthly meeting in St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Monday evening, July 14. A resolution was passed calling the attention of The Natural Food Co. to the way their price restrictive agreement was being observed in Toronto. A deputation was heard from the Master Bakers' Association of Toronto, and final arrangements were made for their annual excursion which this year will be held at Niagara Falls and Buffalo on July 23. President Sykes was in the chair.

Those present were : President Sykes, Secretary Nettelfield, Edw. Hawes, F. W. Johnston, D. Bell, T. Clark, C. Callander, Fred. Thorne, T. Dowswell, J. G. Gibson, J. Butcher, H. Kelley, R. H. Davis, Jerry Burns, M. McArthur and R. Bailey Snow.

A letter was read from W. E. Burritt, barrister, solicitor, etc., Sudbury, Ont. It stated that the merchants there and in Copper Cliff and Glen Huron desired to form a merchants' association, and information was asked from the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association regarding their constitution and the best methods to adopt to form such an organization. The secretary was instructed to forward to Sudbury a copy of their constitution and furnish other information desired.

The shredded wheat biscuit question next came up for discussion. Although many merchants had bound themselves only to sell these biscuits at 15c. per package on the consideration that only those who signed the agreement would be able to obtain these biscuits, yet it was claimed many merchants in this city were able to obtain all they wanted of this article to sell at 12½c. per package. This drew forth indignant protests from those members of the Association who had signed their fixed price agreement that had been so fully discussed in the Association some time ago. A strongly worded resolution was unanimously passed censuring the Natural Food Co. for the laxity they displayed in enforcing this agreement and calling their attention to the way in which it was being disregarded in Toronto. This resolution will be forwarded to the company at Buffalo.

The deputation from the Master Bakers' Association then was heard. It consisted of J. T. Spink and A. W. Carrick. Mr. Spink explained the objects of their visit. He had observed that in nearly every large city in the United States the tendency of the bakers was to sell exclusively to the retailer, and not to the consumer. He had drafted an agreement to be submitted to the Association for consideration, which provided that all the master bakers in Toronto, some 40, baking 98 per cent of the bakers' bread used in this city, should sell only to the retail grocer, who should have the exclusive privilege of retailing it out to the consumer. A fixed wholesale and retail price could then be agreed on between the baker and the grocer. This scale could be changed at any time at a joint meeting of the grocers and bakers. If the price of flour advances, the size of the loaves could be made smaller or their prices put up, as agreed by the makers and retailers.

Mr. Carrick followed with about the same arguments as Mr. Spink. He believed the scheme was feasible, and was much in favor of it. He thought that no difficulty would be experienced with stale bread, which the retailer was to agree not to sell any cheaper than the freshly-made. Any grocer could count on about the quantity of bread he would sell every day, and would therefore sustain little loss therefrom.

A committee, consisting of T. Clark and H. Kelly, with the executive, was appointed to cooperate with a similar committee from the Grocers' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada and confer with a deputation from the Master Bakers' Association in the matter.

The excursion to Buffalo formed the next topic for consideration.

The programme committee reported that arrangements had been made for the holding of several guessing contests on board the steamer going across in the morning. There will be a pedro match between the representatives of the wholesale houses and the retailers. The dancing of two Highland lassies will amuse the excursionists. An orchestra will be engaged to play on the boat going and coming, and a band will meet the party at the Gorge. Altogether, everyone ought to have a happy time.

The following committee will look after he games on boa rd the boat, viz.: R. B. Snow, J. Burns, and T. W. Clark.

New members were admitted as follows : J. C. Pearson, Queen street east ; J. Fielding, McLeod street ; J. Coutes, Wellesley street ; A. Hall, Lippincott street, and T. Shaw, Davenport Road.

NEW ADVERTISING NOVELTIES.

Some attractive advertising is now circulated in Canada by the "Globe" metal polish people, Raimes & Co., of No. 164 Duane street, New York. Their goods have a large sale throughout the world. It is put up in attractive tins, and the popular sizes for retailers are the 5 and 10c. tins. It will keep good in any climate, is always clean to handle, and is a remarkably good seller when once introduced. This polish has met with a large sale here during the short time it has been on the Canadian market, and the company are glad to forward a supply of advertising matter to all retailers on application.

C. B. Hoey, general merchant, Ninga, N.W.T., intends removing to Saskatoon.

TRINIDAD FLOUR MARKET.

Gordon, Grant & Co., Trinidad, report, under date of July 2, as follows regarding the flour market there: "All grades of American flour are in light supply, while the stock of Canadian is quite exhausted, and next receipts—of the latter especially—should do exceptionally well.

IMITATING A LABEL.

Imitation may be flattery, and the compliment it pays to the original is undoubted, but certainly it is with no intention of assisting the proprietor of a well-known article or label imitated, either by increasing his sales or multiplying his profits, that a manufacturer of a similar article appropriates the results of perhaps much thought and expended money, with the view of trading on the reputation of the original.

Now, granting that no one would imitate something that was worthless or had no particular merit or popularity, the very act of imitating proves the imitation to be devoid in some respect of the merit of the original; otherwise, it would not require to pose as a substitute or "as good as" or be palmed off as the original on an unsuspecting merchant, but could "sail on its own bottom," so to speak.

Reference is specially made to Schepp's "Edelweiss" cocoanut, the label for which has been closely imitated by competitors.

Beef in England—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

BEEF IN ENGLAND.

A RECENT despatch from London, England, stated that United States meat-houses had obtained absolute control of the Smithfield market, and that these same United States companies had succeeded in raising the price of beef in England, refrigerator beef going up 3c. per lb. The English could not even import live cattle, it was said, for all the available freight space for six and twelve months' time had been taken by the United States dealers. It was further expected that beef in the Old Country would reach a record price before winter, the despatch added.

When interviewed in reference to this despatch, Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M.P. of Montreal, pronounced the whole thing to be without foundation. The United States houses do not control the English market, but most of these firms have representatives in Great Britain. Thev were enabled to gain a footing on the British market through the exhorbitant charges made by English and Scotch commission men.

Beef still can be imported from this country into England, he said, at the rate, if they choose, of from 2,000 to 4,000 head per week. They always could get all the space they wanted.

Mr. Bickerdike thought the English Government were simply protecting the English farmer and agriculturist when they excluded Canadian cattle from the interior parts of England and Scotland under the mistaken accusation that our cattle were affected with pleuro pneumonia.

He also thought it very unjust for the British Government to prevent Canadian dressed beef from competing for the army contracts.

TOP NOTCH PRICES.

National Provisioner, New York, under a recent date says: "Top notch prices were made this week for the hog products. It was an easy drift upward as the packers allowed the movement full headway, and it was accompanied by much more general outside speculation. Thc hog products, however, have been most confidently held on the late options, as in distinction to the corn tendency which has had very effective manipulation on the July deal. But the wild drift of prices for corn and with which the hog products markets have in part sympathized, has been in part occasioned by the much higher range of wheat prices on the alarming reports, particularly early in the week of rain-damaged winter wheat ready for harvesting, and perhaps some injury to the spring wheat crop. The corn crop may have been injured slightly in sections by the heavy storms. It is the conclusion, however, of most of the traders that a spell of warm weather will bring the corn crop around all right, and that there is no reason, as yet, to expect other than an exceptionally large crop of the grain. The soaring prices of July corn as against the 'short' interest, has naturally alarmed any interest that way over the hog products, while it has tempted some of the outsiders to investigating on the 'long' side of the latter in the feeling that perhaps hog products may ultimately be taken hold of for bulges. However, the near future of market conditions is very uncertain. It is conceded that the packers have a good grip on the markets for their products and that there is more uniformity of action on their part; at least the rule with them is more generally to buy and support prices, as against the inclination on their part previously latterly, to occasionally in instances depress the situation and gather in outside stuff."

FLAVOR OF EGGS.

Dr. J. H. Kellogg, writing in Modern Medicine, says the eggs of a scavenger hen are not fit to be eaten. His attention was called to this a number of years ago. A lady said she could not eat their eggs. She wanted "sunflower eggs." He asked her what she meant by that, and she said that an old German at home fed his chickens on sunflower seeds, and that the eggs were remarkably sweet. Some of the eggs were sent for and this was found to be true. Eggs do partake of the nature of the food which has been eaten.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Dressed hogs are quiet and unchanged. Beef is steady with a fair demand. Veal is slow, and the prices of lambs have widened. The market for live hogs is steady and unchanged. The receipts are light and the demand good. We quote: Dressed hogs, $9 to $9.25; beef carcasses, $8 to $8.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9 50 to $11 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 7 to 8c. per lb., and lambs, 9 to 10½c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $6 to $7 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.

Business in smoked meats is good, and green meats are in better demand. Barrel porks are having good sales, and lard is quiet. Our quotations are as follows: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23 to $23.50; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.; plate beef, $15.

MONTREAL

The provision market, in general, is somewhat firmer this week, and prices exhibit an upward tendency. Pure lard is quoted ¼c. per lb. higher, and there is a good demand for both it and compound. The demand keeps up well for barrel pork and for smoked meats. Canadian pork is 50c. higher this week per bbl. Wholesale grocers are quoting it at $26 per bbl. in small lots.

The demand for fresh killed abattoir dressed hogs is good; business, however, is mostly of a jobbing nature. The price quoted is 25c. lower this week, being $9 25 to $9 50 per 100 lb. Offerings, at present, are not large, and the market is steadier.

Pure Canadian lard sells at $2.37½ to $2.40 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 9¾c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20-lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20-lb. wood pails, ½c.; 10-lb. tins, ⅝c.; 5-lb. tins, ¾c.; 3-lb. tins, ⅞c. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.95 per pail; Cottolene, 11¼c. for 20 lb. pails, and 11c. for 60 lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario; hams, 13 to 14c.; bacon, 14 to 15c.; heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $24.50 to $25.00; Canadian short cut clear pork, $23.50 to $24.00; Canadian short cut clear pork, $23.50 to $24.

Armour's pork, 50's and 60's, is 50c. higher, thus regaining the decline of last week.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled pork or beef, though some days the market seems easier, the goods do not seem to get any cheaper. Little business is being done. This is, of course, the quiet season. In smoked meats, while our prices are high, American prices are still higher. Owing to this, also, in pork and beef, there has been quite a little come from Ontario. In lard, while prices are still high, and some, to make sales, have shaded figures, standard compound is quoted ¼c. lower. In fresh beef, the high price continues, somewhat helped by rather freer offerings of domestic light beef. Pork is in light demand, but little is offered. Lamb is a stand by, and is bringing full figures. We quote: American mess pork, $23 to $23.50; domestic mess pork, $21.50; plate beef, Canadian, $14 to $14.50; clear pork, American, $25.50; plate beef, American, $17 to $18; veal, 4 to 7c.; lamb, 4 to 5c.; mutton, 10 to 12c.; fresh beef, 8 to 10½c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 12c.; pure lard, pails, 12¼c.; compound lard, tubs, 9½c.; compound lard, pails, 9¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾ to 11c.; pails 11¼ to 11½c.

AN EXPLANATION.

The action taken by James Rutherford & Co., Montreal, against G. H. Macy, Japan, for failure to deliver certain teas contracted for, and which was noticed in last week's issue of this paper, attracted some attention from the Montreal trade. It seems, however, that we were mistaken in saying that Macy's representative offered $250 damages, as his statement in court was to the effect that the money was offered only "as a present." But "the present" was not accepted and Mr. Rutherford was awarded $326.40 damages.

SHOW-CARD AND TICKET WRITING.

Window-trimmers and clerks who are fitting themselves for a good position, and merchants who are after their share of business and as much more as they can get, are now making preparations to secure it by being able to put up a fine variety of show cards and price tickets. In this issue, W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., offers a book of instruction at $1, post paid, which will teach you this art in a thorough and practical manner. He has hundreds of students in all sections of the country who are to-day reaping the benefits. "To earn more learn more."

HOT WEATHER LARD

Retail dealers often have trouble with hog lard melting, and causing loss by becoming liquid and soaking into the package, to say nothing of the inconvenience of handling such oily lard.

The summer formula of Fairbank's Boar's Head brand of Refined Lard Compound will keep firm and sweet much better than either hog lard or butter. The fact that Fairbank's Boar's Head brand of Refined Lard Compound is not subject to getting rancid as quickly as other frying and shortening mediums is evidence that it has less matter in it that is subject to atmospheric action, which is a strong argument in favor of its being purer and more wholesome than any other frying or shortening medium. Throughout the summer months Fairbank's Boar's Head brand of Refined Lard Compound will be found satisfactory to both merchants and housekeepers on account of its keeping qualities.

Grocers Six Hundred Years Ago.

ON June 12, 1346, a number of pepperers, as the grocers were then styled, met together at dinner by agreement at the town mansion of the Abbot of Bury in St. Mary Axe. They talked their common affairs over and agreed to form themselves a voluntary association to settle trade disputes, to help poor members and to say prayers for the souls of the departed members. They took St. Anthony for their patron, elected two wardens to preside over them and a chaplain to pray for them. Ever since they have met each year on St. Anthony's Day and dined together, electing new wardens and crowning them with garlands. In 1427 they bought some land in Old Jewry, a street leading out of Cheapside, there built a hall and there remain to this day. After their association had been in existence 84 years, the grocers obtained a charter from the King in the year 1420, and soon after were given the public duty of inspecting and cleansing all the spices sold in London. King Charles II. became their master, and they always dine on the day of his birth, May 20. At the end of his reign, in 1685, they were nearly destroyed by the tyrannical proceedings under which the King tried to seize their charter and abolish their privileges and those of London and other cities. They just managed to survive the horrors of the quo warranto, as this proceeding was called, and joyfully elected William III. master when he came to the throne and made civil liberty once more secure.

It is true, says The Century, that the grocers were originally styled pepperers, but at the time of the organization of the Grocers' Company in 1345, they were more generally known as "grossers," the gradual transition in name having taken place during the latter end of the 13th and early part of the 14th century, when the pepperers began to include other imports than those of spices and extend their operations to such an extent as to render legislation necessary. They formed a combination to control and engross various articles of commerce, and succeeded to such an extent that during the reign of Edward II. the grossers were accused of engrossing merchandise of all kinds, and the name "grosser" was defined by statute 37, Edward II. cap 5, as a term used for those who engross merchandise. Johnson defines "engrosser" as one that produces large quantities of any commodity in order to sell it at a high price and quotes in reproach an extract from a sermon of De Beze (16th century): "Ye engrossers regraters, ye sellers with false weights and with false measures, will ye never leave to content yourselves with honest and lawful gain?"

The "pepperers" seem to have accepted this change in name with indifference to public sentiment akin to that of the "trusts" of the present day, and evidently considered it an honor to belong to the engrossers or grossers.

The ancient grocer was a personage of considerable importance, the trade being in the hands of men not alone of wealth, but of distinguished family. Aldermen boasted of their long pedigree.

An ancient law of England provided that the man who fared thrice across the sea by his own craft became worthy of thane right, that is, the equal of the owner of five hides of land, or the lord of the manor. The polite fiction held by the so-called aristocracy of to-day — many of whom are descendants of these sturdy sires—that it is a disgrace to engage in business, was not even considered. In the reign of Edward I., Henry De Frowke, of Brockham and Old Ford, a pepperer and alderman, was appointed by that monarch custos of the City of London, 1272, and was made sheriff in 1275. This Norman nobleman was a grocer.

In the descriptive account of the Buildhall, by J. E. Price, the wealth, importance and influence of the Grocers' Company during the fourteenth century may be gathered from the fact that the following grocers, members of the guild, were at various intervals elected Lord Mayor of London: Sir William Venour, 1389; Sir William Staundon, 1382; Sir John Headley, 1393; Sir T. Knolles, 1399 and 1410; Sir Robert Chichele, 1411. These gentlemen were also among the aldermen present at the second election of Sir Richard Whytyngtone, who was thrice Lord Mayor of London. What boy has not read of Dick Whytyngtone and his fabled cat, and the sweet bells of the church of Bow, which sang to him the cheering refrain, "Turn again, Whytyngtone, twice Lord Mayor of London"? Of the grocers mentioned above, Sir Richard Chichele was a brother of the celebrated Archbishop Chichele, and Sir Thomas Knowlles, or Knowles, was the ancestor of Lord Knolles, 1603, who was called first Viscount Wallingford and Earl of Banbury, 1626.

DEATH OF D. M. RENNIE.

There died in Hamilton on Monday, July 14, Daniel Melville Rennie, in his 46th year. Deceased was Canadian Commissioner for the Argentine Republic for a number of years. He was a native of Hamilton, and a son of the late Alexander Rennie.

When a young man he came to Toronto and was employed in the sample-room of The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, wholesale grocers, for a number of years. About 10 years ago deceased went to South America, and the Canadian Government appointed him Commissioner for the Argentine Republic. While there his health, owing to the unfavorable climate, failed him, and he was compelled to return to Canada three years ago. Since then he has never been well, and his death was the result of this illness.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. George H. Macfarlane, general Western representative of The E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, is in Toronto. Mr. Macfarlane's reports of business in his territory are encouraging, particularly in Manitoba and the Territories. In British Columbia, and particularly the Kootenay District, trade is somewhat disturbed from a number of causes, the labor question, and the unsettled mining question being among the principal drawbacks, though it is only a question of a short time when it is hoped everything will be on a regular basis again. The influx of immigrants into Manitoba and the Territories has been the means of increasing business in those parts of the Dominion. He reports a pleasing increase in his sales.

A BISCUIT FIRM'S EXCURSION.

The Canada Biscuit Co.'s second annual excursion will be held next Saturday, the employes going by boat to Oshawa.

The first annual meeting of The Grocers' Wholesale Co., Limited, was held at the office of the company in Hamilton on Tuesday, July 15. A report was submitted for the first 11 months, showing most satisfactory progress. The financial statement was discussed in detail and adopted, and a dividend of 7 per cent. declared, with a substantial surplus carried over.

THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.

AT the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Toronto branch, July 15, it was shown that the branch had achieved all the ends aimed at except the attempt to get the city council to pay the estimates of the Technical School Board in full. The manufacturers discussed a scheme to educate Canadians to the importance of using goods "made in Canada."

The report of the retiring chairman, Mr. J. O. Thorn, showed that the Toronto branch had increased to 272 members and had during the year dealt with questions which included the Royal arch, Technical School representation, inspection of elevators, Exhibition buildings, beautifying the city, exemptions on plant, electric power from Niagara, Temiscamingue Railway and removal of garbage from factories.

The chairman viewed with regret the dilatory and unbusinesslike action of the authorities having in hand the new Exhibition buildings.

The most important part of the report of the representatives on the Technical School Board, presented by Mr. A. W. Thomas, in the absence of Mr. Harold Van der Linde, was that referring to the lack of knowledge of the most elementary subjects in pupils coming to the Technical School.

The report on education also stated in part:

"At present there is no kind of cooperation between the Public and High Schools, on the one hand, and the Toronto Technical School on the other. It appears to your representatives that a rational scheme for the amalgamation of the educational boards of the city is worthy your best consideration. It appears to be only an ordinary commonsense business proposition that the conduct of these three grades of schools by one board instead of three would not only conduce to continuity, which is a prime necessity in education, but would also greatly increase the efficiency of the schools regarded as working machines, and might also effect great economies both in cash and energy."

The action of the city council in cutting down the grant to the school 25 per cent. met with severe criticism.

The election of officers resulted as follows.

Chairman, W. P. Gundy, W. J. Gage & Co.; vice-chairman, C. N. Candee, Gutta Percha and Rubber Co.

Executive Committee — R. J. Christie, Christie, Brown & Co.; J. H. Paterson, Toronto Hardware Manufacturing Co.; J. T. Sheridan, Pease Furnace Co.; D. T. Past presidents of the Association and past chairmen of the local branch are also members ex-officio.

Representatives to the Techinal School Board—Harold Van der Linde, A. W. Thomas, Gerhard Heintzman, F. J. Small.

Representatives on Industrial Exhibition Board, to be elected at Halifax—W. K. McNaught, W. K. George, George Booth, J. O. Thorn, H. G. Nicholls, J. R. Shaw, W. B. Rogers, T. C. Moffatt, jr., J. T. Sheridan, T. A. Russell, R. B. Andrew and F. Stanley.

The following were nominated for members of the council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to be balloted for at the annual meeting at Halifax — J. P. Murray, Wm. Stone, J. O. Thorn, R. J. Christie, J. H. Housser, T. A. Russell, C. N. Candee, W. P. Gundy, Frederic Nicholls, S. M. Wickett, Thomas Roden, J. H. Paterson, A. W. Thomas, Geo. H. Hees, P. H. Burton, Gerhard Heintzman, R. ## OUTLOOK FOR CANNED VEGETABLES.

THE backward character of the summer season has naturally had its effect upon the growth of vegetables, and those used in the canned goods industry have been no exception to the rule. The pea crop, from what we can learn, is somewhat short, and the tomato vines are stunted in growth, and so far show but little indication of a good yield. While it is early to predict anything in regard to the corn crop, the indications so far do not favor a large yield. In Essex County, which is of course the largest corn-growing section of the Dominion, the corn crop is estimated to be about one-half short. The number of acres under crop in this county last year was 80,000.

As far as corn is concerned, a short pack this season would be welcomed rather than otherwise by the trade. In spite of the arrangement made last year for a curtailment of the pack, there was, as our readers are aware, a record quantity put up, and while, owing to the low prices, the consumption has been large, the quantity now on hand is much in excess of requirements, particularly if the pack this year should be even a moderate one. As our readers are aware, the canners have made arrangements whereby some of the factories during 1902 will not put up any corn, so that should the crop this season be light and the pack small, a much better future is in store for the trade in this particular line than was experienced during the past year.

Wholesalers in Toronto have this week advanced their prices on canned corn.

SHIPPING BUTTER AND CHEESE.

THE inspector of refrigerator cars at Montreal reports that frequently in the same car arriving at that city there is a great variation in the temperature and condition of the different lots of butter, some being as high as 64 degrees and quite soft, and others being only 46 degrees.

Creamery managers are reminded that the refrigerator cars can only keep the butter in good condition when it is put into the car that way, and the greatest care should be exercised in conveying the goods to the cars, to avoid their being exposed to any heat. The butter should not be taken to the station before the train is due to arrive; and if a delay is unavoidable, waterproof covers should be thrown over the goods. When the butter is placed in the refrigerator cars in a soft condition, it arrives that way at Montreal, and will deteriorate in quality very rapidly.

In this connection might be mentioned the practice of loading cheese in refrigerator cars along with butter, which was referred to by Professor Robertson, dairy commissioner, before the members of the Montreal Produce Merchants' Association. He said that the refrigerator car service for butter was provided for butter only, but that in some cases cheese had been put in the same car with butter. One cheese was sufficient to heat butter to such an extent that it would arrive in unsatisfactory condition. The Department of Agriculture had notified the railway companies that none of the sum guaranteed by the Government would be paid for refrigerator service under any such conditions.

For through shipments of cheese, continued Professor Robertson, refrigerator cars with ice were needed to permit the goods to arrive at Montreal at a temperature of 60 deg. If it got above this in the cars, it went into the ships hot and tended to heat the rest of the cheese, which may have been properly kept. And this would give our cheese a bad name in England.

The Government has arranged with railway and steamship companies to provide facilities for shipping cheese. The steamships charged 10s. per ton for the use of their cold storage, but Mr. Robertson thought that having the cheese landed in England in good condition was worth the money. He had been obliged to allow them to charge this to induce them to place in the cold storage plants. The stations which had been opened as object lessons for curing cheese were working quite satisfactorily, and he thought that these reforms in the business would do a great deal in the next few years for Canadian cheese abroad.

The subject of heating cheese and butter at the railway stations while waiting for the trains came up, and much interest was shown in it by those present, who were agreed that this was one of the great dangers the trade had to face. Professor Robertson said that in time it was expected that cold storage plants would be erected at several points on the railway lines, to be followed by others, and that as much reform as possible would be brought about in the matter.

THE TRAVELLERS' HOLIDAY.

A MONTH hence the travellers in the grocery and allied trades in Ontario will be on their two weeks' holiday. It is to be hoped that the weather will be fine and that they will enjoy their well-earned holiday, for there is no class of business men who are more entitled to a rest from their labors than the commercial travellers.

Last year, it will be remembered, they held an excursion on a certain date at which a large number of the travellers were able to meet. We have not yet heard of any similar arrangement for the coming holiday. It is to be hoped that some steps will be taken whereby, at least for a day, the travellers in Ontario may be able to get together and enjoy themselves.

It is to be regretted that the wholesale houses in the other Provinces have not been able to agree upon a uniform holiday for their travellers. Possibly next year they may be able to do something along these lines.

BUSINESS MEN AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

AT the annual meeting of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, on Tuesday last, the subject of writing, arithmetic and spelling in the public schools of Toronto came in for discussion. The subject was introduced by one of the reports, which adversely criticized the public school system in these particulars.

This is not a new question to the business men of Toronto. For a long time it has been recognized that the pupils from the public schools were decidedly inefficient in the three essentials to education.

Wholesale men have time and again informed us that they could very rarely secure a boy from the public schools who was proficient enough, particularly in writing, to be taken into the office. It is evident, therefore, that the Manufacturers' Association has not taken the subject in hand any too soon, and it is to be hoped that good results will soon be apparent. The trouble appears to be not really the inefficiency of the teachers, but the system, which endeavors to crowd too much into the young minds of pupils. If the real purpose of the public school system is anything, it is to ground children in such essentials as writing, reading and arithmetic, but, as conditions exist to-day, these are not obtained. The pupils are given a smattering of many subjects, but are really proficient in none.

A good many, tired of this condition of affairs, are sending their children to voluntary schools, over which they have more direct control and in which the essentials to education are more thoroughly taught. While these voluntary schools are increasing, our public school population is, on the other hand, decreasing. This is shown by the Government returns.

But it is the few and not the many who can afford to send their children to the voluntary schools. And it is obvious that those who cannot are compelled to send their offsprings out into the world lacking in those qualifications which are so essential to success in life.

In Toronto one-fourth of the ordinary tax rate is on public school account. It is obvious, therefore, with this high proportion, that inefficiency is being bought at a pretty high price.

It is time that business men took a more practical and live interest in the public school affairs, and it is to be hoped the action of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association will induce them to do so.

CANADA AND ENGLAND'S FRUIT SUPPLY.

A LONDON, Eng., daily paper just to hand contains a rather interesting article in regard to Great Britain's importation of fruit, particularly for the Coronation. This article, which is reproduced in another column, should be read by all Canadians. In it nothing is said of Canada as a supplier of fruit to the Mother Country, and this should cause us to realize our position in this particular.

While Canada is not in the tropics, she is none the less able to supply a great many of the fruits which are consumed by the British people. At present, we send very little to England outside of apples, and our exports of these during the first 11 months of the present fiscal year were valued at $1,500,000, which was more than for the same period last year, although the quantity was less, on account, of course, of the short crop in this country in 1901. In berries, we only sent $3,000 worth. The trade returns do not show that we exported any other green fruits than these.

A few spasmodic attempts have been made to export peaches, grapes, pears, etc., to the British market, but because success was not attained in every instance the attempts appear to have been discontinued altogether.

Canada's export trade in fruits could undoubtedly be very much increased, if our people would only employ proper methods of packing and shipping. Even in sending fruits from Ontario to Manitoba, as we have repeatedly pointed out, proper care has not been taken in these particulars, and the result is that Ontario fruit is in bad odor in the Prairie Province, and in Winnipeg preference is given to similar fruits from the United States.

If our methods of packing and shipping are not equal to the trip to Manitoba, what must they be when the long journey to Great Britain is taken into account? It is evident that we need to bestir ourselves.

THE PRICE OF PICKLES.

THERE has been an appreciation in the price of some lines of pickles in Montreal, and a representative of THE GROCER called on a prominent pickle manufacturer in Toronto to see if pickles would also be advanced in that city. He was informed that no advance in Toronto was yet contemplated, but the prices were absurdly low in comparison with the prices of other articles.

Stocks of cucumbers on hand are small, and all the supplies available were some time ago purchased by United States buyers, as the market there is completely bare of this product by reason of a failure of the cucumber crop in the Republic last year.

Besides this, the prices of jars and pails are higher than they were last year, and very little margin is left the manufacturer.

The only reason why the price of pickles has not been put up is that the manufacturers have not been able to agree amongst themselves to make the change. The prices will remain firm until October at least, when the new crop comes in.

VALENCIA RAISINS FIRMER.

AS will be noticed by our market reports the position of Valencia raisins continues to increase in strength.

One cannot yet tell what the outcome of the new crop will be, but recent private advices say that it is turning out very much shorter than was anticipated.

Prices in this country are higher this week, and stocks are almost exhausted. The few Valencia raisins that are in England are held at very high prices, while in New York there are practically none to be had.

On the Toronto market this week there have been inquiries for Valencia raisins from wholesalers in different parts of the country, but, as far as we can learn, their wants in no instance have been supplied.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

THE British market is now practically cleared of both low-grade and fine Valencia raisins, the only thing obtainable being good ordinary fruit, for which high prices are being paid. Despite these drawbacks, the demand for Valencias is very good, according to exchanges to hand this week.

CURRANTS IN LONDON.

The spot market for currants has been almost entirely inactive during the past few days, in consequence of the approaching holidays. The complications which have arisen respecting the Coronation will hardly tend to hasten the resumption of business. In the meantime, prices show, if anything, some tendency towards a further decline, and the few buyers who come into the market are not slow to take advantage of the anxiety of sellers to realize. The Genoa, with about 500 tons, is now in port, but up to the moment of writing no samples are to hand. Transactions in new season's fruit have also become infrequent. The news respecting the growing crop is of an interrupedly favorable character, and points to a very large and satisfactory yield.—Produce Markets' Review, June 28.

CANNED SALMON IN LIVERPOOL.

The quantities of salmon that changed hands during the last week in anticipation of a move in prices on the part of the Fraser River Combine were larger than was generally known, so large, in fact, that scarcely a parcel of strictly choice quality remains in first hands. The advance in prices, though established, was more nominal than real, in that the demand was so brisk that buyers readily paid from 1 to 2s. per case over the official minimum. A feature of the trade is the growing popularity of the so-called "Squats" for high-class business; owing to the shape of the tins and the period of the season when packed the fish in these tins is more evenly cut and carefully packed than in any other size and shape. The quantity packed last season was somewhat more than the market could use. Consequently, prices have been fixed at a popular level, and, taking quality into account, these goods are the best value in the market. — Produce Markets' Review, June 28.

TRINIDAD COCOA.

Gordon, Grant & Co., Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, under date of July 2, report as follows regarding the Trinidad cocoa market: "Supplies are steadily diminishing and will be on a restricted scale until the new crop pickings commence in September or October. The prospects are favorable and with a continuance of seasonable weather a good crop may be anticipated. Prices have been firm throughout the fortnight at $13.35 to $13.60 for ordinary to good red and fine fermented estates at $13 75 to $14. Exports during the fortnight amount to 9,609 bags, of which 835 bags went to the United States and 50 bags to Canada, and from October 1 to date shipments amount to 143,262 bags as compared with 112,822 bags for the corresponding period last year."

TEAS IN NEW YORK.

The tone of the market held firm and there was a fair amount of activity to the trading. It was learned that within the past few days sales have been made of 2,000 packages new crop Formosa at 14 to 15½c., 3,000 packages new crop Pingsuey to arrive, 2,000 packages new crop Congou to arrive and 500 packages fancy Congou to arrive. The advices received from the East continued to report firm primal markets. The line business in the local market was fairly brisk, there being a good steady demand for both prompt and forward deliveries and at full values.—New York Journal of Commerce.

CANNED GOODS IN THE UNITED STATES.

In tomatoes the reports from growers in a general way may be stated as poor from a greatly increased acreage. In some sections it is stated the increase amounts to 150 per cent., whilst they anticipate a very small aggregate yield in a comparatively late season.

It is now admitted that peas are more than half a failure in quantity in New York State, and Wisconsin will hardly do so well as that. Holders of peas, therefore, have good property, and we expect an advance in the prices of the lower grades of peas.

The packing season of pineapples is also past, and once more the season has not been more then sufficient to get a fair supply for the year to come. This means another year of steady prices on canned pineapple.

Blackberries are now probably at their best in this section, but they are in no sense plentiful, and, as a consequence, the pack will be light. The season for small fruits of all kinds has turned out as we anticipated, a disappointment to those who anticipated a heavy crop. Blackberries are selling in this market at 5 and 7c. per quart for box fruit, and 35 to 40c. per bucket for wild berries. Huckleberries are quoted at 6 and 8c. per quart box, and 50 to 55c. per bucket. Packers are paying 6 to 9c. per quart for red raspberries, and 8 to 9c. for black for local fruit.—The Trade, Baltimore, July 11.

NEW PACK TOMATOES IN NEW YORK.

The market on spot tomatoes 1901 pack is in a decidedly unsettled state as a result of the influence of offerings of the new packing. Goods of the 1902 pack are offered freely for immediate delivery at from $1.15 to $1.30 f.o.b. Baltimore on 3-lb. standards, as to pack, holder and availability. Sales covering at least two carloads are heard of at $1.25 f.o.b. Baltimore, these goods being now in transit, it is stated. There is an unconfirmed report on the street that a sale of goods for delivery the latter part of next week has been effected with a local jobber at $1.10 f.o.b. The rather free offerings of new packing at declining values has worked against the spot holdings of 1901 pack. To-day spot 3-lb. standards are available at from $1.30 to $1.40 on Maryland 3s. and $1.35 to $1.45 on Jersey 3s. It is believed possible to buy at a little shading from the inside values, as to quality and holder. Under these conditions the market is irregular, unsettled and extremely difficult to quote. —N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

E. D. Marceau is advertising this week 100 bags of choice Maracaibo coffee, of the crop of 1900.

"Meyers" imported potted meats to retail at two for 5c. are in stock with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering to the trade "Washington" lye. They expect a large sale of this article.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report an active demand for "Columbia" pork and beans and potted meats.

The incoming of hot weather is making a large call on T. A. Lytle & Co. for their lime fruit juice, lime juice cordial and raspberry vinegar—all "Sterling" brand.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have an attractive line of olives, both Spanish Queen and Manzanillas, including pitted and stuffed olives.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT FIGURES.

They do not lie. Anyone can get them by writing the Department Statistics, Ottawa. They tell the story of the decline and fall of Japan Tea.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, July 17, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE tone of the grocery market this week is quiet and new features are few to report. As foreshadowed last week the firmer feeling in canned corn has been followed by an advance of 7½c. in the cheaper grades, and the prospects are for a firmer market therefor from this out. Pears continue firm and tomatoes are scarce. Coffees are quiet, and rice and tapioca are steady and unchanged. The price of paris lump sugar has gone up 5c. per 100 lb. The market is almost completely bare of Valencia raisins, which are now quoted at 8½c. for selects. Teas are unchanged and quiet. In Japans and Chinas, the former remain high, and the trade in Indians and Ceylons is fair. The local currant market is steadier, reflecting the somewhat firmer tone of the markets of Greece.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market can not be said to be quiet, nor yet is it very active. The bulk of the business doing is in peas, corn, and salmon for future delivery. The price of corn has advanced 7½c. as foreshadowed in our report of last week, the appreciation being due to the persistent reports of a shortage in the corn crop this season. Jobbers here are confident that from this out the prices of this product will be firm. The market for peas is also strong, but this firmness has not resulted since last week in an advance. The stocks of tomatoes are becoming lighter every day; reports from other quarters indicate that a situation similiar to that here, and no supplies from any quarter are obtainable at present. So the market here will remain bare of supplies until the new crop comes in. Quotations here are now firm at $1.10 and upwards for tomatoes, 80c. and upwards for peas, and 77½c. up for corn. Trade in canned fruits continues to show little activity, and potted meats remain about the same as they were last week. The first of this season's raspberries are expected to be on the market next week, when their price will be $1.50 and upwards. Salmon are still selling freely for future delivery, and other lines of fish are in fair demand. We quote: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality, and canned haddies, $1 to $1.10.

COFFEES.

Green Rio coffees continue in fair demand, and roasted coffees are steady. Mild greens have shown no improvement since last week. Advices from outside markets report a fairly active business for contracts, but the tone is unsettled. European coffee markets are also reported steadier. No quotable change has occurred in prices. We quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

NUTS.

Very little demand is reported for nuts on the local market. The outside markets show a firmer feeling in shelled almonds. Brazil nuts are about steady. Trade, generally, is quiet.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The amount of business doing in these locally is fair, and prices continue steady. Tapioca outside is reported as flat, but the prices of rice are being well maintained, with holdings of dealers moderately large. Not much stock was forced on the market. In the South the offerings are light and the prices extreme. The local quotations are: B rice, 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.

See pages 35 and 36 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John and Halifax prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There has been little change in the condition of the local market for syrups and molasses, which continues quiet. The grocery grades of New Orleans molasses in the South are steady and the volume of business transacted was moderate with a fair call for shipment on outstanding contracts. New business was at a standstill. Blackstrap was quiet and steady. The stocks of syrups on the hands of the refiners are not large. We quote as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in barrels and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle.

SPICES.

The local spice trade continues quiet and the market is unchanged. There has been developed a better undertone since last week in the outside pepper market. It is reported that sellers of Singapore black for forward shipment from the East have, in a number of instances, practically withdrawn from the market.

SUGAR.

The local sugar market continues quiet and featureless save for the advance of 5c. in paris lumps. The London, Eng., beet sugar market, according to the latest advices, is unchanged and steady. The United States markets are steady and the demand is not urgent. But little business was transacted owing to the holders of raw being unwilling to take the prices offered by the refiners. No new orders have recently been placed for refined, but there continues a moderate call for shipment on contracts. Jobbers, generally, seem to be working on light stocks and daily come to the market for their requirements. In raws, the extremely low level of Cuban sugars would be enticing to buyers under any other conditions than those that now exist. Shipments from the island last week were 25,300 tons, leaving a stock of 388,000 tons in the principal ports, and two centrals grinding. The visible production to date is estimated at 768,000 tons, and a total output of over 800,000 tons is expected for the year. After this time last year the receipts at seaports amounted to more than 40,000 tons. There is in Cuba at present a stock of 388,000 tons, which, with the balance of 40,000 tons from last year will leave, after deducting 20,000 tons for local consumption, a total quantity of 408,000 tons, sold and unsold. The total stocks of sugars in the United States and Cuba together amount to 527,187 tons, as against 540,113 tons last week, and 425,280 tons last year, an increase of 101,907 tons over last year.

TEAS.

In Japan, hyson and gunpowder teas the local trade is dull, but the market continues firm. Some business is being done in Ceylons and Indians. On the London, Eng., market there has been no improvement on the unsatisfactory prices noted last week in Indian teas, and undesirable kinds continued to show a dropping tendency. All kinds of Ceylon teas sold at easier prices, common and medium grades being especially depressed, and the prices for medium grades are now perhaps lower than they have ever previously been. Reports from Colombo, Ceylon, under date of June 7, say the quality of teas offered there was poor; common sorts were irregular, but that any teas of tip and quality sold at lower rates. The market there, from late advices, continues to be over-supplied with common tea; prices were weaker, except for the few good teas; dusts were dearer.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The amount of trade doing locally is fair, and latest reports from Greece tell of a firmer market there. We quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c. and Patras, 6¼ to 7c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The scarcity of stock on the local market and the inability of jobbers to get in fresh supplies at present has forced up the prices of selects ½c. The quotations are now 8½c. for selects.

DATES.—There is a quiet business doing in these, and the market is steady. We quote: Dates, in bulk, 1½c., and in packages, 6¼ to 6½c.

PRUNES.—There continues to be some little demand for these, and stocks, locally, are becoming light. In futures a stronger feeling from the Coast is reported. Our quotations are: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—A fair demand is reported for these, and the market continues steady. We quote as follows: 11 to 14c. per lb. for peaches and 13 to 17c. for apricots. New Santa Clara apricots are quoted f.o.b. the Coast at 7c. in 50-lb. boxes, and 7½c. in 25-lb. boxes in carload lots.

GREEN FRUITS.

The receipts of strawberries this week have not been so large as last week, and there has been a falling off in the demand therefor. Raspberries are now coming in liberally, and the prices are easier. There has not been an extra large amount of cherries offered, and the prices keep firm. The canneries are taking for their use most of the crop of cherries as they ripen. Red and black currants are also quite plentiful. Watermelons are easier, and canteloupes are considerably cheaper. Canadian tomatoes are now on the market, but the season is not yet far enough advanced for the receipts to be large. Green apples are now on the market and some peppers are just commencing to come in. Californian fruits are arriving by the carload and sell as soon as they are received. The demand for them is improving but the Canadian fruits are hindering their sales. We quote: Strawberries, 3 to 6c. per quart; red raspberries, 8 to 11c. per quart; red currants, 35 to 50c. per basket; black currants, 85c. to $1 per basket; gooseberries, 35 to 50c. for second grade, and 75c. for the best grades per basket; cherries, 75c. to $1; black cherries, 90c. to $1; apples, 50c. per basket; beans, 30 to 40c. per basket; new potatoes, 20 to 25c. per basket; black raspberries, 7 to 8c. per quart; tomatoes, $1 to $1.10 per crate, and $1.50 per basket; watermelons, 25 to 35c. each; canteloupes, $2.50 to $3; cucumbers, 40c. per doz.; pineapples, $3 to $3.50; lemons, $2.50 to $3.50 per crate; Californian late Valencia oranges, $5.25 to $5.75; Californian fruits: Apricots, $1 to $1.50 per case; plums, $1.25 to $2; pears, $3.75 to $4; peaches, $1.50 to $1.75.

VEGETABLES.

Trade in vegetables continues fair with quite a demand from the lake steamers for table use. There has been some Canadian cabbage offered on the market this week at $1.25 per bbl. Old potatoes are a little easier this week owing to the receipt of several large shipments. New potatoes have declined 50 to 75c., and our quotations are now as follows: Green onions, 8 to 15c. per dozen; rhubarb, 20 to 30c. per dozen; lettuce, 15 to 25c. per dozen; radishes, 20 to 30c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; turnips, 40c. per dozen; cauliflower, 50c. to $1.25 per doz.; cabbage, 40c. per doz. and $1.25 per bbl.; carrots, 20 to 25c. per dozen; beets, 20 to 25c. per basket; peas, $1.25 to $1.40 per bag; new potatoes, 60 to 80c. per bushel; old potatoes, 85 to 90c. per bag.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The market continues steady for strictly new laid eggs, and the shipments now arriving show a considerable shrinkage when candled. We quote as follows: Strictly new-laid, 15 to 15½c.; ordinary candled stock, 13½ to 14c.; seconds and checks, 11 to 12c.

BEANS.—There is no trade doing and the quotations are merely nominal at $1.25 per bushel.

HONEY.—There is but little trade doing in this line, and the market is unchanged. We quote: Honey, in 60 lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c.; and combs, $2 to $3 per dozen.

DRIED APPLES.—There are none offering.

HAY.—The receipts are liberal and prices steady. No. 1 timothy is worth $10.50 per ton.

POULTRY.—There is a good demand for dressed poultry, and the receipts are fair. We quote: Young chickens (dry pickled), 75 to 85c.; old hens, 45 to 55c.; turkeys, young, 11 to 13c., old, 10 to 11c., and ducks, 60 to 85c. per pair.

POTATOES.—There have been large shipments of old potatoes during the past week which has caused quite a slump on the local market. Old stock is quoted in carlots on track at 65 to 70c., and new at 60c. per bushel.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—During the week the arrivals of butter have been large and the market does not show much life. The export demand has not been so great. Quotations are as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 15 to 16c.; large rolls, 15c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 15½c.; large rolls, medium grade, 12 to 14c., and tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints are worth 19 to 20c., and creamery solids, 19c. per lb.

CHEESE.—There is a steady feeling in the cheese market although there has been very little export demand during the week. The finest cheese is quoted at 10 to 10½c., and seconds, 9½ to 10c. At the factories the sales are fairly brisk at about 9½c. per lb.

FISH.

Trade during the week has been brisk and the prices are unchanged. Our quotations now are: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c.; blue fish, 9c. per lb.; mackerel, 12 to 15c.; rock bass, 4c.; eastern salmon, 18c.; speckled trout, 25 to 30c.; halibut, 15c.; Niagara whitefish, 9c. per lb.; blue pike, 4c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

The prices of Northern and Northwestern wheat continue about the same as they were before. The market is inclined to be weak, owing to the bottom falling out of the corn market in the United States, where a "corner" had forced the prices above their normal value. Quotations are 85c. for Manitoba No. 1 hard; 83c. for No. 1 Northern, and 81c. for No. 2 Northern. On the local markets the receipts have been only a few oats, and the prices of the other grains are nominal. We quote: 50 to 50½c. for oats; 80c. for Ontario white wheat; 75 to 80c. for red wheat, 69½ to 72c. for goose wheat.

FLOUR.—The demand for flour has been fair, due to buyers holding off on the expectation of a drop in wheat. Our quotations are now as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4 to $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS.—Business in these is quiet owing to the warm weather, and our quotations are as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.20; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.90 per bbl.; in wood, 10c. extra; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100-lb. bbl; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES.—In hides little business is being done and the prices are steady. Our quotations are now as follows: No. 1 green, 7½c.; No. 2 green, 6½c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8 to 8¼c.

SKINS.—The prices of shearlings have advanced 5c. Other lines are unchanged. Our quotations are now as follows: Veal skins, 6 to 14 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 10c.; No. 2, 8c.; do., 15 to 20 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies), 60 to 70c. each; shearlings, 25c.; lambskins, 30c.

WOOL.—The market continues dull and featureless. The prices are weak at 13c. for fleece wool and 7c. per lb. for unwashed.

TALLOW.—The demand is good and prices are firm and unchanged. We quote 6¼ to 6½c. per lb. for tallow.

---

MARKET NOTES.

Old potatoes have declined 30c. per bag.

There has been an advance of from 7½ to 12½c. in canned corn.

Valencia raisins are up 5c. for selected.

Paris lump sugar has gone up 5c. per 100 lb.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, July 17, 1902.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS in groceries is reported better than usual for midsummer. The warm weather came suddenly, and a demand for many seasonable articles, which had been quiet, sprang up and totalled to a large volume of business. Among the goods in demand are mixed pickles, which, however are reported scarce. In fact, it is almost impossible to obtain supplies of Canadian mixed pickles and chow-chow. Holders among the jobbers are very few, and their stocks are light. It appears that only one large manufacturer has the necessary stock of the raw material to supply his customers. Tomatoes have at last been advanced above the dollar mark by Montreal wholesale grocers. The crop of prime white pea beans is reported damaged and old stock is hard to procure; it is quoted at $1.40 to $1.45. There is on the market at present some new Labrador salmon, in ½ barrels, which is being offered at $6.75. Canadian porks are 50c. higher, and are sold at $26 per barrel. Cornmeal flour has also advanced, the price now being $1.90 per bag. Cod liver oil continues firm with a tendency to higher prices. Barrel lots are now quoted at $1.40, and in less quantities the price is $1.55. The stocks of dried prunes are diminishing rapidly.

SUGAR.

There has been practically no change of any kind on this market. The demand is good and trade is active, although orders are small and for immediate delivery, the retail trade apparently having only light stocks on hand. The New York market has steadied somewhat, the decline which was looked for in some quarters not having occurred. Granulated is still quoted at $3.65, and yellows at $3 to $3.55.

TEAS.

The demand locally, for teas, is fairly satisfactory. Buyers are getting over the idea that lower prices on Japans are to be expected shortly, and are making many purchases, though there are still many who are holding off. No new developments are reported from the Japan market, which continues as firm as ever. In green teas the feeling is also quite firm. China black teas are in but small demand. Ceylons are also quiet. At the last tea auction reported from Ceylon, common grades were in better demand. Leaf teas attracted the most attention, and prices showed signs of stiffening. In mediums, the bidding was irregular, leaf teas being in the best demand in this class also. Good tippy broken pekoes were in active demand, the finest grades bringing full rates. The quality, all round, was rather poor, and the average price was 15½c., against 16½c. for the previous sale.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Corn syrups are quiet on this market and no quotable change, whatever, has occurred. We quote as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½ lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails. In Barbados molasses the same quietness prevails. The business doing is mostly in small lots for immediate requirements. It is reported that one round lot of new Barbados was sold, but at what price is not divulged. The price quoted by job-

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of this market has been the advance in tomatoes. Jobbers refrained from putting up the price as long as possible, but the growing scarcity made it necessary, and tomatoes are now quoted at $1.12½ to $1.17½ for 3's. Business in the new pack of salmon for future delivery has been better than last week, and the demand for immediate requirement from stocks on hand is very good. Jobbers are of the opinion that prices will have to be advanced on the new pack of salmon, which is reported to be short. At present we quote: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; tomatoes, $1.12½ to $1.17½; gallon apples, $2.95 to $3.00; 3-lb. apples, $1.10. Salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet, red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River red sockeye, $1.40.

SPICES.

Business in spices is fairly satisfactory this week. The market is steady, but the firm feeling in almost all lines still prevails. No quotable changes are reported. We quote: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghán, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The demand for these lines keeps up and an active market continues. Tapioca has weakened somewhat. The price, in bag lots, is placed at 3c., although some quotations are reported slightly below that figure. Rice remains at former prices. We quote: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice,, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags, and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The only quotable changes on the local market are in cleaned currants in 1-lb. cartons, which are quoted ½ to ¾c. lower, and in Vostizzas, which are ⅛ to ⅝c. lower. There is a moderate demand. From the primary market cables indicate a somewhat firmer tone. We quote: Fine Filiatras, 5⅛ to 5½c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5¾c.; 1-lb. cartons, 6½ to 7c.; finest Vostizzas, 7 to 7½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The market is practically bare of Valencia raisins of finest quality. Some old recleaned fruit is reported to have sold at 6c., but the quantity is small. We quote: Finest offstalk, 6½c.; selected, 7½ to 8c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS.—There is nothing new to report. Trade is fair, and the price is unchanged at 9c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—There is a moderate demand. Citron peel is worth 15c.; orange peel, 11½c., and lemon, 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is an active inquiry for these raisins, but stocks are becoming very small. Quotations are as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ½'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ½'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—The market is quiet, and we quote Hallowees at 4¼c. per lb.

FIGS.—There is no change in the situation in this market. Business, owing to lack of supplies, is at a standstill. The first lots of the new crop are quoted at 7 to 8c., according to size, laid down here.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—An advance has been made in seeded raisins, and at present, in 1-lb. packages, they are offered at 9¾ to 10½c., which is ½ to 1c. higher than former prices. The demand is fair.

PRUNES.—The market is active. No quotable change is reported. We quote: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—Trade is fair. We quote: Apricots, 14½c.; peaches, 10½c., and pears, 10c.

NUTS.

There has been considerable improvement in the demand for nuts and jobbers report a fair trade this week. Pecans are scarce and are firm at 15 to 16c. The primary market for Valencia shelled almonds is very strong and prices have been advanced 2c. Grenoble walnuts are also advancing. Shelled walnuts are now quoted at 17 to 17½c., an advance of 1½ to 2c. In regard to French walnuts, private advices state as follows of the new crop: "The outlook in growing sections is less favorable for an abundant yield, and it looks now that the size will run largely to small fruit. Weather conditions have been against the growth of the nuts, and much will depend on later conditions whether the quality will be up to the average." Locally, prices are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 17 to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 25 to 27c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

Business this week has been quite satisfactory all round. Fruit has been arriving plentifully and the demand is fully up to the standard. A few New Brunswick strawberries are still on the market, the price being 7c. Cucumbers are lower, and Canadian cabbage and potatoes have also been reduced in price. Tomatoes are 10c. higher. Watermelons are considerably lower, being quoted at 25c. each. Californian fruits, all except pears, are selling at lower figures, apples, peaches and plums being 50c. per box lower, and apricots, 25c. per box lower. We quote: Jamaica oranges, in barrels, $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75; Valencia oranges, 420's, $5.75; 420's, Jumbo, $6.50; 714's, $6.50; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $4; grape fruit, $4.25 to $5 per box; radishes, 15c. per dozen; strawberries, 7c. per box; asparagus, 40c. per bunch; Boston lettuce, 35c. per dozen; cucumbers, 35 to 45c. per dozen; wax beans, $2.50 per basket; green beans, $3 per basket; Californian cherries, $2 to $2.50 per box; Canadian cabbage, $1.25 per bbl.; potatoes, $2.50 per bbl.; tomatoes, four-basket carriers, $1.10; watermelons, 25c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; raspberries, 12 to 13c. per box; gooseberries, 65c. per basket; blackberries, 8c. per box; Californian apples, $2 per box; peaches, $1.50 per box; plums, $1.50 to $2 per box; pears, $2.50 per ½ box; apricots, $1.25 per box; limes, $1.50 per box; red currants, 6c. per box.

FISH.

The trade in fish this season has been remarkably heavy, and dealers state that the demand has been greater than for the past 28 years. Montreal dealers are particularly pleased with the condition of the market, as they are doing business with outside towns where previously the trade done was purely local. Dore and trout have begun to be scarce on the market; the former is quoted slightly higher this week. Salmon has also advanced, though supplies continue fairly abundant. Haddock, however, is in much the best demand of any line of fish, it being estimated that fully 60 per cent. of all the fish sold is haddock. The season closed on July 15 and trade will fall off some now. British Columbian salmon is expected in next week to take the place of the Gaspe salmon. We quote: Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; whitefish, 7½c.; dore, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 14 to 15c.; trout, large and medium, 8c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50; No. 1 British Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There is a fair demand for flour. Manitoba spring wheat patents and strong bakers' are quoted higher again this week, regaining the drop of last week. Our Quotations are: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4 to $4.10; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.80; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN.—The good demand for oats continues and No. 2 Ontarios are quoted ½c. higher. Manitoba wheat is in good demand for New York account, and some fair sized sales have been made. Rye is quoted at 67c. this week, an advance of 1c. Corn is firm at 73½ to 74c. Peas remain quiet and steady at 86½ to 87½c. afloat. We quote: No. 2 Ontario oats, ex-store, 49c.; rye, 67c.; peas, 86½ to 87c.; corn, 73½ to 74c.; buckwheat, 68½ to 69c.; No. 3 barley, 57 to 58c. in store.

FEED.—Manitoba shorts remain unchanged in price, and the scarcity has not been relieved. In bran, however, the market has been weak, and further declines are reported this week. Prices now are: Ontario bran, in bulk, $16.50 to $17 per ton; Manitoba bran, in bags, OATMEAL. There has been no improvement in the demand for rolled oats which remain quiet with prices at $5.65 per barrel and $2.77½ per bag, in small lots.

BALED HAY. A fair local trade keeps up, but business on export account is still quiet. We quote: No. 1 timothy, $9 to $9.50; No. 2, $8 to $8.50; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton in carlots.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE. A firmer feeling characterizes the cheese market this week, the demand being somewhat more active than formerly. An advance of about ½c. per lb. has taken place. Finest Ontario is selling for 9⅜ to 9⅝c.; finest Townships, 9⅝ to 9¾c.; finest Quebecs, 9½ to 9⅝c.; undergrades, 8½ to 9¼c. From the port of Montreal 86,527 boxes were shipped. This report shows 15,456 boxes less than the corresponding week last year to have been exported. From May 1 of this year 564,803 boxes have been shipped, an increase of 98,861 boxes over the same period last year. This is a very creditable showing, indeed. On Monday of this week 25,558 boxes were reported on Board of Trade.

An arrangement has now been made between the Department of Agriculture and the two railway companies, the C.P.R. and G.T.R., whereby these two systems are to provide a number of refrigerator cars for the carrying of cheese on through bills of lading and on local shipment to Montreal for export. The Dominion Department of Agriculture has agreed to pay the icing charges for the limited number of cars available in order that this service may be inaugurated. The usual carload rates will be charged shippers using these cars. Parties desirous of using these refrigerator cars should make application to the local railway agent or district freight agent. The Department of Agriculture only undertakes to pay the icing charges up to 100 cars per week for the two months commencing July 15 and ending September 15, but does not agree to furnish cars. It is understood that the G.T.R. and C.P.R. will have some specially improved ventilator cars ready this month, being fitted with special ventilating contrivance devised by Prof. Robertson. No extra charge will be made for these.

BUTTER.—A very satisfactory business has been done in butter this week. The limited refrigerator space on board ocean steamers last week interfered somewhat with shipments, which would have been much larger could better accommodation have been provided. The railway cars lack to a marked extent the facilities for the proper carriage of butter during the hot weather, which fact is attested to by the heated condition in which several shipments arrived in this city recently. The efforts of Prof. Robertson to ameliorate the present undesirable accommodation afforded are appreciated by dealers and exporters in Montreal.

An easier feeling is noticeable as regards western dairy. Fancy Townships are quoted at 19⅜ to 19½c.; finest Quebecs, 19⅜ to 19¾c.; finest Ontario, 19¼ to 19½c.; fine creamery, 18½ to 19⅜c.; dairy butter, 16 to 16½c. Shipments from Montreal last week were 18,422 packages, which shows a falling off of 4,301 packages, compared with the same week last year. Since May 1 133,168 packages have been shipped, an increase of 18,236 packages over the same period last year. Receipts reported on Board of Trade on Monday of this week were 1,057 packages.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The demand for eggs is somewhat interfered with by the excessively warm weather now prevailing. The market, however, is firm. We quote: Round lots, straight receipts, 13¾ to 14c.; No. 2 stock, 12½ to 13c.

POTATOES.—An increase in the price of new stock has taken place this week, sales having been made at $2 per bbl. on farmers' market, an advance of 5c. on the former price. Jobbers are asking $2.25 per bbl. for new stock. The quality is reported to be exceptionally good.

HONEY.—Trade is very dull, no demand of any account being evidenced for this article. Quotations are as before: White clover comb, 13 to 14c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c. per lb. Buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; extracted, 7 to 8c.

BEANS.—The tone of the market is somewhat unsettled. Jobbing lots are being reported by some dealers at $1.18 to $1.20 per bushel, while others claim that over $1.12 to $1.15 cannot be secured. Advices from Chatham state that the plentitude of rain has damaged the crop slightly.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—The inquiry is as slow as ever. We quote: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 80c.; small tins, 50 to 60c.; in wood, 15 to 30-gallon casks, 5 to 5½c. per lb. Sugar, in round lots, 7 to 9c., as to quantity and quality. An inquiry is reported from New York for 15,000 lb. of Quebec sugar.

POTASH.—The tone of the market is somewhat firmer, an advance of 5c. on price of first pots having taken place, the price now being $4.20 to $4.25 instead of $4.15 to $4.20. Seconds have sold as high as $3.80. Pearls have brought $6 to $6.10 per 100 lb. on this market.

HOPS.—Choice Canadian goods are quoted at 18 to 20c. Ordinary lots are not worth over 10 or 12c. Pacific Coast hops, 24 to 25c., duty paid.

TALLOW.—The market is quiet and steady at 6¼ to 6½c. for refined; rough, 2½ to 3c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Tapioca is ¼c. lower per lb.

Canned tomatoes have advanced 15 to 17½c.

Watermelons have declined in price 12 to 15c.

Californian seeded raisins have advanced ½ to 1c. per lb.

Californian apples, peaches aod plums are 50c. per box lower.

Shelled walnuts are 2c. higher and shelled almonds, ½ to 2c. higher.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, July 14, 1902.

IN THE wholesale line especially, the grocery trade has slackened off considerably during the last week or two, and is now of only nominal volume. Most of the travellers have come in off the road, and both employers and clerks are planning for their midsummer vacation during the slack season. There is, however, still considerable business doing, and a visit to the various places of business does not reveal any great slackness of business. Some firms are utilizing the season in stock-taking, though the majority only take stock once a year.

All are, however, taking stock of the business done during the last six months, and the general conclusion is that business has been of greater volume than usual, and that the general conditions of business are satisfactory. An examination of accounts shows that bills have been paid very promptly, and that the losses in the city or elsewhere have not been excessive. Payments huring the last month have not been quite as prompt as formerly, but these will, no doubt, all be settled up before the autumn rush of business comes on.

This is a good season for the retailer. The warm season brings on a greater demand for all kinds of fruits, and large quantities have been handled. The strawberry season is now on and native berries from the Annapolis Valley are coming in very plentifully. This opens also the preserving season, and dollars' worths are being ordered instead of quarters' worths. Work is plentiful and weekly and monthly bills are promptly paid.

All kinds of breadstuffs remain firm at recent quotations. Cornmeal has advanced, and though the local quotation is only 5 to 10c. up, the real situation is nearer 25c. Rolled oats and oatmeal are firm. Oats remain at about the former quotation. There is not so much demand as earlier in the season, nor is there much of a supply in the local market. Hay remains firm at former quotations, with very little doing. Potatoes are in fairly good supply, and as new potatoes are on the market in some localities, there is not any export demand whatever. The price for old potatoes has dropped 5 cents.

Eggs are firm and on the advance. Probably in no former season has the price been so well maintained as this. The wholesale quotation is now 14c., whereas it has often been down to 10c. at this season, owing to the lack of surety as to quality. Butter is in good supply and dealers are able to supply their customers more readily and promptly. Cheese is coming in fairly well, and the quality is excellent.

Sugar and molasses remain unchanged from former quotations. The arrivals last week were: Schooner Duchess of Cornwall, from Fajardo, P.R., 274 pun., 19 tcs., 21 bbls. molasses; schooner Preference, Arroyo, P.R., 531 pun., 61 tcs., 41 bbls. molasses; by steamer Bratsberg, from Antigua, 2,262 bags of sugar, 9 hhds., 10 pun. molasses; from Barbados, 700 bags sugar, 110 pun. molasses; from Montserrat, 104 bags, 42 bbls. sugar; from St. Kitts, 3,108 bags, 1,295 bbls. sugar; 30 bbls. molasses; from St. Vincent, 25 bbls. sugar; from Tobago, 40 bbls. sugar; from Trinidad, 50 pun. molasses, 570 bags sugar.

Prices in new fish have hardly been definitely fixed yet, though considerable is coming in at the low prices quoted last week.

R. C. H.

been light. Cheese have a fair sale at rather easier prices. For local trade only small cheese is sold. Cheese is quite freely offered.

SUGAR.—The price continues very low, which effects candy, jams and all lines where it is largely used. Little change is expected. By keeping the second grade of granulated low the foreign article finds stronger competition, but it still has quite a free sale.

MOLASSES.—There is a good stock of Porto Rico here and rather more Barbados than usual. The latter keeps quite low. Porto Rico seems firmer. The price has been very low and quite free sales have been made.

FISH.—Business, particularly in fresh salmon, is active, and the prices are well maintained. Boston is our large buyer. The fish are very fine. Except cod and haddock, other fresh fish are very scarce. Dry fish have a light sale at this season, and prices are unchanged. Pollock are quite low. Stock is rather more freely offered. There is a fair sale for boneless fish. Pickled fish are dull. There is a good supply of alewives waiting sale. Smoked herring are rather higher. They have shown for some time really no return to the fishermen. Our quotations are now as follows: Haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 5 to 6c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.50 to $1.75 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; kippered gaspereaux, $1.00 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.50 to $3.65; fresh gaspereaux, 50c.; smoked, do., $1; halibut, 6 to 7c.; shad. 10 to 12c.; salmon, 14 to 15c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour a fair business only is being done. Oatmeal is firmly held at full figures, while oats are high. Our market is well supplied. The sudden stopping of horse shipping to South Africa left some quite large stocks. Cornmeal is very firm, and there is quite an active sale. Feed is very high and hard to get. Beans continue to advance and seem quite firm. Barley is dull. Split peas are scarce. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $4.20 to $4.25; medium, $3.75 to $4.00; oatmeal, $5.20 to $5.25; cornmeal, $3.20 to $3.25; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 52 to 54c.; hand-picked beans, $1.50 to $1.60; prime, $1.40 to $1.50; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $5.15 to $5.25; barley, $4.40 to $4.50; hay, $10 to $14.

ST JOHN NOTES.

Northup & Co. have received the first consignment of Nova Scotian cherries.

Mr. Saunders, representing Armour & Co., Chicago, was in the city this week.

The demand from Boston for domestic strawberries has caused rather higher prices here.

There are quite large shipments of rice being received from England, and prices are keeping low.

A. Robitaille, the well-known manufacturer of vinegar and pickles, called on "The Grocer" this week.

Theo. H. Estabrooks, the packer of "Red Rose" teas, is home from a western trip. He expresses satisfaction with the reception the west has given to "Red Rose."

BRITAIN'S IMPORTS OF FRUITS.

From an English Paper.

THE Coronation year will be noted for a great increase in the importation of fruit from Victoria and Tasmania, large quantities of fine produce having arrived this season at Covent Garden. The chief of these fruits, says "T.P.", in The Gardners' Chronicle, are apples which have come to hand in greatly improved condition owing to the manner of storage in the cold chambers on board the steamers. These apples consisted of well-known varieties, such as Cox's Orange, Ribston, Sturmer and Blenheim Pippins, Emperor Alexander, and other good varieties. The fruits were wrapped separately in paper, and carefully packed in boxes of a uniform size and shape. There were also some pears and grapes, and there is the probability that in the near future quantities of other fruits, of which the public know little, will be sent over.

From the Cape of Good Hope, in which colony the fruit industry is yet in its infancy, we have received this season since the middle of the month of January, 1902, regular supplies of apricots, peaches, nectarines, plums, pears, and grapes, in variety—some of the plums, Kelsey's, were of immense size; the grapes came to hand in better condition this season than heretofore, and the flavor in some instances was very fine—their season is now over. From Jamaica, where the fruit-growing industry is being fostered by the Government, we are obtaining bananas in large quantities, and it would appear that almost unlimited quantities can be exported from that and other islands. From the West Indies we also get oranges, pineapples, grape-fruits, shaddocks, mangos, etc., and in the near future we may expect many other kinds of fruits of which the public knows but little. The mangos from Jamaica are not considered to be the equal of those from Bombay, neither are the bananas equal to those from Teneriffe, and whether the grape-fruits (Citrus) will ever become popular here time only will show.

From the Canary Islands and Teneriffe, whose productions are good, we receive large quantities of tomatoes of fine quality; bananas, melons, pears (Solanun quatemalense), the fruit of which is but little known; potatoes, Myatt's Kidney being the chief variety; onions for pickling of a mild flavor, all of which invariably come to hand in good condition, owing to the suitable methods in which they are severally packed. From St. Michael, Azores, we get the finest pineapples, chiefly the smooth Cayenne variety, whose fruit often exceeds 6-lb. in weight, which come to us nearly all the year round. This season the prices realized for fruits have not been high, but of all fruits, excepting only oranges, bananas and a few others, there is none that equal in point of flavor and general good quality those old England can produce. Such peaches and grapes as are grown a short distance from London surpass all those of foreign production, and the writer has seen many in his long experience as a market salesman.

WORLD-FAMOUS BRANDS.

THERE are few grocers, indeed, who have not handled some brands of Rowat & Co.'s pickles and sauces. This firm, whose headquarters are at Glasgow, have agents all over the world, and export about 50,000 cases annually, in addition to the ever-increasing quantity of tomato catsups, Yum Yum and Worcestershire sauces. The partners, Dewar Rowat and John Fullarton, who are both practical men, established the business about 14 years ago, and, with a steady growth, have now works covering about two acres, and giving constant employment to 300 hands.

The colonies know these brands of sauces and pickles as well as the home markets. In Canada there are several agents, Snowden, Forbes & Co., Montreal, handling the goods for Quebec and Ontario. They have done exceedingly well with Rowat's brands, and claim that there is as much of these pickles and sauces imported into Canada as of all other makes combined. Their own imports are increasing rapidly. So far this year they have brought in as much as during the whole of 1901.

The factory where these pickles and sauces are made is cleanliness in itself, and is one of the best appointed of its kind. Sanitary science has been applied to every section of the building, a feature that must not be overlooked in buildings where perishable goods are used. The display of Rowat's goods at the recent Glasgow Exhibition called forth much favorable comment, and the visitors from all parts of the world were given an opportunity of seeing the home of these brands of pickles and sauces which they had known for so long as the leaders of their kind.

SOUTHERN TOMATOES.

Tomatoes from the South are increasing in quantity, and there have been receipts from the lower part of Virginia to drop the price of Norfolk tomatoes to 75c. and $1 per crate, which is about the equivalent of $1 per bush. Even at $1.50 per doz. cans packers cannot afford to pay $1 per bush. for tomatoes, hence there is no rush for these Southern goods.—The Trade, Baltimore, July 11.

THE APPLE TRANSPORTATION QUESTION.

SOME valuable suggestions are contained in the report to the Annapolis County Farmers' Association meeting at Bridgetown, N.S., made by Mr. Ralph S. Eaton. As a large fruit dealer Mr. Eaton brings to the study of fruit transportation a knowledge of practical affairs and of the conditions of the fruit business. Mr. Eaton has given the subject a most exhaustive study and presents in his reports recommendations of far-sighted prudence and vital import. He has done much to determine the kind of service most satisfactory for both the fruitmen and steamship companies.

Before going to Ottawa to interview the Government on the subject of apple transportation, Mr. Eaton interviewed the principal apple shippers. They agreed that what was needed was careful handling in Halifax,, loading under Government supervision, good boats that would make 10 or 12-knot trips, as often as every 10 days, steamers that would not carry apples in more than four tiers, and well ventilated with exhaust fans.

In presenting his report, Mr. Eaton impressed the truth upon the Association that they were apt to regard the transportation service simply from the standpoint of their six months' apple export. The contracts, however, were for the whole year, and during a considerable part of the year the freights from Halifax and St. John were not profitable. Mr. Eaton furnished the statement of Mr. Hall, of the Furness-Withy Co., that the belief that large shippers got a rebate of 12 and 15c. per bbl. was wrong. Not more than 8c. per bbl. was given, and that to all alike who shipped a certain number of barrels.

Mr. Eaton described the exhaust fans which he had seen at Montreal. The expense of installing them in any of the ventilating tubes of steamers is trifling, a matter of from $300 to $500 each. Had the steamer Evangeline, carrying some 22,000 barrels of Gravensteins at one time last Autumn, being well provided with these exhaust fans, and they had been kept going during her delay by accident off Newfoundland, there would probably have been a very small part of the depreciation, generally estimated at $22,000 in that one cargo, a loss almost equal to the annual $25,000 subsidy.

Mr. Eaton advised the installation of thermographs under Government supervision to see whether or not the fans had kept the atmospheric air constantly circulated among the barrels. He also discussed the reason why fruit dealers have not the same rate of freight from Halifax to London as shippers from Montreal, Boston or New York, in the transport of apples across the ocean. Some of the reasons advanced were the larger size of the steamers from the larger cities, the larger return freight, the greater competition, and the smallness of Halifax and St. John export outside of fruit season. The contract between the Government and The Furness-Withy Co., Mr. Eaton quoted in part :

> The contractors will, on the first day of July next, after the date of these presents, place on the route between the port of St. John, in the Province of New Brunswick, and the port of London, England, the following steamers : The Evangeline, the Loyalist and the Dahome, and with these, or other good steamers sanctioned by the Minister, maintain for a period of one year from that date, at regular intervals of not over 15 days, and calling upon all voyages, both outward and inward, at Halifax, in the Province of Nova Scotia.

Then the contract goes on to state that the sum of $25,000 shall be paid in half-yearly instalments, providing certain other conditions are fulfilled. The Furness-Withy Co. did not keep the part of their contract last year, neither as regards the particular steamers and their substitutes nor as to their dates of sailing.

Mr. Eaton has urged the Government that if the present subsidy was not sufficient to provide a good service, the country would be many thousand dollars better off annually if the subsidy were increased 50 to 100 per cent. in order that the dealers might be spared the depreciation of their front to the extent, as had often been the case, of $10,000 to $15,000 in single cargoes.

CARRYING TRADE OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The Liverpool Steamship Owners' Association have just prepared a very interesting series of tabular comparative statements with respect to the carrying trade of the United Kingdom during the 10 years 1891-1900, showing the part of that trade carried in British and foreign vessels, distinguishing the trade with foreign countries and that with British possessions, and also distinguishing vessels with cargo and those in ballast. The figures have been obtained from the "Annual Statements of the Navigation and Shipping of the United Kingdom." The tonnage of vessels with cargoes trading to foreign countries in 1891 comprised 36,428,937 British and 15,816,415 foreign, while in 1900 the figures were 42,780,184 tons British and 26,566,403 tons foreign. The annual average for the 10 years was 40,860,575 tons British and 18,887,284 tons foreign. The percentage of British decreased from 69¼ to 61¼, while that of foreign increased from 30¼ to 38¼, the annual average percentages for the whole decade being respectively 68 and 32. The vessels trading from the United Kingdom to British possessions with cargo were of 9,105,416 tons in 1891 and 9,551,871 tons in 1900, while foreign ships were of 963,456 tons in the former year and 959,586 tons in the latter. The annual average percentage of British increased in the 10 years from 90½ to 91¼, while that of foreign decreased from 9½ to 8¾.

A MATCH PATENT.

Andrew Anderson, match manufacturer of Detroit, but resident of Windsor, has, through his lawyer, issued a writ against The Walkerville Match Co. for an alleged infringement of patent. The writ asks that the defendant company be restrained from using the device complained of, and also for damages.

ENLARGING FLOOR SPACE.

Thirty thousand additional square feet of floor space will be the result of operations at Ganong Bros. candy factory, St. Stephen, N.B., on the north side an extension of 33 x 51 ft., three storeys high ; on the west side an addition, in the form of an L, 90 ft. long by 80 ft. wide and three storeys high will give the required room. The basement will have cement flooring throughout.

AGAIN BACK TO BUSINESS.

Major Percy Mason, of P. L. Mason & Co., Toronto, who went to England as adjutant of the infantry branch of the Canadian Coronation contingent, is again back to business. He thoroughly enjoyed his trip and emphatically denies that the Canadians received any other than the most cordial treatment from the military authorities while in Great Britain. "Why, we never even heard that we had not been treated properly until we reached Canada."

NO MORE NEED FOR IT.

A characteristic story is told of Abe Gruber, the well-known New York lawyer. When he was a boy looking for something to do he saw the sign, "Boy Wanted," hanging outside of a store in New York. He picked up the sign and entered the store. The proprietor met him.

"What did you bring that sign in here for?" asked the storekeeper.

"You won't need it any more," said Gruber, cheerfully, "I'm going to take he job."—Washington Post.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

July 17, 1902.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, St. John, N.B., and Halifax. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit. For Winnipeg market report and prices, see page —.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lowest prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

Schepp's Cocoanut

Quality first, then price.

Cocoanut is a luxury. Those that use it want the best (Schepp's).

Cocoanut is used generally as a dessert; should therefore be the best in quality to give the dinner a pleasant finish (Schepp's).

Three Requisites for Success in Business.

Extract from an address delivered by Daniel B. Murphy, of Burke, FitzSimons, Hone & Co., at the meeting of the Rochester Retail Grocers' Association.

WE are engaged in business for profit. There is little of the sentimental about the average business man. His self-preservation among his mercantile associates and the protection of those dependent upon him are what commend his constant and earnest attention and make bearable the routine drudgery incident to commercial life.

The discouraging fact ever confronts the struggling business man that over 90 per cent. of those who engage in mercantile pursuits fail, either directly or indirectly. Notwithstanding this disturbing feature of our business, we should keep prominently before us the truth that there is something in life's struggles besides dollars and cents. A man who is and who sacrifices honor and integrity, for any salvage in the nature of dollars and cents, is dishonest and unworthy of confidence; while, on the contrary, the man who preserves his honor and integrity, even at great financial cost, retains in a higher degree than before the respect and admiration of his fellow men. We should be at all times manly, honorable, faithful and reliable. These qualifications are indispensable to every successful business man, and, what is more to the point, they are within the reach of all.

There are at least three essential requisites for the successful management of business. These are

CHARACTER, CAPACITY AND CAPITAL.

While all these requisites are fundamental, the greatest is character. No man can hope to permanently succeed in life's struggle whose line of action is not based upon the principles of honesty, uprightness and integrity. A merchant should be honest with himself, honest with his patrons and honest with his fellow business men.

To be honest with himself implies a full and accurate knowledge of the details of his business affairs. He should keep his books in such a manner as to enable him at any time to show definitely what his assets and liabilities are. His books should indicate daily the amout of stock on hand at cost, the amount of his book accounts at actual value and, also, the amount due his creditors. He should also have before him as a stimulus to greater effort a comparative statement of daily sales and expenses, extending over a series of years. A succesful enterprise cannot stand still. It must be progressive in order to be enduring, and every employe should share this commendable ambition of his employer.

In this connection I might say that it is very important that a merchant should have his stock fully protected by fire insurance. Insurance companies assume this risk for him at a reasonable compensation. It is their business to take risks of this kind and not the merchant's.

A merchant should also be honest with himself to the extent of appreciating fully what it is to have it known in commercial centres of the country that he is reliable and trustworthy in every transaction, that his word is synonymous with his bond, and that he is ever keenly sensitive to the necessity of preserving his good name. Without honor, integrity and manhood, a man has nothing and can have nothing. These qualities are vital to every man, whether in business or out of business, and their value cannot be estimated on a basis of dollars and cents.

Secondly, a merchant should be HONEST WITH HIS PATRONS.

This implies that there should be on hand a well-arranged stock of merchandise, kept in neat and attractive manner. It means, also, that it is incumbent on him to give honest value, full weights and correct measurements. It means, too, that there should be absolutely no misrepresentation. Trading stamps, chromos, prizes and other subterfuges should not be employed to secure patronage. The unreasonable plaints that arise in the life of the merchant should be met with tact and diplomacy and the patron appeased if possible, but not at the cost of principle or self-respect.

A merchant should also be honest with his fellow business men. This implies that when called upon to give his experience with regard to the standing of a certain customer, the information should be candid and reliable. This brings us face to face with the most deplorable feature of mercantile life, viz., loss sustained through worthless accounts.

Mr. Murphy here gave statistics which he had gathered from commercial agencies, and which showed that the aggregate loss because of liabilities involved in failures in the United States from 1890 to 1899, inclusive, was $1,788,719,267. The average loss for each year was thus $178,871,026.70. The average was more than the total capital of the 209 State banks, the 60 trust companies and the 326 National banks in the State of New York in the year 1900. It exceeded their aggregate capital by more than $10,000,000.

GUARDING AGAINST LOSSES.

"How are we to guard against excessive losses?" continued Mr. Murphy. "This question comes home to everyone present. There is no serious question about the truth of the common expression that 'credit is too cheap,' nor about the kindred saying that 'credit is too freely granted.' Credit should always be judiciously granted, and never indiscriminately or in a haphazard manner. A man who grants credit should be a good judge of human nature, and with tact and discretion should secure proper information from the applicant for credit as to his financial and moral responsibilities, who his references are, and, also, whether he is disposed to comply in every respect with the terms of settlement submitted to him. There should be a distinct understanding as to the amount of the account, since every account should have its limit, and, also, that the obligations contracted shall be discharged at least monthly.

COURAGE TO SAY 'NO.'

"You must have courage to say 'no' to the unworthy applicant, and there are many of this class who apply for credit without having any basis whatever for such favors. You find competition sharp and the margin of profit necessarily small, and, therefore, you are not warranted in taking unreasonable financial risks. You are not warranted in taking all the possibilities of failure to pay, such as sickness, loss of situation, etc., on the part of the debtor.

RIGHTS OF DEBTORS.

"In our dealings with the debtor class, we must not forget that they have some rights that we are bound to respect. We must discriminate between the reprehensible debtor, who can pay, but will not, and the unfortunate debtor, who is well disposed, but, through circumstances, is unable to pay his honest obligations. The first are clearly without the pale of our sympathy, while the latter are worthy of considerate treatment, and should not be numbered among disreputable debtors. We must be ever on our guard against the vicious debtor, who, with fervid eloquence and brazen assurance, goes from merchant to merchant with the studied purpose of adding another name to the long list of those whom he has already shamefully and criminally defrauded."

RESTRICTION OF OUTPUT OF TEA.

UNDER a recent date the following has been issued by the secretary of the Indian Tea Association, London :

To all producers of tea : Dear Sirs,—At a recent meeting of my committee it was pointed out that on many estates there are portions of cultivation that for many years past have not probably paid the cost of upkeep, and, although these continue to produce a certain amount of crop, they are of no real benefit to the properties on which they are situated. It was suggested, with a view to diminishing output, that directors and tea proprietors might with advantage give instructions to their managers to make arrangements, at the end of the current season, to abandon all such portions of tea which could be done without any loss to the proprietors, and even with profit to the estates themselves. I am asked to bring this matter to your notice, and also to remind you of the circular issued on January last, headed "Crop of 1902," and to express the hope that you concurred with the suggestions of my committee, and will continue to impress on your managers the importance of avoiding coarse plucking during the current year.

I am directed by my committee to hand you herewith a revised form providing for restriction of output, which has already received the support of producers representing upward of 100,000,000 lb., and I trust you will see your way to sign it on behalf of the concerns you represent, and return it to me at your earliest convenience.

To the Secretary, Indian Tea Association, 5 Fenchurch street, E.C.—We, the undersigned, agree to restrict our output for the current season by one of the undermentioned alternatives at our option, such option to be declared to the secretary of the Indian Tea Association on or before July 5 next, in the case of home-managed concerns, and on or before July 19 in the case of gardens controlled in India. This undertaking is only to come into force provided 75 per cent. or 135,000,000 lb., of the Indian crop join.

1.—A cessation of manufacture from midnight on July 31 till midnight on August 21. Any leaf not fired by midnight on July 31 to be destroyed, and no leaf to be rolled before midnight on August 21.

2.—A reduction of 10 per cent. on our estimated crop, such reduction to be effected in any way we choose, including the manufacture of green tea, which green tea must, however, be shipped to and disposed of in the American, Canadian, or Russian markets only.

The Home and Colonial Mail says that it is understood that Ceylon planters are to be asked to co operate in reducing their output, and that the formation of this combination is a preliminary to establishing a British Tea Growers' Union for the protection and advancement of planters' interest, the details of which scheme will be considered by a joint committee of representatives of India and Ceylon.

A BAKED-BEAN MAN MISSING.

"If you don't like my baked beans come and tell me all about it," so advertised Mr. Trehan, who ran a little restaurant on Webster street, Kentville, N.S. Somebody must have told Mr. Trehan that his beans were a failure, for his establishment is closed and the proprietor is missing, perhaps only for a time, but his absence has been long enough to instil a certain amount of fear in the heart of the owner of the shop who is anxiously waiting a chance to get on the inside and secure enough goods and chattels to cover the amount of the rent.

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN GOODS.

THE following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London :

1. A London firm is desirous of representing Canadian exporters of wood pulp, phosphate of lime and other chemical products.

2. Inquiry is made for names of Canadian manufacturers of thin boiling starch.

3. A firm in the Midlands is open to represent on commission Canadian exporters of produce, such as eggs and butter, especially pickled eggs.

4. Liverpool house is open to extend its business with Canada, and asks to be furnished with the addresses of first-class shippers of wood pulp and other products suitable for the Engligh market.

5. A firm of spinners of all classes of woollen carpet and rug yarns wish to get into communication with Canadian buyers of such goods.

[The names of the firms making the above inquiries can be obtained upon application to the Editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER.]

GOOD ADVERTISING POINTERS.

THE prime object of advertising is to create a demand for an article. How many can pick the better of two pianos from which the brand has been removed? Yet men will pay more for an article whose name has become a household word by judicious advertising. Men sometimes say that if they had something new or exclusive they could succeed; but this is a mistake.

The cash register wouldn't go for years; the same way with the typewriters. There is nothing harder to advertise than new commodities. But judicious advertising can create wants and tastes. The consumption of oatmeal in Kansas City has increased six fold in ten years.

H. J. Heinz once told me that a merchant was a man who sold goods at his own price. The test of a real merchant is to create a distinctive demand for his goods, and to compel the people to buy them.

All there is in advertising is in carrying a message to the dealer and consumer. No medium should be used blindly. A great many use newspapers just as the Indian slept on one feather because the white man slept on a feather bed, and he wondered why the feather didn't help him.

The ultimate object of all advertising is the creation of prestige. People accept what a successful man says. Prestige doesn't come to everybody over night. It is acquired by persistent adherence to fundamental principles. It creates a peculiar constituency and as near a monopoly as is possible in these days.—John Lee Mahin, in Michigan Tradesman.

POPULARITY is the proof of merit, and no brand has ever achieved popularity so quickly as

SOME WINDOW DRESSING HINTS.

YOUR trade is limited. You find some other merchant in your vicinity is taking a large share of the business which ought to belong to you. The many fail, the few succeed. You want to be amongst the minority and are wondering how to go about your business to insure its success. People day by day go past your door and buy what they want in other stores. You wonder how it is.

A LITTLE SELF EXAMINATION

in the ways you adopt in conducting your business is a thing the grocer cannot too often practice. It always pays.

Perhaps your windows are not as attractive as those of your rivals. Men go by yours with a careless glance, but stare long and intently at the other man's get-ups. They see a neat window, are induced to go in, and there they buy what they want.

CHANGE DISPLAYS.

Do not keep the same things in your window for weeks and months. A window should be changed at least once a week, oftener if you have the time. You have to keep at it, and persistently woo the fickle public by the attractions of your window show. Change your window week after week and always put in something new. Be in season, or, better, be a little before season when the people are thinking of what they have to buy. They see what they want in your window, and, when making their purchases, give you a call. By often changing the dressing of the window more things can be displayed, and as all people do not want the same thing, you will be enlisting the sympathies of a wider class of customers.

KEEP OUT THE FLIES.

"Cleanliness is next to godliness," saith an old maxim. This saying may be applied with effect to your window. Keep everything clean. Do not let the flies into its precincts, keep them out by means of screens, panel doors, etc. Thus you will avoid the necessity of placing in your window flypaper, which is an unsightly disfigurement. Many men and women turn away with disgust when they see dead flies and flypaper covered with flies amongst the goods shown.

A little care in keeping out the flies is not all that is necessary. Everything in the window should be well dusted besides. No dirt should be allowed to accumulate therein for men are inclined to say, like window, like owner.

ATTRACTIONS.

A neatly framed picture in a window adds to its attractiveness. It is well, when possible, to take advantage of popular sentiment in this matter. When the South-African War was in progress, pictures of battlefields, cavalry charges, naval engagements, etc., were what caught the public eye. In days of rejoicing other pictures appropriate to the occasion are more in favor. A good idea is, if there are any artists known to the public, or in whom they are interested, to procure their pictures for exhibition.

Other ways of engaging the interests of the onlookers are the securing of cups or other trophies to be competed for by local athletes, or sportsmen, relics of the past, having histories attached thereto, and any other thing which might arouse public curiosity.

THE LAW OF "CONTRAST"

may be employed with success in dressing a window. A bicycle dealer once took a novel way of selling his wheels. He had a number of bicycles on exhibition for which he asked $50 apiece. They were good looking wheels, but people only looked at them and passed onward without buying. But one day he hit upon a scheme and proceeded at once to test its merits. He secured, with the aid of a few dollars, the window of another shopman near by, and in it placed an old second-hand wheel. On it was a ticket saying that the original cost of this bicycle was $110. It could be bought for $65 now. Needless to say it was not sold. People looked at it, went into the other store and paid down their $50 for a new wheel. That merchant found his sales much increased.

COLOR EFFECTS.

Color can be made to play no mean part in the dressing of a window. A judicious combination of harmonizing colors is sure to attract the notice of everyone that passes by, and the idea presented to the gazers by your window is sure to make an impression. An inviting show window with prices on the goods is an excellent advertisement.

COOPERATION OF THE CLERKS.

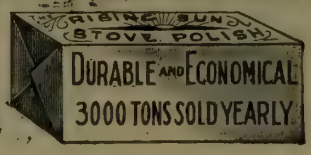
Consult your clerks if you wish to keep yourself and your business at the top of the tree. We are not all gifted in the same way, neither are our ideals the same. Often a genius is working behind the counter, who would, were opportunity given him, write his name amongst the names of the great. By consulting your clerks, who perhaps are in closer touch with the public and know their wants even better than you, nothing will be lost and much is sure to be gained. Bright young men see that their ideas are acted upon, and become more interested in extending your business. You thus gain much more custom by the aid of your young men, through consulting and acting upon their ideas, than you would by holding yourself aloof from and above them.

A TIMELY DISPLAY.

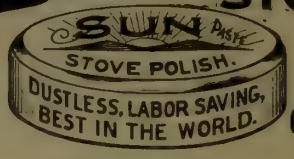
A good idea for grocers during July would be to display in their window something of especial use for lunch baskets. People do not go to picnics every day, but they are constantly using hams, bacon, lemons and other articles day by day. A good fruit window thus may be arranged.

In the front place of your window on each side put a hamper of lemons. If you use plain baskets their attractiveness may be improved by wrapping them in colored tissue paper. It is a good plan to use ornamental baskets when they are accessible. False bottoms may often be placed in the baskets, limiting the number of lemons put in them to make the display.

The two baskets may be made to form the extremity of a semi-circle curving back to the middle of the window.



A watermelon may be placed in the centre of the curve, and on each side bunches of bananas and cantaloupes. Heaping trays, dishes and baskets of other fruit, such as oranges, berries and peaches, may be placed on each side to complete the crescent.



In front of all, in a little group by themselves, four pineapples in the form of a diamond may be placed, one in each corner, and on two sides, or rather corners, a little distance removed therefrom, station boxes of cherries or grapes.

Sugar may also be placed in boxes in the background, and piles of biscuits or cakes can be made to form a feature of this window.

A GROCERY CLERK'S DUTIES.

THE duty of a grocery clerk does not only consist in waiting on customers and putting up orders, says Modern Grocer. There are a hundred-and-one things to be done and looked after that go to make up a good clerk. Take for example the order clerk. Perhaps his is the most responsible position. He has a certain number of customers, as a general rule, and probably calls on them at about the same time every day. He should not only be "the grocer's clerk," but should be as a sort of morning visitor, and one whom the housewife is glad to see. After his cheery "good morning" and a few pleasant remarks, he is ready for business. He know that it is hard for the busy housewife to remember the many articles needed, and that it is a great help to suggest goods that may be required in the kitchen. His customer may have known before he came what she wanted, but it slipped her mind, and after he is gone most likely she will say, "Oh, yes, now I remember, I wanted some spices," or whatever it might be, and she will be obliged to send someone out to the nearest store for the required article. We often here people say, "Oh, I don't like Mr. Blank's order boy, he is not at all pleasant, I think I will have to try Mr. Brown."

Not much less important is the position of the clerk in the store, whose business it is to look after the eustomers and things in general. In the morning when he gets down there is the display to be made and shelves to be dusted and goods shown up to the best advantage. Then the orders that may have come in the night before are to be filled, and the rest of the morning will probably be spent in waiting on customers. At 11 o'clock the order clerk comes back from his route and it is time to put up orders, and at 12 o'clock the proprietor gets back from town and the wagon is to be unloaded and goods arranged. After lunch the afternoon is taken up in getting out orders and waiting on customers.

We admit that the life of a grocery clerk is not an easy one, but at least it is not a monotonous one.

Many clerks have the mistaken idea that a perfect clerk consists in cramming as many things in a certain length of time as possible. This is not so. A clerk should do what he can do and do it well.

Every clerk should have a system about doing his work, but by this we do not mean that he should do just the work that is assigned to him. Every clerk should do his own work and if his employer asks him to do something that is supposed to be done by a fellow clerk, he will not rise in his estimation by saying, "Why, that is Henry's work." How often we hear this.

Be cheerful—do things as they come along, be courteous to customers as well as employer, attend strictly to business during business hours, and your success as a businessman will not be doubtful, but a certainty.

RAILWAYS IN THE WEST.

IN his annual report, J. S. Dennis, Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture, deals thoroughly with the Territorial railway question. He says in part: "This question is allied to our road problem because thickly settled districts which now have to deliver their produce to existing railways by long hauls over roads that we are called upon to improve, will abandon such roads the moment they are within reach of the nearer railway facilities which will be provided by branch lines that sooner or later will form a network throughout the Territories. At the present time we have thickly settled districts, which produce large grain crops, situated 30 and 40 miles from the nearest railway station, and labor and hardship consequent upon haulage of grain for that distance to market.

"The situation in this respect throughout the Saskatchewan Valley will be relived by the extension westward of the Canadian Northern Railway.

"In portions of Eastern Assiniboia, which at present produce the larger portion of the wheat crop of the Territories, the need of branch line railways is very acute.

"Throughout the whole length of Eastern Assiniboia the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway runs parallel to and some distance south of the Qu'Appelle River, and the thickly-settled districts lying north of the river are cut off from railway communication except by long hauls, including the crossing of the Valley of the Qu'Appelle with its steep hills. This condition has necessitated an attempt on the part of the Department to provide and maintain long main roads north and south across this valley.

"In Southeastern Assiniboia the necessity for further railway extension is also becoming pressing, and as the country between the main line and Soo branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway has developed in the way of settlement in a marked degree during the past year, it is evident that an extension of the Pipestone branch of that railway through this district will become an urgent necessity within the coming year, if these settlers are to be provided with such railway facilities as will obviate a long haul for the large amount of grain that they will probably raise in the near future.

"The construction of the projected branch line of the Canadian Pacific Railway north of and parallel to the valley, which is looked for this year, will at once relieve the residents of the country traversed by this branch line of the present long haul to the main line, and will altogether change the present trend of travel over the roads and bridges we have been striving to provide.

"Anyone who thoroughly studies the question will easily recognize the necessity for immediate railway extension to provide for the great development which had taken place in the past few years."

THE WHITEFISH OF MANITOBA.

HUNDREDS of thousands of dollars come into the pockets of the people of Manitoba by reason of the fish of the fresh blue water of Lake Winnipeg.

Each season there is a fleet of sail boats goes down the Red River from West Selkirk and is towed down Lake Winnipeg to its head waters. Some are manned by Icelanders and Orkneymen from old Europe, and the rest have for their crews the lads from Huron, Grey and Bruce counties, in the Province of Ontario.

The fishing stations are located to the nothern extremity of this great body of water. Although none are very large in their dimensions or important in their appearance, they form the tentacles of a great industry.

The great secret of Lake Winnipeg's success is that it is the winter granary of the the fish-consuming world in America. The fish taken are stored in "freezers." After they leave the "freezers" the fish are taken by steamboat to West Selkirk to be transferred from that point as occasion demands by freight train.

Out on the lake there are various bottoms, usually sandy, and varying from 90 to 120 feet in depth, where the whitefish find their feeding grounds.

Manitoba whitefish is put up in all the really great hotels in all the up-to-date summer resorts to the south. Its flesh is more firm, its flavor more delicate, and its demand more constant than any other member of the finny tribe.

Once caught, the fish are brought to the stations where there are a hundred men engaged in cleaning the catch. The cleaners handle the fish like lightning. It is a case of knife, cut, a slash, and the entrails fall into a barrel while the whole meat of the fish goes the other way to the washing vats where they are turned over twice with paddles before they go to the "freezing" house. There the fish are carefully packed in zinc pans, and are stacked in lines 10 ft. high, encased in salt and ice and left to freeze solid for from 24 to 36 hours.

After that the zinc cases of frozen fish are emptied. Their contents come out solid. The fish come out in cakes the size of the zinc boxes, and are packed in wooden boxes and are loaded on the steamers that come to Selkirk.

PICTURESQUE VICTORIA.

"PICTURESQUE VICTORIA" is a handsome little booklet just issued by the Tourist Association, of Victoria, B.C. This voluntary association, organized by the business men and citizens for the purpose of making known the attractions of Victoria and Vancouver Island as a tourist and health resort, is to be congratulated upon this splendid effort in a most praiseworthy cause. The many unsurpassed attractions offered by Victoria to the summer holiday seeker are presented in a manner which reflects credit upon those who have the work in charge.

Many handsome photographs admirably display the picturesqueness of scenery, and the beauty of places of interest, and go far to substantiate the claim that the combination of bold and picturesque country with old-fashioned English homes, their beautiful gardens and air of comfort and contentment, makes Victoria a delightful residential city.

The general attractiveness of Victoria as the ideal place for salmon and trout fishing, for rifle and shotgun, for excursions and drives, for recreation, together with the excellent railway and steamship connections, is given due prominence. Throughout the

DEATH OF J. A. CHIPMAN.

The death of J. A. Chipman, of Halifax, occurred Friday, July 18. Deceased was about 55 years of age. He was a native of Annapolis, and resided at 27 Inglis street. He came to Halifax when young, and for years was in the flour business, but latterly was engaged in the commission business. He was a prominent member of the board of trade, and the promoter of the resolution urging that the C.P.R. take over the I.C.R. between St. John and Halifax, which provoked much discussion a few months ago. Mr. Chipman was for years a member of the firm of Chipman & Mutch, which firm did an extensive business. Up to the time of his death he did business under the name of J. A. Chipman & Co. He leaves a widow and a daughter.

The partnership of McPherson & McCammon, grocers, Nelson, B. C., was dissolved on July 11. T. S. McPherson has assumed the assets and liabilities of the firm, and will continue the business.

BUTTERMAKING HINTS FOR SUMMER.

BUTTERMAKERS so far have had the assistance of generally favorable weather for the production of butter, as regards temperature, but with the coming of July; the first month of the last half of the year, conditions may be expected to change, says Chicago Dairy Produce, and it is well to be prepared now for their coming.

Hot weather means extreme cleanliness at the factory if the best butter is to be made. Drains should be examined frequently, and well flushed out and no sloppings of milk allowed to remain anywhere about the factory inside or out long enough to cause a smell. Skim milk tanks and platforms situated where drippings speedily become a nuisance should receive prompt attention and be cleaned up as soon as the last patron has left the building. Too often this work is put off until late afternoon, until everything else is put in order, and until there has been time to develop a nuisance that grows more as the season advances.

There will be the usual trouble with flies and the buttermaker who doesn't have creamery doors and windows well screened is going to have a lot of trouble.

It is not enough simply to cover the cream vat. In the well-regulated creamery of the present day the attempt should be to keep the flies out of the building, and give them as little advantage and encouragement in the surroundings as a strict regard for cleanliness will dictate.

Patrons should be cautioned to prepare for the hot, dusty weather of summer and early fall. A day's milk saved not only means a loss prevented, but the patron who is ready for the hot weather when it comes is the one whose milk is going to make the best flavored butter at the creamery.

Don't be sparing of reliable washing powders, cleansers and disinfectants. Science has put these things into your hands, and there is no more reason to waste your strength in toil doing without their assistance than there would be reason to do without centrifugal separation in favor of gravity skimming.

Be saving of your health. Hard work does not destroy health half as quickly as needless exposure, carelessness and foolhardiness. Take time for needed rest, and if your work is too much to allow of it, put some on other shoulders. The helper will be glad of the opportunity to earn a few dollars a week, and the period of life allowed you as a creamery operator will be more replete with health and pleasure.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

Cold-Storage Butter Shipments—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

COLD-STORAGE BUTTER SHIPMENTS.

PROFESSOR ROBERTSON, Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, has sent out the following circular on the subject of creamery cold-storage: "The cold-storage service for the carriage of butter is being utilized almost to its full capacity this season. Refrigerator cars are now run from about 40 starting points per week to Montreal, picking up butter at stations on the way. When these arrive in Montreal a cold-storage inspector examines their contents and reports the condition of the cars and the quantities of ice, if any, found in them. In nearly every case a quantity of ice from 200 to 1,800 pounds has been found unmelted on arrival at Montreal. However, refrigerator cars are not suitable for cooling butter. They are intended only to keep cool the butter, which is loaded in them in cool condition. It is highly important that the cold-storage at the creameries be kept in use in such a way as to cool the butter down within one day after it is made to a temperature not above 40 degrees Fahrenheit. If the butter be kept warm even for a few days it will show a staleness of flavor when delivered in England which will prevent it being taken at the highest market price by the best class of customers." In a circular letter to railway agents the Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying invites their co-operation in making refrigerator cars subsidized by the Government as useful and satisfactory as possible. A good deal may be done by taking care to keep the doors closed, except during the actual time required to put in the butter. An open door lets the cool air flow out and the warm air rush in. Shippers should be advised to deliver butter at the station near the time at which the refrigerator car passes. Agents would render a service when delivery is made ahead of time by placing the butter where it would be protected from the rays of the sun, kept as cool as possible, and not exposed to undesirable odors such as that from oil barrels, which may be in the ordinary freight shed. Cheese should not be loaded into refrigerator cars intended for butter, as one or two loads of the former heat the cars, and to that extent injure the butter.

FIRST HOG DRESSED BY LATE P. D. ARMOUR.

It is told of the late P. D. Armour that on one occasion he made a present of a suit of clothes to each of his employes in a certain department. Each man was told that he might order his own suit, and send the bill to Mr. Armour, no restriction being made as to price. In order to avail himself fully of this liberality, one young man ordered evening clothes costing $80. When the bill was sent in, Mr. Armour sent for the clerk to vouch for its accuracy, and, finding it right, assured the man it would be paid. As the clerk was leaving, however, Mr. Armour said to him:

"I wish to say to you that I have packed a great many hogs in my time, but I never dressed one before!"

THAT'S THE WAY THEY LOOK.

Little Ethel was out driving with her mother, and as they drove past a swamp she saw some cat-tails growing. "Oh mamma," she said, pointing at them, "I didn't know that sausages grew on sticks before.'

WHY PORK IS HIGH.

The National Provisioner thus accounts for the present high prices of pork products and hogs:

"The state of the pork trade and the available supply may be seen in the condition of stocks of provisions in Chicago at the close of business, June 30, as reported to the board of trade. The total cuts of meats on that date amounted to 120,962,996 lb., and 136,207,991 lb. on June 30, 1901. The shortage was not due to the movement of products. The shipments of these products were as follows: During June, 1902, of 28,611,497 lb. of lard (gross weight) and 58,920,017 lb. (gross weight) of meats, and 35,439,308 lb. and 64,771,312 lb., respectively, of the above products during June 1901. The receipts for June, 1902, were: Lard, 2,812,197 lb.; meats, 6,899,927 lb. June, 1901: Lard, 6,820,418 lb.; meats, 14,319,570 lb. The shortage of 1,000,000 hogs at centres for three months explains it."

This rise in prices is not confined to pork, nor is it to be found only in Chicago.

"The price of live stock is steadily rising in all markets. The tendency is still more upward. The Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Co. paid $8 70 for cattle on the hoof at Chicago last week. It is a noticeable fact in view of the rising live stock market that the sensational class of newspapers have ceased their agitation against the price of dressed beef."

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Trade in dressed hogs is dull, but they have advanced in price 25c. per 100 lb. during the week. A moderate amount of business is doing in dressed beef, which remains firm and unchanged. The prices of live hogs and cattle remain as they were last week. Quotations follow: Dressed hogs, $9.25 to $9.50; beef carcasses, $8 to $8.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9.50 to $11 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5.50 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 7 to 8c. per lb., and lambs, 9 to 10½c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $6 to $7 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.

The provision market is steady and unchanged. The unfavorable weather of the past few days has quieted down trade in these commodities, but business on the whole continues fair. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11 to 11½c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23 to $23.50; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.; plate beef, $15.

MONTREAL.

The tone of the provision markets for about all lines continues firm, although prices have been steady throughout the week. However, it is expected that if the present price of live hogs is maintained, an advance in some lines is very probable. The demand is still good, and the market is quite active.

In fresh killed abattoir dressed hogs, there has been no quotable change, the price still being $9.25 to $9.50 per 100 lb. The market is firm. A fair jobbing trade has been done, the demand from butchers being very good.

The price of pure Canadian lard remains at $2.37½ to $2.40 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 9¾c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20-lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20-

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled pork, in spite of the light business, prices tend higher. Business is almost out of the question. Beef, while not so firm, is still high and sales are light. Lard is still high. There is a rather light business. In fresh meets to the consumer little change is noted. In beef, light domestic stock is quoted quite a little easier. Western shows little change. It is now being imported on the hoof. Lamb is more freely offered and sells at reasonable figures. Veal and mutton are easier. Pork is still in light supply. Prices are high. We quote: Domestic mess pork, $21.50 to $22.50; domestic short cut, $23 to $24; plate beef, $14 to $16; light beef, 5 to 7c.; heavy beef, 9 to 10c.; veal, 5 to 7c.; mutton, 4 to 6c.; lamb, 8 to 9c.; pork, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, tierces. 10¾ to 12½c.; tubs, 12¼ to 12¾c.; pails, 12½ to 13c.; hams, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 11 to 12c.

DEALERS' PROFITS.

One of the most important considerations of the merchant in purchasing is the margin of profit there is on the goods. This is quite reasonable, but it is of even more importance that he furnish his customers with a line of goods that will give the most perfect satisfaction and thus retain a firm grip upon his trade. The United Factories, Limited, have not lost sight of either of these important features, as both the dealers' and the consumers' interests must enter into the consideration of the producer. They have, therefore, in the consolidation of three of the most important industries of Canada, kept before them the one object of producing a line of goods that will give a wide margin of profit to the dealer and make pleased customers because of the perfect satisfaction in the use of an article that is conscientiously made of the best materials produced.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

A PRIVATE letter from Baltimore, referring to the tomato outlook, says: "We hardly know how to size up the tomato situation. There is one thing certain, the early packing is over; but there will be some stock packed all along, although not to any great extent. The raw material is costing more, and it looks like higher prices for some days to come. The lowest price on full standard 3's f.o.b. Baltimore is $1 to-day."

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

Although the best qualities of Alaska fish show better value than any other grade of salmon in the market, sales are not what they should be at this time of the year. On the other hand, Fraser and Skeena talls and flats are in such good request that Importers feel justified in holding their stocks for very firm prices. — Produce Markets' Review, July 5.

PRICES WITHDRAWN ON FIGS.

A private cable from an operator in figs ordered the withdrawal of prices named on the new crop. The advices claim that the outlook for the coming crop is not so favorable as was the case when the prices were first named. Reports from the interior of the country figure on an output of from 25 to 33⅓ per cent. less than that of last season. Estimates in camel loads place the probable total at from 45,000 to 50,000, as against about 67,480 camel loads last year.

CURRANTS IN LONDON.

At the lower prices now ruling the market for currants shows rather more activity. Provincial is now about 6s. per cwt. cheaper than the rate which ruled for a few days early in May. Viewed from a dealer's standpoint this altogether unnecessary rise and fall is one more instance of trade disturbances of the market for an article of which the consumption hardly varies, and of which the statistical position is always known; these fluctuations can by no means be excused, though it may, to some extent, be explained by the alarmist reports received as to damage to the growing crop. The Genoa cargo, which was placed on the market at the beginning of the week, brought, among other kinds, some excellent Zante fruit, including a certain percentage of confectionery currants, of which the stock had previously been practically exhausted. So disheartened, however, have buyers become by the course of the trade, that, although the demand from the country is fairly good, they are showing what will probably turn out to be an excess of caution in their operations. So far as any fruit, except Provincial, is concerned the supply is even now so limited that it must become, to all intents and purposes, exhausted before the new crop can arrive in about two months' time.—Produce Markets' Review, July 5.

CURRANTS IN GREECE.

Writing from Patras, Greece, under date of July 1, D. Pasqua says of currants: "As a consequence of the improved prospects for the coming crop, coupled with the dull state of the markets in the principal consuming centres, our market for old fruit assumed in May a decided downward tendency, and prices gradually declined to the lowest level reached this season, especially for the Provincial sorts, which form the bulk of the actual stocks in Greece, say about 8,500 tons. The fine qualities are almost exhausted now, and the few small parcels that may be found command relatively high prices. The exports to June 30 compare as follows with those of the two preceding seasons:

| | 1902. Tons. | 1901. Tons. | 1900. Tons. |
|---|---|---|---|
| United Kingdom | 58,155 | 32,200 | 60,812 |
| U. S. and Canada | 17,264 | 5,254 | 17,836 |
| Australia | 4,800 | 3,475 | 5,561 |
| France | 739 | 120 | 4,041 |
| Continental Europe | 33,280 | 7,180 | 33,705 |
| Sundry | 251 | .... | .... |
| Total | 114,489 | 48,232 | 121,955 |

"The total exports for season of 1900-1901 figured up to 123,625 tons. The new crop is progressing favorably, and if the weather continues good until the housing of the crop we should look for a yield of from 170,000 to 180,000 tons."

OUTLOOK FOR CANNED VEGETABLES IN THE UNITED STATES.

Tomato plants are beginning to look sturdy and healthy, but we notice a very considerable lack of blossoms upon the best developed of them. With a steady succession of sunshiny days, we do not think this condition will be prevalent or general, and the outlook for a fair crop of tomatoes in August is at present good. Sugar corn is also beginning to look very well in this section, and as there is a fair price offering at present for a good article of Maryland style pack of corn, we expect there will be a full crop packed in this State unless very unfavorable conditions supervene. Corn will probably be in good request, not only during the packing season, but through the fall and winter, as there is not an excessive amount of stock carried over, and the known shortage of peas will tend to considerably increase the demand for canned corn. The high price to which field corn is forced by the Gates corner, and the very good price still obtained for it, although the corner has been vacated this week, will remove considerable temptation from parties who pack field corn, a practice which always results in breaking the price of standard sugar corn.

Now that the pea situation throughout the whole continent is thoroughly understood, and the pack is known to be about 40 per cent short of what was expected, we cannot see but what canned peas will steadily improve in value between this and Thanksgiving Day.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md., July 18.

GOSSIP FROM WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG has practically no markets this week, everyone is far too busy getting ready for the Fair. Grocers, provision dealers, grain men and millers alike refused to talk about anything but Fair. The retail merchants are taking a greater interest in the Fair than for some years past, and some most beautiful displays have been arranged.

Everything points to a most successful exhibition. Already the number of cattle, sheep, swine and horses on the grounds is greater than at any time during the Fair last year. The exhibit of dairy produce is larger.

Large entries of stock have come from as far south as Texas, and inquiries indicate an enormous attendance of outside visitors.

Winnipeg always makes two big weeks in the year—bonspiel in February and Fair week in July—when business is almost suspended throughout the Province, and everyone comes to Winnipeg to have a good time.

Implement men for the past few years have not shown on the Exhibition grounds, but have arranged special exhibits in their showrooms. They have followed this plan this year also, and all this week the hum of machinery in motion will be heard in every implement place in the city. Dealers are anticipating a heavy sale of binders and ploughs during the next few days. All implement men report trade to date beyond their expectations. E. C. H.

MONTSERRAT.

Montserrat lime fruit juice, well and favorably known throughout Canada, is meeting with a growing demand from the general public. Grocers and druggists find it a ready seller during the hot weather, and the excellent quality, combined with the large amount of advertising being done for it, largely contributes to its finding a ready sale. Experience has proven that this lime juice can be kept over from one season to another without its being affected by retention. This fact is due to the high quality of Montserrat.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' EXCURSION.

FULLY 800 people went with the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association on Wednesday, July 23, on their sixteenth annual excursion to Niagara Falls. The steamers of The Niagara Navigation Co., Chippewa, Chicora and Corona conveyed the excursionists across to Lewiston and the party then proceeded along the United States side of the Niagara River to their destination by the great Gorge Route. Everything contributed to the success of the day's journey. The day was fine, Lake Ontario was calm and the numbers who went came up to the expectations of the promoters of the excursion.

Nearly 500 excursionists went on the Chippewa at 7 a.m. To amuse those going across, the Association had provided an excellent programme. The services of a good string band were brought into requisition. Two Highland lassies, Miss Ross and Miss Bryce, danced to the music of the bagpipes played by Angus Allen, of The Weir Specialty Co., who accompanied the party. This gentleman also played at the Falls and on the last steamer coming home.

Besides the dancing and music, a pedro match was played on the boat between representatives of the wholesale houses, of whom a good many were present, and retail grocers. The match resulted in a victory for the former, who were, after a close contest, declared the winners by a score of 38 to 41. The winners were each presented with a box of assorted chocolates by Messrs. Cowan & Co., Toronto, and the losers got a stick of chocolate. There were also a number of guessing contests. A coffee guessing contest, in which Todhunter, Mitchell & Co. were the donors, resulted in the ladies' first prize, a silver berry bowl, being awarded to Miss Hay; the second ladies' prize, a 5-lb. tin of "Excelsior" coffee, to Miss Bredin, and the first and second prizes for gentlemen to T. Wright and F. Britten respectively. These prizes were a silver cake basket and a 5-lb. tin of "Excelsior" coffee. H. Colliwool came the closest to guessing correctly the number of grains of wheat in a certain glass jar, and was the recipient of a case of Swiss Food from P. McIntosh & Son. The Gold Soap contest resulted in Mrs. Wood, 18 Henry street, Toronto, obtaining a 14k. gold-filled watch, and Mr. F. Gibb, of Gibb Bros., grocers, Yonge street, Toronto, estimated the number of excursionists on board the first boat at 479. There were exactly 482 on board, and so he was awarded a silver cup by The Bovril Co.

When the excursionists from the first boat reached Niagara Falls, N.Y., they were met by the band of The Natural Food Co. and escorted to the factory of that concern. The Porter residence and grounds, the property of this company, were placed at the disposal of The Toronto Retail Grocers' Association for the day. The party were shown over the factory, and the methods by which Shredded Wheat biscuits are made were explained.

Mr. H. Ohinstead, of The Natural Food Company, on their arrival at the factory of that company, welcomed his guests in a few well-chosen words and gave them the freedom of the place. His kind invitation was accepted, and everyone expressed surprise and pleasure at the cleanliness and magnitude of the works. Over 300 hands are employed by this firm, and the machinery and methods of manufacture are modern in every particular. The building is of white brick, iron and glass, principally the last named, judging from its outward appearance, for the first thing to strike the observer is the number of windows in the structure. The factory has been running since September 27, 1901. Henry D. Perky is the founder and president of The Natural Food Company, and the cost of this factory at Niagara Falls, N.Y., was about $3,000,000.

After visiting the above concern's premises the party then dispersed, some visiting the various places of interest at the Falls while others went on to Buffalo.

Most of the excursionists came home by the 7 o'clock boat. They were accompanied by Angus Allen, the piper, and an orchestra, and music all the way home was provided by these. A number of couples danced to the strains of the orchestra, and the Highland piper was applauded by scores of admirers.

NOTES.

The Natural Food Company had a Union Jack hoisted on their factory in honor of the event.

Quite a number of representatives of leading wholesale houses went with this excursion.

A handsome white silk badge, emblazoned with the Union Jack, was supplied each of the excursionists.

There were exactly 482 members of the excursion on the Chippewa and their numbers were swelled by additional arrivals on the later steamers.

KEEP RIGHT ON.

The first few advertisments may not bring many inquiries, but, like the foundations of a building, they are fulfilling their purpose, even if they don't make much of a showing, remarks a contemporary. Keep right on building. Keep right on advertising. Do not be discouraged because the foundation doesn't show up very much compared with what you expect the ultimate result to be. If the advertising is well done and in the right medium, you are just as sure of having a well built business as the builder is sure of having his house complete when the necessary expense and work are put into it.

CANNED CORN SITUATION.

INCREASED attention is being given to the canned corn market. During the past week several thousand cases are understood to have changed hands at 75c. In some instances the purchasers have been packers, who, in view of the threatened short pack, together with the fact that some of the factories will not put up corn this season, are evidently desirous of protecting themselves at the moderate prices which are now ruling.

It will be remembered that the price of the pack of 1900 reached as high as $1.10 in a wholesale way, so that if the present indications of a short pack are fulfilled, there is a good prospect of money being made at the figures which are now ruling.

A gentleman who has covered the ground between Kingston and London reports that the situation is anything but favorable, as fas as corn is concerned, and letters from some of the eastern districts corroborate his views. In some parts it appears that the corn has been ploughed under, so poor has been the condition of the crop.

While it is, as we stated a week ago, still too early to definitely say what the ultimate result of the crop will be, it is quite evident that the condition of the canned corn market has improved beyond anything that was anticipated a few months ago. At that time it was the general opinion, in view of the quantity of corn it held, that the syndicate stood to lose a great deal of money on what it had in stock. But what then promised to be a white elephant is at present proving to be a somewhat profitable investment.

MARITIME BOARD OF TRADE.

ACTIVE preparations are being made by the officers of the Maritime Board of Trade for the annual convention, which is to be held in Sydney, Cape Breton, the third week in August. This body, which is composed of leading business men in the Maritime Provinces, is yearly becoming more important, and its influence is necessarily becoming greater in public affairs, particularly in matters appertaining to the commercial welfare of the Maritime Provinces.

The fact that the meeting is to be held in Sydney lends more than usual interest to it. We are not aware what subjects are being prepared for discussion, but we may depend upon it that they will be of the usual interesting character. There is one subject which we would like to see discussed, and that is, Confederation of Canada and Newfoundland. There is no class of business men in Canada more concerned in this question than the business men of the Maritime Provinces, and there are none, who are, therefore, in a better position to discuss it in a more intelligent manner. It is to be hoped the officers of the board will see the wisdom of giving some attention to this important subject.

Business men's organizations are gradually extending their influence. And the more this influence is extended the better may we expect to see the affairs of the country administered.

MONTREAL'S EXPORT TRADE.

THE Montreal Board of Trade compiled the following figures relative to the exports from the port of Montreal from the opening of navigation up to July 12. They are shown in comparison with those of 1901 during the same period:

| | 1902. | 1901. |
|---|---|---|
| Wheat, bush. | 6,819,657 | 5,197,735 |
| Corn, " | 58,150 | 2,985,308 |
| Peas, " | 191,108 | 328,494 |
| Oats, " | 591,759 | 1,804,203 |
| Barley, " | 65,445 | 505,240 |
| Rye, " | 275,167 | 430,893 |
| Butter, boxes | 123,741 | 103,080 |
| Cheese, " | 520,250 | 394,308 |

Compared with last year, the total export trade during this period shows considerable falling off, due to a variety of reasons, among them being a shortage in crops, and consequent high prices. However, this state of things has affected all American ports, and it is a satisfaction to see that Montreal, as a port of export, compares most favorably with New York, Boston, and other American ports.

The greatest falling off occurs in corn, there being nearly 3,000,000 bushels less exported this year than last. The corn shipped from Montreal has been almost wholly United States corn, and as last year crop was a partial failure, and prices have gone up far above its export value, the business done on export account has dwindled to within a very small compass.

In wheat, cheese and butter, however, there appear increases in the amount exported, wheat being particularly satisfactory. The shortage of cars last autumn made it impossible to carry the enormous wheat crop to Fort William before the closing of navigation on lakes and canals, so that it had to be carried over till the spring, and has now come out over Canadian waterways instead of going to Buffalo, as would have been the case with a good part of it had it been shipped last fall.

The increase in the exports of butter are fairly satisfactory, but in cheese the greatest increase is noted, there being 126,000 boxes more this year than during the corresponding period in 1901. The present year gives many indications of making the record for Canadian cheese in England.

MORE BUSINESS MEN WANTED.

THERE is one feature in connection with the retirement of Lord Salisbury from the British Cabinet that has not yet attracted much attention, and that is in regard to the business element in the Government.

As our readers are well aware, there are very few business men in the British Cabinet, and this fact has been the subject of some criticism by the British trade press.

According to a cable despatch received this week, it is evident an effort is to be made to create a stronger representation of business men in the Cabinet, which will necessarily have to be reorganized on account of the retirement of Lord Salisbury. No less an authority than The London Times says that there is a strong feeling developing that now an excellent opportunity is afforded for securing reform in this direction. It is significant that the men in the present British Cabinet who have been most successful are Chamberlain, Ritchie and Arnold-Foster, almost the only commercially-trained men in the Government.

This agitation for a stronger representation of business men in governments is gradually increasing. Strong as may be the feeling in certain quarters in Great Britain that a change is necessary there, it is a great deal more so in Australia, where all the members of the Cabinet of the Commonwealth are lawyers. Our trade paper exchanges from there are very outspoken in regard to this deficiency of business men in the Government of that country. The new tariff has been before the Australian Parliament for about nine months, and it has only so far passed through the Lower House, being still in the Senate. This long delay in dealing with the tariff is doing a great deal of harm to the trade and commerce of the country, and the business men are not only dissatisfied with the delay, but they are awakening to the absence of the business element in the Cabinet.

This is, if it is anything, a commercial age, and it naturally follows that there should be in our parliaments a strong representation of practical business men, if we are to have businesslike legislation.

Great Britain, essentially a commercial nation, is the Mother of Parliaments; it would be a consummation much to be desired if she became the mainspring in the movement for inoculating parliaments and, of course, cabinets with the business element.

IT PAYS TO BE ALERT.

IT always pays business men to be not only on the alert, but to take active and immediate steps to remedy grievances as far as it lies in their power.

A cable despatch a week or so ago stated that the British Government, in asking for tenders for supplying Bermuda station with flour, specified a brand which was purely a product of United States mills. The matter attracted some attention from the press in Canada at the time, and the comments were not by any means favorable to the action of the War Office, which should have been better informed unless it was really desirous of giving the contract to a foreign country.

Mr. F. W. Thompson, the managing-director of The Ogilvie Milling Co., when he became aware of the condition of affairs, immediately drew the attention of the Dominion Government to the matter. The Government in turn sent a despatch to Lord Strathcona, who brought the matter to the attention of the War Office. The result was that the conditions of the contract were amended, and a Canadian company has received an order for the flour.

UNPROFITABLE TEA INDUSTRY.

REFERENCE in these columns has been more than once made to the unsatisfactory financial experience of the tea plantations in India and Ceylon. A share list recently issued in London, Eng., corroborates what has hitherto been said in regard to the matter.

The list includes over 100 companies, and it shows that not more than about two thirds of them paid dividends last year to their shareholders.

This is a most unsatisfactory state of affairs; and, unfortunately, there does not appear to be much prospect of any improvement in the near future.

The present condition of affairs in the Indian and Ceylon tea trade is overproduction; or, more correctly speaking, overproduction of low-grade teas, which have within the last month or so brought the average price of teas on the London market down to the lowest figure on record. At the auction in London two weeks ago the average price of Ceylon tea was 6d., and of Indian tea 6.08d. An effort is being made to remedy overproduction by trying to induce the planters to reduce their output by 10 per cent.

But, besides overproduction, there is the British Customs tax of 6d. per lb., which is a heavy burden on the industry.

FOOD PRODUCTS CONFISCATED.

IN the report for June of the chief city food inspector of Montreal, it appears that a considerable quantity of food was confiscated as not fit for consumption. At the Eastern Abattoir there were confiscated: 3 cows, 5 calves, 4 sheep, 40 livers and 600 lb. of bruised meat; and at the Western Abattoir: 1 cow, 36 calves, 2 hogs, 18 livers and 60 lb. of bruised meat. In the stores, wholesale and retail, the following confiscations were made: 140 lb. of beef, 200 lb. of veal, 6 lb. of pork, 10 lb. of poultry, 20 lb. of fish and 140 lb. of bruised meat.

In the inspection of bakeries and confectionery stores, 49 of the former and 14 of of the latter were examined. In regard to the handling of bread, 10 bakers were found who neglected to cover the bread carts as they were being driven around to customers, and they were notified that this must be done. The practice of carrying the meat into the house in the hands was also censured, and it is intended to stop this altogether. Most of the drivers already use baskets for this purpose, but 18 butchers were found whose drivers did not, and they were instructed to do so.

The displaying of bread outside of the store was objected to, and with reason. Eighteen grocers were found who exhibited their bread in this way, and they received warning.

The inspection of milk proved more satisfactory. Eight complaints in regard to the quality of milk were received; 322 inspections of milk were made. Dairies in the city, to the number of 163, were found to be in satisfactory condition and the milk was of good quality generally. An examination was also made of 774 cows, in order to insure a pure milk supply.

THE LONDON TRADE COMMISSIONER---THE LIKELY MAN.

RUMORS current in the daily papers lend plausibility to the general belief that a Canadian trade commissioner will very shortly be appointed to take charge of this country's commercial interests in London. Several names have appeared in print as likely appointees, but so far as we can make out the name of the man who will in all probability get the position has not yet been suggested. Mr. James Cummings, of Lyn, who has been mentioned, and who made an excellent report after conducting investigations as special commissioner to Africa, is indeed a strong man, but his chances for the appointment are considered slim. Another aspirant is Mr. Peter Ball, of Toronto, a nephew of the late Hon. George Brown, who, if he possesses similar abilities to his distinguished relative, would fill the office well.

But we have good authority for saying that neither of these gentlemen will be appointed. The Government's choice is going to fall on Mr. George Anderson, of Toronto. Such is the dictum of a gentleman who is in close touch with the Ottawa authorities and who usually knows whereof he speaks.

True, Mr. Anderson is at present on his way to the Yukon, but this is merely a preliminary canter, for he is working for the Government along trade lines there.

Mr. Anderson has excellent qualifications for the post. Six years ago he was special trade commissioner to Japan. Business men will recall the good work he did there and the splendid report on Japanese conditions which he prepared. Ever since he showed the trade possibilities of the Eastern country, Canadian business has grown in the Orient.

To review the situation, the movement for the appointment of a commissioner began early last year when Mr. George H. Hees, of Toronto, addressed the Manufacturers' Association on the subject. He had experienced the advantages of the presence of Mr. G. S. Larke in Australia and urged that London should be similarly equipped with a commissionership. Since then the press and the Manufacturers' Association have carried on an active campaign to secure an appointment and this paper has not been behind in lending support to the movement. At the last interview between the Government and the Association, it was intimated that an appropriation had been made, which The Globe announced next day amounted to $20,000. At the same time the Hon. G. W. Ross promised assistance to the amount of $5 000. There can be no further doubt that the Government will establish a trade commissioner in a good building in London within the next six weeks.

OTTAWA TRADE GOSSIP.

H. H. LIVINGSTONE, of The Pure Gold Co., was in the city last week showing a new line of their preserves, which he reported good success with. Business in their other lines is exceptionally good.

The McCormick Biscuit Co., under the management of L. McCurdy, of this city, report their trade growing.

T. C. Bate, who looks after the tea department of H. N. Bate & Sons, states that he is well pleased with the demand for their "Anglo Saxon" in this district.

G. W. Hunt, of the Ottawa Fruit Exchange, left last week on a pleasure trip. He took the train to Toronto and from there the steamer to Montreal and Quebec.

Mrs. Brouse, wife of H. A. Brouse, wholesale fruit merchant, of this city, died quite suddenly a few days ago. Although she was ill for a few days, death came as a shock. A great deal of sympathy is felt for Mr. Brouse, who is so well known to the grocery trade here. Interment took place at Prescott, Ont.

THE RETAIL ASSOCIATION.

The Grocers' Association met in their rooms on Monday night of last week. The attendance was only fair owing to the fact that members were not notified by card. However, considerable work was done towards getting accounts in connection with the excursion straightened up. It is likely that there will be a good balance to show.

A letter was received from Secretary Trowern, of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, in which he stated his intention of being in Ottawa shortly and would be pleased to meet the members of the Association. The secretary was instructed to acknowledge the letter and express the pleasure the Association would have in hearing him.

The committee appointed to look after the trading-stamp question are working hard to get a by-law, but so far the question has been put back at the different meetings of the finance committee of the city council. A copy of the by-law used in other cities was received from Secretary Trowern, of Toronto, and was handed to the Association solicitor.

Owing to the small attendance the Saturday early closing was not discussed, but it is likely a special meeting will be called this month if Secretary Trowern will be here.

THE WHOLESALE TRADE.

Trade in Ottawa is very good among retailers and wholesalers. The wholesale houses are booking orders for Fall goods to arrive and report lots of orders for canned salmon and vegetables, prunes, peaches and apricots, also sago and tapioca which is being offered at low figures.

The receipts of small fruit the last few days have not been very heavy. Raspberries have been scarce and prices ranged high. Cherries seem to be about over, although if fine weather continues there will likely be lots of raspberries before the week is out.

Wholesalers are getting a better price for tomatoes, the figures are now around the $1 mark.

NO EXCUSE FOR POOR STATIONERY.

There can be no excuse whatever for using poor stationery, for it is too cheap a product. You cannot tell but what it may make several thousand dollars' difference in your business.

Your billheads and statements should always be neatly executed. Not only should they be attractively gotten up, but the type used in the setting should be of the finest. The bill itself should be plain and legible so that your trade will not have to scowl and worry their brains to discover what it is all about.

Whenever you send out an announcement, no matter what the kind, whether it pertains to some new goods you may be showing or the message of a department opening, let it fairly bristle with brightness and sparkle with originality. Give the printer a chance to display a little of his talent. It is generally noticed that the billheads and letterheads of the large wholesale merchants in every city are, as a rule, very artistic. They believe that if the work is poorly executed and inartistic, the recipient will gather the inference that their business is not what it ought to be.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, July 24, 1902.

GROCERIES.

DURING the week business in groceries has kept up well and no changes in prices have occurred, but the firmer feeling noted last week in canned corn has resulted in some houses advancing the prices of it 2½ to 5c. over their quotations of a week ago. The reports still indicate a scarcity of corn this season and some holders are more conservative in their offerings. Sugar has been selling freer, but syrups and molasses continue dull. The tea trade is still quiet and without new features. Some business is doing in the pickling varieties of spices, but other lines of that product are inactive.

CANNED GOODS.

The principal feature of the canned goods market this week is the continuance of the firmness in corn, owing to repeated advices from the other side that the crop there this year will be short. These reports have increased the confidence of holders here, and some of them are asking 2½ to 5c. more than the prices quoted by us a week ago. So far all reports on the condition of the pea crop of this season tend to create a strong impression here that the crop will be short and so jobbers are inclined to stiffen their prices. Tomatoes have almost been cleaned out of the market, and $1.15 is what is now asked for those of good stock. Quotations this week follow: Tomatoes, $1.15 and upwards; corn, 77½ and upwards, and peas, 80c. up. The activity in canned salmon mentioned last week for future delivery continues. The demand for canned meats has fallen off somewhat. Fruits are quiet and featureless, and not much is doing in lobsters and haddies. We now quote: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities; Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality, and canned haddies, $1 to $1.10.

COFFEES.

A fair demand is reported for green Rio coffee, and mild descriptions continue quiet. There is a moderate call for roasted coffees. Latest advices from the primary coffee markets show a more cheerful appearance in the situation, and some net gains were made in some quarters. We quote as follows: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

NUTS.

There is practically no business being done in nuts, which continue unchanged in price. The outside market for almonds shows firmness with a fair movement within quotations. An inquiry is being made outside for filberts for future delivery, but no transactions have been reported closed.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Rice and tapioca, locally, are meeting with a fair demand, and the market is steady. On the outside markets there has been a steady improvement in the demand for rice, and reports of a shortage in the Southern crop are having an uplifting effect on the market, causing the prices outside to raise a little during the week. We quote: B rice, 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups and molasses, locally, are reported quiet and unchanged. A firm undertone is reported in all departments of the outside market in spite of the demand experienced being small. The New Orleans blackstrap market is quiet, except in the way of deliveries on contracts which have been quite heavy. We quote as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in barrels and kegs, sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle.

SPICES.

Quietness is the prevalent tone in the local spice market, excepting in pickling varieties, which are moving freely. Peppers, in the primary market, displayed a stronger undertone, and shipments from the East were light. Ginger, cloves and other lesser spices outside have been quite active, and their prices were steady.

See pages 37 and 38 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John and Halifax prices current.

SUGAR.

More business has been done locally in sugars during the past week than the week before. The London, Eng., and United States markets continue to show steadiness, both in refined and raw. The receipts in the four United States ports of raw sugar amounted to 36,112 tons, and the meltings were 35,000 tons. The total stock in the four ports was 140,299 tons, against 139,187 tons last week and 296,913 tons last year. A midsummer quietness has developed in the raw sugar market of the Republic and there seems little disposition to buy or sell, thus putting the market in a stagnant condition. The present quotations are so low that some buyers are putting their sugars in store in preference to selling them at the prevalent prices. Nevertheless, moderate quantities continue to be sold. The receipts to the refiners are large and deliveries are about equal to the requirements for meltings. Advices by cable from Cuba show a visible production to date in that island of 784,000 tons, and the receipts at the Cuban seaports are much larger than at the same time last year. Eastern countries are not taking the Javan crop as largely as anticipated, and the greater portion of the crop is expected to come to this continent. The demand in the United States for refined is limited for this time of the year, but shows signs of increase. Shipments now are fairly prompt and prices are held without shading on any grade.

TEAS.

The condition of the local tea market is about the same as last week. Chinas and Japans still are firm and inactive, and the commonest grades of the latter are bringing 18½ to 19c. here at the present time. Indian teas are unchanged and quiet. Ceylon teas are in moderate demand. The markets of London, Eng., were easier in Indian teas, and useful liquoring teas sold at exceptionally low prices, but little attention was paid to either new or old season's teas. The quantity of Ceylon tea brought forward there was considerable and met with fair attention at unchanged prices, but exceptionally low quotations ruled. The prevalent low prices in these are attracting the attention of the foreign markets, and an increased demand in consequence is expected from abroad. Sales were slow in Javas, and the prices were weak in sympathy with the low prices of Ceylon and Indian teas.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—These are meeting with ready sales on the local market. From the primary markets come reports of favorable conditions for the new crop and that the market for both old and new crop inclines to a little firmness. Quotations, locally, are as follows: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c.; Patras, 6¼ to 7c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The market here remains bare of supplies of these, and the prices are firmly held at 8½c. for selects.

DATES.—These are reported as dull at unchanged prices. We quote: Dates, in bulk, 4½c., and in packages, 6¼ to 6½c.

PRUNES.—The primary markets show a decided firmness in prunes for future delivery. The local trade is quiet. Our quotations are as follows: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6¼ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7½c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—These fruits continue to meet with a moderate demand. Our quotations are now as follows: 11 to 14c. per lb. for peaches and 13 to 17c. for apricots. New Santa Clara apricots are quoted f.o.b. the Coast at 7c. in 50-lb. boxes, and 7½c. in 25-lb. boxes in carload lots.

GREEN FRUITS.

Business on the fruit market this week has been inclined to be dull, owing to the unfavorable weather hindering the development of the crop of raspberries and other small fruits. The chief features are the much lower prices of watermelons, of which a good crop is reported from the South. Canadian tomatoes are on the market, but are scarce and those that are now offering do not show extra good quality. Some strawberries are still being offered. Black and red currants are scarce. Canadian cucumbers are also scarce. The trade in Californian fruits has not been heavy, owing to the abundance of native small fruits offering last week and the week before. The first car of peaches to arrive from the South this season came in early this week from Alberta, Georgia, and the 400 cases it contained were auctioned off at $3 per case. We quote: Strawberries, 4 to 5c. per quart; raspberries, 8 to 9c.; black currants, 75 to 80c. per basket; red currants, 40 to 50c. per basket; gooseberries, 4 to 5c. per quart; cherries, 90c. to $1 per basket; tomatoes, $1 to $1.25 per basket; cucumbers, $1 to $1.25 per basket; watermelons, $17 to $20 per 100; Californian plums, $1.25 to $1.50 per crate; Californian peaches, $1 to $1.50 per crate; pineapples, $3 to $3.50; canteloupes, $2.50 to $4; lemons, $2.50 to $3.50 per crate; Californian late Valencia oranges, $5.25 to $5.75 per crate.

VEGETABLES.

The vegetable market continues steady. New potatoes are now selling actively, and cabbage is meeting with a fair demand. New carrots, turnips and beets are also moving moderately. Other lines are quiet. Quotations are as follows: Green onions, 8 to 15c. per dozen; rhubarb, 20 to 30c. per dozen; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per dozen; radishes, 20 to 30c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; turnips, 40c. per dozen; cauliflower, 50c. to $1.25 per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz. and $1.25 per bbl.; carrots, 20 to 25c. per doz.; beets, 20 to 25c. per basket; peas, $1.25 to $1.40 per bag; new potatoes, 60 to 80c. per bushel; beans, 20 to 25c. per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The market for eggs continues strong with prices here firmly maintained in sympathy with the firmness of the British market. The receipts are not of good quality and show a shrinkage when candled, in some cases amounting to a considerable percentage. Quotations here are 15½ to 16c. for extra choice stock; ordinary, candled, 14 to 14½c., and seconds and checks, 11 to 12c.

BEANS.—Very little is doing in beans, which are quoted at $1.25 per bushel.

HONEY.—The market for this product is lifeless at the present time and stocks on hand remaining over from last season are large. We quote: Honey, in 60 lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c.; combs, $2 to $2.25 per dozen.

DRIED APPLES. There are no offerings in these.

HAY.—The market is quiet and the demand fair. No. 1 timothy is selling at $10.50 per ton.

POULTRY.—Trade in dressed poultry is quiet and the prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Young chickens (dry picked), 75 to 85c.; old hens, 45 to 55c.; turkeys, young, 11 to 13c., old, 10 to 11c., and ducks, 60 to 85c. per pair.

POTATOES.—There are a few odd lots of old stock offering at 50c. per bag. New potatoes are worth 50 to 60c. per bushel.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—There have been large receipts of butter during the week, and much is being offered at country points. There is a fair local jobbing trade being done, but the export business in both creamery and dairy is flat. The market is weaker than it was last week, but no quotable changes have been made. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 15 to 16c.; large rolls, 15c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 15½c.; tubs, medium grade, 12 to 14c. per lb. Creamery prints are worth 19 to 20c., and creamery solids, 19c. per lb.

CHEESE.—The export demand is reported to have improved, and there now seems to be a better feeling in the market. A fair local business keeps up. Our quotations, locally, are: 10¼ to 10½c. for finest quality, and 9½ to 10c. for seconds. Sales at the factories are being made at 9 7-16 to 9½c. per lb.

FISH.

The midsummer trade in fish is moderate. Stocks on hand are sufficiently large to supply the current demands, and the prices are firm. Our quotations are now as follows: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c.; blue fish, 9c. per lb.; mackerel, 12 to 15c.; rock bass, 4c.; eastern salmon, 18c.; speckled trout, 25 to 30c.; halibut, 15c.; Niagara whitefish, 9c. per lb.; blue pike, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN.—The prices of Northwestern and Manitoba wheat continue unchanged, although there have been during the week fluctuations on the Chicago market, which, according to latest reports, is dull and heavy. We quote: 85c. for Manitoba No. 1 hard; 83c. for No. 1 Northern and 81c. for No. 2. The local quotations are unchanged at 50 to 50½c. for oats, 80c. for Ontario white wheat, 78 to 80c. for red and 69½ to 72c. for goose wheat on the St. Lawrence market.

FLOUR.—There have been quite a number of sales of flour on the local market during the week, but buying is mostly of the hand-to-mouth character, and our quotations are now as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4 to $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS.—The bulk of the business in this line is in rolled wheat. The other lines are quiet. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.20; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.90 per bbl.; in wood, 10c. extra; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100-lb. bbl; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196 lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES.—The market for these continues inactive. An advance of ¼c. has been made in the prices of cured hides. We quote: No. 1 green, 7½c.; No. 2 green, 6½c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7½c.; cured, 8¼ to 8½c.

SKINS.—Trade in these is dull and the prices are unchanged. Quotations are: Veal skins, 6 to 14 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 10c.; No. 2, 8c.; do., 15 to 20 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies), 60 to 70c. each; shearlings, 25c.; lambskins, 30c.

WOOL.—The stagnant condition of this market has not been relieved and the outlook for an improvement therein is not promising. Fleece wool is quoted at 13c., and unwashed, at 7c. per lb.

TALLOW.—The market is featureless. We quote 6¼ to 6½c. per lb. for tallow.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are ½c. higher.

The butter market is reported weaker.

The prices of dressed hogs have advanced 25c. per 100 lb.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

CONSIDERING the dismal weather trade, in groceries, has been very good. It is at least up to the mark of that of last year at this time. But the damage to certain crops is bound to have its effect on the trade later. During the week, most of the important lines of groceries have shown very little change. Among the changes are rolled oats, which have weakened somewhat, and are now quoted in barrels at $5.40, and in bags at $2.65. Armour's corned beef has advanced, the 1-lb. tins selling at $1.95 and the 2-lb. at $3.40. Walnuts and peanuts have advanced again on the primary market, and, locally, an advance has been made in Grenoble walnuts. Some brands of cheap pickles are now practically out of the market, and, owing to the shortage in cucumbers, it is impossible to replace them at present. An advance of ¼c. has been made in small cheese, making the present selling price 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

There is an excellent demand for sugar as is usual at this time of the year, when fruit preserving operations are active. No change in the price has been reported, the market being steadier for the past few weeks than for some time. The price of granulated remains at $3.65, while yellow sugars run from $3 for No. 1 up to $3.55 for extra bright coffee.

TEAS.

The demand from country points has been materially affected by the wet weather, which has apparently deterred many buyers from visiting the markets. Advices from the primary markets do not report any marked change in the situation. A recent letter to a local agent for Japan teas says that there will likely be a decrease in the shipments to Canada, not only in the first crop, but in the second and third crops as well., as the market is so high in the United States that any price can be obtained, while here the buyers have not been so quick to respond nor have they shown the same interest in the market. For Japan siftings, United States buyers are quoting to Japan between 7 and 8c. per lb., and it is likely that shippers in Japan will send most of these teas to that market. It is now estimated that there are about 20,000 less piculs than last year. China blacks opened higher than last year, but as the export duty of 5 per cent. was removed and as the freight rates are lower, they will be sold here at about the same price as last year. It is also said that better liquoring teas are being offered in China blacks this year. Ceylons are easier on the lower grades of teas, the better classes being steady.

have been filled, buyers having taken advantage of the easy prices to secure their supplies. The price is 23 to 24c., according to the quantity taken. Antigua molasses is worth 24c. and Porto Rico, 38c. In syrups, there is a very small amount of business being done, and the prices quoted are unchanged. We quote: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for the general list of canned goods is of the best. No marked change followed the advance in tomatoes, nor was any anticipated, as those who bought the goods at the previous price showed no disinclination to take them at the advance. Armour's corned beef has advanced, and is now quoted at $1.95 for the 1-lb. cans and $3.40 for the 2-lb. tins. Business in salmon for future delivery continues good. Referring to the canned salmon situation, a Seattle firm, The Kelley-Clarke Co., on July 10, gave the following interesting data: "Every important event in salmon history revolves around the pregnant number four. The salmon lives but four years; the spawning occurs every four years, and the big run every four years, and an inevitable short run every four years. The pack in cases on the Puget Sound for the last four seasons was as follows:

| | 1898. | 1899 | 1900. | 1901. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sockeye..... | 214,000 | 497,700 | 228,704 | 1,105,096 |
| Cohoes..... | 86,000 | 90,400 | 117,174 | 136,000 |
| Chums..... | 25,000 | 17,800 | 55,170 | 71,941 |
| Humpbacks.. | ..... | 245,400 | ..... | 49,437 |

"The pack on the Fraser River for prior years was: 1893, 457,797 cases; 1894, 363,967 cases; 1895, 400,368 cases; 1896, 356,984 cases; 1897, 860,459 cases; and 1898, 268,203 cases. The 1898 total Coast pack was only 2,400,000 cases. It is interesting to note the pack of 1894 and 1898, corresponding years with the present." We now quote: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; tomatoes, $1.12½ to $1.17½; gallon apples, $2.95 to $3.00; 3-lb. apples, $1.10. Salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet, red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River red sockeye, $1.40.

SPICES.

There is a moderate demand for spices. Nothing special, however, is being done. Prices are unchanged. Quotations are as follows' Nutmegs, 35 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The market for these lines is practically unchanged. Business is good all round. No further change has been reported in tapioca, and our quotations are as follows: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice,, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags, and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—Locally, the market has not changed and a good business has been done at steady prices. A cable from Patras stated that the market there for currants was stronger, fine Amalias being quoted for prompt shipment at 10s. 9d. per cwt. It is reported that bids of 11s. 9d. have been refused on the new crop. We quote as follows: Fine Filiatras, 5⅛ to 5½c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5¾c.; 1 lb. cartons, 6½ to 7c.; finest Vostizzas, 7 to 7½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The very small stocks of Valencia raisins continue to dwindle, and anything of good quality is sold between 8 and 8½c. We quote: Finest off-stalk, 6½c.; selected, 7½ to 8½c.

SULTANA RAISINS.—The demand for these keeps up well. Reports from the primary market state that the outlook for the crop is good. The local price remains at 9c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—In this line nothing of importance has occurred since our last report. We quote: Citron peel, 15c.; orange peel, 11½c., and lemon peel, 10½c. per lb., with a moderate trade doing.

MALAGA RAISINS.—The demand for these raisins is still good, and they are being sold at unchanged prices. We quote as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There is little doing. The price of Hallowees remains at 4½c. per lb.

FIGS.—There has been no change on the local market. A private cable from a Smyrna fig packer declined a bid of 32s. 6d. per cwt. on new crop of figs, usual layer assortment. The cable quoted at 34s.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—A moderate inquiry continues, and pears sell at 10c.; peaches, 10½c., and apricots, 11½c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—No further change in price has taken place on the local market. In regard to conditions on the Coast, recent advices say: "Carryover stocks are closely cleaned. Condition of growing crop continues favorable. The outlook for seedless, Sultana and Thompson's is good. The association is still in an unsettled condition; it may or may not materialize. The present outlook is good for an average pack of raisins." In the New York market, an unusually early opening of prices on the 1902 crop of Californian raisins was noted this week, and aroused considerable interest among brokers. The fruit offered came through a well-known brokerage house, identified with the Coast seeded raisin interests, and was said to be "outside" stock. The prices named covered five carloads of standard loose muscatels for September shipment from the Coast. They were: 2-crown grade, 4½c.; 3 crown, 5c.; and 4-crown, 5½c. f.o.b. Prices are considered speculative. The local price of seeded raisins in 1-lb. packages is 9¾c. to 10½c.

PRUNES.—The demand for prunes continues satisfactory, and the market is still active. Quotations are as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

NUTS.

Some lines of nuts are moving very well. Shelled walnuts are firmer and have advanced on the primary market again. At the present cost, laid down here, the selling price should be between 18½ and 19½c., 1½ to 2c. higher than the present quotations, which are 17 to 17½c. Grenoble walnuts have advanced also, and are being quoted on the local market at 10 to 11c. Peanuts are ½c. higher on the primary market, an advance that justifies the local selling price of roasted of 8½ to 13c., according to quality. We quote: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 17 to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 25 to 27c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9½c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The very unfavorable weather has, perhaps, had a greater effect on the sale of green fruits than on any other of the grocer's lines. During the past week business has been very quiet and unsatisfactory all round. Strawberries continue to arrive in very small quantities, and are quoted 1c. per box higher. Potatoes are now selling at $1.75 to $2.75 per barrel, and tomatoes at 90c. to $1 in 4-basket carriers, a decline in the latter case of 10 to 20c. Raspberries are offering more freely and are quoted lower. Blackberries are 1 to 2c. per box lower. Californian peaches are now in very good supply, and jobbers are selling at 25c. per box lower, while plums are quoted 25 to 50c. per box lower. We quote: Jamaica oranges, in barrels, $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75; Valencia oranges, 420's, $5.75; 420's, Jumbo, $6.50; 714's, $6.50; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $4; grape fruit, $4.25 to $5 per box; radishes, 15c. per dozen; strawberries, 11c. per box; asparagus, 10c. per bunch; Boston lettuce, 35c. per dozen; cucumbers, 35 to 45c. per dozen; wax beans, $2.50 per basket; green beans, $3 per basket; Californian cherries, $2 to $2.50 per box; Canadian cabbage, $1.25 per barrel; potatoes, $1.75 to $2.75 per barrel; tomatoes, four-basket carriers, 90c. to $1.00; watermelons, 25c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; raspberries, 10 to 12c. per box; gooseberries, 65c. per basket; blackberries, 6 to 7c. per box; Californian apples, $2 per box; peaches, $1.25 per box; plums, $1.25 to $1.75 per box; pears, $2.50 per half box; apricots, $1.25 per box; limes, $1.50 per box; red currants, 6c. per box.

FISH.

Considering that the holiday season is now on, and so many people are away for the summer, the demand for fish is of the most satisfactory nature. The uncommonly cold weather has had much to do with this, but even this will not account for the increased business. The supply in some lines, notably dore and trout, is becoming limited, and a shortage is expected this week. All seafish, however, are plentiful. The expected arrivals of British Columbian salmon have not yet materialized. We now quote: Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; whitefish, 7½c.; dore, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 14 to 15c.; trout, large and medium, 8c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50; No. 1 British-Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—Manitoba spring wheat patents are quoted higher this week as are also Manitoba strong bakers'. Otherwise prices are the same. There is not much change in the condition of the market. A fair business in carload lots is being done, and there is some demand on export account. We quote: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4 to $4.30; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10; strong bakers', $3.70 to $4.00; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN.—Excepting in oats, the demand for grain has been very light. The market for oats, however, is firm, and prices are steady. Carload lots, ex-store sell at 48¾ to 49c. for No. 2 Ontarios, and 48¼ to 48½c. for No. 3 Ontarios. No. 2 white Manitobas are quoted at 49¼ to 49½c., and Manitoba feed oats at 48c. We quote: Rye, 67c.; peas, 86½ to 87c.; corn, 73½ to 74c.; buckwheat, 68½ to 69c.; No. 3 barley, 57 to 58c. in store.

FEED.—Again a decline is to be reported in Ontario and Manitoba bran. The former is $1.50 below last week's price, while Manitoba bran is 50c. lower. The demand is light, though some business was done in Ontario bran in carload lots. Shorts are unchanged. The small offerings continue, and the market is firm. Manitoba shorts, in bags, are quoted at $23 per ton.

OATMEAL.—Rolled oats have weakened somewhat and are quoted by jobbers this week at $5.40 per barrel, and $2.65 per bag, in small lots. The demand is still light, business being chiefly in small lots for immediate requirements.

BALED HAY.—The market has weakened considerably, and Nos. 1 and 2 timothy are quoted 50c. lower per ton. Clover is 25c. lower. The market at present is easy, owing to the continued large offerings, with only a fair local demand. We quote: No. 1 timothy, $8.50 to $9; No. 2, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.25 per ton, in carlots.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—The tone of the butter market still maintains its firmness. An advance of ⅝c. per lb. upon the price of Quebec creamery has taken place, the price now being 19¾ to 19⅞c.

The first week of July was a record breaker as regards imports of butter in to England, 95,590 cwts. having been received. Of this amount Canada sent 12,420 cwt; Denmark, 39,098; Russia, 16,305; Holland, 11,279, and France, 7,709.

From the opening of navigation to July 12 the Montreal Board of Trade reports show that 123,000 packages of butter were shipped from this port. During the same period last year 103,000 packages were shipped, an increase for this season of 20,000 packages. These figures certainly indicate a growing trade.

Shipments from the port of Montreal last week amounted to 16,135 packages, or 14,238 more than for the same week last year.

Prices are as follows: Finest Townships, 20 to 20⅛c.; finest Quebecs, 19⅞ to 20c.; finest Ontarios, 19⅜ to 19¾c.; fine creamery, 18¾ to 19⅛c.; dairy butter, 16½ to 17c.

CHEESE.—The market for cheese may be said to be even stronger than a week ago. Some shippers claim that doing business at the present basis of cost is by no means profitable. Nine thousand boxes were disposed of on this market on Monday, the 21st, at 9½ to 9⅝c., being ⅛ to ¼c. increase over last Monday's range. The highly satisfactory condition of the cheese market is pleasing, and the prospects are that this state of affairs will be maintained for some time.

While the shipments of butter from Montreal from the opening of navigation to July 12, as shown in our report, shows a big increase over the same period last year, the increase in cheese is greater still, 520,000 boxes having already been shipped, as compared with 394,000 boxes last year. There is every reason to believe that this will be a banner year for the butter and cheese industry. Prices are as follows: Finest Ontarios, 9⅞ to 10c.; finest Townships, 9¾ to 9⅞c.; finest Quebecs, 9⅝ to 9¾c.

Seventy-six thousand four hundred and seventy-nine boxes were shipped from this port last week, an increase of 29,838 boxes over the corresponding week last year. The word "decrease" is quite foreign to the butter and cheese dictionary—may it ever be thus!

Holders of western makes were asking 10c. on Monday of this week, and while 9⅞c. was easily obtainable, they would not sell.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The condition of the egg market is somewhat better than a week ago. Higher prices are being secured both in the country and city. As high as 14c. has been paid in the country, but the average price is 13½ to 13¾c. In the city dealers are asking 15c. for straight receipts, and straight candled are selling for 16c. No. 2's bring 13 to 13½c., according to selection. Receipts reported from day to day are remarkably light.

POTATOES.—A decline if 28c. per bbl. has taken place, owing to the market being well supplied—a little too well for the good of the pocket. Farmers were offering fine stock at $1.50 per bbl, jobbers' prices being $1.75. One of the causes to which can be attributed the rather unsatisfactory condition of the potato market is the continued wet weather, farmers paying attention to the potato crop in place of their hay. Indications point towards a stiffening of prices as soon as warmer weather comes to hand.

HONEY.—Trade is still slow and prices are unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, 13 to 14c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c. per lb.; buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; extracted, 7 to 8c.

BEANS.—The bean market is a little steadier this week. $1.20 to $1.25 per bushel in dozen bag lots for primes, and $1.10 to $1.12½ for carlots, being the quotations.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—The easy feeling which has pervaded this market for some time past still prevails. We quote as follows: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 80c.; small tins, 50 to 60c.; in wood, 15 to 30-gallon casks, 5 to 5½c. per lb. Sugar, in round lots, 7 to 9c., as to quantity and quality.

POTASH.—Business still remains quiet, but prices are steady. We quote: Firsts, $4.20 to $4.30; seconds, $3.80 to $3.85; pearls, $6 to $6.10 per 100 lb.

HOPS.—Choice Canadian goods are quoted at 18 to 20c. Ordinary lots are not worth over 10 or 12c. Pacific Coast hops, 24 to 25c., duty paid.

TALLOW.—The market is quiet and steady at 6¼ to 6½c. for refined; rough, 2½ to 3c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Strawberries have gone up 4c.

Armour's corned beef has advanced.

Raspberries are 1 to 2c. per box lower.

Blackberries are 1 to 2c. per box lower.

Californian peaches and plums are 25c. per box lower.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., July 22, 1902.

THE WEEK has shown but a fairly active business, which is, perhaps, as well, as nearly every house is running shorthanded, with one or more employes away on holidays. It is now as it should be, nearly every employe being sure of holidays, usually two weeks. It is, however, a very poor man who is not much missed. One line is active—tourist travel. Boats and trains coming east are heavy with those seeking an outing. And surely we have what is most needed—coolness and natural beauty. In markets the tendency is towards firmer figures. The very light supply of spot tomatoes continues to be a feature.

OILS.—In burning oils there is a steady business at unchanged prices. In lubricating oils there is a very large business. Paint oils are still in large demand. There are rather easier prices in linseed oils, but turpentine is unchanged. In fish oils, new cod oil is to hand and lower prices are quoted. The fishermen, owing to the competition among the buyers, got high prices last season and the dealers have held prices high, but the market hardly warrants such figures, and to cause a drop it only needed the new oil.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt a further cargo is to hand, and to insure right prices orders should be in to ship on arrival. Stocks held are not large and some has been brought from Boston, though costing high, to fill present demands. In fine, except some Canadian bulk in bbls. for cheese and butter factories, little is doing.. We now quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 55 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 dozen; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per dozen; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—In corn, prices are low. It is said western packers will, however, owing to a likely short pack, want full prices. Some local packed has been sold. Peas are quite firm, although a short market has been supplied by some held by a local packer and just placed. The outlook for these is also for full prices from the west. Some packers have withdrawn prices. In tomatoes, the spot market is quite well cleaned up, and higher prices are asked. Local packers have sold for fall, but now have withdrawn prices. In strawberries, prices are firm for spot and firmer for futures. Salmon are firmly held for desirable goods. Peaches are unchanged. The pack last season seemed larger than was thought, some packers still offering. Meats are freely sold at full figures. In domestic sardines, new goods are in light supply. Haddies are a rather light pack, and in herring, so far, offerings have been small, but there is still quite a long season.

GREEN FRUITS.—In this line dealers are very busy. Small fruits, which have to be handled quickly, add very much to this. Domestic strawberries have been very freely received, but the western demand has caused good prices to rule. Nova Scotian cherries are in quite free receipt; they bring about usual figures. Bananas have a large sale and prices are quite low. The stock is particularly good. Oranges are light sellers. Some Valencias are still offered. Lemons are firm. Tomatoes and cucumbers keep quite high. Melons are unchanged in price. Rhubarb is still received, and full figures are obtained. There is an active demand. In pines, there is a steady sale at even figures. For Californian peaches, pears, plums and apricots there is just a fair business. The season seems early.

DRIED FRUITS.—In spot raisins, the stocks are light. Californian seeded, which were offered lower, are rather higher. Loose are also firmer. In new raisins, Malagas are offered. Prices are rather higher than last season. Some talk of Californian prices have been heard and they are quite high. In prunes there is little spot business and futures are largely bought. Prices are low. There have been large sales. In dates, futures are quoted quite low, and some sales have been made. There is little in apples offered. Onions are higher. Americans are now sold. Currants are unchanged.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Eggs have been scarce and prices are higher and firmer.

S. H. EWING & SONS - - 96 King St., MONTREAL.

There is a good inquiry. Butter is low. Receipts are ample, and only best stock moves at all freely. Cheese are rather easier. June cheese are being picked up by exporters.

SUGAR.—There is just a fairly active sale. The low prices continue and there is little outlook for a change. The sale for second-grade granulated is quite large.

MOLASSES.—In this line present demand is rather lighter; stocks are quite good and in few hands. The market seems rather firmer. The sale is for Porto Rico. Except some Barbados, little else is held.

FISH.—Salmon are freely received, and prices are well maintained. Some very fine shad are now received. These are one of our best fish. In dry cod the market is quite firm, but sales are not large. Pollock have been quite scarce and are held at full figures. Smoked herring are quite firm at a slight advance. New pickled Bay herring has been received. Even prices rule. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.40 to $3.50; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 4½ to 5c; smoked herring, 5½ to 6c.; fresh cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.80 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; halibut, 8 to 10c.; salmon, 13 to 14c. per lb.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—While the prices are unchanged, the outlook, particularly for Ontarios, is said to point to firmer prices. Oats are very firm at the high price. Oatmeal, while high, shows some range in quotations from different millers. Feed is scarce and high. Beans are higher, and the local sale is light. Cornmeal is quite firm at full prices. Split peas are scarce and high. Barley has a light sale. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.75; best Ontario flour, $4.20 to $4.25; medium, $3.85 to $4.00; oatmeal, $5.20 to $5.25; cornmeal, $3.25 to $3.30; middlings, $22 to $23; oats, 55 to 58c.; handpicked beans, $1.60 to $1.65; prime, $1.50 to $1.55; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $4.95 to $5.00; barley, $4.40 to $4.50; hay, $12 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The finest shad are the fall run. These are now being received daily, fresh, by James Paterson.

Mr. N. D. Hooper, the representative for Lever Brothers, is now offering their new white floating soap "Crest." It is already finding a good demand.

J. Sutton Clark, whose goods are sold in Montreal by C. A. C. Louillow & Co., has now three large plants; one in Charlotte Co., N.B., for sardines; one at Grand Manan, for herring, and one in Nova Scotia, for haddies.

Mr. J. A. Tilton, one of our leading brokers, is on a trip west. Mr. Tilton has a large connection with some of the largest shippers of flour, oatmeal, and beans in the west. He is also the representative in these Provinces for Windsor salt, for which he reports a larger sale this season than ever.

EIGHTY-THREE ELEVATORS.

Since the season opened The Ogilvie Flour Mills Company of Winnipeg has built new elevators at Arnaud, Oakville, Basswood, Sinclair, Arcola, Grenfell and Balgonie. The average capacity of these elevators is 32,000 bushels each.

In addition to seven already completed, they intend to build 14 more. This will bring the total number of their elevators up to 83, with an aggregate capacity of 3,000,000 bushels.

The company has three gangs of men at work under its superintendent, H. W. Chafant. They will continue building at points they have selected all the season.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

HALIFAX, July 21, 1902.

THE grocery trade, except for a considerable trade in sugar, owing to the preserving season, is now at about the dullest period of the year. Up to this date, however, the season's business has been a record one in most respects which go to make up a healthy tone in trade—a good volume of business, steady, even trade, and prompt payments on the part of customers. These have all been up to the record mark, and neither wholesalers, jobbers or retailers have much to complain of. There have been a few failures to note, but the amounts of liabilities have not been excessive, and the wholesalers, who suffer most, always expect some such shortage.

The price of flours and feeds remains firm, and there is considerable demand. Old stocks of hay and oats are pretty well cleaned up, and what is in stock is held at the high prices which have prevailed. Cornmeal is on the upward move, 25c. advance having been made within a week or 10 days. Bran and middlings are very firm, but with only a moderate demand.

Eggs are still very high for the season, though the supply is good. This market, however, does not seem to receive the quantities sent in in former years, owing to the great demand in Sydney, which takes up the supply from Prince Edward Island and eastern parts of Nova Scotia.

Butter is coming in in good quantities, but the supply of best creamery seems to be short. The high price of hay and feed for the last year has evidently reduced butter-raising stock. Another cause is the establishment of numerous cheese factories.

Beef is now more plentiful, and the large number of young cattle coming into the market has run down the price of light beef to 5 or 6c., according to quality. Lamb is plentiful at 1 to 2c. reduction at wholesale. Mutton is scarce and the demand is dull at this season. Fowls and chickens are in good supply and are bringing good prices. Turkeys now bring 15c.

* * *

The fishing business is in a brisk state, and large quantities of new fish are coming in. The prices are low as the West-Indian markets are yet in poor condition, though at some points, notably in Porto Rico, there is considerable improvement. The wholesalers claim that on last year's business they lost money by paying too high prices in the early part of the season. There is considerable fresh fish coming in, notably salmon.

FISHERMEN AND CANNERS AGREE.

At a meeting of canners and fishermen of the Fraser River in Vancover last week the following proposition was submitted by the latter :

1. That the minimum price be raised from 10½ to 11c.

2. That the canners agree to employ not more than 2,000 boats during the season, the members of our union and Indians taking the preference of boats and gear.

3. That the canners assist our union in the collection of union fees and dues.

4. That the canners will permit a representative of our union to look over and check the canners' records of catch and pack at the end of the season.

5. That the 25th day of August be considered the last day of the sockeye season as to settlement, etc.

6. That the last four clauses be considered permanent and part and parcel of any agreement our union may enter into with the canners in the future.

Clause 2 was considered just and it was explained that the canners had already reduced the boats by 10 per cent. of last year's number, and at this late date it is very difficult and impracticable to guarantee to reduce the number further, but the advisability of reducing same is fully recognized.

Re collection of union subscriptions, it was agreed that if orders are given by individual fishermen to the bookkeepers of the canneries, instructions will be given to honor such fishermen having any amount accruing to him.

It was agreed to allow a representative of the fishermen to check the pack.

That the sockeye season shall close on August 25, and a count of the pack to be taken a week thereafter.

Clause 1 was then discussed, and it was arranged to change the price list to read as follows :

"Over 500,000 and up to 550,000 cases, 11 cents per fish, and that advances to fishermen shall be made at 11 cents per fish delivered.

"That the principles embodied in the four previous clauses will receive the careful consideration of the canners in any subsequent negotiations with the fishermen."

The agreement was then finally drawn up and signed.

A CAUSE OF FAILURE.

Many a business man has come to grief because he lacked a reserve of capital, of discipline or of knowledge of his business, says Success. In good times, when anybody could sell goods, he was all right ; but, when a panic came, and his notes were refused at the bank, he went down because he had no reserve of savings or of character.

Shrewd business men are always on the watch for emergencies, financial storms or panics ; they know perfectly well that it takes a very different kind of ship timber to wrestle with the tempests than it requires in pleasant weather, when there is no strain or stress. It is the man who prepares for an emergency, who keeps his sails trimmed and his ship in order that weathers the gale.

MONTREAL GROCERS' PICNIC.

THE Montreal Grocers' Association held its 22nd annual picnic on Wednesday, July 16, at Highgate Springs, Vt. Although, when the train left the station at 9 a.m., the weather looked anything but favorable, yet a good number of grocers and their friends attended ; though the number was not as great as in previous years. However, none but the brave deserve the fair (weather), and after being treated throughout the morning to a heavy downpour of rain, about noon when the picnicers had arrived at their destination, the elements relented and the sun began to make up for lost time.

The ground in Missisquoi Park was not wet, and during the afternoon everything was on the side of the grocer. If the picnic was not up to the mark as regards attendance, this could certainly not be said of it from the point of view of enjoyment, for all agreed that never had there been more enthusiasm shown in the games, races and other contests, as well as in the luncheon—which, however, always calls for considerable enthusiasm.

THE GAMES.

On the way to the grounds the party was entertained by the bagpipes of the Fifth Royal Scots, of Montreal. At the park the excursionists separated and put in the time in various ways until the arrival of Secretary J. P. Dixon, upon which the races were commenced. The results were as follows :

100 yards' dash, for bookkeepers and salesmen of retail trade—1, T. McBride ; 2, W. Carter ; 3, M. O'Brien ; 4, N. C. Gadbois.

100 yards' dash, drivers and storemen of retail grocery trade—1, L. Mouton, 2, A. O'Brien ; 3, D. Frigon.

75 yards' dash, open to sons of grocers, 10 years and under—1, Percy Kennison ; 2, E. Farrell ; 3, H. Laniel.

75 yards' dash, open to daughters of grocers, 10 years and under—1, Bella Graham ; 2, A. Laniel ; 3, F. Manning.

Comfort Soap race, for ladies—1, Miss A. Broden ; 2, Mrs. Whalen ; 3, Miss Proteau ; 4, Mrs. Laflamme ; 5, Miss McIntyre ; 6, Mrs. Lalonde ; 7, Mrs. Levesque.

200 yards' race, city travellers of wholesale grocery trade—1, A. E. Landry ; 2, W. E. Solomon ; 3, J. O. Levesque.

200 yards' race, bread and biscuit drivers—1, E. P. Latendre ; 2, A. McConomy ; 3, S. Charron.

200 yards' race, ale and ginger ale drivers—1, W. Carter ; 2, M. Jordan ; 3, J. McEntee.

SOME FEATURES.

A number of the contests afforded great enjoyment, and one in particular, the shampoo contest, in which several sons of grocers furiously lathered their heads with Fairbank's tar soap, was very amusing.

The old man's race, which was won by Mr. T. R. Collins, was another exciting event. Ald. Turner came in third in this race, notwithstanding a brave struggle and splendid spurt toward the end. He ran out of the course. Ald. N. Lapointe worked hard from start to finish, and came in second.

Another feature was the waltz contest, won by Mrs. J. D. Dionne and Mr. J. Raby. The prize was a gold watch, given by Mr. Laurence A. Wilson. Mr. Raby was heartily congratulated and finally bounced.

A number of Americans, who were spending the summer at the park, were also present at the picnic and took part in the fun with much enthusiasm. They were very pleased at having so good an opportunity to practice their French.

THE BANQUET.

When the programme of sports had been carried out, the party made their way to a large tent, where a banquet was held, Ald. Turner acting as chairman. The dinner was a great success, for which Mr. N. Chartrand, who was chairman of the dinner committee, received many compliments.

The first toast proposed was that of "The King," by the chairman, followed by "The President of the United States," both of which were heartily received. The toasts which followed were "The Montreal City Council," "Our Guests," "The Wholesale Trade of Montreal," "The Ladies," "The Press" and "The Wholesale Grocery Travellers." The above toasts were responded to respectively by Ald. Lapointe, Ald. Labrecque (of St. Henri), Messrs. John Robertson, Louis Guion, L. E. Ethier, J. E. Trepannier, J. B. Mack and J. O. Levesque.

Letters of regret at not being able to attend were read from Mayor Cochrane, Laurence A. Wilson, A. D. Fraser, George Mann and Albert Hebert.

A cash donation of $30 was given by N. Quintal & Son, which was a welcome addition to the prize list.

The chairman of the games committee, E. W. Farrell, did his work exceptionally well, and everything ran as smoothly as possible.

N. Crapeau was the starter of the games. His work was well done.

The prizes won are to be distributed at the next monthly meeting of the Association at the Monument National on August 7.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Zepherin Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Cie, leaves on Saturday, July 26, for Old Orchard Beach, where he will spend about a month recuperating after a long season of hard work.

Mr. Thomas Kinnear, of T. Kinnear & Co., wholesale grocers, Toronto, with Mrs. Kinnear and family, are spending the summer at Bay View summer resort, on the coast of Maine.

Mr. Wellington Boulter, of Picton, canner, stated on Tuesday in Toronto that the crop of corn and tomatoes was unusually backward, and that this season's pack would probably be light unless the weather improved.

Mr. F. H. Hanson, export manager of The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, Winnipeg, left last week by the ss. Mongolian on an extended trip in the interests of the firm. He will visit the chief markets in the United Kingdom, on the continent and in South Africa.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

A high-class cream of tartar baking powder, used by the most careful housewives, and the best and most profitable baking powder to use or sell. "Royal" affords a good profit to the dealer, and its lively sale adds to the reputation of any store.

The United States Government when advertising for baking powders rejects alum powders in toto or at any price, because of their unhealthfulness. Yet makers of these powders will be found in almost every town urging their sale. Alum powders are a discredit to any grocer who takes them in stock.

HAMILTON GROCERS' PICNIC.

DESPITE the fact that Mr. Moore, of The Comfort Soap Co., was debarred from entering his triplets for the baby show, despite, too, the fact that a grey horse on the track at Lottridge street stopped the first train, and the general dryness of the biscuit eating contest, the annual outing of Hamilton and Brantford grocers and butchers and friends was a splendid success. Fully 5,000 people enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content at Victoria Park, Niagara Falls. Excellent provision had been made for the accommodation of eqeryone. An idea of the size of the crowd may be formed from the fact that for dinner 300 lb. of granulated sugar and 400 quarts of milk were distributed to the patrons.

After arriving at the park, a baseball game was played between the Hamilton and Brantford clerks, but the Brantfordites failed to score. Accordingly, the Brantford people say that they can play lacrosse, but that baseball is a back number.

The batteries were : Smith and Anderson for Hamilton ; Ott and Larion for Brantford.

The following programme of games gave all a chance to excel themselves :

Ball game—Hamilton clerks v. Brantford clerks, Hamilton winning by a score of 23 to 0.

100 yards' foot race—J. L. Brown, Hamilton ; J. Williamson, Hamilton ; J. Forth, Hamilton.

Hop, step and jump—Kerr, Brantford ; Finch, Hamilton ; Cody, Brantford.

Single ladies' race—L. Swayzie, M. Stonehouse, L. Tunis.

Biscuit-eating contest—T. McKay, C. Faulkner, J. Fulford.

100 yards' shoe race—F. Hearns, J. Kerr, S. Sills.

Girls' race — Nellie Hunter, Annie Edwards, Jessie Watson.

100 yards' sack race—L. Copple, F. Dunsmore, R. Kerr.

Shampoo race—W. Brown, T. Flitcroft, J. Forth, H. Dawdy.

Egg race—G. Carson, C. Devlin, H. Smye.
Backward race—C. Hartley, R. Kerr, W. Brown
Potato race—J. L. Brown, J. Forth, S. Sills.
Baby show—Mrs. Hammill, Mrs. Gorman, Mrs. Donohue.

Married ladies' race—Mrs. Bowron, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Hammill.

Hopping race—W. Brown, R. Kerr, A. Finch, J. Hartley.

Three-legged race—Donald and Jepson, Brown and Hawkes, Fraser and Moriarity.

Release race—Wood and Dell, Donald and Jepson, Devlin and Hartley.

Running race—J. Cochran, A. Finch, W. Brown.

Soap race—Mrs. Henwood, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Coats, Mrs. Hammill, Mrs. Helm, Mrs. Biggs, Mrs. McCaulay, Mrs. Stonehouse, Mrs. Brown.

A match race between Dore, of Hamilton, and Markle, of Dundas, was declared a draw.

A special match foot race, 100 yards, between Markle, of Dundas, and Blair, of Hamilton, was run, Markle winning easily.

Throughout the day the Thirteenth band rendered some very enjoyable selections. The committee deserve great credit for the admirable arrangements. No less than the baby show judges they must have had their hands full.

GOOD ADVICE TO MERCHANTS.

Some few months ago we notified the trade that in handling YEAST in the name of which the word CREAM appeared, unless the goods were made by us, they were taking unnecessary chances, as Yeast or Yeast Cakes put up under that name is an infringement on our rights guaranteed by Registered Trade Marks. We also directed their attention to the fact that MERCHANTS HANDLING an article infringed upon IN ANY WAY are EQUALLY as LIABLE FOR DAMAGES as the manufacturer. Since then we have been granted a PERPETUAL INJUNCTION against the concern who have been pushing an article by adopting one of our most valuable trade marks. See report of Mr. Justice Street's decision in "Mail and Empire" and "Globe" of July 10th, and also item in "Canadian Grocer" of July 11th last.

If you must have "Cream Yeast," see that the goods so branded are made by us. In selling any of the imitation article you may have in stock you are taking great chances, and for the sake of a few cents it is not advisable to do so, particularly when you can get the real "GILLETT'S CREAM YEAST."

If you have the imitation in stock

E. W. GILLETT COMPANY LIMITED

London, Eng. TORONTO, ONT. Chicago, Ill.

GROCERS THERE IS NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT, for selling the celebrated

Pure Lime Fruit Juice

MONTSERRAT

It is acknowledged by all who use it to be the best. Analysis proves this to be a fact. Guaranteed 25 per cent. stronger than any other juice. Purchaser therefore obtains better value for money. Small bottle contains 40 drinks, and is equivalent to 30 lemons, and much more convenient.

A noteworthy fact about "MONTSERRAT" is that grocers can feel safe in keeping any quantity left over from one season to another without fear of affecting its saleableness. This is only possible with "Montserrat."

"MONTSERRAT" is made from Cultivated Limes.

If You Have Money to Burn

Why! Go burn it. There is 10 times more satisfaction in burning money than in losing it in driblets, through carelessness of clerks, or disputed accounts. Who that has "passbook" customers, has not had accounts disputed and partially repudiated? The best way to avoid all complications and misunderstandings is as follows:

THE PROPOSED BREAD AGREEMENT.

The Subject Discussed by the Grocers' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Grocers' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, Toronto branch, was held last Monday evening, July 14, 1902, in their board room, corner of Bay and Richmond streets, F. C. Higgins, chairman, presiding.

A committee was present from the Bakers' Section of the Association to discuss the proposed changes in the sale of bread which had been considered by a joint committee from both the Bakers' and Grocers' Sections.

The agreement was read clause by clause, and some amendments were made thereto, when it was finally adopted by the meeting. Among other conditions the following are proposed: Instead of bakers' leaving bread for sale as they do now, it is proposed that they make their sales outright, so as to avoid the possibility of having the stale bread put on the market at a reduced price and giving a wrong impression to the public as to what bread is actually selling at, and thus injuring legitimate profits.

The proposition will also give the grocers 1c. profit on each loaf instead of ½c., as at present. The date on which the price of bread will be changed will be made known in ample time to give every grocer notice to provide for it when it takes effect.

The question of the operation of the price restrictive plan regarding its application to shredded wheat was fully discussed, and it was reported that a few retail grocers and one wholesale grocer, who had signed the agreement with the company, have been making every effort to purchase shredded wheat through roundabout sources, so as to defeat, if possible, the purposes of the Shredded Wheat Co.

The Shredded Wheat Co., however, have decided that the contracts must be lived up to, and they are determined to enforce them to the fullest extent, and a resolution was unanimously adopted calling upon all retail grocers who have the welfare of the trade at heart to give the Natural Food Co. every assistance in the matter. The agreement will shortly be put into operation in the United States, and it can then be carried out effectually.

The committee who have in charge the arranging for the subjects for discussion at the convention to be held on September 9 and 10 will bring in their report at a special meeting to be held next week.

A NEW BRUNSWICK SARDINE FIRM.

J. Sutton Clark, of St. George, N.B., who has for several years carried on at Letang, Charlotte county, an extensive business in the canning of sardines, this season established at White Head, Grand Manan, a factory for the putting up of kippered herring. The building is 30 x 80 ft. and two storeys high. A large number of people are employed and the business is rapidly developing. Mr. Clark has purchased a property at Edinburg, N.S., near Weymouth, where he proposes to erect premises for the canning of finnan haddies. The establishment will be 90 x 80 ft. and a two-storey building.

ONTARIO APPLES FOR FRANCE.

An inquiry has been received in Toronto from a large French fruit firm asking for quotations on 100,000 bbls. of Ontario apples, this year's crop. This is believed to be the first time a Parisian house has interested itself to any extent in Ontario fruits, and the inquiry is consequently causing some interest in export fruit circles. A prominent wholesale dealer estimated this year's Ontario crop at between 300,000 and 400,000 bbls., or over double that of last year, or that of several years back. He expected prices would be very low, and thought it was a most opportune time for the taking hold of the French end of the apple exporting trade.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

to sell and recommend British Grown Green Tea.

We all wave the flag, but do we do all we can to help keep it supreme?

On equal terms do we always buy goods that are grown or manufactured under the Union Jack?

Ceylon and Indian Black Teas have captured nearly the whole black tea trade, just because they are the best black teas that are grown.

Ceylon Green Teas are just as good and are sure to displace all other green teas.

Why hang on to Japs and Chinas any longer? Everything is in favor of Ceylon Green—quality, profit, patriotism.

One trial of RED ROSE Green Ceylon Tea will convince you that these statements are correct.

The Tea and Coffee Industry of India.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is in receipt of The Planting Directory of South India for 1902. The directory furnishes a comprehensive list of the principal coffee, tea, cinchona and cardamon estates of South India, with the names of their owners and managers, and details of acreage, elevation and rainfall.

The actual area planted with coffee in South India in 1900 was close on 250,000 acres. This practically represents the whole coffee area of India. The production was 21,582,003 lb. Of the above acreage more than half is owned by Europeans, whose plantations vary from 50 to 400 or 500 acres.

The area devoted to tea in South India is still small, but it has increased rapidly of late years. In 1900, the total acreage was over 31,000, as against 491,000 for the rest of India—or about 6 per cent. of the whole; whereas 10 years earlier it was under 11,600 acres, or a little over 3 per cent. of the whole acreage at that time. The variety of tea most in favor is a good type of Assam hybrid, but for low elevations the pure Assam Indigenous is preferred.

Cinchona, owing to overproduction, appeared a few years ago to be virtually extinct, but there has been a small revival and some planters have done well with this crop of late.

At the end of 1900, there were 245 405 acres of land under coffee in India, all, with the exception of 387 acres, in Southern India. The production of coffee is restricted for the most part to a limited area in the elevated region above the southwest coast; the coffee lands of Mysore, Coorg, and the Madras districts of Malabar and the Nilgiris comprising 88 per cent. of the whole area under the plant in India. About 52 per cent. of this area is in Mysore, where there were 128,057 acres in 1900, and the plant is grown on 99,088 acres, being 40 per cent of the whole, in the British district of Coorg (68,596 acres), the Nilgiris and Malabar (30,492 acres). In Madras there is no extensive cultivation except in these two districts and in Salem and Madura. Coffee is also grown, but on a very restricted scale, in Burma, Assam, Bengal and Bombay. There were 22,128 persons permanently and 91,685 temporarily employed on the coffee estates in 1900, making a total of 113,813 persons, which is equal to one person to about 2.16 acres.

The following figures are the average of the 10 years ending 1900 1:

| | Lb. |
|---|---|
| Indian coffee— | |
| Production | 30,040,608 |
| Exports | 30,163,056 |
| Foreign coffee— | |
| Imports | 1,529,819 |
| Exports | 737,520 |

The figures indicate that the Indian producer of coffee has no local market on which he can depend for the consumption of any portion of his production. He is entirely dependent upon the external markets. As France takes on an average about a third of the whole quantity exported, it is obvious that the Indian coffee producer has an intimate interest in the outcome of the question at present under discussion of the application to Indian coffee into France of a rate of duty higher than that which is imposed upon Brazilian coffee.

The area under tea in India at the end of 1900 extended over 522,487 acres, nearly two-thirds (64.6 per cent.) being in the valleys of the Brahmaputra and Surma, which contain as much as 337,327 acres, namely, 204,985 in Assam (the Brahmaputra valley) and 132,342 in Cachar and Sylhet (the Surma valley). In extent of cultivation Bengal comes next, the area under tea being 134 572 acres, or 25.8 per cent. of the whole, and a little more than that in the Surma valley. The production of tea is, therefore, to the extent of nine-tenths of the whole area limited to the two provinces of Assam and Bengal.

Tea cultivation in India has been mainly concentrated in tracts where a heavy rainfall and a humid and equable climate permit of repeated flushes and pluckings of the leaf. In the valleys of the Brahmaputra and Surma the yield averages about 468 lb. to the acre; in Jalpaiguri (the Dooars), 484 lb.; in Darjeeling about 279 lb.; in the northwestern provinces it is 309 lb.; in Travancore it is stated at 360 lb. Elsewhere it is much lower.

The area under tea has expanded from year to year without a pause during the 16 years up to 1900. In 1885 the area was about 284,000 acres; in 1900 it had increased to 522,487 acres, the increase being in the ratio of 84 per cent.

As much as 107,000 acres have been added to the area under tea during the last five years. This area, in full bearing, will yield at least 40,000,000 lb. of tea per year.

The plantations vary greatly in size. In Assam, where the industry is mainly carried on by Europeans with ample capital, where fusions of estates have been in progress for some years in view of economy of management, and where most plantations have large unplanted areas attached to them, the area of a plantation averages as much as 1,318 acres. In Bengal the average area of a plantation is 734 acres; in the Northwestern Provinces the average falls to 121 acres, while in the Punjab, where natives grow extensively in the Kaugra valley there are only about 4 acres to each plantation. In Madras the average is about 172 acres, and in Travancore, 445 acres. The quantity of tea produced has increased in much greater ratio than the area under cultivation, for, while the area has increased 84 per cent., the increase in production has been 176 per cent.

The following is the statement of the actual increase of production each year over the production of the preceding year:

| | Lb. |
|---|---|
| 1886 | 10,899,835 |
| 1887 | 9,826,270 |
| 1888 | 7,340,402 |
| 1889 | 7,250,331 |
| 1890 | 4,993,531 |
| 1891 | 11,831,496 |
| 1892 | —1,873,628 |
| 1893 | 10,253,626 |
| 1894 | 2,465,144 |
| 1895 | 8,694,783 |
| 1896 | 13,018,227 |
| 1897 | —2,643,846 |
| 1898 | 3,693,172 |
| 1899 | 24,322,055 |
| 1900 | 15,663,209 |

The number of persons employed in the tea industry in 1900 is returned at 621,287 permanently and 98,446 temporarily, or altogether a little below three-quarters of a million (719,733) persons, which would work out to about 1.38 persons to the acre.

The tea produced in India is exported, mainly to the United Kingdom, to the extent of about 96.6 per cent. of the average production.

The production of tea in India and Ceylon has increased so much more rapidly than the consumption in the United Kingdom, which is the principal market for these teas, that there has been a heavy fall in price, and the tea industry is at the moment in a position of great embarrassment. Producers are busily engaged seeking relief from the introduction of economies, and from the enlargement of markets other than that in the United Kingdom.

Planting Directory is published by Planting Opinion, Madras, and its price is two rupees.

FRUIT MARKS JUDGMENT.

The fruit division of the Agricultural Department, Ottawa, has received notice of the judgment rendered in the appealed James case. The appeal was largely for the purpose of settling certain technical matters arising in connection with the enforcement of the Fruit Marks Act. The judgment makes clear the following points: 1. Either end or both ends of a barrel is held to be the "faced" or "shown" surface. 2. The brand or other mark does not determine the face. 3. Having in possession or offering for sale fraudulently packed fruit, even if the vendor does not know it to be such, is an offence. 4. Fruit admitted by all parties not to be for sale isnot subject to the provision of the Act.

"CATCHY" BULLETINS AND CARDS.

The grocers, butchers and other retail merchants in small towns or cities, who wish to follow up-to-date methods of securing business through catchy bulletins and show-cards, will find a knowledge of the art of show-card and ticket lettering of the very greatest value to themselves. Neatness and proper display are strong factors in drawing trade. Neat show-cards and price tickets both add to the effectiveness of display and bring the important element of the price to the buyer's attention in a pleasing manner. W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., offers in this issue a book of instruction at $1, postpaid, which will teach you this art in a thorough and practical manner. See it.

AN ADVERTISING TALK.

BY BLANK.

GROCERS, why don't you use the same shrewdness in advertising your goods that you use in selling them? Behind the counter you feel a confidence in yourselves which lends persuasion to your tongue and induces your customers to buy your wares. Why not use this same persuasive force in your advertisements?

The average grocer feels that because his neighbors down the street occupy space in the local papers, he, perforce, must do so too. He has a hazy belief that advertising is a good thing, but he can't just see what good it is doing him. So he puts in something and lets it stay there till it's stale. Then with much effort he concocts another adv., and so on, believing, though scarcely realizing, that his insertion is doing good.

The fundamental principle of advertising is all right. In this case the method has been wrong. First, let the grocer realize that he can write a telling ad. if he confines himself simply to his store talk. He gets in a new brand of tea. Just hear him talk about it in the shop. First thing you know he has persuaded you to try a package. But look at his advertisement. There may be a mention of the new tea or there may not. Supposing there is. It is usually nothing but the name mixed up with the names of a number of other articles. Is this calculated to induce people to buy tea? If it does it is a strange thing. Let people

LUSCIOUS, SATISFYING, ECONOMICAL.

"Malava" is a Rich Man's Coffee at a Poor Man's Price.

"Malava" gives that satisfied feeling after breakfast which no other Coffee can give.

"Malava" soothes and never excites. For evening entertainments it is admirable.

Housekeepers give "Malava" a trial.

—AT—

know in some telling way that you have a new brand of tea in stock and then let yourself go and describe its qualities.

Take, for instance, the above advertisement for "Malava Coffee." There is nothing very striking about it, yet it must be acknowledged that it is calculated to appeal to the desires of man. It suggests that there is something nice and interesting about this coffee and it is bound to attract some attention. No advantage is lost by confining the whole ad. to the one subject, for everybody knows that Brown sells groceries. They don't know, however, that he has just got in something fine and new in the coffee line.

Having secured public attention with this ad. try to hang on to it, and, to do so, on no account let the ad. become stale. If you use a weekly paper it is imperative that a change should be made every issue, and it is advisable to do so if you use a daily. Get housekeepers to expect something new every time and they will be sure to look you up. For instance, along with the Malava coffee, Brown bought a supply of meal, nicely done up in packages. Being more anxious to bring the coffee to public notice, he ran the coffee advertisement first, but next evening the paper contained the above notice of the new meal.

Next is the olive ad. Brown ran on the third night. Many a grocer would consider it a great waste of space, but Brown realized that he must cater to his well-to-do customers as well as to the poor ones and in it went.

Of course these three advertisements are all well enough when six of them appear during the week. In that time a good many subjects can be covered. But for a grocer who can only use a weekly paper it would be a mistake to use all his space for such subjects as have just been noted. Rather let him seize on several vital points in his business and put them in together, or, like

NO MEAL IS COMPLETE
. . . WITHOUT . . .
A DISH OF OLIVES.

We have received to-day something very fine in this line. A new process of preserving and the use of the very finest materials make our new brand exceptionally delicious. We invite all who have a fondness for Olives to make a trial of one of the dainty bottles now on our shelves and those who have not yet acquired the Olive taste cannot do better than begin with a superior variety.

REMEMBER THE PLACE.
. . . BROWN'S.

Mr. Brown in the following example, make a generalization of several lines suitable for the season. A spell of hot weather suggests many things to a live grocer and he should be able to hammer out something attractive:

DELICIOUS DAINTIES

BROWN'S.

After you have once started a series of advertisements and your competitors are running you close, even in the advertising columns of your local paper, sometimes it will be necessary to exercise some ingenuity in your advertisements to keep people's attention centred on them. In Kenton, Ohio, a grocer named Brunson gets out some very ingenious advertisements. He adopts a conversational style of a direct breezy character. Here is one of his ads.:

> BELIEVE ME, ye sons and daughters of Kenton, believe me! Why don't you believe my Tea, 60c., is the same quality that all other stores sell at 80c. and $1 a pound? If it's any object to get the very best Tea and save 20 to 40c. a pound just condescend to come here and try it a while. I'll bet you will like it and come again.
> Believe me, my Shot Gun Blend Coffee, 13c., is a hummer for 13c.—it contains all kinds of coffee except poor coffee. I'll guarantee it's as good or better than other stores sell at 15c.
> BRUNSON, OF COURSE.
> Who observes that most people repent until their sins are forgotten.

Every ad. that Brunson writes ends up in the same manner, with the exception that the little sentence of wisdom at the end varies each time. They are usually so racy, that people get in the way of looking up Brunson's ads. to read them.

Now there is a gold mine in good advrtiseing for Canadian grocers. Take up any newspaper and how few grocer's advertisements are to be seen there. You will find six dry goods ads. to one grocery ad. Don't make the mistake of imagining that a dry goods ad. is more interesting. There is no reason why it should be. If a grocer gets hold of a good corner in a newspaper and keeps up a daily run of fresh comments on his business, it is bound to tell. Especially where the advertising of groceries is little practised, will a new departure in the way of advertising bring in business? Take a town of 5,000 inhabitants, where there are probably, all told, 12 or 15 grocery stores; it will be found that only two or three advertise at all, and they likely do their advertising in a very slipshod manner. Now, it is a pretty well-known fact that the local papers are read both in the town and in the surrounding county from end to end, and advertisements are by no means neglected. When, therefore, a country reader begins to notice that Jones, the grocer, always has something very interesting to say about his goods and is constantly getting in fresh and tempting foods, will not that country reader find something very alluring about Jones' store, and next time she goes to town will she not likely call around and have a look anyway? After that, if Jones is as good a merchant as he is an advertiser, he ought to make new business. It is easy enough to say all this talk is visionary, but ask the leading grocers (who, by the way, all advertise) and you will find out that there is considerable truth in it all. A grocer who gets in at once with telling advertisements, in a town where little advertising is done, is bound to make his business grow, provided he always backs up what he says in the newspapers.

CONSTANCY.

A truthful and timely statement is made in a recent issue of Printer's Ink. It reads: "Holding on is the winning card in advertising. The bulldog, the most successful fighter of the canine family, catches hold and stays. Results are rarely immediate in any adventure or enterprise. As soon should one expect to reap in the evening a crop from the sowing of the morning as that the advertiser should think that every dollar he puts in publicity will bring results by return mail. Time is a factor in advertising and one which it is well to consider if one would escape disappointment."

How numerous are the adventurers who expect that their advertising should bring immediate returns. Constancy is perhaps more essential in advertising than anything else. He who constantly keeps hammering at his prospective customers in an unobjectionable, and in a manner calculated to leave a favorable impression, wins the trade. It has been proven beyond a doubt that the dealer, whether retailer or wholesaler, who is best and favorably known stands a much better chance than the man who makes no effort to keep his wares before the public. Advertising is not the prime factor in developing business, but it is a mighty powerful one and cannot be ignored. It is the greatest ally the salesman has. It is the greatest ally the retailer has.

One little step won't take you far,
You've got to keep on walking;
One word won't tell just what you are,
You've got to keep on talking;
One inch won't make you very tall,
You've got to keep on growing;
One small ad. won't do it all,
You've got to keep them going.

THE QUEEN'S AT HALIFAX.

Tourists to Halifax as well as the general travelling public will hail with delight the numerous improvements which have been made to the Queen's Hotel in that city, of which J. P. Fairbanks is manager. A notable change has been the opening up of a magnificent rotunda at the main entrance, with oak pannelling, bright papered walls, white metal ceiling and new special floor. Every room and hallway throughout the hotel has been repainted, papered and decorated in the most artistic manner. One hundred and forty radiators will now supply ample heating to the large building and new plumbing has been installed throughout. In the matter of lighting a $2,000 electric plant has been secured which will also run a system of fans for cooling and ventilation purposes. Manager Fairbanks is to be congratulated on the energy with which he has transformed the Queen's into such an up-to-date hostelry.

BUSINESS IN ANNAPOLIS VALLEY.

A well-known business man of Kentville, the pretty little town in the Annapolis Valley, Nova Scotia, writes: "Although the season has been so queer the Valley looks well. Business seems very good all over this county, although crop prospects are not at high water mark."

Canned vegetables, futures, canned meats for prompt shipment, some more of those cheap raisins, and full lines of all seasonable goods at lowest prices. Our travellers will go off the road Saturday, the 2nd of August, and you will not see them again until Monday, the 18th of August. Write, telephone or wire at our expense. All goods shipped the same day as orders are received.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

CANNED SALMON ON THE UNITED STATES COAST.

COAST mail advices say of salmon: "The Alaska Packers' Association has made its price for the new season's red fish in England at 16s. per case, the lowest in years. The Pacific Packing and Navigation Company have already made considerable firm sales in that territory at more money, which, in compliance with established custom there, will not be rebated, though further sales will necessarily be made at reduced prices. Prices have not yet been made generally on sockeyes, though sales for export are reported at fully equal to $1.10 for talls. The run is now due on Puget Sound."

CALIFORNIAN PRUNE SITUATION.

San Francisco mail advices say of prunes: "The foreign demand is less active, although plenty of cable offers are being received, but at prices below exports' limits. The situation in the interior shows a certain amount of firmness, which was lacking ten days ago. Growers are less anxious to contract their crops and are holding out for ⅛ to ¼c. advance over early prices. Some of the fruit unions, representing Santa Clara Valley growers, are in a position to contract for future delivery on a 2½c. bag basis for the five sizes, but many of the commercial packers fearing that the heavy sales thus far made for foreign account will make heavy inroads upon the large sizes, demand a premium for 40-50's and 50-60's in straight car lots. France will use large quantities of Californian prunes this season, but demand the large sizes. Outside prunes are offered on 2⅜ to 2¼c. basis for the five sizes. The Oregon and Washington crop is estimated at 60 per cent. of that of last season, or about 500 to 600 15-ton cars, provided weather conditions are favorable at harvest time."

SUGAR TRADE SITUATION.

Willett & Gray say of raw sugar: "Sugars are certainly on a low level, and some things are occurring which may help to place them on a rather higher basis. Some parties even are looking for ¼c. per lb. advance before October 1. They may be right. Should England decide to pay her colonies the $1,250,000 in bounties as now proposed, this would necessitate our Government placing a countervailing duty of the same equivalent on cane sugars from those colonies which, naturally, would have the effect of improving the value of Cuban and Brazilian sugars to some extent, unless England can find a way to give assistance to her colonial producers in some other form than a bounty. It seems to be generally conceded that the price of sugar has sufficiently declined to cover all contingencies and that any change should now be for the better."

ALMOND CROP PROSPECTS IN SPAIN.

Mail advices from Spain, referring to the almond prospects, say: "The present outlook is for a fairly good crop, and this would mean from 75,000 to 85,000 boxes of Jordans and from 150,000 to 175,000 boxes of Valencias. The indications were about the same at the same period of last year and were fully realized. There are at present only a few hundred boxes of Jordans left over in stock in Malaga and perhaps 2,000 boxes of Valencias. The last sales were made f.o.b. Malaga at $8.25 for Jordans and $3.50 to $4 per box for Valencias. It is reported here on good authority that Italy will not have more than half a crop this year, particularly in the famous Bari district. As a consequence, Malaga exporters are expecting a slight advance on last year's prices, which were themselves higher than any previous year."

DEFECTS OF THE FRUIT MARKS ACT.

SUGGESTED AMMENDMENTS.

A NUMBER of fruit merchants of Toronto are dissatisfied with the workings out of the Fruit Marks Act. This grievance was recently aired at a meeting of the Fruiterers' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada and will be discussed fully at the convention of the retail merchants of Ontario to be held in Toronto, September 9 and 10.

The Act is objected to by a number of merchants on account of its holding the person in whose possession fraudulently-packed fruit is found liable to conviction for violation of the Act. The retailer often buys fruit which has, unknown to him, been fraudulently packed, and so he is fined when this fruit is in his possession or before he can repack it, and has no redress on the the packer. The latter is the man who should be fined, they allege, and not the former. Of course, if the goods are inspected while they are in the hands of the packer, he, then, is the party liable to conviction. But in the majority of cases, it is alleged, it is the grocer or fruiterer who is found with the improperly packed goods in his possession and is punished for it, while the real culprit goes free.

Another thing the retail fruit dealers want is to have it compulsory for the packers to place on open packages the quantity of fruit they are supposed to contain. As it is, baskets of fruit come with 8, 9, 10 or 11 quarts of fruit packed in them, and the purchaser is unable to ascertain until he measures the fruit the quantity packed in the basket. It is suggested as a remedy the adoption of a uniform size of basket, and that it be made compulsory to have clearly marked on the outside of the basket the quantity of fruit that it contains.

GET OUT OR GET IN LINE.

IF the concern where you are employed is all wrong, and the Old Man a curmudgeon, it may be well for you to go to the Old Man and confidentially, quietly and kindly tell him that he is a curmudgeon. Explain to him that his policy is absurd and preposterous. Then show him how to reform his ways, and you might offer to take charge of the concern and cleanse it of its secret faults.

Do this, or if for any reason you should prefer not, then take your choice of these: Get out or get in line. You have got to do one or the other—now make your choice.

If you work for a man, in heaven's name, work for him!

If he pays you wages that supply you with bread and butter, work for him—speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him and stand by the institution he represents.

I think if I worked for a man I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of the time and the rest of the time work against him. I would give an undivided service or none.

If put to the pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

You cannot help the Old Man so long as you are explaning in undertone and whisper, by gesture and suggestion, by thought and mental attitude, that he is a curmudgeon and his system dead wrong. You are not necessarily menacing him by stirring up discontent and warming envy into strife, but you are doing this: You are getting yourself upon a well greased chute that will give you a quick ride down and out.—Extract from Elbert Hubbard's "Get out or Get in Line."

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The German Meat Trade—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

THE GERMAN MEAT TRADE.

QUITE an instructive article on meat trade in Coburg, Germany, appears in a report written by the United States Consul-General resident in that city. He says in part:

"Like nearly all German towns of more than 10,000 inhabitants the city of Coburg is provided with an official slaughter house; in 1901, 76 bulls, 434 oxen, 456 cows, 256 young oxen, each weighing less than 250 kgs., 287 heifers, 1,091 young cattle, each weighing less than 200 kgs., 3,321 calves, 11,511 pigs and 3,135 sheep were slaughtered there. Butchers are not allowed to kill on their own private premises and are heavily fined for breaking this rule.

"The killing is usually done in the morning; in summer, work in the slaughter house begins at 5 A. M., and in winter at 8. The cattle are killed by means of the 'Kleinschmidtsche Maske.' This mask—named after its inventor—is fixed on the head of the animal and then by means of a heavy blow, with a heavy mallet an iron bolt is driven into the brain of the animal, which drops it immediatly and it is then stuck. Young cattle, sheep and pigs are hit on the head and stuck afterwards. On the butchers' carts, most of which are open, the disemboweled animals are conveyed to the butchers' stores, where part of the meat is immediately prepared for sale and the rest is used in the making of sausages. Hams are smoked, whilst special parts of both cattle and pigs are salted, or salted and smoked afterwards. No wholesale meat dealers are to be found in Germany, or at least hereabout; each and every individual butcher kills what is necessary for his own trade, makes his sausages and cures his own hams.

"The better class stores have tiled floors and glazed tiled walls, marble counters, etc., whilst the rest are more plainly equipped, but they are all kept very neat—want of cleanliness is a great exception. In winter butchers lay in a supply of ice in order to cool their meat during the summer season. The trade in sausages and ham is very important in Germany, and particularly so in this city. Several butchers here have made large fortunes by devoting themselves specially to this branch of their trade. The most important firm in this line here is 'C. Grossman,' which sends its goods all over Germany to retailers and private people and also exports to all parts of Europe, the Americas and Australia.

"Every animal that is brought to the slaughter house is examined by the inspector, usually a veterinarian, before it is killed. The meat of the slaughtered animal is subjected to a microscopic examination before it is allowed to be taken away for consumption. If certain parts of an animal are found to be diseased and considered unfit for consumption, they are burned, whilst the heathly portions are sold at reduced prices and at a special stall to poor people. Animals that are totally unfit for consumption are soaked with petroleum and burned."

A DEALER'S VIEWS.

"The output of cheese and butter in this district will be 20 per cent. in excess of last year, while the price is also a little better," said Mr. Wm. Flavelle, the well-known Lindsay dealer, on July 22, to a reporter. "Eggs are very scarce in Canada. From a letter I received yesterday I find Russian eggs are selling in Liverpool and Glasgow at 13 6c., while Canadian eggs are 16c. in Toronto; so that we have the absurd condition that we could bring Russian eggs to Toronto and sell them at a better advantage than to ship Canadian eggs to Liverpool. The cold weather was very hard on young turkeys last spring and there will not be more than half the usual 'crop.' There will also be a reduction, though smaller, in the number of chickens, from the same cause. There is an excellent market for turkeys in England at Christmas, while the market there for our chickens is practically unlimited. Last year our firm shipped 40,000 turkeys and 40.000 chickens, and at one time employed 300 men, women and children killing and dressing them for shipment. Many of the farmers are taking pains, finding it a profitable branch, and we find the stock has been improved. Besides, we distributed 500 superior male turkeys last fall at equal weight for those received. There is no doubt Canadian butter has secured a better position in the the English market, though we in Ontario suffer somewhat when compared with Quebec through the system of collecting the cream only two or three times a week, while in the neighboring Province, where private separators are not so common, the milk is collected daily when it is fresh."

FROM THE PACKERS' STANDPOINT.

"The packers have been paying too high a price for hogs, but I think there will continue to be a good, steady demand during he next few months." This is the opinion of F. D. Fearman, manager of the well-known Hamilton packing firm as expressed to a newspaperman the other day. "The high price is occasioned in the first place by the higher price obtained for the product in England and in Canada; we had a better quality, and the world's market is higher for meats this year than before. A second cause is the competition among the packers for the hogs that are offered; if there were not so many buying hogs the price would not be so high. There is lively competition among the packers. I do not look for any advance in price. I think we have about reached the maximum price that the Canadian consumer will pay, and there is no use going beyond. It has been a good year for the farmer, though it must be remembered that feed has been high where it had to be bought. There has been a great improvement in the quality of the hogs brought in, through better breeding and better feeding. I think the instruction given at the Provincial Winter Fair and the Farmers' Institute meetings, and by the packers themselves, has led to this improvement. The English market has been steady and fairly good. The Canadian market is widening out in the West, and there is generally an increasing demand for pork products since they are put up in more dainty forms."

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Dressed hogs have advanced 50c. per 100 lb. during the week, but the demand for them is poor and the offerings are little or nothing. There is a good demand for hind quarters of beef, but front quarters are inactive and a decline of $1 per 100 lb. is the result. The prices of live hogs are nominally the same, but the market is weaker. Quotations are as follows: Dressed hogs, $9.50 to $10; beef carcasses, $8 to $8.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9.50 to $10.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 8 to 9c. per lb., and lambs, 9 to 10c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $6 to $7 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.

Business in provisions has improved during the week and the market holds firm with an upward feeling. A moderate demand is being experienced by jobbers for lard and the prices thereof are unchanged. Plate beef continues strong. Our quotations are as follows: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11 to 11½c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23 to $23.50; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.; plate beef, $15.

MONTREAL.

No important change has taken place in the condition of the provision market since last report with the exception that Jones' pork has dropped 75c. per bbl. The inquiry for smoked meats is good, this remark also being applicable to lard. Barrelled pork is quiet. Receipts during last week were 90 barrels of pork and 8,539 packages of lard, and for the previous week 70 barrels of pork and 8,426 packages of lard. A good business is being done in lard. Hams and bacon are meeting with moderately fair demand.

Price of pure Canadian lard is $2 37½ to $2.40 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 9¾c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20-lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20-lb. wood pails, ½c.; 10-lb. tins, ⅝c.; 5-lb. tins, ¾c.; 3-lb. tins, ⅞c. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.95 per pail; Cottolene, 11¼c. for 20-lb. pails, and 11c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario; hams, 13 to 14c.; bacon, 14 to 15c.; heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $24.50 to $25.00; Canadian short cut clear pork, $23.50 to $24.00; American short cut clear pork, $24.00 to $24.50; American fat back, $24.50 to $25.00.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled pork some Prince Edward Island stock is offered. Local supply is used up. Light supplies of American are received. Beef is light sale. Prices are rather easier. In fresh beef, light domestic continues easier, but Western is still firm at full figures. Veal is in light supply. Lamb is firm and quite freely received. Mutton sells slowly. Pork is scarce and there is but little demand. A few hams and rolls are sold, but the price is too high for much DRESSED AND CURED MEATS — The market for beef has been active all week, but as the supply is large prices continue easy and are rather lower than at last writing, 7 to 8c. being the range of the market. Veal is in moderate demand at 8 to 8½c. Mutton is now in very fair supply at 8½c. Lambs are more abundant and lower, selling now at 12½c. per lb.

Cured meats continue to be in active demand for all lines, but no change of price is announced for the week. Hams, 14½c.; shoulders, 11c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 15¼c.; backs 14½c.; long clear, 12½c.; spiced rolls, 12c.; dry salt backs, 12½c.

LARD—Very fair demand for lard and prices are firm and without change : 20-lb. pails, $2.50; 50-lb. tubs, $6.25; 3, 5 and 10-lb. tins, $8.

A RESULT OF ADVERTISING.

The Home and Colonial Mail, of London, Eng., says : "The Toronto papers received this week give descriptive notices, with illustrations, of the new building of The 'Salada' Tea Co. This concern, under the guidance of P. C. Larkin, has developed in all directions, and the handsome structure now occupied bears witness to the enterprise of the management. The expansion of trade in Ceylon tea has been remarkable. Believing in the efficacy of advertising Mr. Larkin has acted up to his belief, and the result is that The 'Salada' Tea Co., and its teas are known all over the American continent."

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN TRADE.

THE following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London :

1. Inquiry is made for Canadian shippers of wood flour by a firm who are needing a considerable quantity.

2. A London firm have asked to be placed in communication with some of the principal oilcake mills in Canada.

3. A firm in a good position to undertake the agency in London of a large wood pulp mill in Canada desire to correspond with an important concern not already represented.

4. A Welsh importer is desirous of obtaining f.o.b. prices at Canadian ports, and c.i.f. prices Bristol or Liverpool for Canadian spruce and pine lumber, mouldings, etc.; also for oils and greases in barrels or drums. He is also prepared to quote for high-grade Portland cement for export.

5. An Italian house ask to be referred to a leading Canadian exporter of Labrador cod.

6. An English firm manufacturing agricultural tools, steel files, etc., make inquiry respecting the opening in Canada for their goods.

7. A Canadian firm of engineers with a branch in England are open to take up the agency for Canadian manufacturers of pig iron, steel rails, billets, iron and other ores, wood pulp, etc.

8. A young Canadian now on a visit to Europe desires to get into touch with some English firms in the grocery and smallware line who require such an agency in the Dominion as he can offer on his return.

LARD

Orders can be filled by any of the leading packing houses or jobbers in Canada or direct.

FOOD-PRODUCING LANDS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

CANADIANS are too accustomed to identify the possibilities of their country with one or two industries. Canada has limitless resources. It is a short-sighted view which sees in one Province the opportunity for developing one resource. It is true that mining interests and fishing operations are the features that bulk most largely in the general conception of British Columbia. Canadians, generally, and British Columbians particularly, have overlooked magnificent opportunities for agricultural development. The rugged country enchants the tourists and delights the miners, and gives rise to gushing streams that teem with fish to make glad the hardy fishermen.

As yet almost undetected are the magnificent resources of British Columbia as an agricultural country. Vancouver especially possesses arable land and throughout the Province stretch tracts of country very fertile for cultivation, and blessed with an easy climate which does not necessitate the winter housing of stock.

The Courtney Valley, north of Comox, has one of the most prosperous and thriving communities in Canada. In Vancouver Island, with an area of 16,000 square miles, the survey made by Mr. Gray has shown that between the Camel River and Fort Rupert there lie about 140,000 acres of first-class farming land, which extent of country will support in France 140,000 people. In British Columbia the acreage per head of agricultural population should be about four acres, so that this neglected land should support 35,000.

An English explorer has said that the potential population of Vancouver Island is 4,000,000. This was estimated on the basis of arable lands, the timber, mineral and other resources.

At the present time the Province sends away hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for the purchase of farm produce. Last year $900,740 went to the United States alone—excluding Eastern Canada—for the purchase of hogs, sheep, grain, fruits and dairy produce. If all that money could be kept in the country and circulated the Province would be much more prosperous.

Some are of the opinion that the 2,000,000-acre land grant on the Island has put back the settlement of the country. People who go out there want to make money fast and do not desire to go into agriculture.

Land agents connected with the Lands Department should be appointed to ascertain the exact area of arable lands and to show intending settlers the lands available.

A BIG PLANT.

Mr. John Carsley, president of The "Ozo" Co., has purchased the plant of Brosseau & Co., vinegar and pickle manufacturers, Montreal, and is moving it to the premises of The Michel Lefebvre Vinegar Works, already owned by him, on the corner of Mount Royal avenue and Drolet street. The combination of these two plants under one roof will give Mr. Carsley one of the largest factories of its kind in Canada. The premises are to be enlarged, and, with the latest improvements in plant and facilities, which are to be added very shortly, it is claimed no factory on the continent will be better equipped. The entire plant of Brosseau & Co. was purchased, including the registered trade marks.

The new stock is expected to be ready about August 15. Several novelties in wooden and glass ware will be introduced. Mr. Carsely has shown a good deal of enterprise in combining these two large plants, and there is little doubt but that under his management the new factory will take its place among the most important in the vinegar and pickle manufacturing industries. The excellent quality of the goods already produced by both these factories is well known, and with the added facilities we may look for an even finer product, if possible. Mr. Carsely will have many well-wishers among the trade, particularly among those who have already patronized the Michel Lefebvre vinegar and know its value.

"TANGLEFOOT"

The O. & W. Thum Co., manufacturers of "Tanglefoot" sticky fly paper have sent out the following: "Do you like fly-blown goods? Does your customer like them? A word to the wise, etc. A few sheets of 'Tanglefoot' sticky fly paper spread out in your store and show windows will make you many profitable sales besides proving to your patrons that you are anxious to please them with clean, wholesome goods."

BUSY IN SPITE OF FIRE.

Although one of the most disastrous fires in the history of cereal milling in Canada completely destroyed the large warehouse and cereal mill of P. McIntosh & Son, Toronto, with heavy loss, the firm, by their prompt action and commendable enterprise, have been able to carry on business without a single day's intermission. Their newly acquired mill at North Toronto, formerly operated by The Ireland Food Co., has been busy night and day since the fire in an effort to fill all orders, while the firm have taken temporary possession of the large warehouse and offices at 47 Front street east for the other branches of their business, so that "Swiss Food" and its kindred breakfast cereals may be had in any quantity required by communicating with the new address. The firm intend branching out this fall on a still larger scale.

LONDON GROCERS' PICNIC.

The annual excursion of the London, Ont., Retail Grocers' Association was held at Niagara Falls on July 23. Two hundred and fifty passengers went by the Michigan Central and about 50 by the Grand Trunk railway. About 150 more passengers joined the excursion from different places on the route. A special train left London and conveyed the passengers to the Falls.

SHOW-CARD WRITING.

THE business of card-writing is fast becoming an exclusive profession among the clerks of this country. The fact that it opens a new field of pleasant as well as remunerative work to the overburdened clerk and others has caused those better versed in the work to come to their aid with the correct knowledge and instruction of show-card writing. Every periodical quoting the daily wants of the merchant throughout the land contains calls for proficient card-writers. And there are more calls than people to respond.

In this issue W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., offers a book of instruction at $1 postpaid, which will teach you this art in a thorough and practical manner. This instruction is inexpensive to the country merchant, who in himself must be card-writer, window-trimmer and all else progressive about his store, as the work can be studied at leisure hours, thus fitting himself to economize rather than to expend for a card-writer.

You may, perhaps, regard his instructions as questionable, owing to the rate, but when you consider that he is in a small place with less expensive office rooms than is possible in a large city, you will easily see the reason. Now is the time to take up this work. It means dollars to you—it means swift and sure advancement. The work is light, varied and congenial, and always yields a good salary—much above that of the average clerk or office assistant.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

JAMES TURNER & CO. have been appointed sole agents for Hamilton for Goodwillie's pure fruits, packed in gem jars, and they report a large trade in these goods. Any buyers who handle these fruits should get their business in quickly.

A car of Californian prunes arrived this week for H. P. Eckardt & Co.

A new shipment of Dixon's Carburet of Iron Stove Polish is just to hand with W. H. Gillard & Co.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have a snap in Californian muscatel raisins, which, owing to the high price of Valencias, are selling freely.

James Turner & Co., Hamilton, tell us they are booking large lots of canned goods, and that they have splendid values to offer in these goods.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report a splendid demand for Japan teas at 19 to 20c.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report large shipments daily of Pilgrim Bros.' New York ginger ale.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have put on the market a line of pickling spice, "Gold Medal" brand, in handsome 2 and 4 oz. cartons, that is meeting with favor with the retail trade.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. advise having received two cases currants last week, and, as the prices are low, they are going out lively.

The quotation of 30c. for "Condor" tea in E. D. Marceau's advertisement last week was wrong. It should have been 32½c. per lb.

James Turner & Co., Hamilton, report a heavy trade going on in "Imperial" vinegar, which goods are giving elegant satisfaction.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering some nice Valencias, Ondara layers, in 28-lb. boxes, being in prime condition for this season of the year.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report a very gratifying increase in the sales of "Wheat Os"—the ideal breakfast food. This is proving an exceedingly popular seller during the hot weather.

EXCURSION OF GUELPH SALESMEN.

About 500 salesmen and clerks, of Guelph, enjoyed their second annual outing to Berlin on Thursday, July 24. The Royal City Association had chartered a special train.

The officers were as follows: Secretary, O. L. Dunning; starter, J. Gould; judges, C. L. Nelles, F. Hendley and James Hewer. President Wallace, with the other officers and members of the committee, assisted these gentlemen, and the manner in which the sports were run off was indeed creditable.

In the evening, through the kindness of His Worship Mayor Eden, the Berlin band gave a concert at the park for the pleasure of the visitors, at which about 3,000 people were present.

A MOOSE JAW GROCER MARRIES.

Mr. Alex. McKenzie, of McKenzie Bros., grocers and butchers, Moose Jaw, N.W.T., and Miss Eunice Carrie Hutton, fourth daughter of Mr. W. B. Hutton, Gravenhurst, Ont., were the principals of a pretty marriage ceremony, July 16, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Jas. Sutherland.

BUTCHERS' PICNIC.

The Butchers' Section of the Toronto Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada held their third annual picnic in Exhibition Park, Toronto, on Wednesday, July 30. There was a large number present and everything was made enjoyable. In front of the grand stand Geo. Banks gave an impromptu vaudeville show. Besides this several races were run off. In the nail race ladies ran with a hammer and drove nails into a board. In the dog race—to carts—the dogs would fight every few yards and gave their jockeys no end of trouble. There was also a spoon and jam feeding contest; a greasy pig was let loose and caught, and 10 boys tried to beat each other eating half a watermelon. In the baby show the first prize was awarded to Grace Lilian Campbell; second to Albert Arthur Smithers, and the third to Christina Batt. Several races were also run off on the track. A baseball match between the master butchers and the butchers' clerks resulted in a victory for the former.

WOULD BUY CANADIAN GOODS.

CANADA is being visited just now by Mr. Arthur Sutcliffe, of Sutcliffe & Bingham, Limited, Kkora Works, Manchester, England. Sutcliffe & Bingham are manufacturers of grocers' specialties, such as jellies, fruit crystals, lemon churd, blanc-mange and fruit syrups, and have a number of travellers covering the United Kingdom. It is less than a year since they began to prospect the Canadian market, and they have so far met with gratifying success. The Greig Manufacturing Co., Montreal, are their Canadian agents.

Mr. Sutcliffe's visit to Canada is for a double purpose. In the first place he is looking after the products of his own firm, but he has also got an eye open for Canadian products, principally canned fruits and canned vegetables, which he might be able to sell in Great Britain. He feels certain his firm can sell these goods if quality and price is right. He is not looking for agencies. His firm proposes to buy the goods outright.

HELP THE FARMERS.

ULTIMATELY the success of the merchant depends on the success of the farmer. A merchant's good times come around when the farmer comes to town on market-day with a good fat purse. Retailers in country towns all know this, and realize that in the farmer is to be found their best customer.

Under the circumstances it will be to the merchant's best interest to keep the farmer well posted on those matters of public importance which will tend to increase his prosperity. For instance, a pamphlet has just been published by Mr. J. G. Rutherford concerning the breeding in Canada of horses for army use, which contains matter of vital interest to the farmer. In this document Mr. Rutherford points out that the South African campaign has demonstrated the necessity for equipping the army with serviceable mounts. Such an equipment to day has become imperative in every army with any pretence of being modern.

Canada, which would naturally be expected to supply any number of suitable horses, has been found strangely lacking in this respect. It is not an easy matter at present to obtain in this country any large number of horses altogether suitable for army use. This lack is due to the want of encouragement shown to breeders and the absence of a demand for such horses. To-day there is a demand and there should be an encouragement. Therefore, in self-interest, our merchants ought to direct their country customers' attention to the new demand. Very little extra effort or expense will be required to increase the present small supply enormously. Instead of rearing light horses and ponies, which are of but little value, breeders might just as well raise animals better suited to military service.

WHITE BEAN SITUATION.

IT is the opinion of a leading firm in Montreal that the price of beans will be materially affected by the damage to crops by rains, and that an advance exceeding that which took place last year can be anticipated.

Last season, it will be remembered, a sharp advance took place on the strength of reported shortage in crops. Then, when it was discovered that these rumors were ill-founded, a decline was the result. As a consequence, dealers are inclined to be suspicious this season, but the continued fall of rain, which has been general, will substantiate the unfavorable reports.

Advices from Michigan say that the reports from all the principal districts are to the effect that the cold weather has materially reduced the prospects for the coming crop. The acreage planted was in several sections a little larger than last year, but a wet spring and other causes have thinned out the growing vines considerably. The Michigan Government crop report refers to the situation as unfavorable.

Reports from Essex County, Ontario, say that the new crop has been severely damaged. White beans in particular will be scarce, while yellows are more plentiful. Trade is reported fairly good.

QUEBEC CROP REPORT.

THE Department of Agriculture of the Porvince of Quebec has issued the official crop report for the Province, and the general impression to be gathered from it and the numerous county reports is that only warm weather is needed to produce a very good crop all around.

The following is the list of the average yield of the different chief products, 100 representing an excellent crop, 87½, very good; 75, good; 67½, fairly good; 50 poor, and 25, bad.

| | Per cent. |
|---|---|
| Wheat | 61 |
| Barley | 62 |
| Oats | 55 |
| Rye | 61 |
| Buckwheat | 59 |
| Flax | 60 |
| Peas | 60 |
| Beans | 59 |
| Indian corn | 52 |
| Mangolds | 58 |
| Carrots | 62 |
| Swedish Turnips | 65 |
| Potatoes | 67 |
| Green Fodders | 71 |
| Clover | 77 |
| Timothy | 76 |
| Pasture | 76 |
| Tobacco | 56 |
| Apples | 69 |
| Other fruits | 61 |
| Total average | 63 |

The above report covers the entire Province, the average being sustained from 650 reports. It will be seen that the average condition of the crops, being only 63, is not, in itself, very encouraging, but the reports from most of the counties speak hopefully of the outlook should warm weather, which seems to be here now, prevail during the rest of the season. The rain and cold weather has, no doubt, greatly retarded some crops, but their condition is not such that warm weather would not restore them to a normal size.

The hay crop looks well, and as the pastures and fodder crops occupy the greater part of the land under cultivation, the outlook is brighter than would be gathered from the figures alone. Apples show up well, as do potatoes, and the probability is that these crops will be good. Grains, it will be noticed, come somewhat below the "fairly good" mark, 67½ per cent., oats running pretty close to 50, which represents a poor crop. Several reports from the counties state that everything is too backward to at all forsee the outcome.

LOCAL INTERESTS AND THE ATLANTIC SERVICE.

IT is to be hoped that local jealousy will not be sufficiently strong to prevent the realization of a fast Atlantic service between Canada and Great Britain.

For ten years scarcely any question has been more largely in the public mind than the necessity of a fast Atlantic service. There have been times when it has been relegated to the background or eclipsed for the time being by some other question, but it has again and again come to the front ; and it will continue to do so until it has been dealt with in a way that the necessities of the case demand.

Among the various problems which are to-day demanding solution that regarding transportation transcends all others. The tariff is important. Imperial trade is important. But unless we have efficient transportation facilities the trade and commerce of the country must labor under disabilities no matter how favorable the conditions may be in other particulars. And the fast Atlantic service is at least one of the pivotal points of the transportation problem.

On some of the questions before the public it would be practically impossible for the business men to unite, because of the political atmosphere which surrounds them. But there is no political atmosphere around the transportation question. As far as the Atlantic service is concerned there is no doubt in it a mixture of sentiment, particularly since the Morgan merger startled the British world, but the sum and substance of the matter is, after all, business. It therefore demands the attention — the careful attention—of business men. If they cannot solve it in a satisfactory manner no one can. To leave it to the politicians would be idle. And yet there is danger of business men delaying solution of the question by viewing it from a local or provincial and not from a national standpoint.

What we want to keep before our mind is not the particular interests of Montreal or Quebec or of Halifax or St. John. The paramount interest to consider is that of the Dominion. And the more we allow that interest to overshadow all others the more easily will the question be settled.

SCARCITY OF GOOD TEAS.

THE scarcity of the first-class in both men and merchandise is a peculiarity about which one hears a great deal these days. And there is at least one staple line appertaining to the grocery trade to which this peculiarity applies at present.

With common descriptions the market is over-burdened and prices are at their lowest point, but of really good teas there is a scarcity and prices are firm.

On the Canadian market there is not enough of good to fine teas to supply the demand, while common grades are going begging.

As an evidence of the firmness of the former it may be mentioned that teas which sold here a short time ago to the wholesale trade at 11d. cannot now be matched except at an advance of 2d. per lb.

The need of curtailing the output of low-grade black teas is becoming more and more evident.

MISMANAGED COUNCILS.

MISMANAGEMENT of the city's affairs is even a more than usually fashionable subject for discussion in Toronto at present. It is asserted that the affairs of the city are not run in a business-like way. No doubt this is quite true. And the cause is not far to seek : It is the lack of practical business men in the council.

If the ward heeler is the predominating influence in the council, the citizens cannot expect anything else but mismanagement. Like begets like.

We are quite aware that the self-respecting business man has very little to encourage him to enter public life through the door of the municipal council in Toronto or any other city. Influences without number are brought to bear against him the moment he steps into the arena. But these influences, even if in the beginning they defeat him, cannot finally do so. Next to fitness the essential to success is persistency.

Business men are gradually awakening, and it is to be hoped that when the next municipal elections come around they will be wider awake than ever before, not only in Toronto, but in every Canadian city as well.

Some attention to this matter might, with profit, be given by such organizations as the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Retail Merchants' Association, the Maritime Board of Trade and the Master Plumbers' Association when they meet in annual convention in the course of the next month or two.

TO SAVE THE LOBSTERS.

THE lobster industry of the Maritime Provinces has been engaging the attention of the Department of Marine and Fisheries lately, the application recently made by the fishermen for the extension of the season for 10 days having aroused them to the fact that the lobster fishing business might possibly suffer extinction. As the industry is of the utmost importance to the Maritime Provinces, any measures taken towards its preservation are watched with close interest.

A New Brunswick packer says that the reason for the fishermen's petition in regard to the extension of the season was not on account of any failure in the catch, as many supposed, but the bad weather of May and June, which prevented the fishermen from attending to their traps.

The lobsters are growing smaller, according to various reports from the Province, and with the decrease in size there is also less profit in handling them. While in former times lobsters between 18 and 20 in. long were no uncommon thing, now the average is between 9 and 12 in. and none of the 18 and 20-in. fish are caught.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries has put a number of questions to those engaged in the lobster industry regarding the protection of the fish and preservation of the industry. Among them is one in connection with spawning reserves which it is proposed to establish at different places along the coast. The fishermen think that should these reserves for breeding be established it would do much to help the industry. The general opinion is that hatcheries should be established. One hatchery at Pictou, N.S., successfully planted 120,000,000 lobsters in the waters of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, which must have done considerable good to the fisheries. It is understood that the Department of Marine and Fisheries will establish other hatcheries, and it is hoped that all the fishing centres may be covered.

CANADA AND SOUTH-AFRICAN TRADE.

A Letter from a Cape Town Merchant.

DAY by day Canadians are being reminded of the important trade prospects that are being opened up in South Africa, now that the inhabitants of that country can turn their attention to the pursuits of peace. Rumors that United States and German business firms are already getting hold of the Cape business are everywhere rife. Canadians must not allow any reasonable opportunity to slip by means of which they can seize a share of this business. There is already a Canadian Trade Commissioner on the field in the person of Mr. J. G. Jardine. He has been presenting the claims of this country on South-African merchants in speeches and interviews, and his work is doing good.

Another opportunity for a coneentrated effort will be afforded by the Cape Town Exhibition, which will take place very probably from November 1903 to February 1904. This exhibition will be primarily for the advantage of the Empire, and every colony is urged to exhibit its products there. Arrangements are already on foot for adequate buildings near the Botanical Gardens, Cape Town, and many eminent men are extending their patronage to the movement. There can be no doubt that this exhibition will be a splendid opportunity for Canadian manufacturers.

But the question naturally arises, what is the present situation in Cape Town with regard to the importation of goods which this country can supply? Happily a correspondent on the spot, Mr. Otto Vogt, has furnished THE CANADIAN GROCER with several details concerning this question, and he offers some valuable suggestions as to what lines should be encouraged. It is always advisable as far as possible to get the opinion of one intimately connected with the trade and commerce of a country, for very often such a one will disclose matters that an outsider can with difficulty get at. Mr. Vogt says in his letter of July 2 :

CANADIAN CHEESE IN AFRICA.

"Until now, as far as my knowledge goes, only your cheese has found an opening here, and a limited one at that. It arrives here via London in loaves of some 80 lb., and is dealt in just now at 1s. per lb. less 5 per cent. discount and 30 days open credit. The duty is 3d. per lb., and, as invoice weight has to be taken into account, it is generally more than its actual turn-out. Freight from England to this country is 33s. 9d. and 10 per cent. per mail boat, and 32s. 6d. and 10 per cent. per extra steamer or intermediate steamer, as they are called, for the ton of 40 cubic feet measurement. Dock dues and landing charges are together 5s. per ton of 40 feet or, if dead weight, per so-called Cape ton, which measures only 2,000 lb. Further, there is store rent and fire insurence which you may safely take at 2½ per cent., as storing room is hard to obtain and the premium for insurance is sure to be raised, because just now we had another huge conflagration right in the centre of the town which, I take it, will cost the various companies some £250,000, if not more.

AUSTRALIA AS A COMPETITOR.

"In fruits, you have, barring others, a very severe competitor in that giant like and, since a recent date, rising British colony, Australia, which has been for the last two years or so likewise supplying us with frozen meat, without which we would have simply starved by reason of the war, which, thanks to fate, has now been brought to a close.

"The cheese, I have omitted to state, very often turns out to be strong, bitter, occasionally quite rank, at which the importer uses imprecations loud and deep, which, however, do not change existing facts, and he has to bear the loss.

HAMS AND BACON,

the latter in large, whole sides, are now also largely imported from Australia, and in tinned meats of all classes Armour and Libby, McNeil & Co., of United States fame, are formidable rivals.

"Perhaps Canadian business may be feasible in cereals and the various kinds of wood and deals, in the former of which Australia is to the fore again and in the latter Sweden and Norway, though, particularly in the case of the former, business varies largely as grain has risen by 1s. per bush. of 56 lb. in both Australia and New Zealand. Just now a cargo has come in from California.

"The duty on all grain has in the course of the last 20 years been raised here from 8d. to 2s. per 100 lb. net.

"There is a rumor of a direct line between here and your country. How far it has progressed, if at all, I am just now unable to say.

BUTTER.

"I may as well add that of late an attempt to introduce your butter into this market has been undertaken, with what result has unfortunately escaped my attention. I report on this article as follows: For years past almost our entire wants were supplied by Denmark, principally by two firms, both firms proclaiming their produce as first class; it was labelled 'Choicest quality,' but neither house have been able to merit my own approbation, as their butter always had a tallowy flavor. It was packed in cases containing six air-tight soldered tins of 28 lb. (English) net, or 12 tins of 14 lb., or 36 tins of 2 lb., or 72 tins of 1 lb. The duty was and is still 3d. per lb., dock dues, handling, freight, etc., the same as on all other goods, and prices varying according to the yield from year to year—on an average of about 1s. 7d. to 1s. 8d. per lb., duty paid less 5 per cent. discount and 30 days open credit. There have been seasons, however —I am speaking of a span of over 20 years, during which time I have been in the colony—when it was as high as 1s. 10½d. and 1s. 11d. per lb. (I refer to the 28-lb. tins, the staple article) and others when it could hardly find buyers at 1s. 5d. and 1s. 4¾d. per lb., under the same conditions as above. Then Australia, that rapidly-advancing, world-astounding continent, stepped in and, to use an ordinary expression, within three shakes of a duck's tail Denmark was and has remained crushed out of the market. Not only is its produce butter, pure genuine butter, and not only is it delicious in flavor, taste and appearance, but Denmark's price is not a patch to its price. All conditions being the same, it has been sold here on the average at 1s. 4½d., and that exporter as well as importer are satisfied is proved by the repeated and constant shipments of thousands and thousands of cases. Australia's mode of packing is different however. Their produce is packed in wooden boxes of 56 lb. net, which are simply laid out with a sort of very thick impenetrable tissue paper between and nothing else.

"The brands imported are manifold. They hail principally from Sydney and Melbourne. Adelaide and Freemantle are less to the fore. Just now, however, a rise has taken place and really first-class butter is hard to obtain at 1s. 5d. if at all. It is, I believe, due to the failure of the crop, owing to adverse weather."

QUEBEC MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

Montreal, July 31, 1902.

BUSINESS throughout the week has been good, considering the season. The midsummer term is usually of a quiet nature, and this is no exception. In canned fish, fruits, and other lines, in demand during the picnic and outing season, there has been an active movement. White beans have been getting dearer, as the old-crop beans are becoming scarce on the market and the outlook for the new crop is none too bright. The price now is 2⅝ to 2¾c. A slight advance has also been made in pot barley, barrels now being quoted at $4.35 and bags, at $2.12½. Pearl barley is considerably higher, and $4.60 is now charged for ½ barrels.

SUGAR.

This still remains unchanged in price, $3.65 for granulated and $3 to $3.55 for yellows. The demand, locally, has kept up well and a good business has been done through the week with country buyers. The market is steady, and dealers, judging by conditions on the primary market, are not looking for any change in the price at present. Reports from New York state that a good business is doing in the raw article, refiners having been free buyers of sugar for shipment from Cuba. An increased demand has also been felt for refined sugar, and a slightly firmer feeling is reported.

TEAS.

Trade is not particularly active, but all dealers report an improving demand from local and country buyers. One report received here states that the second crop of Japan tea has been large, and taking the first and second together, the amount of tea from Japan will be larger than last year. As the second crop is the one which gives the Canadian market its chief supply, it looks as though we would have as low prices as last year. One buyer has received quotations at 1c. lower than a week ago, and he is looking for a further decline. At that price, Japan teas, second crop, are still from 1½ to 2c. higher than last year. A cable of July 27 states that in the eastern district of Japan it has been decided to stop picking the third crop after August 31. Should this be done it will tend to maintain the price unless some large amount should be unexpectedly brought in.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Corn syrups are still moving slowly on this market. Prices show no change, and our quotations are as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb.

pails. In Barbados molasses there is no improvement whatever. The demand is very light, although it is expected that business will improve before long, as retailers' stocks will have to be replenished. Barbados molasses is quoted at 23 to 24c., according to quantity. The price of Antigua and Porto Rico molasses has not been changed, the former selling at 24c. and the latter at 38c.

CANNED GOODS.

Most lines of canned goods are now in very good demand. Stocks are running low in some lines, there being very few tomatoes, while as to 3-lb. apples, it is impossible to get them at any price. Salmon is moving well, as also are all lines of vegetables. Jobbers are now quoting prices on the new pack for future delivery as follows: Tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 80c. to $1.20; string beans, 80 to 85c.; strawberries, $1.45 to $1.60; raspberries, $1.45 to $1.60; gooseberries, $1.45 to $1.60; pears, 2's, $1.60 to $1.70; 3's, $2.10 to $2.15; peaches, 2's, $1.65 to $1.70; 3's, $2.50 to $2.75; 3-lb. apples, 85 to 90c.; gallon apples, $2.10 to $2.20; 2-lb. sliced pineapples, $2.20 to $2.30; grated pineapples, $2.50; pumpkins, 95c. to $1; spinach, $1.50; sugar beets, 95c. to $1. There has been no change in the price of spot goods, which are still quoted as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; tomatoes, $1.12½ to $1.17½; gallon apples, $2.95 to $3; salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet, red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River, red sockeye, $1.40.

SPICES.

Business in spices has improved of late and jobbers report a fair demand for almost all lines. No quotable change has occurred. Our quotations are now as as follows' Nutmegs, 35 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is nothing new to report. Both these articles are moving out fairly well at unchanged prices. Quotations are as follows: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice,, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags, and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The demand, locally, for currants keeps up at steady prices. As the active season approaches, a gradual improvement is noted in the sales. Our quotations follow: Fine Filiatras, 5⅛ to 5½c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5¾c.; 1-lb. cartons, 6½ to 7c.; finest Vostizzas, 7 to 7½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—There is nothing new to report in this market. Very little good fruit is procurable. In the primary market a recent report states that some 400,000 boxes were destroyed, which will mean a serious loss, one firm placing it at 25 per cent. of the crop.

SULTANA RAISINS.—There is a moderate business doing. The price has not changed from 9c. per lb. The new crop is expected to be between 30,000 and 35,000 tons, which should mean at least moderate prices.

CANDIED PEELS.—These are steady and unchanged in price. The demand is fair. We quote: Citron peel, 15c.; orange, 11½c., and lemon, 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is nothing new to report in this market. The prices are unchanged and the situation remains about the same as a week ago. We quote as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ½'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ½'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—We quote Hallowees at 4½c., with a small amount of business doing. The crop is progressing favorably, and prices will not be high.

FIGS.—Private cables from Smyrna fig shippers report a further advance on future figs of about 1s. 6d. above last cable quotation. A private letter states that the crop outlook is for not over 5,000 camel loads, and the writer says that he would not care to sell at present at 32s. per cwt.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—There is no change and the demand is light. We quote: Pears, 10c.; peaches, 10½c and apricots, 14½c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—The price of seeded raisins remains at 9¾ to 10½c. per lb. In regard to the price named on the 1902 crop raisins, a New York operator says: "The basis fixed at 4½c. for 2-crown, 5c. for 3-crown and 5½c. for 4-crown loose is too high to admit of business with the present crop outlook, and the fact that the association will not, from present indications, cut much of a figure this season. Taking 3-crown loose, the basis of 5c. is from ¼c. to ½c. higher than the selling price last season at the opening. No one will venture on purchases at that figure under existing conditions. The crop outlook is for a yield of fully 4,500 carloads at the present time. Last year's crop was about 3,500 carloads."

PRUNES.—Mail advices from New York say of prunes: "An offer of new crop prunes, Sonomas, 40-50s and 50-60s was reported to-day on the 2⅜c. four-size basis. Santa Clara's new crop are offering at 3c. basis for 40-50s, and from 2½ to 2¾c. four-size basis for the four sizes, according to what grower holds them. Offerings, however, are not freely made on Santa Claras. According to a late estimate the Californian output is figured up to 150,000,000 lb. Sales made to date on new crop have, it is stated, been largely for October shipment." Locally, the demand for prunes is fairly good. No quotable change has occurred. We quote: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

NUTS.

A further advance of ½c. is reported in Grenoble walnuts, making the present price 10¼ to 11½c. Peanuts continue dear and are somewhat scarce. Advices from Italy estimate the crop of almonds at 50 per cent. less than last year. From Sicily, reports show a much stronger market for shelled almonds, the quotations being equal to 27c. cost laid down here. The local prices are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 17 to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 25 to 27c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

With the arrival of a few days of warm weather business in green fruits picked up wonderfully, and during the past week the market has been active all round. Californian fruits of all descriptions have been in excellent demand, as many as ten cars a day being received. Valencia oranges are now completely out of the market. Potatoes have taken a big drop, being quoted 60c. to $1.15 per barrel lower. Strawberries are 1c. lower, and but very few are offered. Cucumbers are also somewhat lower. We quote as follows: Jamaica oranges, in barrels, $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2, and 8 hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $4; grape fruit, $4.25 to $5 per box; radishes, 15c. per doz.; strawberries, 10c. per box; asparagus, 10c. per bunch; Boston lettuce, 35c. per doz.; cucumbers, 35c. per dozen; wax beans, $2.50 per basket; green beans, $3 per basket; Californian cherries, $2 to $2.50 per box; Canadian cabbage, $1.25 per barrel; potatoes, $1.15 to $1.30 per barrel; tomatoes, four-basket carriers, 90c. to $1.00; watermelons, 25c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; raspberries, 10 to 12c. per box; gooseberries, 65c. per basket; blackberries, 6 to 7c. per box; Californian apples, $2 per box; peaches, $1.25 per box; plums, $1.25 to $1.75 per box; pears, $2.50 per half box; apricots, $1.25 per box; limes, $1.50 per box; red currants, 6c. per box.

FISH.

The demand for haddock is fairly good, and dore is also moving out well. The latter, however, is growing scarce. Other fish, excepting trout, are in good supply. British Columbian salmon is commencing to arrive, and sells for 14c. No quotable changes have occurred. Gaspe salmon has now disappeared from the market. Our quotations are as follows: Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; whitefish, 7½c.; dore, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 14c.; trout, large and medium, 8c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50; No. 1 British-Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—Business in flour has been fairly good, the demand from both local and country buyers, for carload lots, being steady throughout the week. A small amount of business on export account has been done. The market is steady and shows no change in price. Our quotations are as follows : Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4 to $4.30 ; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10 ; strong bakers', $3.70 to $4.00 ; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN.—The demand for oats, in carload lots, for outside points has continued, but in other lines trade is quiet. Corn is quiet and lower in price. Barley is higher and firm. We quote : Manitoba oats, No. 2 white, 49¼ to 49½c.; No. 2 Ontarios, 48¾ to 49c.; No. 3, 48¼ to 48½c.; rye, 67c.; peas, 86½ to 87c.; corn, 72c. ; buckwheat, 68½ to 69c.; barley, 58 to 59c in store.

FEED.—The market for feed has been steady with a fair demand. The offerings of shorts continue small, and prices are firm. We quote : Manitoba bran, $16 to $17 ; Ontario bran, $15 to $15.50; Manitoba shorts, $23 ; Ontario shorts, $24.

OATMEAL.—There has been no change in the market for rolled oats, which continue in fair demand in small lots. The price is $5.40 per barrel and $2.65 per bag.

BALED HAY.—The demand is fair from local buyers. The prices are unchanged. We quote No. 1 timothy, $8.50 to $9 ; No. 2, $7.50 to $8 ; clover, $7 to $7.25 per ton in carlots.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—The market still remains firm, but business is somewhat quieter than a week ago. On Monday of this week 1,000 packages of creamery brought 19½ to 19¾c. Prices are much as before. We quote : Fancy Townships creamery, 20 to 20¼c.; finest Townships creamery, 19⅞ to 20c.; finest Quebec creamery, 19¾ to 20c.; finest Ontario creamery, 19¼ to 19½c. Fine creamery, 19 to 19⅛c.; dairy butter, 16½ to 16¾c. Considerable demand for western dairy butter is experienced for export.

Shipments from the port of Montreal last week were : 29,505 packages, or 6,124 packages more than for the same week last year. Since May 1 the total shipments were 178,808 packages, an increase of 38,598 packages over the corresponding period last year.

Last week the steamships Pretorian and Manxman, for Liverpool, carried away 5,366 packages ; the steamship Manchester Commerce, for Manchester, 5,251 packages ; steamships Iona and Montevidean, for London, 9,247 packages ; steamship Monterey, for Bristol, 8,253 packages.

CHEESE.—The tone of the cheese market is still very firm and an upward tendency in prices to be noted. For comparison sake, we give the prices quoted on July 22 and those of July 29 :

July 22, finest Ontarios, 9⅞ to 10c., July 29, do., 10⅛ to 10¼c.; July 22, finest Townships, 9¾ to 9⅞c., July 29, do., 10 to 10⅛c.; July 22, finest Quebecs, 9⅝ to 9¾c., July 29, do., 9⅞ to 10c.

Shipments from the port of Montreal last week were : 140,557 boxes, or 49,856 more than for the same week last year. From May 1 781,389 boxes were shipped, being 178,558 boxes more than for the corresponding week last year. For the week ending July 19, 76,478 boxes were shipped.

Steamships Pretorian, Lake Megantic and Manxman, bound for Liverpool, carried away 32,761 boxes. The steamship Manchester Commerce, for Manchester, 3,233 boxes ; steamships Orcadian and Concordia, for Glasgow, 4,323 boxes ; steamships Iona, Montevidean and Montezuma, for London, 56,686 boxes, and the steamship Monterey, for Bristol, 41,893 boxes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Some inquiry for fresh eggs for export has been made. Hens are now commencing to be grain fed, so that the quality of the eggs should improve. There is a scarcity in supplies in the country which is affecting the prices in the city. In the city prices are as follows : Straight gathered stock, 15¼ to 15½c.; straight candled, 16 to 16¼c. No. 2 stock are still selling at 13 to 13½c., according to selection. A considerable quantity of Prince Edward Island eggs are offering, but the quality is reported to be somewhat unsatisfactory, as evidenced by the prices being paid.

POTATOES.—Still a further decline in the price of potatoes has taken place since our last report. At the Bonsecours Market here farmers were selling potatoes at $1 per bbl., while jobbers were asking $1.25. The demand is exceptionally good. If the present satisfactory weather continues, which will give the farmers an opportunity of turning their attention to their hay crop, an advance over the above prices is expected.

HONEY.—Very little attention is being paid to this article at present, and, as a consequence, business is exceedingly slow. Prices are unchanged. We quote: White clover comb, 13 to 14c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c. per lb. Buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; extracted, 7 to 8c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—Trade is as slow as ever. Prices are the same as last week. We quote: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 80c.; small tins, 50 to 60c. In wood, 15 to 30-gallon casks, 5 to 5½c. per lb. Sugar, in round lots, 7 to 9c., as to quantity and quality.

POTASH.—Prices have declined considerably and the market is very weak. We quote: Firsts, $4.10 to $4.15. Last week they were $4.20 to $4.30. Seconds, $3.35 to $3.45. Last week they were $3.80 to $3.85. Pearls, $6 per 100 lb.

HOPS.—If reports from Prince Edward (Ontario) county are authentic, to the effect that there is a very poor crop, prices will take a jump upwards.

TALLOW.—We quote: Refined, 6 to 6½c. and rough, 2½ to 3½c. The market is quiet.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Grenoble walnuts are ½c. higher.

Valencia oranges are out of the market.

American pork (Jones'), is 75c. per bbl. lower.

Potatoes are much lower, and are now quoted at $1.15 to $1.30 per barrel.

Pearl barley has advanced considerably, being now quoted at $4.60 per half bbl.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, July 28, 1902.

THE week has been the busiest Exhibition week ever known in the West, and the crowds attending the largest. Jobbing houses have done a good trade, and retail houses the largest Exhibition trade in the history of the city. Among the visitors have been thousands of Americans that stayed, one, two, and three days. The city has been gay with flags, and the illuminations prepared for the Coronation have been used every night, so that the city has had quite an unusually gay appearance.

With reference to the Exhibition, it showed advance over former years in main lines, particularly that of beef cattle and bacon hogs. With reference to the latter, the judge of the swine, Prof. Ferguson, of the Michigan Agricultural College, pronounced the exhibit very good indeed, more especially along the bacon types.

Jobbers declare they have been far too busy to think about markets, and there are few changes to record.

TEAS.—There is an easier feeling in Ceylon teas, and prices are about 1½c. lower.

COFFEE.—The coffee market is slightly firmer, and No. 5 Rios are now quoted at 8¼ to 8¾c.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS.—Advices have been received on this market that the fig crop has been seriously damaged and brokers have for the present withdrawn quotations. The actual extent of the damage is not known. Currants and raisins are in normal demand and without change of price. We quote: Fine off-stalk, $1.85 to $1.90; layers (Valencias), $2.20 to $2.25; muscatels, 2 to 1-crown, 8¾ to 9½c. There is no change in the price of Californian evaporated fruits, and the demand is light.

CANNED GOODS.—No change has taken place in these goods and the trade is active. Reports of shortages in peas and also a shortage in the corn crop continue. Reports from reliable sources are current on the market here that the association is paying eastern canners not to pack. One representative of a cannery admitted, while in town during the week, that he was to receive a certain percentage for goods not packed.

CREAM OF TARTAR.—There is an advance of 1c. per lb. quoted on this market.

RICE.—The phenomenal advance in Japan continues and the present price here is 5½c. per lb. Other grades of rice are without change.

FLOUR.—The market is steady with a good local demand and considerable export trade. Prices are without change. We quote: No. 1, $2.05; No. 2, $1.90; No. 3, $1.75; No. 4, $1.60; No. 5, $1.25.

CEREALS.—Rolled oats is practically the only cereal in demand in sack form, and trade in this is slow locally, although there is considerable export demand. Prices are without change. We quote: 80-lb. sacks, $2.20; 40-lb. sacks, $2.25; 20's, $2.30. Granulated and standard oatmeal, $2.75.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Creamery Butter.—Receipts are still comparatively small and the market is holding firm at 16 to 16½c. factories, with 17c. as the outside figure for the make of one or two creameries. Dairy Butter.—The supplies are somewhat more liberal and there is a very active demand. The past week has certainly been a time of testing for poorly made butter, and a considerable percentage of that comes under that head. The price is slightly better for a good article, some dealers paying 13c. for the best grade, and the price generally is 12 to 12½c. for good butter, but for much that is offered not more than 10c. Winnipeg is paid.

CHEESE.—The offerings continue small and the price is firm at 8½c. Winnipeg, with 9c. paid for small lots of extra choice cheese. There is a noticeable falling off in the make this season, due largely to the wet weather early in the season.

EGGS.—Receipts are still somewhat limited though larger than at the same date last year. The consumptive demand of the city has been enormous for the week, so that stocks are well cleared up, but prices are expected to drop within the next few days. The price is 13c. Winnipeg for fresh case eggs.

GREEN FRUITS.—The market was bare of bananas for the first days of Exhibition week, and when a stock did arrive the fruit was in bad condition, being over ripe. Price, $3 per bunch. Peaches, suitable for canning, are now abundant at $1.50 per crate; red plums, $1.75 and blue plums, $2; pears, $4.50 per crate. Washington apples have arrived and are selling at $3 per box. Watermelons are down to $4 per dozen. Oranges, $5 to $6, according to number in crate. Lemons are firm at $6.

VEGETABLES.—New potatoes, in sacks, 2c. per lb.; cucumbers, 60c. per doz.; celery, 60c.; tomatoes, in 4-basket crates, $1.25; cabbage, 60c.; cauliflower, 75c.

NOTE

One of the finest exhibits at the Fair was that of The Ogilvie Milling Company, and the first prize exhibit was that of G. F. & J. Galt's "Blue Ribbon" goods. The whole process of weighing, packing and labeling tea and the weighing, roasting, grinding and packing of coffee was given practical demonstration to the visitors.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, July 29, 1902.

THE grocery business, which has shown such extensive and continued activity so far during the season, is now passing through the dullest season of the year—the midsummer vacation season, when orders are smaller and less numerous, and the principal trade lies in the local and country markets adjoining the city.

This is the season when the head of the firm hies away to the cool beaches or takes up his abode in his summer residence on the Northwest Arm, or at Cow Bay, to recuperate his tired brain, while the industrious clerks who, too, have earned their vacation, hie away to their country homes and enjoy the scenes and surroundings of their boyhood—for it is a well-known fact that the best clerks in the city are country born and bred.

Though business is dull the price situation, generally, remains firm, and there are few important changes worth noting. The firm position which beef and pork products have held in the market for some weeks shows no indication of appreciation, and this has had a material effect on the part of buyers. These products rose with a jump, and it is not unlikely that the same kind of a decline may take place. Buying is done only in small quantities, and resource is also had to the use of other food substitutes.

New canned peas and strawberries are now on the market, though there is not much retail sale in these at present, as our own fresh crop is in the market. Wholesalers are placing their orders at about the same price as for last year's product. It is reported that corn, which will soon be on the market, will be higher than last year, as the crop is likely to be short.

On a report from Ontario districts that the wet weather had hurt the bean crop considerably, this commodity has advanced 20c. per bushel. Flour continues firm, and in some brands there is an advance of 15 to 20c. per barrel. Cornmeal is now quoted at $3.45 in carload lots, or $3.50 in smaller quantities. This quotation is less than in the corn centres of the west. Round peas have advanced 20c.

The hay situation is now easier. The demand from South Africa having ceased has affected the market somewhat. It is too early in the season yet to predict exactly how this season's crop will stand, but it is the general opinion that the crop will be under the average. That on light soils will be good, but on heavy land the backward wet season had a marked effect for a light crop.

* * *

Salmon, mackerel and other kinds of fresh fish, owing to the high price of meats, are in good demand, and the local market is well supplied. Considerable dry fish is coming in, but the prices remain low, there being no very material improvement in the Southern markets.

Fear not—no harm will come to thee.

During holidays for travellers we will offer special inducements for orders by mail or telephone. Write for one chest of Hapugastenne Ceylon Tea at 12½c., net cash, and one chest at 15c., and see if they are not 20 per cent. better than usually sold. The teas of this fine garden are giving the best satisfaction of any Ceylon Teas we have ever sold.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., July 29, 1902.

TOURISTS are of great interest at present. Our Tourist Association is very active, and everything possible is being done to advertise, in an attractive way, our substantial advantages as a summer resort, as well as to do all that is possible to make the stay of those who come pleasant. While we have those who come to our own city and Province, we have those passing through or making a short stay who go to Nova Scotia, including Cape Breton, and on to Prince Edward Island. One is sure of cool weather and out-of-door life with most pleasant and beautiful surroundings. In business, there is a steady movement of goods. The markets are on the whole quite firm. In spices, some lines are easier. This is the season of light demand. Cream of tartar is very firm.

OILS.—In burning oils there is a steady increased sale. Prices are unchanged. Fall business is beginning to attract attention. In paint oils the easier prices continue, particularly in linseed oils, and sales are but fairly active. In lubricating oils the sales are large. Cod oil is being received quite freely and prices are considerably lower. This is a large receiving point. In seal oil new stock is offered. Prices are still high, the market opening above last year's figures. Large quantities are shipped to the other side from Newfoundland.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt stock here is quite light, but further arrivals are daily expected. Prices are firmly held and full figures are asked. In fine salt, the quantity of Liverpool used is lighter each season, the sale being for Canadian. Cheese and butter factories use the Canadian altogether. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 55 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.75 to $2.85 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22-23c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 dozen; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per dozen; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—These lines still have much attention. New peas are on the market and prices are firmly held. Corn is still low. New western is not quoted. Local packers have sold some. In tomatoes, spot stock is very light. Some local packers have sold, but prices have been withdrawn. Some western packers outside the association are offering at a lower price than that so far named as association figures. In fruits, strawberries and apples are about the only lines sold as yet. Strawberries are firm. Apples are offered at quite low prices. Spot stocks are cleaned up. In salmon, new spring fish are here and find a good sale. Meats sell freely at full figures. In domestic sardines, the offerings so far are light. Owing to competition among packers, the prices are rather lower than they were last season. Finnan haddies have been packed. The pack is not large. It is still early for herring.

GREEN FRUITS.—In bananas the sale has been very large, but the prices are low. Supplies from Boston are rather below the demand. The Jamaican steamer landed a large quantity. In strawberries the season is about over. Our crop was large, but owing to shipments to Boston, Montreal, and even Nova Scotia, the prices kept quite high. Raspberries are freely received. The cultivated are plentiful, but the wild are in rather light supply. There is a very large demand for these from the United States, where they are used for manufacturing. Oranges are unchanged, but the sale is not very large. Lemons move freely at the full figures. Melons have a fairly large sale. Pines are low and sell freely. Apples from the United States are freely received, and the quality is good. Early vegetables have a large sale.

DRIED FRUITS.—Spot sales are not large, and stocks are light in all lines, and loose muscatels and seeded raisins are received from New York to supply dealers till new goods arrive. This is also true of currants and prunes. In the latter new goods will be low. There is little sale here for apricots and peaches. Dates and currants are being bought for fall; prices quoted are low. Malaga raisins have been quoted, but little has yet been done. In evaporated and dried apples a little business is being done. Onions have a fair sale. While a few Egyptian are still held the sale is for American. In nuts, peanuts sell freely at rather higher prices.

DAIRY PRODUCE. Eggs continue quite firm and high in price. The demand for preserving prevent as low prices in the early summer as formerly. The supply at present is largely from Prince Edward Island. In butter, low prices rule. Supply of good is freely received. Poor stock is a drug. Cheese is quite freely offered. The market is rather easy.

SUGAR.—While the low prices still hold, the market is quite firm. There is no doubt prices would not be as low but for the foreign article, which is still being received to some extent.

MOLASSES.—As spoken of in "The Grocer," Porto Rico is not only firmer, but holders of stock have advanced prices at least one cent. In Barbados, there is no change. This is not the season when the demand is active.

FISH.—In fresh fish, the season is getting late. Some nice salmon and halibut are still received, and also some fine shad. This is the season of the best shad. Some particularly fine pickled shad are offered, but the price is high. In smoked herring, stocks are getting well cleaned up, and the market is firm at a full cent advance. In new pickled herring there is a light business at full figures. Dry cod and pollock are quite firm. The sales are not large. We quote: Haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 6½ to 7c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.85 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.50 to $3.65; halibut, 6 to 7c.; shad, 15 to 25c.; salmon, 15 to 16c.; pickled shad, $6.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In Manitoba flour sales are very large and prices are unchanged. Ontarios are firm at the higher figures. Feed is high and very hard to get. Oats are high. The market is well supplied. Oatmeal is held firm, and sales are light. Cornmeal is rather higher and there is a fair sale. Beans are dull, and prices are still advancing slowly. Barley has rather a better sale. The market is quite bare of split peas. Hay is rather easier. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $4.30 to $4.35; medium, $3.95 to $4.10; oatmeal, $5.25 to $5.35; cornmeal, $3.30 to $3.35; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 56 to 57c.; handpicked beans, $1.55 to $1.60; prime, $1.45 to $1.50; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $5.15 to $5.25; barley, $4.10 to $4.50; hay, $10 to $14.

NOTES

Jones & Schofield have Campbell's soups in stock.

A. S. Bowman has distributed the first car of western canned peas to arrive this season.

E. T. Sturdee distributed to the trade last week several cars of spring salmon, "Red Clover" brand.

Northrup & Co. have received new-canned clams, shipped by Brown Bros., for whom they are selling agents.

Parties looking for a pleasant outing should write the St. John Tourist Association for their new booklets.

There is a demand at present from Newfoundland for "Red Rose" tea. A car is being shipped this week to Winnipeg.

H. Hier Davies, representative on this side of the water for Sir Thos. J. Lipton, was in the city this week and was introduced to the tea trade by the local representative, J. Hunter White.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

July 31, 1902.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, St. John, N.B., and Halifax. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit. For Winnipeg market report and prices, see page —.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lowest prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

TALES OF TRAVELLERS FROM THE EAST.

MR. J. F. JUNKIN, managing director of The Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company, who has just returned via the Empress Line from Japan and other points East, was asked the question : " Is there any opening for Canadian enterprise, in China and Japan ? "

Said Mr. Junkin : " Yes, there should be a large and continually growing market for Canadian flour, lumber, beef, and other products, as well as for many lines of manufactured articles, such as electrical appliances, machinery, etc. Japan has made more progress during the last 30 years than any other nation has done in centuries, and electric light, bicycles, and other modern conveniences are coming into general use, even in the interior. The Anglo-Japan alliance will be strong enough to protect China from the European nations who have been acting towards China like a pack of ravenous wolves. There will be no more partition or grabbing of territory, and China will soon learn to confide in the good intentions of the allies, who will then be able to lead her out into more enlightened and progressive ways. Once thoroughly awakened and enlightened under some coming leader, she will startle the nations. The Chinese have a great deal of latent energy, and the business men are honorable in their dealings."

Mr. Junkin also stated : " India, for want of water, consequent on deforestation, seems to be in a state of partial or total famine almost all the time, especially in districts without irrigation. Canadians should take a lesson and preserve their forests, and wherever they have ruthlessly destroyed them, as in many parts of Ontario, they should do a certain amount of replanting each year. In Japan, where they are almost nature worshippers, they long ago began reforestation, and have now many beautiful forests of cryptomena, pine, camphor, maple and other fine trees. Not a twig is wantonly sacrificed, with the result that the whole country is like a garden. Water is plentiful everywhere, and their forests are a perpetual source of wealth."

Mr. W. C. Matthews, Canadian general manager for R. G. Dun & Co., has also just returned from an extended trip to the Orient. When interviewed, Mr. Matthews stated : " The Philippines are very rich in natural wealth, agriculture, minerals and forests.

" This wealth can only be reached by the development that comes through manual labor, and by the suicidal policy of the United States Government in applying the Chinese Exclusion Act to the Philippines they have shut out the only class of people able and willing to do the work—the Chinese coolies. The country will never be developed by the Filipinos, as they are idle and uncertain, incapable of any sustained physical effort, and unwilling to work more than to supply their bodily wants, which are few and easily met."

When asked as to the possibilities for trade, Mr. Matthews said that there was practically no chance for Canadian trade with the Philippines. Flour was about the only article that could be sold, and the long and expensive haul before shipment made competition with the Oregon and Washington product impossible.

There is a great deal of building going on in Hong Kong, with an active demand for structural steel and other building material that could be supplied by Canada if a steel plant was in operation on the Pacific Coast.

" All the foreign trade in Hong Kong, both import and export," he continued, " is in the hands of Europeans and Americans, with Great Britain well in the lead. The distributing trade is done exclusively by the Chinese, who are natural born traders, shrewd and keen, but generally very reliable. Their simple word is taken for transactions involving large sums of money, and they very rarely break faith."

Of Shanghai, where British, German, and United States merchants compete, the former still doing the bulk of the trade, Mr. Matthews spoke with enthusiasm. Of the Chinese he said that they are a much higher type of men than is generally supposed in Canada, where we practically only see the coolie class ; they are born merchants, cool, clear-headed and able, and in a business transaction can hold their own with any nationality under the sun."

" China," said Mr. Matthews, " was suffering from the low value of silver, the currency of the country being on a silver basis. The indemnity of 450 million taels due other nations was due in gold, and with silver at its present price, this meant adding 150 million taels to the present indebtedness, which was a very serious thing for even a rich country like China."

Mr. Matthews replied in the negative to the question : " Is Canada doing as much business in China as she could ? "

" The country is an enormous buyer of flour, which comes almost entirely from the United States, mainly from the same causes as in the Philippines, and because it is cheaper, though poorer. A trade could be got by Canada, and while it would cost something to do it, the market would be sure when once captured, as it is difficult to get a Chinaman to change when once satisfied. There is a great deal of lead used, and with the Government bounty now in force she should now get her share of this market. Lumber can also be sold in much larger quantities if transportation facilities are improved."

" Commercially, Japan has been making enormous strides," said Mr. Matthews. " In 1891 their total foreign trade, both export and import, was 142,154,540 yen ; in 1901 it reached 508,166,187 yen, an average growth per year of 36,571,647 yen. During the four years of 1897 to 1901 the tonnage of Japanese vessels increased 2,287,706 tons, bringing it up to a total of 3,861,659 tons, while Great Britain has 4,080,583 tons and Germany 1,192,153.

" Their motto is evidently ' Japan for the Japanese,' " said Mr. Matthews, "and while they made use of foreigners in starting their railways, telegraphs, etc., they have now dispensed with them entirely, and everything is done by their own people. There is a chance for Canada to increase her trade in timber, lumber, flour, fish and lead, but it will have to be gone about systematically, and may require the expenditure of some time and money before satisfactory returns are reached ; but the field is a good one and the business worth working for."

Mr. Matthews stated that wherever he went in the Orient Canada was a frequent source of conversation. The contingents to the South-African War had advertised the country greatly, and created a warm feeling for us among the other colonies."

THE ONE-MAN POWER.

CONDITIONS of business are always changing. Sometimes we have the changes brought to our attention in peculiar ways.

The existence of numerous law offices where large forces are at work exclusively in the details of incorporating companies tells a significant story of recent developments.

It means that firms are changing to corporations, partners to stockholders. There is an independence and advantage in this form of conducting business which makes it popular.

The old-time business run by one-man power is rapidly becoming a tradition ; just as the newspaper that held its circulation through the presence of one well-known man in the editorial chair is gone. Both changes are incident to natural progress toward the day of permanent and larger things.

A little thought shows us that this is well. When a great business depends upon the energies of one man that man must keep his hands on a dozen levers. The routine even rests for its initiative upon the single personality ; and if that fails there is a bad break. When Horace Greeley died " his " paper suffered in a way that would not be true of to-day's Tribune should its editor pass away suddenly. Most of the readers do not even know the present editor's name.

Not until his recent death did many of the world hear the name of Ford in connection with The Youth's Companion, which he owned. The firm name " Perry Mason & Co." is a created one. Mr. Ford being a modest man, desired to conduct his paper under another than his own name, and so borrowed one from his imagination.

The up-to-date business enterprise starting to-day is an incorporated company. It is an impersonal thing. Customers and the public deal with it as such. Men may come and men may go, but it goes on ; and without stop or hindrance because of the physical vicissitudes of humanity.

It is said of the late Cecil Rhodes that the views he entertained of death were very simple. " When I am dead let there be no fuss. Lay me in the grave, tread down the earth and pass on," he wrote.

In all the great new business enterprises this may be done with the founders and the heads, be they ever so powerful, efficient and apparently essential to success. One by one they may be laid in the grave and the earth pressed down, while the great works and the great work goes on without interruption. —The Business World.

STRONGER PEANUT OUTLOOK.

In mail advices from several prominent Virginia peanut interests stress is laid on the statement that the stock of peanuts of all descriptions are closely cleaned up. One estimate made on the authority of a leading cleaner places the total available supply in the State of Virginia at under 125,000 bags. At this time last year it is pointed out that the available supply in sight was in the vicinity of 425,000 bags. The Prettow Peanut Co. state that the supply is extremely light and that stock is very hard to get. The situation, they state, is the strongest they have known in ten years. A cleaner in the Isle of Wight county writes that he cannot get stock to fill orders even at above the nominal quotation put out by holders of stocks.

In conversation with The New York Journal of Commerce a leading handler in New York said: "I have never seen the situation so closely cleaned up for years, and believe that the stock now available will not last until the new crop is ready for shipment. This will not be before the end of October. The consumption in ordinary seasons for the country and for export is between 75,000 and 100,000 bags per month. With a stock of 125,000 bags, as estimated, it can be seen that there will be a shortage somewhere. The situation is serious and we have difficulty in securing goods contracted for. The sale of 50,000 lb. of low-grade goods was made this week for export."

That's the STRONG POINT in Colman's Mustard

IT MAY NOT BE A MATTER OF HISTORY

But it's a matter of FACT—a fact beyond question—with a great many grocers in Canada to-day—that no other vinegar gives that perfect satisfaction to their customers that . . . . . .

Imperial White Wine does.

NO GREAT SECRET about it either. It's just a pure spirit vinegar of the highest possible quality—never varies in those delightful characteristics which make it a perfect table vinegar. As a keeper of pickles unequalled—at least, that's what some of Canada's foremost pickle manufacturers say, and they've tried a good many vinegars.

HINTS ON WINDOW DRESSING.

IT is very likely that many grocers do not secure for themselves the advantages coming from a well-conducted campaign of window dressing, says Grocery World, through an unreasonable fear of the work involved in making attractive displays. The cleaning of a large plate-glass window that is cleaned as often as the display should be cleaned—once a week—will not take over one hour, and often much less, and yet to many this is the most dreaded part of the work in making frequent displays. Another point which worries many is how to present each new display in a form so attractive as to win the attention of those who continually pass the store. With a little ingenuity this is more easily arranged than many imagine, as is readily proven by the results secured in stores where the work of window dressing receives serious attention.

In one store, a large window is used continuously from one end of the year to the other for displaying the same line of goods. This window has a permanent background of handsomely-framed mirrors, which form a prominent part of the display each week, and yet this window is never monotonous to look at—it is always attractive. The new attractiveness each week is secured principally through changing the color of the decorative material with which the floor of the window is covered, and some slight change in the arrangement of the goods. This window is always very well arranged, but the point for consideration here is the fact that week after week it continues to attract great attention with scarcely any other change than those noted above, and, as a consequence, a great amount of advertising is secured with comparatively little labor.

In another store the design of the drapery remains practically the same week after week, and yet this store presents in the same window displays of groceries that are strikingly pretty with little practical change in the arrangement of the goods ; but with a change in the color of the drapery, as well as the goods, each week, by these simple changes the display has all the attractiveness of a new design, as is proven by the number continually stopping to notice the display.

The most effective design chosen in the last mentioned store is to run a length of flowered crepe tissue across the sash at the back of the window, at the top, from side to side, and two other lengths down the same sash where it joins the sides of the windows, and still another across the bottom, forming a frame for the entire sash.

Another length is then run down the centre of the sash from top to bottom, and this is crossed in the middle by a length run from side to side. Before placing this latter length, the sash is divided into two parts by the length run down the centre, and each of these sections is covered by a huge X, formed from two lengths run from the top to the bottom corners of the sash ; these two lengths being the last put on. Wherever two lengths of the paper cover each other, they are gathered up into a width of two or three inches, and fastened. For the side of the window, the same method is used, with the exception that just one half of the double design used on the back is used. Pretty patterns are always used, and sometimes striking effects are secured by a combination of two solid shades. In a recent display in this window, among other things noticed were sliced dried beef in jars, grape juice, canned peas, bottled tomatoes, canned apricots, fancy carton crackers, sand soap, olives, ginger ale and bulk cakes. The tomatoes were arranged in a centre pyramid in the rear of the window, with the apricots on one side, and the peas on the other, in pyramids also. The bottle goods were arranged in stars on the window floor, and the bulk cakes in neat wire baskets. The window did not look in anyway crowded ; in fact, it was one of the prettiest grocery windows seen in some time, and everything had a neat card with price and description. The lesson of these two windows is this : Find out a pretty design that suits your windows and the kind of displays you want to make. By keeping to this design, with simply a change of color in decorative material and a change of goods, it will not be necessary to make many other changes in order to have an attractive new display each week, and the work can go on without the necessity of worrying so hard over "What will I put in the window this week ?"

Cake and Biscuit Displays.

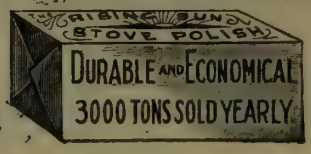
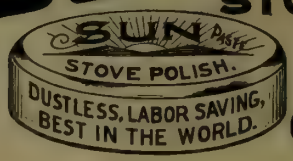
The many little picnics and outings which occur at this season of the year cause an increased demand for cakes, in both bulk and package goods, and this demand can be stimulated still more by an attractive display, remarks Grocery World. The principal part of the display suggested will consist of a large arch, and before proceeding to build it, an inventory should be taken of the package cakes and crackers on hand, with the dimensions of the packages. By taking this precaution, much time and trouble will be saved, because the foundation of the arch can then be built the proper dimensions to utilize the packages on hand in the most advantageous manner.



The depth from front to back of the span of the arch should be the exact length of the longest packages in stock. The pillars at the side should be at least as deep, or even slightly deeper. In building the foundation for the arch, build the side pillars first from empty cases of equal size. Drive a couple of short nails through the bottom cases into the window floor, and in the same manner fasten each case to the one beneath it. This will steady the whole arch and keep it firm.



When the pillars are of sufficient height, in proportion to the size of the window, place on top of them a platform of inch boards long enough to extend 12 in. beyond the outside of the pillars at each side, and wide enough to extend the same distance beyond the front of the arch. The span of the arch can be made from sugar-barrel hoops tied firmly together to form strips long enough to form graceful curves from pillar to pillar, one in front and another in the back. Fasten the hoops in place with a few nails driven into the cases, and, when the proper curve is obtained, run several lines of strong cord from the hoops to the platform on top, where they can be fastened to nails, which will prevent the hoops from sagging under the weight whtch will be placed on them. In placing the hoops for the span, fasten them in such a position that the space in the centre of the span at the top will not be less than 12 in. through from top to bottom.

Run a small strip of wood all the way across the centre of the under side of the top platform, on an exact line with the front of the pillars, and fasten to it, with small tacks, large sheets of cardboard, which must be placed close together, so as to cover entirely the space from the bottom of the span to the top platform. With a sharp knife, trim this cardboard off to conform exactly with the curve of the span, and fasten it at the bottom with tacks. Cover the under part of the span from front to back with cardboard in the same manner, the pillars also, as well as the under part of the platform along the front and at the ends. This cardboard covering is used to form a smooth, level surface to facilitate the work of placing the packages, which are not easy to build in straight lines to any considerable height, only under very favorable circumstances. In placing the packages in position, start with the inside of the arch and build from the floor up, one package on another.

When the span is reached, be careful to keep the packages pressed tightly together, and fasten each one to the one preceding it with a couple of pins at the bottom, and fasten two more pins through the top into the hoops. Continue on across the span, and down the other side of the floor. For the pillars, simply build the packages in regular order, and fasten in place with a pin at each end. The cardboard on the face of the span should be covered with plain crepe tissue paper of a bright shade that will harmonize with the color of the package used for the arch, and a small star or circle can be placed in the centre of the space at each side with scrolls running towards the points. Finish with a border of small packages running entirely around the edges of the face of the span.

The projecting front and ends of the top platform are the foundations for a cornice, which can be made by fastening the packages against the under side of the platform. Other packages should be placed against the outside edge of the platform, being permitted to extend down far enough to cover the ends of the packages placed underneath. Pins should be used to fasten all these in place. If a sufficient amount of packages are not on hand to cover the pillars solidly, then cover the cardbord with crepe tissue, and make a border around the edges with packages and run several stars down the centre. If the back of the window is open to the store, the framework should be covered with crepe tissue of an appropriate shade.

The walls of the window should be covered with flowered crepe tissue, and the floor with the same material in plain white. Place glass-footed cake stands on the floor, each one covered with a flowered crepe tissue napkin, and neatly arrange on each of these a sample of bulk cakes or crackers, with a neat price card on each sample.

Where there is not room enough to arrange such a display in the window the arch can be erected in the store, right on the floor ; or, if room be lacking there, it can be put up across an aisle, resting on two counters, or again even on one counter alone, where there is but one counter. Of course, such a display inside the store would not be as good an advertisement as it would be in the window, but even as arranged inside it would be vastly better from every point of view than no display.

VICTORIA GROCERS' PICNIC.

The first annual picnic and games of the Retail Grocers' Association of Victoria, B.C., was held to Koksilah, B.C., on July 24, and was largely attended. The City Band accompanied the party and supplied music throughout the day. Sports were indulged in by the members of the Association and their friends and a lengthy programme of races was run through. A baseball match between the grocers' and butchers' employes resulted in the former winning by a score of 15 runs to 10. The wholesalers beat the retailers in another baseball game by a score of 16 to 8 runs, and the bakers beat the butchers in another match after a hard struggle. An athletic exhibition was also given by seven or eight members of the Victoria Athletic Club which was heartily enjoyed by a large number of spectators.

LESSONS IN CHEESE CURING.

THE Government Illustration Stations for the curing of cheese at Brockville, Ont., and Cowansville, Que., have recently been visited by Professor Robertson of the Ottawa Department of Agriculture, who reports that cheese made in the month of July and cured at a low temperature have all the characteristics of fine September cheese.

Cheese cured with a low temperature was compared with cheese from the same factories and of the same lots cured in the fluctuating temperature of the ordinary atmosphere. The cool-cured cheese had a firmer, richer texture, and a milder and more agreeable flavor than the other. One pound per cheese in three weeks was the loss from shrinkage in weight in the cheese in the cool temperature less than in the ordinary curing room. In the case of cheese which experts counted faulty, from being almost acidy in texture and flavor, or weak in body and slightly open in texture, as was some of the cheese cured in the the ordinary curing-room, the cool cured cheese of the same lots were found to be free from these defects. Flavors objected to by buyers, and which lessen the value of cheese in the markets of the United Kingdom, are seldom present, unless the cheese has been heated to a temperature above 60 degrees.

About three-quarters of the whole quantity of cheese manufactured in Canada during the months of June, July and August, and an improvement in the methods of curing cheese in the hot weather will lead to an improvement in the trade. Therefore, from 15 to 20 per cent. more value is expected to be realized from the milk during these three months than is at present realized from it by the use of the curing methods generally in vogue.

SALMON CANNING ON THE COAST.

THE str. Tees, arriving at Vancouver from Naas and the Skeena River, discharged 40 tons of pickled salmon on July 21.

Passengers by the Tees report that the run of sockeyes on the Skeena this season has been without precedent, the canneries last week having secured more fish than they could conveniently handle despite the fact that they were working overtime.

The situation on the Fraser River at present is peculiar ; many of the union men are fishing, and many more are not, for the reason that they say they are not satisfied with the agreement reached with the canners by the Grand Lodge.

The union fishermen who are now working stand to make good wages this season if the run of sockeyes should not prove a large one, and the canners will likely pay more for their pack than they at first calculated to do. "It will therefore be easily seen," remarks a British Columbia paper, "that had all the fishermen been out during the middle weeks of July the canners would have been able to put up a great many more cases of fish than they have, and the more cases packed the less money received by the fishermen at the end of the season."

A BIG LIGHT.

One of the most remarkable advertisements that has appeared in Canada is the enormous electric sign on top of the new premises of The "Salada" Tea Co., Toronto. The sign contains 1,200 lights each of 32 candle-power. It automatically spells out the word "Salada" and it can be plainly seen at night from the middle of Lake Ontario.

A GOOD MOVE.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie commenced on Saturday, July 26, to close sharp at 12 o'clock at noon on that day. Heretofore, it was the custom to close at 1 o'clock, but this meant that several of the staff could not get away until half an hour or an hour after that time, which, to a certain extent, broke up the half holiday for them. With the present arrangements everyone can enjoy the full benefits of the half holiday. This was a thoughtful move on the part of the management, which could be followed with credit by several other houses who close on Saturday afternoon.

CONTINUITY.

The results to be derived from continuous advertising cannot be overestimated. That person or firm who desires their business to grow and expand must continue to advertise. In continuity is strength. The advertising you did yesterday will help your advertising of to-day, and the advertising of to-day will help that of to-morrow, and so on indefinitely. The child that makes the greatest progress at school does not attend on Monday, then skips Tuesday, back Wednesday, and then out again until the next Monday. No, he is in attendance every day.

Continuity is strength. Therefore that person who would add strength to his business must keep it before the public continuously—The Schemer.

FRUITERERS TO PICNIC.

The Fruiterers' Section of the Toronto Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada will hold their annual picnic at Hanlan's Point on August 27. Their programme of sports for the day includes a baseball game, racing, jumping and a tug-of-war. Music will be provided and refreshments served.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

THE R. & J. H. Simpson Co., wholesale grocers, Guelph, Ont., have completed large contracts for new pack corn, peas, tomatoes, etc., for fall delivery, which they are offering at special prices.

The Davidson & Hay are expecting an early shipment of currants.

T. Kinnear & Co. report a few lines of Hyson tea in stock. This tea is scarce.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are offering low quotations on their "Anchor" brand of canned fruits and vegetables for new pack.

T. Kinnear & Co. advise us of having booked a number of orders for this season's pack of canned goods.

"If the trade want to get inside quotations on new pack standard brands of salmon," write the R. & J. H. Simpson Co., Guelph, Ont., "they should communicate with us."

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, have just received another car of "Columbia" specialties, including baked beans in chili sauce, catsup, soups, salad dressing and potted meats.

ALL CANADA AT TORONTO.

There will not be a Province or a piece of territory in the Dominion that will not be represented at the exhibition to be held in Toronto this year from Monday, September 1, to Saturday, September 13. To mark their appreciation of this evidence of the country's confidence, the executive have increased the prize list until now it is proudly boasted that, with specials, upwards of $37,000 will be distributed in prizes among the exhibitors, sixth-sevenths of which will find its way to the agricultural community. Besides this $30,000 is to be spent in special attractions and music. The new dairy building and the new art gallery, which will greatly increase the value of the exhibition as a factor in the education and elevation of the people, will be completed. In the dairy building not only will there be exhibits of dairy products, utensils, and so on, but lectures and demonstrations will be given twice daily in a hall provided with seating accommodation for 600 people. Reduced rates will, of course, be available on all lines of travel.

IMPORTANCE OF SHOW CARDS.

NOTHING catches the eye quicker than a well-executed and artistically designed sign or show card. It is focussed on the brain, and becomes a retentive selling expression. They, therefore, live and talk. Good advertising always costs money, and the show-card sign is no exception to this rule. A book of instruction offered in this issue by W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., at $1 postpaid will, therefore, come as a boon to the merchant, as it will save him money by enabling him to do his own sign work, or pay for same with a practical knowledge of its value. It will also be found invaluable to the ambitious clerk who wishes to add materially to his salary. All large stores keep from one to six sign writers and pay them from $10 to $20 per week. A window-trimmer who can do his own card work can save his employer money and thereby demand a larger salary. The above book will be found a plain, quiet, explicit teacher of the sign-painting business, affording a pleasant, easy study. It will be the means of saving money to the merchant and of assuring to the clerk a successful business career.

McLean's Cold-Storage Plant—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

McLEAN'S COLD-STORAGE PLANT.

"BUT is it not expensive? ventured THE CANADIAN GROCER to J. A. McLean who was conducting him through the magnificent cold storage plant which has just been installed on the premises of The J. A. McLean Produce Co., Limited, 75-77 Colborne street, Toronto.

"Yes, indeed," said Mr. McLean, smiling, "but it has to come to this. It makes it so very much more satisfactory to handle these formerly perishable goods. Our customers have so much more confidence in our wares. We find that it pays."

Mr. McLean undoubtedly has acquired, in his most complete cold storage plant, unequalled facilities for storing his goods. With duplicate engines and large pumps operating in the basement, he has nine commodious rooms fitted with cold storage. He has four butter rooms, all shellacked, and therefore odorless. These he keeps at a uniform temperature of 32 deg. The temperature can be regulated to a nicety.

In handling his eggs, before they are candled, just as he gets them in stock he keeps at a temperature of 50. These are then put into grey odorless cases and placed in eggrooms at a temperature of from 32 to 33 deg. His pickled eggs are placed in large vats in the basement at a temperature of 40 deg.

The moisture in all the rooms is condensed at the pipes, and the perfection of the condensation can be demonstrated by a sulphur match test.

Mr. McLean deservedly takes considerable pride in his plant. Its installation is already repaying him by increased business. The expense of the cold-storage system is considerably minimized by this perfect system, which enables him to supply his own needs and also operate the systems of various adjoining businesses.

ICE IMPORTS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

According to the returns published in Cold Storage, the monthly organ of the industry, Norwegian ice was imported into the United Kingdom at 51 different ports during the past half year. The total quantity received was 157,777 tons, value £86,301, or 55,438 tons, value £35,073 less than in the corresponding period of 1901; England received 135,758 tons, value £75 798, decreases of 50,399 tons and £29,609; Ireland 12,058 tons, value £6,054, decreases of 1,374 tons and £2,117, and Scotland £9 961 tons, value £4.449, decreases of 1,703 tons and £1,995. In only nine cases was there any increase, London, Penzance, Grimsby and Liverpool, in the order given, alone imported upwards of 5,000 tons. The imports into London were 78,202 tons, value £40,200, as compared with 95,100 tons, value £52,530 in the first half of last year.

PACKING-HOUSE FOR PRINCE ALBERT.

There is every chance of a pork-packing industry being started in Prince Albert, N.W.T., in the near future. Some of Ontario's moneyed men have been inspecting the place, getting estimates for a site and plans and estimates for a suitable building.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The prices of dressed hogs are firm with no advance over last week. The demand is still poor with little or none offering. There has been a decline of 50c. per 100 lb. on hind quarters of beef, but the demand is still good. The price of live hogs still remains about the same. We quote: Dressed hogs, $9 50 to $10; beef carcasses, $8 to $8.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9.00 to $10.00 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 8 to 9c. per lb., and lambs, 8 to 9c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $6 to $7 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.

Business in provisions has continued to improve and an upward feeling is still felt. The demand for all lines of smoked meats is very good. Plate beef also continues to be steady. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11 to 11½c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23.50 to $24; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.; plate beef, $15.

MONTREAL.

A decline of ¼c. per lb. in the price of "Anchor" brand lard has taken place. A moderately good trade is being done in ham, bacon and lard. A fair jobbing trade is passing in fresh killed abattoir dressed hogs. Advices from London state that the general aspect of the

CHICAGO PACKERS' DEFENCE.

The Tribune, under date of August 3, said: "The Chicago packers who were enjoined May 20 by the United States Circuit Court from conspiring to fix arbitrarily the prices of meat will file their reply to-day. From sources deeply interested in the controversy it is learned the reply will be in the form of a demurrer to the issuance of an injunction on the ground that it is no violation of the Interstate Commerce law for the packers to ship goods and price lists to their own agents in other States."

HOW TO MAKE RED SAUSAGE.

In reply to an inquiry as to how to make red sausage The Butchers' Advocate gives the following recipe: "Cut neck of pork with the rind on into long thin pieces. Take 10 lb. of these strips; chop finely 3 lb. of pig rind, mix the two together and season with 7 oz. of salt, ½ oz. of white pepper, ½ oz. of peppermint, ⅓ oz. of ground cloves, ⅓ oz. of majoram, 1-5 oz. of mace. Work all well together, then add enough pig's blood to color the whole well. Fill into pig's stomach and put at once into water boiling hard, and stir slowly for a quarter of an hour, in order that the blood does not run to one side of the sausage."

MR. MALONE THE PRIZEWINNER.

At the Drummers' Snack Picnic at Alton, held on Friday and Saturday of last week, M. P. Malone, representative of W. H. Gillard & Co., won first prize in the competition of the Hustlers' Handicap. The competition took the form of a "competitive sale" to a supposed customer, before an audience of people. Mr. Malone won on the sale of a box of "Jersey Cream" yeast cakes.

Manitoba---Its Wheat Crop and its Merchants.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Aug. 2, 1902.

YOUR correspondent has just reached this point after a very hurried week of travel, and a general letter on the points touched during the week may not be without interest to readers of your magazines.

Monday morning, July 28, left Winnipeg at 8.45 on the Glenboro' branch of the C.P.R. The train was crowded with excursionists to the Winnipeg Industrial, who had spent Sunday in the city, and, judging from the amount of luggage checked and the enormous quantity of hand baggage, their visit had not been without profit to the merchants of Winnipeg.

Carman is situated 57 miles from Winnipeg in the heart of one of the richest wheat sections of the Province, and is decidedly the most picturesque town in Manitoba, as, in addition to a large number of fine trees of natural growth, the Boyne river runs right through the town, and is spanned by some three or four foot-passenger and vehicle bridges. The settlement of this section dates back to 1880, and the town has had the advantage of a well-to-do farming community to draw from.

Just now the wheat crop is the all-absorbing subject of conversation and interest, as the heads are now filling. The spring was backward and the growth not what it ought to have been until the beginning of July. Since that date, however, the weather has been ideal and the growth simply phenomenal. As the next three weeks is the critical period that will make or mar the season's work, everyone, merchant and farmer alike, is on the qui vive as to the result. A bicycle trip of some 17 miles through the wheat belt immediately surrounding Carman gives one a sight not soon to be forgotten. On either side of the road, as far as the eye can reach, are fields of waving grain broken only by occasional clumps of trees and good farm buildings. In this neighborhood is situated the farm of the Hon. R. P. Roblin, Premier of the Province, where your correspondent saw 780 acres of wheat in one field, that gives every indication of giving 30 bushels to the acre, and may possibly reach 35 bushels.

The town of Carman is growing rapidly and a large number of new buildings are being erected both in town and country; in fact, dealers in building materials are at their wits end to keep up with the demand. A new $25,000 hotel is being erected with all modern improvements, and the Starkey House, the principal hotel at present, is being enlarged by an addition, giving 13 new bedrooms, doubling the size of the dining-room and giving additional kitchen room and pantries.

In the brief time at the disposal of your correspondent it was not possible to call on all the trade, but Roblin & Sons and E. L. B. McLeod's establishments were visited. Both of these houses do a general business and carry large and well-assorted stocks and report business excellent in all lines.

In addition to a general, business Mr. McLeod makes a specialty of ladies' goods of all kinds, and his stock of dress goods and blouses is superior to that of many a large city store. If any lady of the town or country calls for anything that he does not happen to have in stock it is ordered by either wire or letter, according to the urgency of the case.

GLENBORO'.

The next halt worth mentioning was made at Glenboro', 104 miles from Winnipeg. Here also the promise of harvest is the best in the history of the settlement and everyone is proportionately happy and contented. Your correspondent had a view of this section from the top of the mill, an elevation of 65 ft., and from which the country for a radius of 15 miles lies before you like a beautiful picture with the Tiger Hills for a background. There are four large general stores in Glenboro', but it was only possible to call on three of them. J. F. Fumerton & Co. occupy a fine brick store, 32 x 75 ft., two storeys and basement, and carry a large and well-assorted stock of dry goods, boots and shoes, groceries, crockery, glassware, millinery and the like. Mr. Fumerton reported trade for the season very satisfactory.

J. R. Kelly has been in business at this point for a number of years and carries a full general stock. He reported business good, and stated that the amount of cash in circulation this summer was much larger than usual, owing to the establishment of a creamery where the farmers were paid monthly for their cream. This was a great advantage, not only in the matter of money, but also in saving the merchants the loss that is always attendant on the handling of dairy butter. F. Friderickson has done a general business in Glenboro' for 20 years. He is an Icelander, and there are large numbers of his countrymen settled in the neighborhood, many of whom are worth from $30,000 to $50,000. In addition to a large general store business, carried on in somewhat limited quarters, Mr. Friderickson has a good farm a few miles out of town on which he has a crop of wheat that will run 30 bushels to the acre.

SOURIS.

At Souris a brief stop was made, not sufficient to permit of seeing anyone but Mr. McCullough, the owner of the large flour mills, but, judging from the amount of buildlng going on, things must be in a very prosperous condition.

BRANDON.

On to Brandon, where the annual Western Fair was in full swing. The city so crowded that beds were at a premium, and many pepole had to sleep in the city council chamber and the station waiting rooms. Merchants were far too busy to talk.

RAPID CITY.

The next point made was Rapid City, 22 miles directly north of Brandon. The whole character of the country is different, it being fine rolling uplands with numerous bluffs of trees. This section has been settled for 23 years, and has always done mixed farming. The farms are all well tilled, there are fine herds of cattle and excellent farm buildings. The town is progressing. The creamery is doing well. The crops promise better than last year, when the average yield of the section was 38 bushels to the acre of wheat.

Le Page Bros. have a fine brick store and are doing a good general business. Both partners were absent when your correspondent called. Hindson also does a large general trade. He has been in business in the district for about 20 years. He reported trade satisfactory for the season, although the cold, wet weather of June had made summer goods a little slow for a time.

There is a fine large hardware store at this point, but, unfortunately, there was no time to call. It is estimated that in addition to the crops, $80,000 worth of cattle will be sold out of the Rapid City section this season.

As there is but one train daily between Rapid City and Minnedosa—on the M. and N.W. branch of the C.P.R.—we drove across country in the early morning, a delightful drive of 20 miles; the road for nearly half the distance lying along the valley of the Little Saskatchewan, which, in Cree, is swiftly running water.

is a large and substantially-built town, lying on both banks of the river and sheltered by beautiful encircling hills. The character of the farming and business generally, closely resembles those of Rapid City, but the town, being a divisional point, has additional railway facilities. The demand for lumber, and, in fact, all classes of building material, is tremendous; dealers are not able to get supplies in fast enough.

P. J. McDermott is one of the principal merchants of the town and the only one it was possible to call on. He has a very fine brick store, two storeys and basement, and it is packed with an excellent stock of boots and shoes, dry goods, clothing, crockery, groceries, and, in fact, everything that goes to make up a stock in a country town. Mr. McDermott reported trade good in all lines. There is a good creamery at this point and that is always a boon to the merchants as it means a certain amount of cash in the farmers' hands the year around.

was also visited, but that town and Portage la Prairie have already been fully described in these pages.

THE MANUFACTURERS' MEETING.

IT is very gratifying to Canadians who have the welfare of their country at heart to find that the manufacturers of the land have organized themselves into a broad, well-principled association, which to-day wields no small influence upon the future of the country.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association is not an organization formed to secure a monopoly for certain firms, but its aim is to do all in its power to strengthen Canadian industries and gain for them a firm footing in the markets of the world.

While for a single firm or even for the Government of the country to take the needful steps to push on foreign trade would be of little avail, yet, when it comes to a union of all the powerful manufacturing interests of the country, then results may be more easily secured and at a lesser proportionate cost. It was with a firm belief that in union there is strength that the manufacturers of Canada have united together.

All this is but preliminary to a brief reference to the impending annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to be held in Halifax on August 12, 13 and 14. It is safe to say that such a meeting a few years ago would have been an utter impossibility. It would have been out of the question to expect a representative gathering of manufacturers to take the time or afford the expense of journeying to the eastern extreme of the Dominion. But now all is changed. The Association has gained strength in all parts of Canada, and manufacturers everywhere have come to believe in its efficiency and usefulness. The possibility of a meeting in Halifax is, consequently, the outward sign of a growing strength.

At the Halifax gathering several important matters of deep interest are to be discussed. The three allied problems of transportation, viz., steamship communication with Britain and the sister colonies, the improvement of Canadian harbors and waterways, and railway regulation by means of a commission will all be treated. Then, the Association will formulate some definite plan of action with regard to the tariff. It will express its opinion about the appointment of special trade representatives. It will state its views concerning importation of alien labor and about the various phases of the postage problem, and among general matters it will discuss technical education, an all-Canadian exhibition, a new trade index and the educational campaign fund.

In this bill of fare many subjects deserving of attention are included, and it may be expected that all will be handled with the carefulness and the sagacity of the modern business man.

To predict what will be the outcome of these discussions would be impossible, but it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that the Association will not only speak out strongly, but will take action to secure an increase in the Canadian tariff. If such is the case this will undoubtedly be the most far reaching of the reforms that will be advocated. With improvements in trade facilities, all will be in sympathy, but any attempt to change the tariff will likely raise a good deal of opposition.

MARITIME PROVINCES AND THE WEST.

IF we may believe the press of the Maritime Provinces of the Dominion, there exists considerable feeling down in the east about the way in which the press of Ontario is alleged to be ignoring the existence of the Maritime newspapers and their news columns. The protest of two Nova-Scotian papers has received considerable attention in the editorial columns of several Ontario papers, which, on the whole, appear to regard the matter lightly and merely suggest that some better news service covering the whole Dominion should be inaugurated.

There is no doubt, however, that there exists a number of papers in Ontario which have always recognized the importance of the Eastern Provinces, and have given them much attention in their columns. These are the trade papers, and, in justification to them, some allowance should be made in the sweeping condemnation of the whole Ontario press. It will be found on inspection of the volumes of any respectable trade publication that for years the Maritime Provinces have figured prominently therein. Indeed, the good work of the trade papers may be credited, to a great extent, with bringing about the revival of interest in the east, which finds expression in the present meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Halifax.

To take a concrete instance. Readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER will remember that for several years almost verbatim reports of the meetings of the Maritime Board of Trade have appeared in its columns. These services of THE CANADIAN GROCER have been appreciated, as is evidenced by the Maritime Board making this journal its official organ. This is but one of the ways in which THE GROCER has striven to keep all parts of the Dominion united in a common interest—the building up of a great mercantile nation.

In spite, however, of whatever defects there may be in the press, the people of the Maritime Provinces and Western Canada are being gradually brought closer together, and one of the fruits of it is the enlarged trade which is developing between these parts of the Dominion.

HINDRANCES TO CANADA'S TRADE WITH JAMAICA.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has, within the last few months, been in receipt of a number of complaints in regard to the transportation service between Canada and the British West Indies. And the question has been receiving some attention from the newspapers in the West Indies as well as in Canada.

A short time ago, Mr. Black, of The Pickford & Black Steamship Co., was interviewed by a Halifax paper on the subject of Canada's trade with the West Indies. In this interview, Mr. Black spoke hopefully of the prospects, but held that a process of education must go on in the West Indies in regard to Canadian products before the trade would warrant a weekly service being put on between the Dominion and that part of the world. In a word, there was a prejudice against Canadian products which ought to be removed.

This interview has since been dealt with at some length by The Daily Telegraph, of Kingston, Jamaica. The following is from The Telegraph's article :

As far as we know there is absolutely no "prejudice" against Canadian products in these colonies. The excellent qualities of Canadian flour, butter, cheese, etc., are fully and frankly appreciated in Jamaica; and we have no hesitation in saying that, if other things were equal, Jamaicans would prefer any day to trade with the Dominion rather than with the States. But there's the rub. Other things are not equal. And we think that the Canadian commissioner in this island, and every other friend of Mr. Black, should advise him to look at home for the causes of the unsatisfactory condition, or slow rate of progress, of the Canadian-West Indian trade, before casting his eyes to this quarter of the globe in order to discover the obstacles that are in the way. Let us illustrate our meaning by mentioning a few facts that have recently come to our knowledge.

An importing firm in this city — to be explicit, it was Messrs. MacNish Limited — ordered a consignment of cheese from Toronto in the latter part of February. The goods were despatched about the middle of March; the invoice was dated the 15th of that month. But the goods did not arrive here until April 30. A second lot was ordered on May 7. The receipt of the latter was acknowledged on May 15, and received here on May 23. A few days later the invoice and bill of lading, dated May 17, came to hand; and the firm was advised that the goods would be forwarded by the ss. Bauta, sailing from St. John, N.B., on the 28th. The steamer duly arrived here about the 10th inst., but judge of Mr. MacNish's disappointment and chagrin when he learnt that the goods were not on board! The dilatoriness or carelessness of the Canadian railway authorities had humbugged the shipment!

These facts tell their own tale only too clearly. It is idle to talk about the "prejudice" in the West Indies against Canadian products when the real stumbling block to Canadian trade is the carelessness of the Canadian railroads and the exorbitant charges made by those railways. The excellent qualities of the flour, butter and cheese produced by the farmers and millers of the Dominion are not in question. Most people admit that Canadian goods all around are just as good as those of any other country; and some people contend that many of them are better than can be got elsewhere. Messrs. MacNish Limited, are prepared to affirm that the first consignment of cheese they received from Toronto was better than they had ever handled. But how can merchants sell goods (and especially perishable goods) unless they can get them regularly and up to time? Local merchants never experience any difficulty in getting regular supplies from the United States; and it is an extremely rare thing for any of them to be disappointed through the non-arrival of goods on the date promised by American exporters.

Before us is a letter from the Messrs. MacNish Limited, referred to in the above extract from The Telegraph. It is dated July 11 and says: "SS. Bauta has again arrived and shipment of cheese May 17 is still wanting. The great loss to us is not so much the profit gone, but the breaking up for the time being of our trade in this article."

There is no doubt some prejudice against Canadian products in the West Indies; but it appears to be largely our own fault. In the first place, we were slow to comply with the conditions under which the people of the West Indies were prepared to purchase our products. We have special reference to style of package and other details over which we have control. As far as these particulars are concerned, Mr. Black was, at least to some extent, correct when he spoke of prejudice against Canadian products.

But there are undoubtedly defects in the transportation service between Canada and the West Indies. We do not mean the steamship service alone. We mean the whole service between points in western Canada to the West Indies. How far the steamship service is to blame we cannot say. One thing is certain, the steamship service from Halifax and St. John has greatly improved during the last few years, and some excellent boats have been put on the route. At present the service is fortnightly from Halifax and monthly from St. John. The complaints that have come to us from this end have been more in regard to the railway link in the transportation service. Last fall, for example, it was difficult to get cars to ship goods to the West Indies via Halifax and St. John. We know of instances where carloads of of merchandise had to be sent from Toronto via New York simply because the cars could not be obtained to ship the goods through our own ports. And yet at the same time steamers for the West Indies were leaving Halifax and St. John with incomplete cargoes.

Through an official source we learn that the attention of the Dominion Government has been drawn to the matter, and it is to be hoped a better state of affairs will prevail.

One thing is certain, where the transportation service is defective trade must be handicapped. Efficient transportation service is one of the chief foundations for the development of trade with the West Indies as well as with all other countries.

THE TRAVELLERS' HOLIDAYS.

THE two weeks' holidays of the travellers representing the wholesale houses in Western Ontario began this week. While some of the houses allied to the grocery trade who participated last year are not doing so on the present occasion, these uniform travellers' holidays appear to have become a permanent institution, at any rate as far as the purely wholesale grocery trade is concerned.

The travellers certainly deserve the holidays, and business in the meantime will not suffer materially on account of their temporary absence from their accustomed routes. Transportation is rapid and the telephone and the telegraph are at nearly every merchant's door if the mail service is not rapid enough for his pressing wants.

On account of the holidays many of the wholesale houses are making a special feature of their advertisements this week, and our readers will be looking after their own interest by studying the announcements of the different firms even more closely than is customary, if that be possible.

OUR DAIRY PRODUCTS IN AFRICA.

It is anticipated that when the direct steamship service between Canada and South Africa is in operation that considerable more business will be done with that part of the world in cheese and butter than at present.

It is to be hoped that a proper system of refrigeration will be placed on these steamers.

The consensus of opinion among men who know the South-African market is that Canada has an excellent opportunity of developing an exceptionally large trade with Africa in dairy produce. Doubtless the opportunity will be taken advantage of, if good facilities for carriage are provided.

THE YUKON AND ITS TRADE.

AN INTERVIEW WITH MR. GEORGE H. HEES.

THAT far-away corner of the Canadian Dominion which goes by the name of the Yukon Territory, still wears an air of glamor and mystery for the average easterner. Being so distant and so remotely connected with the arteries of travel and commerce, it has naturally become a good field for the propagation of all manner of political, moral and commercial exaggerations. Therefore when a traveller returns east after having endured the rigors of a journey thither, he is eagerly questioned as to his experiences and views, and people never seem tired of hearing about the Yukon Territory. Realizing this continued interest, a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER called on Mr. George H. Hees, of Toronto, who has just returned from Dawson City, and asked him for a "story" of his trip.

"I went to the Yukon," said Mr. Hees, "for pleasure and also for business; to see the country and to examine the prospects for the manufactures of Canada. I visited the creeks and mines and found many Toronto people there, who were enthusiastic about the place. They had become accustomed to the climate, and say they could hardly live now in the quiet east. The output of gold last year amounted to $24,000,000, but Mr. Senkler, the Canadian assistant gold commissioner, told me in an interview that the Government estimate for the coming year would not exceed $14,000,000. The reason for this is that no important discoveries of gold fields have been made within the last year and a half, and the old creeks and finds are being worked out. It will take years—some 10 or 20—to work out the present fields, but it follows unless they discover new ones the product will grow smaller year by year. The hope is to find gold quartz.

"Dawson City, situated at the base of Dome Mountain, rising 2,000 feet above the city, has 5,000 inhabitants and is two miles long by one wide. The Government has shown its faith in Dawson by putting up large and substantial buildings. The barracks for the mounted police are large and commodious and capable of accommodating over 500 soldiers, and, whether mines increase or decrease, Dawson, being the headquarters of the Government and mounted police, must always be a city of considerable importance. It is at the junction of Klondyke Creek and the Yukon River. The Yukon is navigable by light-draft boats from St. Michael's to White Horse, a distance of 1,800 miles. The city has four churches; several schoolhouses, all well built and well supported; two banks, charging interest at the rate of 18 per cent. per annum; two theatres and numerous dance halls, where varied entertainments are provided. Gambling has been lately suppressed, and Dawson is the most orderly and quiet place in Canada."

"How about American business invasion?"

"Most of the merchants doing business are Americans, and, having come out in the early days and having connections with business houses in the United States, they naturally obtain supplies from jobbers where they are best known. They were able to get travellers' prices for anything they had to sell, and the small matter of 35 per cent. duties did not interest them. But now Vancouver and Victoria jobbers are looking well after the trade of Dawson. There are several large transportation and trading companies in Dawson that carry large stocks. They conduct departmental stores, and sell almost anything required by the citizens or miners. These companies own their own ships and carry freight up to St. Michael's in them, thence transfer to lighter craft, which go up to Dawson, thereby saving the extremely high rates by way of Skagway, Alaska, over the White Horse and Yukon Railway, thence by the Yukon to Dawson, which the small trader who gets his supplies thus is obliged to pay.

"Governor Ross told me that but a year or so ago $1 in the east would buy as much as $6 in Dawson, but lately, checking over bills, he found the difference now is about $1 to $4.50. No coin less than 25c. is used in the Klondyke. The three daily papers—smaller than our 1c. papers—sell at 25c. each, $4 a month, $40 per year in advance. All drinks, hard or soft, 25c., but all mixed liquors 50c., poor cigars 25c. or three fair ones for $1. A leading barrister told me he thought he had passed the period of being surprised at Dawson prices, but that morning when he was charged 25c. for a pair of common shoelaces he thought the price rather steep. Rents are very high. An office that rents in Toronto for $30 per month would bring $130 in Dawson. Small shops rent from $10 to $20 a day in advance. Dining-room girls get $100 per month and house servants from $75 to $125 per month. Hotel charges are more reasonable. A small room $2.50 per day, breakfast or lunch 75c. and dinner $1; the meals are better than you would expect under the circumstances. Sample-rooms from $5 to $10 per day; hauling baggage $1 per piece.

"There is now in Dawson a great surplus of laborers, who are ready and eager to go to work. I am told there are 10 applicants for every job available, and yet boat load after boat load of adventurers are arriving almost daily to swell the crowd of idlers. Knowing these conditions, and seeing in almost every issue of the Seattle, San Francisco and other papers the glowing accounts of the Klondyke, one cannot help feeling that the transportation companies are responsible for those alluring stories. Dawson is about 4,500 miles from Toronto. From St. Michael's to Vancouver is about 2,800 miles, and from St. Michael's up the Yukon to Dawson about 1,400 miles. The Yukon is navigable for light draught boats 1,760 miles. The cost of a two months' trip would be between $500 and $600."

Dawson is within a little more than one degree from the Arctic circle, and when Mr. Hees was there in June it was almost as light at midnight as at noonday. Saloons, restaurants and fruit shops kept open all night, and out-door games, like cricket or tennis, were often played after midnight.

LOWER PRICES ON GALLON APPLES.

GALLON apples, for delivery from spot stock, are quoted at $2.50 per dozen this week, which is a decline of 45 to 50c. below last week's prices.

This reduction was made in view of the outlook for the new crop of apples, which promises to be a very heavy one, though it is apparent that, on account of the cold, wet weather which prevailed during the early part of the season, the crop will be somewhat later than usual. But, however late it may be, we have every reason to expect a large crop, and gallon apples, along with other varieties of preserved apples, are likely to be correspondingly low in price.

The prices quoted on the new pack of gallon apples for future delivery are $2.10 to $2.20, so there is still a good deal of room for further reductions in the price of spot stock if jobbers are anxious to dispose of all their old goods before the new are placed on the market. At present the market exhibits rather a downward tendency, and one jobber hints that still lower prices may be expected before long. The demand for gallon apples is not great, and though wholesale stocks are by no meas heavy, still they are sufficient to cope with the present demand until the new goods arrive.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

Montreal, August 7, 1902.

THE trade done in groceries during the past week has been fairly satisfactory, all jobbers reporting a good movement in seasonable lines. Pot barley has taken another advance, this time of 25c. per barrel ; the prices now are $4.60 per barrel and $2.25 per bag. Pearl barley remains at $4.60 per half barrel. Boiling peas are very scarce, and what is left is of a poor quality. The price, however, is up to $1.15 to $1.20 per bushel, and there is a fairly good demand at these figures but checked to a certain extent by the inferior quality. "Anchor" brand compound lard has declined ¼c. Prime white pea beans have advanced to $1.60 per bushel, and are scarce. The market shows a still higher tendency and the opinion obtains that the price of canned beans with pork will be affected. Oatmeal and rolled oats are higher and firmer. Jobbers are now quoting for rolled oats $5.80 per barrel and $2.82½ per bag. In oatmeal, in bags, the price of standard is now $2.87½, granulated, $2.92½, and fine oatmeal, $2.92½, with the usual advance for barrels.

SUGAR.

The demand for sugar from local buyers is fairly satisfactory. A big business is expected during the next month or so for fruit preserving operations. No change has been made in the price as yet. The foreign market for raw beet sugar has been easy, but it is thought that better conditions will prevail from now on. The price of granulated sugar remains at $3.65, while yellows sell from $3 to $3.55.

TEAS.

The demand from local and country buyers for teas has been improving somewhat, though as yet trade is no more than fair. Holders of old Japan teas have quoted at lower prices recently, and one large jobber has refused to buy of the new crop, preferring to take the old crop at a lower price and wait until the new teas come down, which, he states, is sure to take place. Other operators, however, do not share these views. Prices in Japan are well maintained and from their point of view no decline is probable.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is no change in this market. Corn syrups, which are quiet, are quoted as follows : 3½c. in barrels ; 3⅝c. in half barrels ; 3¾c. in ¼ barrels ; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails. Barbados molasses continues to move but slowly, and the price quoted is 23 to 24c., according to the quantity taken. Antigua molasses is quoted at 24c. and Porto Rico at 38c.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned goods, in general, are an active feature of the grocery market. The only quotable change to report this week occurs in gallon apples on spot, which are considerably lower, the price now being $2.50, with an easy feeling in the market. Prices on canned fruits and vegetables, for future delivery, are now quoted as follows : Tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 80c. to $1.20 ; string beans, 80 to 85c.; strawberries, $1.45 to $1.60 ; raspberries, $1.45 to $1.60; gooseberries, $1.45 to $1.60; pears, 2's, $1.60 to $1.70; 3's, $2.10 to $2.15; peaches, 2's, $1.65 to $1.70; 3's, $2.50 to $2.75; 3-lb. apples, 85 to 90c.; gallon apples, $2.10 to $2.20; 2-lb. sliced pineapples, $2.20 to $2.30; grated pineapples, $2.50; pumpkins, 95c. to $1; spinach, $1.50; sugar beets, 95c. to $1. We quote spot goods as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; tomatoes, $1.12½ to $1.17½; gallon apples, $2.50; salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet, red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River, red sockeye, $1.40.

SPICES.

There have been no changes in prices during the week. Most lines are moving briskly, particularly cinnamon, peppers and gingers. We quote: Nutmegs, 35 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c.; and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Tapioca is now quoted at 2⅞c., at which low figure there is a very good business doing. In rice there is no change whatever to report. We quote: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in half bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb. and tapioca, 2⅞c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—A fairly good demand is experienced for currants, and trade is reported to be improving. We quote: Fine Filiatras, 5⅛c. to 5½c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5¾c.; 1-lb. cartons, 6½ to 7c.; finest Vostizzas, 7 to 7½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—While the loss in the raisin-producing district has not been estimated to any degree of exactness, there is no doubt but that it is very serious. On the local market, nothing new has occurred. We quote: Finest offstalk, 6½c. and selected, 7½ to 8½c.

SULTANA RAISINS.—The demand is keeping up well and the market is fairly active. The price remains at 9c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—These are in fair demand at unchanged prices, which are as follows: Citron peel, 15c.; orange, 11½c. and lemon, 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is a good inquiry for these, and trade continues at unchanged prices. We quote: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—Nothing further has been learned in regard to the new crop, which, by all accounts, will be at least an average one. Locally, business is quiet. We quote Hallowees at 4½c. per lb.

FIGS.—An advance of 1s. per cwt. was quoted by cable from Smyrna on new crop figs. This is said to be due to the news in regard to the condition of the crop.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The market is unchanged. We quote: Pears, 10c.; peaches, 10½c. and apricots, 14½c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—On the local market there is a moderate demand for seeded raisins, which are quoted at 9¾ to 10½c. per lb. Reports from the primary market state that raisins will not be delivered for a month or more yet, and that packers are receiving eastern orders, subject to prices to be named, whatever they will be.

PRUNES.—There has been no change in this market, and a good steady demand is reported at unchanged prices. We quote: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7⅞c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

NUTS.

Business in all kinds of nuts is very satisfactory. Grenoble walnuts are quoted a shade higher, and shelled walnuts are ½ to 1c. higher. Both lines are firm with a tendency to still higher prices. Lower prices are quoted on Tarragona almonds, but the market has become firmer and it is expected that the former figures will shortly be regained. We quote as follows: Walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 11c.; shelled walnuts, 18c.; shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; filberts, 9c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The past week has been an active one in the green fruit business. Receipts have been large in most lines. Canadian peaches and plums have commenced to arrive, both selling at 50c. per basket. Jamaica oranges are quoted at an advance of 75c. to $1. Strawberries have practically disappeared from the market, and several lines of imported vegetables have given place to the Canadian-grown article. We quote: Jamaica oranges, in barrels, $5.50; in boxes, $2.75; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.25 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2 and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; asparagus, 40c. per bunch; Boston lettuce, 35c. per dozen; cucumbers, 15c. per dozen; Californian cherries, $2 to $2.50 per box; Canadian cabbage, 75c. per barrel; potatoes, $1.15 to $1.30 per barrel; tomatoes, 4-basket carriers, 90c. to $1; watermelons, 25c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; raspberries, 8c. per box; gooseberries, 65c. per basket; blackberries, 6 to 7c. per box; Californian apples, $2.50 per box; peaches, $1.25 per box; plums, $1.25 to $1.75 per box; pears, $2.25 per half box; limes, $1.50 per box; red currants, 6c. per box; Canadian peaches, 50c. per basket; and plums, 50c. per basket; apricots, $1.25 per box.

FISH.

As the season advances the demand for all sorts of preserved fish improves. The trade in this line is brisk at present, though arrivals are hardly sufficient to cope with the demand. In regard to the new Scotch and Holland herrings, reports state that the catch was about the average. A few lots are on their way to this market. Our quotations are as follows: Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; whitefish, 7½c.; dore, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 14c.; trout, large and medium, 8c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50; No. 1 British Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—The market has become firmer of late on account of the light offerings. A good trade is being done, both for local and export account, in Manitoba flours. There is a good inquiry for low-grade flours, but owing to a scarcity, buyers have found it difficult to obtain all they require. We quote: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.10 to $4.20; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10.

GRAIN.—Business in oats has not been very active during the week and both Manitobas and Ontarios are quoted lower. Since the decline, however, the market has become steadier. We quote: Manitoba oats, No. 2 white, 48¾ to 49¼c.; No. 2 Ontarios, 48½c.; No. 2, 48 to 48½c.; rye, 67c.; peas, 86½ to 87c.; corn, 72c.; buckwheat, 68½ to 69c.; barley, 58 to 59c. in store.

FEED.—The demand has improved of late and an advance of $1 is quoted on Manitoba bran, while Ontario bran is 50c. higher. Shorts retain all their firmness but have not changed in price. We quote: Manitoba bran, $17 to $18; Ontario bran, $15.50 to $16; Manitoba shorts, $23; Ontario shorts, $24.

OATMEAL.—Jobbers have advanced the price of rolled oats by 50c. per barrel and are now quoting for small lots, $5.80 per barrel and $2.82½ per bag. The market is firm and tending to higher prices, owing to the small offerings from the west of old oats.

BALED HAY.—The market has become much more active, and at present a good trade is doing at an advance of 25c. per ton over last week's prices. We quote: No. 1, $8.75 to $9.25; No. 2, $7.75 to $8.25; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton in carlots.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

CHEESE.—A downward tendency in prices is to be noted in the cheese market this week. Since the announcement of last week the market has been heavy and a lowering over prices of the previous week the result. Reports from England are of a very satisfactory character, the inquiry continuing good.

Prices this week are as follows: Finest Ontario, colored, 9⅜ to 9⅞c.; finest Ontario white, 9⅝ to 9¾c.; finest Townships, colored, 9⅝ to 9¾c.; finest Townships, white, 9½ to 9⅝c.; finest Quebec, colored, 9½ to 9⅝c.; finest Quebec, white, 9⅜ to 9½c. per lb. Last week finest Ontarios were quoted at 10⅛ to 10¼c.; finest Townships, 10 to 10⅛c.; finest Quebecs, 9⅝ to 9¾c. per lb.

Shipments from the port of Montreal last week were 129,216 boxes. Compared with the same week last year an increase of 61,234 is shown.

BUTTER.—The butter market seems to have been sympathetic with the cheese market this week, for it also has been comparatively dull. That prices will not

Prices are as follows: Fancy Townships creamery, 19⅞ to 20c., finest do., 19½ to 19⅝c.; finest Quebec creamery, 19⅜ to 19⅝c.; finest Ontario, 19 to 19¼c.; fine creamery, 18¾ to 18⅞c.; dairy butter, 16½ to 16¾c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Market is strong for candled. As a consequence of increased receipts and warm weather, a slightly easier feeling prevails. We quote: Selected, 17½ to 18c.; candled stock, 15½ to 16c.; straight receipts, 14½ to 15c.; No. 2, 12½ to 13½c.

POTATOES.—An advance has taken place in the price of potatoes since our last report, farmers now asking $1.50 per barrel. The stock is said to be of a very poor quality, rot being very apparent.

HONEY.—It is reported that no new stock is being received. Business is quiet. We quote: White clover comb, 12 to 13c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c.; buckwheat honey in comb, 8 to 10c. and extracted, 7 to 7½c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—There is no improvement to report. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 80c.; small tins, 50 to 60c.; in wood, 5 to 5½c. per lb. Sugar, 7 to 8c. per lb.

POTASH.—The market still continues weak. We quote: Firsts, $4.10 to $4.15; seconds, $3.25 to $3.45; pearls, $6 per 100 lb.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Rolled oats are higher.

Pot barley has gone up again.

Gallon apples are 45 to 50c. lower.

Canadian cabbage is 50c. per barrel lower.

Grenoble and shelled walnuts have advanced.

Jamaica oranges have advanced 75c. to $1 per barrel.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

CALIFORNIAN fruit interests say that shipments of fruit this year will surely reach 100,000 carloads. Orange trees have suffered somewhat, but every other crop is larger than in many years, although the crop is somewhat late. The estimate on prunes is 145,000,000 lb.

There are reported to be orders in the New York market for 15,000 cases State corn that have been turned down by packers. A bid of 75c. for a considerable block is said to have been rejected by the principal packers in the State. There are said to be orders for round lots for shipment to the far West, and some packers who have sold heavily of futures are endeavoring to buy with the idea of covering prospective short sales.

THE U. S. SALMON PACK.

According to advices received from the Coast, George & Baker, Puget Sound salmon packers, have named prices on the 1902 pack as follows: Talls, $1.05; flats, $1.15, and ½-lb, 80c. f.o.b. the Coast. The price on ½-lb. is 10c. lower than the figure given out by The Straits Packing Co. Coast advices, referring to Alaska salmon, 1902 pack, say: "The reports from Lynn Canal and the Alaska coast indicate that already the run of the earlier varieties has commenced, and, that judging from present indications, the season's run will equal, if not exceed, the phenomenal one of last season, when the Alaska canneries put up the largest pack in the history of the industry. Most of the canners in Southeastern Alaska have increased their capacity over that of last year, and every effort will be made to handle the larger catch, which was impossible at times last season.

CURRANTS IN NEW YORK.

The Hills Bros. Co., New York, say of currants: "The arrival of the cargo of currants on the Milos has made no change in the position of the market; fine Amalia grades continue to offer at former figures. Early in the week there were rumors of some damage to the growing crop from hot winds, but the latest cables make no mention of such damage, and it is supposed, therefore, that the crop is progressing favorably. The trade seems to appreciate the fact that our market is now on a very low basis; consequently inquiries are more numerous."

DELAWARE TOMATO PACK.

Mail advices from a Delaware tomato packer state: "We are not getting enough tomatoes to keep the cannery going more than four days in a week. From our observation there will not be over 60 per cent. of an average yield in our section, and we are not anxious to follow the market at present," According to other advices from the South the disposition among selling interests is fairly steady on full standard 3s, with offerings quoted at from 85 to 90c. regular f.o.b. as to pack.

LONDON COCOA MARKET.

The market continues in the same quiet state, and scarcely any business has been done, but previous prices are maintained. At Tuesday's auctions the good supply of 7,262 bags was offered, consisting of 6,271 bags colonial and 991 bags foreign. A slow demand prevailed throughout, and only 3,250 bags sold at and since the sales at prices generally ruling in favor of buyers. Trinidad : Only a small part sold at late rates. Grenada shows a decline of fully 1s. Other B. W. I. quiet and about steady. Foreign kinds dull of sale. Ceylon slow, but prices show little change.—Grocers' Journal, July 26.

THE INDIAN TEA TRADE.

The annual returns of Indian trade by Mr. J. E. O'Conor, C.E.I., Director-General of Statistics to the Government of India, afford clear indication of the recovery of India from at least the worst evils of drought and plague. It is shown that the tea exports from India in 1901-02 were 180,000,000 lb., a reduction of over 10,000,000 lb., with a more than proportionate diminution in values. The chief purchasers of Indian tea, England and Australia, bought less in 1901-02, Russia and Persia being the only countries of note that took more. Part of England's quantity of 159,000,000 lb. was re-shipped to Germany, the Cape, the United States, and elsewhere. In 1901, 54 per cent. of England's tea imports came from India. A new feature of the year was the shipment of 15,000,000 lb. of tea from Chittagong by special direct steamers. The statistical position and the prospects of the tea industry are better than they were a year ago, and prices have improved, but great care is necessary to prevent production in excess of the needs of the market, which expands only very gradually.—Home and Colonial Mail.

TOMATOES LOWER IN BALTIMORE.

So favorable are the tomato crop conditions that it has caused another break in quotations, and new pack tomatoes are selling in this market at 85 to 90c. There were reports in this city that western packers were delivering new pack western tomatoes in Chicago at 85c. But inquiry fails to find any truth in the report. On the other hand, sugar corn is suffering to such an extent that packers in some of the more nothern States are turning their eyes towards tomatoes with the expectation of being so short in corn that they will need to take hold of the love apple to keep their factories going on full time.

If the peach receipts pan out to the full extent of present promises, packers will soon be neglecting tomatoes for this fruit, which, in turn, may cause some reduction in the value of basket tomatoes, and perhaps another slight decline in the price of the canned article. The peach season in this section opened about a week earlier than the average time at this port, and receipts are undoubtedly heavier than they were for the same season one year ago.—The Trade, August 1.

OTTTWA TRADE GOSSIP.

August 5, 1902.

THE tone of the grocery trade the past fortnight has been fairly good, although some are complaining, as in parts of the city, where most of the people leave for the summer resorts, the effect on the merchants is worse than on the outskirts where a good percentage remain at home.

The price for canned goods is understood to be set as follows: Tomatoes, 90c.; corn and peas, 80c. A good many grocers are commencing to think that the Packers' Association are wanting the whole thing. There is no doubt that tomatoes cannot be retailed for any higher than three for 25c., and the above figures make profits worse than they ever were. Last year, prices at this season, although higher than the previous one, seemed to be fair to all. It is discouraging to those who buy their winter stock now to face such prices.

SUGAR.- The local sugar market remains the same with a fair demand. Prices are $3.72 for Redpath and St. Lawrence granulated; $3.07 for yellow, and $3.67 for Acadia granulated.

CURRANTS.—Few fine Filiatras currants are being offered to arrive here at 4½c. The market is said to be firmer.

PRUNES.—Prices of prunes to arrive are about for 90-100's, 5c.; 80-90's, 5¾c.; 70-80's, 6¼c.; 60-70's, 7c.; 50-60's, 7½c.; 40-50's, 8c.

GREEN FRUITS.—The receipts of raspberries have continued almost the same every day, so that prices have been pretty even until to-day, when there was a big sale this morning at the Ottawa Fruit Exchange, and berries sold from 4½ to 7c. Black Lawton's are commencing to arrive, and brought 9 to 9¾c. to-day. Green apples, in 12-quart baskets, sold from 20 to 30c.; black currants, 70 to 80c.; blueberries, $1 to $1.25; tomatoes, $1 to $1.25 a basket. At the afternoon sale a car of Californian fruit was put up, and prices were extra good for peaches and plums. Pears did not do as well, but the market has been pretty well supplied for a week back, and they are harder to keep. In peaches, Early Crawfords brought $1.10 to $1.50; St. John's, $1.50; Hales' Early, $1.25 to $1.30; Strawberry Free, $1.35; Tragedy plums, $1.40 to $1.55; Burbank plums, $1.35; Bartlett pears, $2 to $2.25; Californian pineapples, 24's, sold at 14c.; 30's, 13 to 13½c.; 36's, 10 to 10¾c. Part of a car of new lemons brought $3 to $3.15. A car of bananas sold as follows: For 8 hands, $1 to $1.05; No. 1's, $1.30 to $1.45; red bananas, 8 hands, $1.35 to $1.75. A car of watermelons sold from 20 to 25c. A consignment of 20 cases of eggs brought 16c. at quick sales. G. W. Langdon was the auctioneer, and he did not take long to clear the floor. G. W. Hunt, the proprietor, states they have on track to arrive to-morrow 1 car watermelons, 3 cars bananas and a car of Californian fruit.

C. E. Plain & Co. tried to sell a car of melons and a dozen barrels of apples at the back door of the Ottawa Fruit Exchange, but as there was such a large sale of small fruits consigned to the Ottawa Fruit Exchange, the prices received for the melons did not let the firm out, 15 to 18c. being the highest bid. The apples brought about $1.15 per barrel.

VEGETABLES.—The trade in vegetables with grocers and fruiterers this this year is much poorer than ever before, all on account of so many pedlars. The city is overrun with them, so much so that the business with the legitimate merchant is almost nil. There is no doubt that something will have to be done to put this trade on a better basis.

EGGS. The market continues steady. For good stock, prices are 16 to 17c., and the demand is fair.

POTATOES.- The price is 50c. a bag now with a likelihood of a drop when farmers get over the haying.

BUTTER.—The market remains nearly the same. Pails, 15 to 17c.; prints, 17 to 20c.; creamery, in 1-lb. blocks, 21c.

CHEESE.—At the board here last Friday prices dropped ½c. a lb. less than a week before, the price obtained being 9½c. The offerings were pretty large, totalling 1,573 boxes 1,070 white and 503 colored. The following buyers were present:—Messrs. Wotherspoon, Betts, Weir, Prunner, Keenow, McGregor and Weigar.

OATS.—These are worth about 50 to 52c. by the load on the city market.

THE GEO. MATTHEWS CO.'S PICNIC.

The first annual picnic of The Geo. Matthew's Co., of Ottawa and Hull, took place on Ottawa's Civic Holiday to Chelsea on the Gatineau. The day was an ideal one for an outing and the hearts of all were filled to the utmost with joy, owing to the generosity of the firm in providing everything in connection with the picnic free of charge. The transportation, the prizes, and a band for the day exceeded expectations.

A special train left the Union Depot at 7.30. At Hull, coaches containing the employes there were picked up. About 500 employes with their families and friends were in attendance, and all enjoyed themselves to the full. A baseball match between the men from the shops and from the packing house took place, and the packers won by a score of 21 to 6. The programme of contests was carried out as follows:

After the contests all the children paraded and were each presented with a box of candy by Mrs. W. E. Matthews and Mrs. A. E. Matthews. Mrs. W. E. Matthews presented the prizes in the other events. A hearty vote of thanks was moved the management by J. McPherson and seconded by W. H. Coombs, in English, and I. St. Pierre, in French, and was enthusiastically carried by all present. W. E. Matthews made a suitable reply.

Altogether the affair helps a long way towards increasing the good feeling already existing between the management and the employes. The picnic will likely be an annual affair.

NOTES.

The Ottawa Retail Grocers' Association meet next Monday night in their rooms in the Ottawa Fruit Exchange Building, Nicholas street.

Civic Holiday was kept on Monday, the 4th inst; a great number of people left the city. All stores were closed. The day was fine and passed off pleasantly.

The Central Canada Exhibition will be held this month here. It opens on the 22nd inst., and every thing points to it being the banner year in the history of Ottawa. Entries are coming in fast. The grounds are in splendid shape. They have been greatly enlarged and the driveways improved.

EXHIBITION AT CAPE TOWN.

AN excellent opportunity to promote trade with South Africa will in all probability be afforded manufacturers throughout the British Empire by the proposed Cape Town Exhibition. This industrial display, inasmuch as the Exhibition is confined to exhibits from the British Empire, will tend to increase the commercial relations between the South-African colonies and the other sharers in the British Empire. The Chamber of Commerce and Town Council of Cape Town will appoint an advisory board, in order to forward the arrangements and interests of manufacturers participating in the exhibition.

Manufacturers desirous of participating in a scheme which offers so unique an opportunity of bringing their products before the South-African public should hasten their applications for space.

The time fixed for the holding of the exhibition, November, 1903, to February, 1904, is certainly very opportune. The various paralyzed industries, and especially those of farming, dairying and wine-growing will then be busy in schemes for a fresh start, and the tangible and visible exhibition of the latest and most up-to-date appliances, tools, mechanism and machinery, cannot but lead to very extensive and profitable dealings, and the opening, doubtless, of new and permanent trade outlets for manufacturers.

Alfred P. Baker, F.R.C.I., is general manager, and among the patrons are Lord Milner, Right Hon. Sir J. Gordon Sprigg, Prime Minister of Cape Colony, and the Chamber of Commerce, Cape Town.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

A high-class cream of tartar baking powder, used by the most careful housewives, and the best and most profitable baking powder to use or sell. "Royal" affords a good profit to the dealer, and its lively sale adds to the reputation of any store.

The United States Government when advertising for baking powders rejects alum powders in toto or at any price, because of their unhealthfulness. Yet makers of these powders will be found in almost every town urging their sale. Alum powders are a discredit to any grocer who takes them in stock.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK

Opportunities for Young Men To-day.

By WILLIAM F. KING, New York.

THE need of the hour is young men who have a purpose in life and are willing to work hard to accomplish it. The trouble with most young men is that they want to come down through the roof instead of up through the basement. When I started to learn the dry goods business I swept out the store, cleaned cuspidors and washed the windows, began work at 7 a. m. and got through at 7 p.m., for which service I received very small pay, but I was learning the foundation principles of business.

The young men of to-day, when they leave school, are averse to manual labor. They consider it undignified, because they get their hands dirty and must wear overalls or old clothes while they are doing it. They want to start as superintendents, heads of departments or in equally responsible positions for which they are not fitted, from lack of experience and training.

Their hours are comparatively short, the rough work of the store is done by the porters and the cleaners, and they have ample time for luncheon. Nevertheless, they think they are overworked and are having a hard time, and are always ready to throw up their places for anything that promises them a dollar more a week than they are receiving.

I am inclined to believe that the parents are largely to blame for this condition of affairs. If the boy was taught that hard work and close application are necessary to success in life, that any honorable occupation is better than idleness, and that the world owes no man a living unless he earns it, then I am sure that there would not be so many young men who are failures in life as there are at present.

As I said in the beginning, there is need of young men who are willing to work. This is shown by the pages of want advertisements appearing in the daily papers; by the fact that the express companies find it necessary to advertise for help instead of depending upon the waiting lists, which were formerly always full of the names of applicants desiring positions.

It seems to be the ambition of many young men fo live without work, to spend their days at the racetrack and their nights in seeking amusement in the theatre and the music halls ; to have someone—a hard-working father or an indulgent mother—keep them supplied with spending money. Such young men cannot succeed in life. They have no ambition, are not prepared for any kind of employment, and when thrown upon their own resources are absolutely helpless.

The absence of the old-fashioned home life has much to do with the loose habits of our youth. The clubs and social organizations take up much of their leisure time which was formerly spent in reading and in the acquisition of knowledge. Frugality and economy are unpractised virtues. The young man who received $10 a week a few years ago would save $3. To-day he spends the $10 and borrows $3 from his parents or friends.

Lack of purpose and hatred of work are responsible for the number of men between 20 and 40 who are working on pitifully small salaries. You would be surprised to see how many men there are, should you advertise, who are willing to work for $7 a week. They have failed at everything they have undertaken, and are now willing to accept anything that is offered.

There is plenty of work for the ambitious young man. The banking houses, the wholesale merchants, the great retail establishments and the manufacturers are on the lookout for bright, capable young men to whom, when they have learned the business, they are willing to pay large salaries ; but large salaries can never be earned by those who watch the clock, who avoid all the hard work they can, and who take no interest in tneir occupation.

AGED BUSINESS MAN DIES.

On Friday, July 25, there passed away at Rougemont, Que., Mr. George Whitfield, at the age of 75. Mr. Whitfield was born at Rougemont. As a boy he spent some years clerking with an uncle of the same name, a leading merchant in Barbados, W.I., but he subsequently returned to Canada and engaged in the store and milling business at Farnham, Que., with a considerable measure of success. In 1864 he again went to Barbados to assume a partnership interest in the old-established house of George Whitfield & Co., but he was a Canadian to the core, and always said that when he had acquired a competence he would return to buy the old homestead and end his days on Rougemont mountain. Some 20 years ago, though still in business in Bardados, he bought a farm at this place, which he stocked with the finest strains of blooded stock, bought in Britain. Some five or six years ago he withdrew altogether from business in Barbados, devoting his attention to his interests here and in Nebraska, where he had made large purchases of land, and he had only returned from a visit of inspection of these latter interests a few weeks before he died.

MR. STACKHOUSE ON THE ROAD.

Mr. A. L. Stackhouse has severed his connection with F. J. Castle, wholesale dealer in tea, Ottawa. Mr. Stackhouse will now represent the interests on the road of H. N. Bate & Sons, wholesale grocers of the same city.

A WESTERN MARRIAGE.

At the home of Dixon Bros., who operate a general store in Maple Creek, N.W.T., a very pretty wedding was celebrated on Wednesday, July 23, when Miss Harriet Crela, formerly of Peterboro', Ont., and Mr. F. W. Porter were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. The groom was supported by Mr. J. R. H. Dixon.

A TRAVELLER'S BIG CATCH.

Mr. D. W. Douglas, representative in the Province of Quebec for E. W. Gillett Co. Limited, Toronto, besides being a first-class hand at landing orders for his company is also fast securing a more than local reputation as a fisherman. This week he forwarded to Mr. Wm. Dobie, general manager and treasurer of his company the latest trophy of his rod and line in the shape of a magnificent Metapedia salmon, weighing 32½ lb. Needless to say that a day off in the land of big fish and game with such satisfactory results can only serve to stimulate the salesman to land orders for his house proportinate to the size of the fish, and Mr. Douglas must feel encouraged exceedingly. The salmon was shipped to Toronto from Rimouski, Que., five or six hundred miles away, and arrived in perfect condition.

A TWEED MERCHANT'S NEW STORE.

Wm. Wright, who has a general store in Tweed, Ont., started excavating for a 30-ft. addition to the rear of his store. The addition will be of brick and two storeys high. The ceiling at the rear of the present store will be raised to the same height as at the front, and the ceiling of the new addition will also be of the same height. This will give Mr. Wright considerably more room for his large stock, and he will have a much brighter and a more commodious store.

A Two Cent Mistake

Don't amount to much in any business, but the striking point is that a clerk is just as liable to make a mistake of $2.00 as he is of two cents, and a few mistakes like this would pay for enough of Allison's Coupon Books to last a year or more. With these books mistakes are impossible.

If a Man Wants Credit

for $10, give him a $10 Allison Coupon Book, charge him with $10, and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for ten cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon—that's all. And so on for all his purchases up to limit of the book. NO PASS BOOK. NO WRITING. NO TIME LOST. NO KICKING. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? ## FEATURES OF TRADE UNIONS IN GERMANY.

IN GERMANY not only the independent workers have banded themselves together for the promotion of general as well as special industrial interests, but the movement has spread and now includes unions of officials, commercial unions and associations of workmen of every description. The cartel, or union of masters has been formed chiefly for the promotion of industrial objects; we have, as well, associated enterprises of unions, groups, and classes, and, finally, the co-operative societies of the working classes.

Up to the present time Germany has 145 chambers of commerce and trade and 10 of agriculture. Around these are grouped the people's industrial council, the German agricultural council, and the land-economy colleges. The home railways' council represent the interests of traffic. Councils of doctors and lawyers regulate the learned professions. There are, besides, various independent associations to protect the interests of manufactures, trade and traffic, and other unions to represent special classes and callings, namely, the union of German smelters, the great associations of architects and engineers, the German fishery union, the inland shipping union, the householders' and tenants' unions—all of which have been established throughout the land for all the more important occupations and branches of industry.

Co-operative societies—German co-operative societies and associations can look back upon half a century of successful activity. At present the self-aided trades and industrial co-operative societies number altogether upward of 17,000 local societies, of which 9,000 are agricultural, and include more than1,000,000 peasants. Fourteen thousand co-operative societies are comprised in 29 unions. In 1898, the 1,371 associations connected with the Charlottenburg union had 941,000 members. Their share capital amounted to $31,713,500, while the reserve fund was equal to one-third of the capital. The associations lent their members $481,236 worth of raw materials, necessaries of life, dwellings, etc., during 1898.

SPHERE OF ACTIVITY.

A general view of the activity of the entire number of 17,000 German associations will show that on March 31, 1899, they were classified in the following manner: 10,800 credit co-operative societies, people's and industrial banks, societies for advancing loans, savings and credit bank associations were carrying on business with the aid of 40 central banks. Most of the others were employed chiefly in buying and selling; some, also, in producing goods. They were divided into 376 industrial associations (half of these being producers) and 3,900 agricultural associations, the majority of which were occupied in production on their own account, such as dairy work, vine and fruit culture, etc. In round numbers, 1,200 were for the purchase of raw materials, about 100 were occupied in the sale of goods, and nearly 500 were work associations. Of other associations, the most important are the 1,375 co-operative supply associations and the importance of the steadily increasing building and dwelling societies (about 250) must not be underrated.

INDUSTRIAL UNIONS.

In 1898 there were 59 industrial unions in Germany with 500,000 members. Each organization was in turn connected with 16,000 other local organizations. The budget of this immense union amounted to $2,500,000, and $1,000,000 fell to the expenditures. This latter sum was paid out for relief of the needy, funds for strikers, and for the press. The largest list of members belonging to industrial unions is among the metal workers (75,000), the wood workers (60,000), the textile workers (27,000), and the miners (28,000). The most perfect of these work unions, is that of the book printers, consisting of 21,000 members.

TRADE UNIONS.

The second group, the so-called Hirch Duncker trade unions, includes at the present day 86,500 members in 1,700 local unions. Of these, 34,000 belong to unions of engineers and metal workers, and 16,500 to those of handicraftmen and workers in manufactories. The entire property of the trades' unions amounted, at the end of 1898 to $700,000. Since their foundation and up to 1895, they had distributed nearly $5,000,000 for sickness and burial money, in relief for the disabled and needy, for legal protection, and for educational purposes.

JOURNEYMEN'S SALARIES.

Toward the end of the nineties there were 140 journeymen's societies with half a million members. Their funds amounted to nearly $20,000,000, and they had given away $8,000,000 for charitable purposes.

SHOPKEEPERS.

Social and educational interests play an important part in the associations of officials and mercantile people. The largest of the latter is the German mercantile association, with 127,000 members, of whom 25,000 are employes. The chief object of this, together with three other large associations with a total membership of 67,000 is, besides the social side, to procure information as to situations, to distribute relief, and to provide funds for technical and other instruction. In addition, there are four large associations of shopkeepers' assistants.

UNION OF THE EMPLOYERS OF LABOR.

For the protection of special interests as opposed to the workmen, there are unions for the employers of labor. In the foremost rank is the Hamburg league with 17 large associations, which comprises the most varied industries and extends to a number of places. Three are for mining and smelting concerns, 11 for metal manufacturers, 4 for brewers, 4 for the textile trades, 9 local and 1 central league for the building trade, 2 for the hat trade, and 1 for the manufacture of tapestry, besides 3 leagues of masters in the manufacture of wood.

OTHER LEAGUES.

Kindred leagues, representing especially the industrial side of professional interests also exist in the liberal and learned professions, as, for example, the various German authors' societies, associations of journalists, musical societies, the German stage union, the artists' society, banks for the relief of teachers, and societies for female teachers. These not only watch over the interests of the different classes, but also promote charitable objects and offer their collective services for the organization of exhibitions and performances.

FRENCH CURRANT WINE.

THE currants mostly employed in France for making wine, according to a recent report by the United States consul at Rouen, are the Corinth, which come directly from the famous Peloponesian Peninsula; the Thyra, which is exported from Asiatic Turkey, especially Smyrna; the Samos, from the Greek island of the same name; and the Vourla.

Wine made from currants is always of a pale color, though the currants are red. The reason is that desiccation tends to destroy the coloring matter.

In France, the Corinth currants are considered the best for wine, and the process is as follows: The fruit is placed in water in order to recover the moisture lost by drying. The quantity of water is determined by the degree of alcohol desired. It is said that usually 100 kilograms (220.46 lb.) of dried Corinth currants contain enough sugar to give 30 deg. or 32 deg. of alcohol. When 100 kilograms are used, 150 liters (39,615 gallons) of water give 19 to 22 deg.; 175 liters (46.249 gallons) of water give 16 to 18 deg.; 200 liters (52.834 gallons), 14 to 15 deg.; 225 liters (59,438 gallons), 13 to 14 deg.; 250 liters (66,042 gallons), 12 to 13 deg.; 275 liters (72,646 gallons), 11 to 12 deg.; 300 liters (79,251 gallons), 10 to 11 deg.; 325 liters (85,855 gallons), 8 to 10 deg.

The water is placed in the vat and the currants are poured in, care being taken to scatter them well, as otherwise the water cannot penetrate the coagulated fruit, and considerable alcohol is lost. The temperature of the room should be from 15 to 20 deg. C. Fermentation begins at once, and during the first two days it is only necessary to stir the fruit, scattering the masses and immersing the covering of currants which comes to the top, called the hat. This porous mass acidifies rapidly when in contact with the air, and should never be allowed to remain exposed; the vat should be covered with cloth.

The fermentation is finished in 10 or 15 days; in winter, the time is usually longer. When the temperature of the must in the vat is no more than 21 deg. C., fermentation usually ceases. To be mathematically sure, however, there is employed in France an instrument called the Salleron mustimeter, by which one can tell exactly how much sugar remains. Usually, after the fermentation ceases, the wine is left for 24 hours.

After the liquid is drawn off, it undergoes a slight fermentation, which finishes the operation. All the water that has been absorbed by the currants should be pressed out quickly, in order that the skins may be in contact with the air as short a time as possible. The wine from the press, when clarified, can be mixed with that of the first jet. The skins themselves, it is said, make an excellent brandy

EXAMPLES OF SOME FEATURES.

SNOOKS had $5,000 a year as manager of a department in a big manufacturing house. A new directorate, believing that expenses could be reduced without detriment to the business, lopped off some helpers, and reduced all salaries. Snooks was offered $3,500, but he thought he was indispensable, and had been there so many years that he could afford to decline, and offered his resignation. It was accepted. Snooks lost his savings in endeavoring to inaugurate a new business, then hunted for a situation, and changed occupations half a dozen times in two years, and is now a broker (?)

Snooks monkeyed with a buzz-saw.

Moral: Don't get the "big head," and think you are the whole shooting match. If you died suddenly, someone would be found to take your place, and the world would soon forget that you lived.

Leaky occupied a position of trust, and was familiar with the secrets or inside workings of the business. He talked too much, and told things about the firm that he should have kept sacredly secret. They reached competitors, and made mischief.

Leaky monkeyed with a buzz-saw.

Moral: Be more true to your employer than to yourself, and never betray a confidence.

Lyhur thought he was smart. He sold Scruggs & Co. six dozen red currant jelly which he vowed was absolutely pure currant-juice and granulated sugar. The price was $2.75 per dozen. Lyhur delivered an imitation jelly that had a fraction of currant juice, and which cost $1.05 per dozen. Scruggs & Co. discovered the swindle, and closed an account that amounted to $16,000 a year.

Lyhur monkeyed with a buzz-saw.

Moral: It doesn't pay to be a liar—not even in the jobbing grocery trade.

Snippy was a spruce young chap, somewhat of a dude in appearance. He wore a 3¼-inch collar, and a stock; parted his hair in the middle; ironed his trousers three times a week; smoked cork-tipped cigarettes; did his work mechanically, and persistently trespassed on the allotted hours of work. He took one hour and a quarter for luncheon, was invariably late in the morning, and quit a little ahead of time. He was kindly admonished to mend his ways, but he did not take the reproof to heart, and after a day or two of doing well, he fell into his old tricks. On the next pay day he was informed: "Your services are no longer required."

Snippy monkeyed with a buzz-saw.

Moral: Be exact and obedient, even in the most trival details, and thereby win confidence.

Sporty was bright, pert, quick to work, and did everything well, but there was sporting blood in his veins, so that he read the sporting news on his way to business, and on the way home at night. Everybody about the store liked him because he was genial, good natured, told funny stories, and was hail fellow well met. He knew just how the baseball record of games stood, and the score of all the clubs. He kept track of the races, and on Sunday morning went to church on the Speedway. He bet on Remorse, and lost $10; made $15 on a two-year-old, and then lost $30 on the favorite. After the races he drank beer, smoked Perfectos, and wound up the day at a roof garden vaudeville. He had $10 a week, spent $20 or more, and, when pressed, borrowed from his friends; and later, when in dire straits, made himself a loan without authority of the firm, and was found out and bounced.

Sporty monkeyed with a buzz-saw.

Moral: Business and sport are not twins. "No man can serve two masters."

Ti-ar-di was of Italian parentage, but, unfortunately, was born tired. The time book proved that he was slow to come and slow to go. If he was sent on an errand that ought to have been done in ten minutes, he managed to take an hour. Every dead horse he saw in the street kept his gaze for a long while. He couldn't pass a bulletin board without reading and studying it. He couldn't move quick, or wouldn't, which is just as bad. One of the firm caught him sound asleep on a pile of coffee bags, on the fourth loft, on a muggy July day, and told him that if he didn't get a move on, and keep moving better in the future than in the past, he could try and earn his eight dollars a week somewhere else. Ti-ar-di promised to mend, but his sluggish blood knocked his good resolution endwise, and he was "fired."

Moral: Time is money.

Ti-ar-di monkeyed with a buzz-saw.

Fourgot came down town one morning without his keys. That might happen to anyone, but he frequently did it, for forgetting things was his weak spot. Now it happens that a good memory is an indispensable qualification in a helper, while a bad memory causes loss of time, money, and patience, besides aggravating customers and worrying creditors. He once carried a check for $605 in his pocket for a week, and might have carried it longer, had not the house been dunned for the amount, and thus discovered Fourgot's lapse of memory. He neglected to charge goods; make credits; did errands wrong; passed over specified duties. Reprimands did no good, and Fourgot was given a permanent vacation.

Fourgot monkeyed with a buzz-saw.

Moral: Bad memory has its root in bad attention.

Friskie had curly hair, which was always scented and shiny; he wore Dolly Varden ties and Oxford shoes. His eyes were sheltered from the sun by a $2.50 imitation Panama parachute. His salary was $4 per week as a general utility boy—a position that gave him a splendid chance to learn all the details of a prosperous firm, and lay a superb foundation for the future. Friskie meant well, but he was careless. He dropped a two-pound weight through a showcase on the sample floor, and once upset his boss' inkstand, whereby the morning correspondence was deluged with ink, and a dozen letters blotted that were awiting signature. He continually put things in the wrong place, was inattentive when receiving orders, and hence made innumerable mistakes. Orderliness had no place in his make-up, so that forty times a day he did some trivial, careless thing whereby work was demoralized, and routine demolished. Admonition failed, and he was sent to hunt a new job.

Friskie monkeyed with the buzz-saw.

Moral: A careless watch invites the vigilant foe.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

No. 1

THIS style is particularly suited for a reading light—the shades prevent the light from tiring the eyes and the burner can be raised just the same as any other students lamp.

IT can be carried around the house with perfect safety and as the base is heavily weighted there is no danger of its up-setting.

THE light is soft enough for the most sensitive eyes and yet strong enough for the finest print.

BEST ON EARTH

Now for Pickles.

Time is near at hand when your customers will be making pickles, sauces, etc. You will be asked to send the best vinegar you have for the purpose (and remember it is a particular business this making of pickles—that is good pickles) and vinegar has a lot to do with the result.

Do you handle Imperial White Wine ?

The vinegar that is used exclusively by the majority of Canada's foremost pickle and sauce manufacturers. "Imperial" has been proven to be nearer the standard of absolute reliability than any other vinegar used. No experiment—no doubt—but perfect safety with "Imperial."

Price, just that of the ordinary standard article. Order from your wholesale grocer, and take none but "IMPERIAL."

Downweight is a Thief

Stealing Your Profits Every Time You Use Your Scales. . . .

The Toledo Springless, Automatic, Computing Scale, "The Scale with Brains," is the only scale in the world that positively stops the giving of DOWNWEIGHT. It is the only Automatic Computing Scale in the world without springs. No hand operation in weighing; no prices to set; no levers to move; no weights to lift; no poises to shift; you simply place the article to be weighed on the scale, and the scale instantly and automatically shows in plain figures:

1. The weight of the article in pounds and ounces.
2. The price per pound.
3. The total value of the article in dollar and cents.

It is a mechanical wonder, marvelous in its Simplicity, Sensitiveness, Accuracy and Rapidity of Operation. Made in many styles and sizes for all kinds of stores. Write to-day for illustrated catalogue.

AS DEMONSTRATED BY ANALYSIS.

TOWARDS the end of the 18th century not a few of the pioneers of agricultural progress recognized in education and experiment the most important agencies for future advance, and as early as 1800 the second President of the English Board of Agriculture strongly urged the establishment of an experimental farm with an annual subsidy of $2,500. Even Columella, a Roman writer, complained that every art was taught methodically, whilst that of husbandry was neglected. And so, to this day, the same complaint may, with some degree of truth, be made.

HUSBANDRY IN THE SCHOOLS

Husbandry should form a more leading part of our education at public schools. In 1790 the first chair of agriculture and rural economy was founded in the University of Edinburgh, and endowed by the Government with $750 a year. For more than a hundred years it has exercised an unobtrusive but stimulating influence on the farming practice of the whole of Britain. As the end of the 18th century witnessed the formal initiation of education in agriculture, so it was also this period that gave birth to the scientific literature on the subject. While prior to this FitzHerbert, Tusser, Markham, Blith, Weston, Tull, Hartlib, and others, had described the agricultural conditions in Great Britain and other countries, it was reserved for Lord Dundonald (an ancestor of the new General Officer Commanding the Canadian Militia, and who recently arrived in Ottawa), to give shape to the idea that was, doubtless, gradually forming in the minds of the philosophers of the last decade of the 18th century, and to emphasize, once for all, the dependence of agriculture on chemistry. This Lord Dundonald did in "A Treatise Showing the Intimate Connection Between Agriculture and Chemistry," published in 1795, and "The Principles of Chemistry Applied to the Improvement of Agriculture," published in 1799.

CHEMISTRY AND ACRIGULTURE

The closing years of the 18th century thus recognized the important connection that exists between chemistry and agriculture, while the 19th century effected its consummation.

The century that recently closed was only two years old when the British Board of Agriculture invited Sir Humphry Davy to expound before them the scientific basis of the farmer's business, and this he did annually up to 1813, when his lectures were collated and published under the title of "Elements of Agricultural Chemistry," rapidly running through several editions. It was Sir Humphry Davy who described science as the refinement of common sense guided by experience gradually substituting sound and rational principles for vague popular prejudices. It was the teaching of Davy that broke up the system of bare-fallowing, so that in Great Britain to-day the portion of bare fallow to total arable area has fallen to 1 in 50. As regards germination, Davy's views were entirely in line with the present-day knowledge, while wheat rust was well known to be frequently associated with the presence of barberry bushes in the neighborhood. Although the recognition of the fact that leguminous crops leave the land rich in nitrogen may not first have been made by Davy, he anticipated by more than half a century the experimental demonstration that such crops draw most of their supply of nitrogen from the atmosphere.

The experiments of Liebig, Lawes and Henslow in 1840 and the three following years, introduced to practical use that invaluable fertilizer, superphosphate of lime. Then came underground field drainage, by which enormous areas, with the assistance of Parliament, were relieved of their superabundant moisture.

THE BRITISH CORN LAWS.

From the beginning of 1800 to 1846, Parliament was constantly attempting to improve agriculture by means of taxation on imported grain, and with slight modifications from 1804, and with a differential tariff in favor of Canadian grain, protection governed the fiscal policy of Great Britain until 1846, when the only shred of protection that was left was 25c. per quarter upon all kinds of grain. The abolition of the Corn Laws in 1846 marked the critical date in the history of the agriculture of the country. It is not that in the latter half of the century agriculture has been furnished with any new aids that it has flourished, but that existing aids have been more generally and more fully utilized. The extensive agriculture of the thirties was superseded by the intensive agriculture of the sixties. The improvement of roads, the construction of railways, the inauguration of agricultural societies and annual shows, the extension of literature and the spread of education, have all tended to place farmers in the position of being acquainted with the most recent developments of their business. One of the main features of the agriculture of the past half century has been the increasing amount of attention that has been given to live stock, the tendency in the Motherland being that now more and more of the crops of the farm are finding their way to market in the shape of beef and mutton and dairy products.

STOCK-RAISING ON BRITISH FARMS

To-day more than ever before the tendency of the British farmer is to compete with the foreign and colonial markets in stock-raising, so as to supply the home markets as much as possible with the million and a half of cattle, and the seven millions of sheep, that are being landed on her shores. Every year will see less grain-growing and more stock-raising in Britain. And here is Canada's chance to step in the gap vacated by the home farmer. The British public refuse absolutely to be fed with home-made grain. They deny that it makes the best or the most satisfying bread-loaf. Thirty years ago it was the custom in that country to make flour suitable to the public taste, that would give satisfaction to the consumers, both in town and country, by the admixture of 75 per cent. of home-made wheats with 25 per cent. of foreign. In fact, after an ordinarily favorable harvest some large country mills, favorably situated in good wheat districts, would grind 80 per cent., or even 100 per cent. of native grain. Fifteen years ago the proportion of foreign wheat that a miller would be compelled to use had increased to one half, whilst to-day, it is not safe to make flour to meet the general demand from a mixture containing more than 20 to 25 per cent. of English wheat, and there are mills where even this small proportion has had to be reduced to 15 per cent.

WHY CANADIAN FLOUR IS THE BEST.

Why this change? It is because British agriculturists, unlike their Canadian brethern, are not alive to the essential quality of "strength" in their wheat. They do not recognize, as Canadian farmers do, that strength is determined by the presence in wheat of what is known as gluten, and that of the right kind. And, so, to-day, Canada is in every sense of the term "The Granary of the World."

The farmers of Canada know by experience that the Government have their interests at heart, for have not the farmers full pockets as the results of following their teaching and training? And not only so, but they are growing the best wheat in the world, as proved by comparison of analyses. Canadian best patents show wet gluten, 34.22 and dry gluten, 12.33, as against 26.17 wet gluten and 9.79 dry gluten in the best grades that can be found to compare with it at all. Then take the percentages of albuminoids or protein, the most important part from a nutritive point of view, and what are the results? By the same comparison Canadian patents come out at 12.59 per cent., as compared with 11.27 in the other samples. British bakers have personally demonstrated that not only is Canadian flour unsurpassed for whiteness, sweetness and strength, and that it is unadulterated, but that from it they can make not only the best quality of bread, but the largest quantity per barrel. Three tests in London gave the following results, each using 100 lb. of flour:—146 lb. of bread, 151 lb. of bread, and 152 lb. of bread.

OUR EXPORTS OF WHEAT AND FLOUR.

In 1884 Canada exported in value, wheat, $812,923; in the following year it had risen to $1,966,287; then it leapt up to $3,025,864 in 1886, and in 1900 had grown to $11,995,488. Flour that in 1884 only amounted to $1,025,995, in 1886 had risen to $1,744,969, and last year took the mark at $4,015,226. Without being wearisome these figures tell, and they bear repetition.

And this is one of the results in Canadian farming of "the refinement of common sense guided by experience substituting sound and rational principles in farming for vague popular prejudices." It is a practical proof that "obedience is better than sacrifice."

THE CANADIAN FARMER

is an apt pupil, but only so long as he wills to do that which the Department of Agriculture sets before him as the straight path of duty, defined after long years of patient trial and investigation, will he be in the happy position of being able to capture the markets of the world in the production of all that the world's markets require in general, and wheat and flour in particular. The Departmental experimentalists are never at rest, yet they never get weary of well doing; and in their tasks they are greatly stimulated by the knowledge that they possess the confidence of our farmers and are doing the best they can for the development of Canada and all things Canadian in the most useful of all callings.

FIRST TEA BREWED.

"The first tea brewed in England was in the year 1666," says The London Truth, "when Lord Arlington, who had brought a small quantity from the East presented it at Goring House, afterwards named 'The Arlington' in his honor."

Lord Arlington was a member of the famous "Cabal Administration," and did much to introduce this fascinating herb, which became a regular fixture at all state occasions in England after that.

Tea was first brought to the American colonies, so tradition has it, "as early as 1680, and was considered a rich treat, for it cost about £1 6d. per pound."

On all festive occasions, the report states, it was "freely brewed, and the governors of colonies invariably served it at all the important functions of the day."

E. Conroy & Nephew, general merchants, Wine Harbor, N.S., have dissolved; E. Conroy continues.

THE CHINA TEA TRADE.

THE condition of the tea trade of China at the present time forms the subject of a report by British Consul Playfair, which will be read with interest by those engaged in the handling of the teas of China and others. The apparent decline in the trade attracts the consul's particular notice. He says: "The change which has come over the tea trade, not of Foochow alone but at other producing centres in China, and which is ruining what was once a flourishing industry, seems ascribable to several causes, not all within the power of the sufferers to remedy. First, there is the indisputable fact that the use of due care in the manipulation of the leaf when growing, when being picked, and when being prepared for its transit over the sea, is not exercised by the native grower. The means of insuring all this has been repeatedly indicated to him and put within his reach, with no result, either owing to apathy, ignorance, or dogged conservatism. He has been in turn implored, scolded and lectured, but all to no purpose. Some years ago a circular was issued by the Inspector-General of Customs, warning tea growers that owing to the superior methods prevailing in India, the trade was slipping out of China's hands—hands that used to supply the world. It was recognized by Europeans interested in the industry that the lead taken by India and Ceylon had been secured by the substitution of machinery for hand labor. Machinery was accordingly imported. In some places more even than this was done in the effort to infuse new life into a moribund industry. While Formosa was still Chinese the governor imported into the north of the island not only the machinery considered desirable, but even an expert from Assam. But neitner in Formosa nor in Foochow have these devices proved of any avail. To the intelligent native they possibly appealed, but not to the fountain head—the grower and the picker, whose methods continued to be unscientific and primitive. His livelihood was obviously slipping from him, but the prospect of even that catastrophe has had no power to startle him from his invincible optimism."

CHANGE IN PUBLIC TASTE.

"Secondly," says the Consul, "there is the change which has come over public taste in Europe. When China held the monopoly of tea production, China tea was necessarily bought. But when Assam and Ceylon entered into the competition it was very soon apparent that the liking for their products was increasing rapidly, and China tea was in no long time hopelessly distanced.

Thirdly, the present great trade in Indian and Ceylon teas has been fostered by judicious and persistent advertising, to which the Foochow merchants appear to have not condescended to resort. Fourthly, the trade is crushed by an excessive export duty. When the duty on tea was first made specific, it no doubt represented fairly enough the five per cent. ad valorem sanctioned by treaty. The diminishing value of teas has, however, resulted in the export duty of to-day representing 40 instead of five per cent. The first, second, and fourth causes seem beyond the control of the merchants, but the remedy for the third should be well within their reach.

ADVERTISEMENT NEEDED.

"Advertisement is the life-blood of commerce at the present day, and is freely resorted to in all departments wherever there is an element of competition. Where soaps, pills, cocoa, bicycles, typewriters, and a host of other things are concerned, the advertiser, if the statements are to be believed, owns the best variety. It stands to reason that this cannot be so in each case, and though each advertiser must be conscious that his panegyric will not be universally accepted as gospel truth, he continues to publish his vaunts, and presumably finds it pays to do so. All the excellencies attributed by interested proprietors to the various soaps, pills, cocoas, and so on cannot possibly be founded on fact, yet the mere iteration tends to promote successful sales. A dozen virtues might be predicated for China teas, without overstepping the bounds of truth, and it seems a pity no one has taken the matter in hand. If the teas of India or Ceylon had occupied exactly the space once filled by the teas of China, the case would be more desperate. But it is not so. If China teas disappear the breakfast tables of the world will be the poorer."

THE MONTREAL BAKERS' OUTING.

ON August 6 the bakers of Montreal held their annual excursion and picnic, this time at Highgate Springs, Vt. The most beautiful weather prevailed during the day, and in many ways the present year's outing was a greater success than any other yet held. An interesting programme of sports was provided, Lieut.-Col. Stevenson being one of the judges. Two splendid orchestras added to the enjoyment of the party during the trip and on the grounds. Following are the results of the games :

Throwing 56-lb. weight, open—1, T. McBride, 2, A. Smith; 3, F. Phillips.

Putting 16-lb. shot, open—1, A. Smith; 2, T. McBride; 3, F. Rodger.

FRUIT GROWERS' CONVENTION.

THE Pomological and Fruit Growing Society, of the Province of Quebec met at Aylmer on Thursday, and listened to a number of excellent papers by different members of the society, and spent a very profitable and enjoyable afternoon. On Friday they were expected to pay a visit to the Central Experimental Farm.

N. E. Jack, Chateauguay, opened the Thursday afternoon session with an address. Then followed a number of papers, all of which were listened to with much interest. The subjects were: "Notes on the Culture of the Pear in the Province of Quebec," paper read by G. Reynaud; "Plums," by W. W. Dunlop; "Notes on Plums and Pears grown at Village des Aulnaies," by Auguste Dupuis; "Pruning, its Principles and Practice," by W. Mead Pattison; "Floriculture, Annuals, etc.," by W. B. Whyte.

In the evening, the session opened at 8 p.m. with a good attendance. The first paper read was on "Noxious Weeds," by J. M. Fisk. Then Professor M. F. Macoun took up the subject of "Fruits for the Home Market, with Notes on their Culture," and dealt with it in a most entertaining manner. Dr. Fletcher wound up the evening session with a paper on "Insects Injurious to Fruits."

SAMPLES OF CONFECTIONERY.

The Globe Manufacturing Co., 103 Adelaide street west, Toronto, have an interesting announcement this week for grocers who are handling varied lines of confections. Their nut popcorn is what its name implies, "Something Good," while their "Boston Fritters" are also a quick-selling sweatmeat. These are lines which grocers can handle with little trouble, making a neat display in their confection showcase and netting a considerable profit. The Globe Co. offer to send free sample packages with prices to any intending customer.

CATALOGUES, BOOKLETS, ETC.

POP-CORN MACHINE.

C. Cretors & Co., Chicago, have issued a bright booklet dealing with the excellences and efficacy of their machines. The durability, simplicity and utility of their various poppers and peanut roasters, with base and wagon models, are all properly emphasized. Some very suggestive testimonials are produced to attest the validity of their claims, and the whole is an excellent catalogue.

DISPLACING POTEEN.

Tea is thought to be displacing poteen in Ireland whose people now consume eight lb. of tea per capita annually, which is some four lb. ahead of the quantity consumed by the Englishman. To encourage the use of this gentle stimulant by the Irish it was even proposed to exclude Ireland from the application of the tea duty and testimonials were produced in favor of tea. Mr. H. Broadhurst in supporting the motion said that he drank tea four times a day and found it cooling and stimulating.—Scottish Trader.

DEPARTMENTAL STORE FIRM FAILS.

The recent suspension of the departmental firm of Runions, Carson & McKee, of London, has been followed by the failure of the house, an assignment having been made to C. B. Armstrong, of London. At the time of the suspension a committee was appointed to look after the interests of the creditors, consisting of Henry Darling, of The Wyld-Darling Co., Limited, Toronto; Mr. Finlayson, of J. N. W. Campbell & Co., Glasgow, and George C. Gibbon, of London. The Scotch firm is a large creditor. The liabilities will be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

A British View—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

A BRITISH VIEW.

THE development of poultry farming in Canada is thus treated by The Commerce, of London, Eng.: "If evidence were wanted of how our agriculturists have neglected some of the most profitable departments of their business, it is to be found in a typewritten circular sent out by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa to the press of this country with a view to pushing the Dominion's poultry trade. From it we learn that Canada is developing poultry farming at a great rate, and is keeping a keen eye on the wants of Great Britain in the poultry line. Anything you want in the way of a plump, well-dressed chicken you can get from Canada. The Dominion Government has established a number of fattening stations, and the farmer is taught not only what Great Britain requires, but how to make the chickens suit the market. It is said that such is the growing demand for Canadian poultry in Britain that several Montreal firms intimate their desire to buy up at the highest market price all the young fatted chickens the farmers can rear, and firms in Western Ontario will buy all the live chickens they can secure. The Department of Agriculture has arranged for the disposal of the chickens alive to firms that export them to Great Britain. The greatest attention is being paid to such details as careful and cleanly packing. As a proof of the growing popularity of Canadian eggs in this country, we are told that we imported no less than $1,691,640 worth last year, as against $1,406,199 worth in 1900."

THE DANISH BUTTER INDUSTRY.

Danish butter is now such a common article of consumption in this country that the huge figures given in Capt. Boyle's report from Copenhagen (published in The Grocers' Journal of last week) will hardly come as a surprise. In 1901 Denmark exported 189,960,000 lb. of butter, against 171,472,000 lb. in 1900, of which almost the whole, to be exact, 181,440.000 lb. came to the United Kingdom. This works out at an average of some 4 lb. per head of our population, and gives some idea of the enormous extent now attained by the trade in Danish butter. In other items of produce Denmark is extending her trade, and this is largely attributed to the extension of the cooperative principle to dairy-farming. The cooperative dairies are societies from which each member receives a dividend proportionate to the quantity of milk delivered, less a deduction for working expenses. The first of these was founded in 1882, and there are now 1,040 in operation, converting about 4,000,000,000 lb. of milk per annum, equivalent to a value of £7,112,000. Not only do these cooperative dairies produce butter of a uniform quality, but the best results are obtained from each cow, by observing what foods are best suited for her, while in other respects every attention is paid to both quantity and quality. One of these dairy farms alone possesses over 6,000 cows, producing 31,000,000 lb. of milk annually.—Grocers' Journal, London.

NEW GERMAN MEAT LAW.

The State Department at Washington has made public reports from Ambassador White, at Berlin, dated July 12 and 14, that according to an official proclamation the Meat Inspection law will go into force in its entirety on April 1, 1903, with the exception of the section which relates to doing away with the second examination of meat once officially inspected. This paragraph will not go into effect until October 1, 1904.

A report on the new regulations received from Consul-General Richard Guenther, of Frankfort, says that as the time is approaching when the new regulations concerning the importation of meat and its transportation in transit through Germany will go into force, it will be well to note that the following imports into Germany are prohibited :

Meat in hermetically sealed boxes and similar vessels, as well as sausages and other mixtures of chopped meats, dog meat ; also, prepared meat of horses, asses, mules and other solipeds ; meats which have been treated with one of the following substances or with a preparation containing such : Boracic acid and its salts, formaldehyde, hydro-oxides and carbonates of alkalis, sulphurous acid and its salts, hyposulphurous salts, fluor-hydrogen and its salts, salicylic acid and its salts, chloride salts, and coloring substances of whatever nature. The latter, however, may be employed for coloring coverings, if not otherwise prohibited.

Fresh meat may be imported into Germany in whole carcasses only. When imported in halves the two halves must be so marked as to be readily identified. The report of the consul gives detailed information as to how fresh meats must be prepared to be imported.

RETAIL MEAT DEALERS IN CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the National Retail Butchers' and Meat Dealer's Protective Association assembled in Washington last week with delegates present from many States.

The address of President Wagner, of New York, was devoted largely to a review of the fight waged by the retail butchers against the so-called beef trust, which, he said, "ruled with an iron hand, and whose aim seemed to be the absolute dictation of prices, limiting supplies when they thought it necessary to maintain prices ; enforcing the payment of disputed claims irrespective of their accuracy ; blacklisting men whose honesty and integrity had never been questioned if a feeble protest was made and payment withheld for an injustice perpetrated upon them. Not content with the patronage of the butcher they sought the consumer, until their objective point seemed clearly to be the acquisition of the entire trade, both wholesale and retail."

Referring to the action of the Department of Justice against the combination, President Wagner said : "I am happy to say the Federal Government recognized the justice of our complaint, putting the machinery of justice in motion at the instigation of our Association that has in a measure resulted in the complete demoralization of the firms in this combination, at least for the time being, and has relieved our craft of the oppression from which it suffered and complained in every city, town and hamlet in these great United States. I believe the time is not far distant when the Government can be induced to establish public abattoirs, or foster the establishment of abattoirs by the retail butchers of every city of enough inhabitants to warrant it, creating a home market for cattle and live stock and an incentive for the farmers of the Southern, Middle and Eastern States to again devote their land to the raising and marketing of live stock."

Some of the important recommendations made by President Wagner included: "That the legislative committee of the different States take the necessary steps to enact a law subjecting tierced meats, boxed meats and poultry to forfeiture if found short weight, and payment for box weights is insisted upon. That the several States take up for their respective cities the establishing of public abattoirs, where butchers can do their own slaughtering, encouraging home industry and the raising of all kinds of stock in the immediate neighborhood of cities. Porticularly is this true of the Southern, Middle and Eastern States. That our Federal Government eliminate the duty on cattle and live stock, or modify it to an extent that importation of live stock will not be prohibited by reason of excessive duty during periods of extreme high prices, that are a hardship to the public at large and a detriment to the retail butchers; that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the United States Government. That a vote of thanks and appreciation be extended to United States Attorney-General Knox and State Attorney-General John C. Davies for their aid and work in obtaining an injunction against the beef combination, and that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to them. That a vote of thanks be given to the public press for the aid accorded us by the publicity given to the methods of the beef combination, so detrimental to the craft and harmful to the general public."

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Dressed hogs are firm and unchanged. The beef now coming in is inferior in quality to that which has been arriving, and so a reduction of from 50c. to $1 per 100 lb. has been made in the price of beef carcasses and from 25 to 75c. in live cattle. Live hogs are if anything firmer than they were a week ago, and the arrivals thereof are limited. We quote as follows: Dressed hogs, $9.50 to $10; beef carcasses, $7 to $8.00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9.00 to $10.00 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 8 to 9c. per lb., and lambs, 8 to 9c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25 to $7.37½, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $5.75 to $6.25 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.

The demand for provisions continues steady, and the prices are firm and unchanged. Lard meets with a fair trade and the prices are steady. We quote: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11 to 11½c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23.50 to $24; lard, in tierces, 10¾ to 11c. per lb.; tubs, 11 to 11¼c., and pails, 11¼ to

A good trade is being done in smoked meats and lard, and prices are firm. We quote: Pure Canadian lard is $2.37½ to $2.40 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 9¾c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20-lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20-lb. wood pails, ½c.; 10-lb. tins, ⅝c.; 5-lb. tins, ¾c.; 3-lb. tins, ⅞c. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.95 per pail; Cottolene, 11¼c. for 20-lb. pails, and 11c. for 60 lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario; hams, 13 to 14c.; bacon, 14 to 15c.; heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $24.50 to $25.00; Canadian short cut clear pork, $23.50 to $24.00; American short cut clear pork, $24.00 to $24.50; American fat back, $24.50 to $25.00.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled meats there is only a light business. Domestic pork is well cleaned up. Prices are still held at the high figures. Smoked meats hold their full figures. There is, however, always a certain sale as it is about impossible to get anything to take their place. Lard moves slowly. Price is unchanged. In fresh meats, beef is not so firm, owing to free receipts of light domestic stock. There is little offered except lamb, which is quite plentiful and rather lower. Pork is still scarce and high. We quote as follows: American mess pork, $23 to $23.50; domestic mess pork, $21.50; plate beef, Canadian, $14 to $14.50; clear pork, American, $25.50; plate beef, American, $17 to $18; veal, 4 to 7c.: lamb, 4 to 5c.; mutton, 10 to 12c.; fresh beef 8 to 10½c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 12c.; pure lard, pails. 12¼c.; compound lard, tubs, 9½c.; compound lard, pails, 9¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾c. to 11c.; pails 11¼ to 11½c.

The N. K. Fairbank Co., always alive to the interests of the trade, are selling their standard lard in a particularly attractive grained tub, which is of considerable value when empty.

CHINA TEA IN HOUSE OF COMMONS.

We are told that the tearoom at the House of Commons has lately witnessed an enormous demand for China tea. This, we presume, is the latest phase of Imperialism, which is so expansive that it enables some of its advocates to preach about the importance of supporting trade within the Empire, but does not lay any obligation on them to practise that which they preach.—Home and Colonial Mail.

A SUCCESSFUL EXCURSION.

Much pleased is the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association with its annual excursion to Niagara Falls on July 23. Nearly 700 went with them, and over $150 was cleared after all expenses were paid. This is gratifying to the promoters, as they received no subscriptions or prizes from the wholesale houses, excepting those granted for amusements on the steamer going across in the morning, in aid of the excursion which was run purely on its own merits.

The credit for the success of this affair is much due to the following gentlemen: Jerry Burns, Edward Hawes, D. Bell, T. Clark, D. W. Clark, T. Dowswell, J. Butcher, J. T. Schoales, Harry Kelly, R. Bailey Snow, B. Panter, C. Callander, J. Bond, and a number of others.

LARD

Orders can be filled by any of the leading packing houses or jobbers in Canada or direct.

There is one word sadly misinterpreted, that word is "substitute." Because an article is a substitute it is not necessarily inferior. The electric light is a substitute for the candle and the modern flour for the product of the windmill. Our "Boar's Head" brand of Refined Lard Compound is a substitute for hog lard, and is an improvement on any other frying and shortening medium. Grocers totally unable to sell other brands of Compound with any satisfaction, find that Fairbank's "Boar's Head" brand takes the place of every other lard with their customers, then, too, the price is about 2c. less per lb. than hog fat.

EXHIBITS FROM THE WEST INDIES.

THE British colony of Trinidad and Tobago, B.W.I., has shipped an exhibit for the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, which will be forwarded to Toronto upon its arrival at Halifax. The exhibit is not large, but is fairly representative of the products of the colony, including the new mineral industries.

Accompanying this exhibit is a statistical report showing that for the year ending March 31, 1902, the imports of the colony from Canada increased $163 565, and the exports to Canada increased $89,000 as compared with the year preceding. This increase is credited to the visit of Mr. Parmalee, representing the Dominion Government, the visits of representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and of prominent Canadian merchants desirous of opening up trade with the colony; the transfer of the Port of Spain electric light and tramway to a Canadan company; the recent establishment of a Trinidad branch of the Union Bank of Halifax, and the establishment of an improved steamship service between Canada and Trinidad.

Some interesting information is given besides of the trade requirements and possibilities of the West-Indian colony. There is a good market there for Canadian butter, cheese, lumber and oats. Butter in tins retails at Trinidad for 50c. per lb.; the duty is 2c., the same as is imposed on cheese. Fresh milk retails at 48c. per gal., and on condensed milk the duty is 5 per cent. ad valorem.

EXPORT TRADE WITH GERMANY.

Becker & Haag, of Berlin, Germany, correspondent members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for Germany, are in a position to bring Canadian manufacturers into touch with the German trade and market. Any firm desirous of opening an export business with Germany will find them at their disposal to give the necessary assistance. In such cases it is necessary to send to the address, Becker & Haag, Berlin S. 42, Ritterstr. 27, the following information:

1. Export price list of articles, and, if possible, catalogues and small samples.
2. Indications concerning packing, net and gross weight and measurements.
3. The freight rate c.i.f. German port. To obtain these have Mr. Otto Thorning, 13 Peter street, Montreal, forward them to Becker & Haag's Berlin office.

With this information, Becker & Haag are enabled to make investigations and make proposals for best introduction.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

THE grocery business done in the city for the last two weeks has been small compared with that of previous weeks, and the orders coming in from various parts of the Province denote that general mid-summer dulness prevails. Tired employers and hard-worked employes are enjoying their vacations, while those still remaining at business find quite enough work for the hot weather.

Flour, cornmeal, oatmeal and the various feeds remain firm at late quotations, and there is considerable demand. Stocks generally are low on account of difficulty in getting orders filled at the mills, especially the coarse feeds.

Butter is very freely coming in, and dealers find it necessary to make use of the refrigerators. Prices have relaxed somewhat from former quotations. Eggs are in moderate quantity, and the unusual high price is maintained. Dealers in cheese are taking in considerable quantities, and the price fluctuates more or less with Montreal quotations. New potatoes have been in the market for some time, but there is still some old in stock which people prefer to use rather than pay the high price demanded for new ones. The old stock is still remarkably good in quality. New beets, turnips, cabbage, carrots and other light green products may also be found in the Saturday markets.

There is no material change in the sugar and molasses situation. From this out the quotations on the latter will, no doubt, become firmer, and there will be no cutting of prices such as prevailed earlier in the season.

* * *

The season for strawberries has now passed, and raspberries, currants and blueberries are plentiful in the market. Californian peaches, plums, and other fruits are being imported freely, and will be until the home raised fruit is available.

* * *

The fish market has improved very slightly, owing to a better condition in the Southern markets, but wholesalers will not go up to the high prices of last season, as the West Indian and South American markets are uncertain. The Pickford & Black steamers are still carrying large cargoes on their regular trips. Trade with the West Indies and Trinidad seems to be on the increase.

FIRE IN A BISCUIT FACTORY.

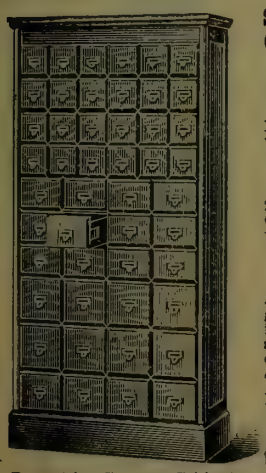
On Tuesday night fire caused damage of $60,000 or more, principally to the factory and warehouse of The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., Limited, at 7 Front street east, Toronto. The fire had a great start when the brigade arrived, and the outburst on the top floor was desperate, owing to the inflammable nature of the boxes stored.



The firm employed about 130 hands, and will, of course, make arrangements immediately to resume business.

The plant and stock are fully covered by insurance, divided as follows: Machinery, $28,000; stock, $21,000, and office and factory furniture, $1,000.

When interviewed by THE CANADIAN GROCER, the management of The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co. stated that some delay in filling orders would be inevitable. However, every energy would be exerted to make that delay as brief as possible. Efforts would be made at once to enable them to resume business as quickly as possible.

BUSINESS MEN IN THE BRITISH CABINET.

INTEREST in the Coronation has so overclouded all other events during the past week that little attention has been paid to the announcement of the readjustment of the British Cabinet, made public on the same day as the Coronation ceremony took place.

To Canadian business men there is probably little of moment in the changes gazetted. Perhaps to some the introduction of several younger men into the Government and the reduction in the average age of the Ministry will be viewed with much approval and will bear most weight. But many others will see a deeper significance in the appointment of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's successor. While the Prime Minister and Mr. Chamberlain dominate the Cabinet, yet neither are in actual touch with the Treasury, nor can they afford to tamper much with the management of that Department. Hence, the Chancellor of the Exchequer is, in deed as well as in word, the guide of the financial destinies of the country, and to him financiers all around look for indications of what is to be the state of the money market.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach was a man of much prominence in the office he held. His tenure of that office will be momentous because he produced the biggest budgets Britain ever saw. Half a dozen years ago the £100,000,000 Budget was a new thing. In 1901-1902 there was a £200,000,000 Budget. Though he has added £92,000,000 to consuls and has increased the floating debt by £75,000,000 more, yet, on the whole, he has refused to saddle posterity with a great deal of the expense of the Boer War which he might very well have done.

As his successor comes Mr. Charles Thomson Ritchie, a Scotchman, with a lengthy business training and much experience of government. As president of the Local Government Board from 1886 to 1892 he showed himself to be an administrator not devoid of courage and capable of plodding industry. So worthy an administrator did he demonstrate himself to be that on Lord Salisbury's resumption of power in 1895 he was appointed President of the Board of Trade. There he had a wider range for the exercise of his individual initiative, and his handling of trade disputes was most commendable. Since the election of 1900 he has been Home Secretary, and now, as many surmised, he has been placed in charge of the Exchequer. That there will be no great change from the preceding management of this Department is evident, while there can be little apprehension that there will be any mismanagement.

Of the young blood infused into the Cabinet, the most notable name is Mr. Austen Chamberlain, son of the Colonial Secretary. This young man, while he can scarcely be accused of acting as a tool in his father's hand, will, nevertheless, second his father's policy and in his management of the Post Office Department there is little doubt that in time many of the reforms desired by the colonies will be brought about.

AN EXHIBIT REFUSED.

WITH no little surprise has the announcement been received from the secretary of the Wisconsin State Exhibition that there is no room left for the projected Canadian exhibit. This is doubtless a mild way of stating that the Wisconsin State Exhibition does not want a Canadian display. If such is the case the reason is not far to seek, and it is not much to be wondered at that the step has been taken.

The exodus of settlers from the Northwestern States of the Union across the border has now been going on for some time, and there is every prospect that it will increase. This loss of population, and of a very valuable population at that, cannot but be viewed with anxiety by the Governments of the several States concerned, as well as by the country as a whole. It cannot, therefore, be wondered at that those in authority are going to do all in their power to stem the tide of emigration. To prevent the display of the choicest Canadian products, which would tend to attract people to this country, is a very obvious way of assisting in this movement, but whether it is a wise policy is doubtful. The people of the United States will have to realize that their country has about reached its limit of natural development, while, at the same time, Canada still offers vast areas for speculation and exploitation. A movement of population from the former to the latter becomes accordingly inevitable, and to try to stop it by such means as refusing to exhibit its products is alike fruitless and foolish.

NEW CROP RAISINS ARE HIGHER.

Judging from present conditions, the coming season will possibly witness another firm market in Valencia raisins.

Our expectation of this is based on the cable advices received in Canada during the last few days, reporting that owing to excessive heat the crop will be decidedly short. In consequence of this shortage the market in Spain has opened strong, and some shippers In Denia have advised their representatives that, as the market is bare, they are not prepared to make sales.

The spot market is bare of old stock, and inquiries received during the last week it has been found impossible to satisfy.

THE SALMON PACK OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

AS the end of the season approaches interest in the British Columbian salmon pack naturally increases.

Our latest advices are up to the middle of last week, and from them we would gather that the pack promises to be a fair one.

On the Skeena River and Rivers Inlet the pack is practically over, and the quantity put up satisfactory, the steamers arriving from the north early last week bringing the information that up to three or four days previous the pack approximated 250,000 cases.

A British Columbian paper of August 4 gives the pack at some of the individual canneries up to a few days previous as follows: Inverness, 12,000 cases; North Pacific, 17,000; British America, 17,000; Aberdeen, 14,000; Balmoral, 9,000; Peter Herman's, 10,000; Carlisle, 11,000; Claxton, 11,000; Standard, 9,000; Mill Bay, 8,500, and Nass Harbor the same, making a total of 17,000 cases for the two Naas River canneries. Princess Royal was reported to have 15,000; Lowe Inlet had 4,000; and at Alert Bay the pack was small. On Rivers Inlet the Brunswick cannery had 14,000; Good Hope, 12,000; Wannock, 10,000; Wadham's, 16,000, and Rivers Inlet, 12,000 cases.

The run of salmon on the Fraser river up to the first week in August was disappointing, but an improvement then took place. The Victoria and Vancouver daily papers of August 6 say that the fish were running well in the Gulf and on the Fraser. One boat on August 5 caught 700 fish and another on the following day 876, said to be one of the biggest catches by a single boat for some years, and netting the fishermen $131.40 for one night's work. On the estimation of the British Columbia Packers' Association the average catch on the Fraser was estimated at the time to be about 200 per boat. Whether this improvement has been maintained we cannot say.

It was estimated a few days ago by a San Francisco authority that the Puget Sound and British Columbia pack of salmon would be 20 to 25 per cent. less than last year.

CEYLON AND INDIAN TEA INDUSTRY.

"THE large areas of land brought under tea cultivation in India and Ceylon during recent years, which are now coming heavily into bearing, have caused a reduction in the value of tea sufficiently serious to threaten the existence of the industry." These are the somewhat ominous words with which Messrs. Gow, Wilson & Stanton, of London, open up the tea question in a pamphlet just issued to the trade.

In India, since the year 1894, the area under cultivation has increased from 400,527 acres to 522,487 acres, and in Ceylon during the same period the area has likewise increased from 289,000 to 387,000 acres, while the exports of tea from both countries exhibit analogous increases. Add to this rapid growth within the British dominions, the fact that the export tax on tea in China has been reduced to an ad valorem duty, and hence falls but lightly on low-priced teas, and it will be seen that the prospect of China sending out large quantities of cheap tea is by no means improbable. So rapidly has the market been glutted with tea that the average price of Indian tea in London has sunk from 1s. 3d. in 1882 to less than 8d. in 1901, with a similar decrease in the price of Ceylon tea.

Over against this gloomy outlook may be placed the partially successful efforts that are being put forth to increase the demand by opening up new markets. Ceylon's increase of 50 per cent. in the export tax on tea has increased the national fund for developing new outlets, and a similar move on the part of India should produce like beneficial results. Moreover, if a portion of the tax on tea were used to promote the growth of green and uncolored tea in these countries, where black tea is almost the sole product, the tea industry might be greatly benefitted, for, as it is, India and Ceylon do not produce much more than one-ninetieth of the world's supply. By devoting more attention to the growth of green tea a two-fold result would be attained, in the opinion of Messrs. Gow, Wilson & Stanton. Not only would the British possessions get a firmer hold on the market for green tea, but for every pound of green tea grown a pound of black tea would be displaced, thereby reducing the supply of the latter.

The table demonstrating the growth of the tea trade by means of a comparison of the trade for 1895 with the trade for 1900 is of great interest. There it is shown that, speaking roughly, the export of Indian and Ceylon tea grew from 234,000,000 lb. to 334,000,000 lb. in the six years, whereas China, Japan and Java combined showed a decrease in their tea export from 309,000,000 lb. to 262,000,000 lb. This decrease comes from China alone, because tea was overproduced there to such an extent in 1895 that a falling off became inevitable.

Turning to the consumption side of the table, it is found that, with few exceptions, all customers buying British-grown tea have increased their purchases and many new customers have been secured. Indeed, the tea-drinking capacity of the world is as yet far from having reached its limit. And with care on the part of planters there should be little difficulty in preventing a rapid increase in production, at least until the demand has considerably increased.

THE SITUATION IN HONEY.

THE indications are that this season's production of honey both in the United States and Canada will be small. Reports from all parts of these countries are anything but favorable.

The rainy and damp weather during the greater part of the summer in Canada and the northern and eastern portions of the United States will leave the hives almost destitute of honey. There is an abundance of clover in the fields, but the humid atmosphere and lack of sunshine prevented the bees from going into the fields and filling up their hives with honey. But if warm weather sets in from this out there may yet be a fair yield.

When asked as to the future price of honey on the Canadian market, should the crop be small this year through the unfavorable weather conditions, a prominent handler and holder of honey of Toronto said that in this country at least one-third of last season's output of that commodity was still in the hands of the holders. The demand now was practically nothing, and the yield this season would have to be small to have any perceptible influence on the market.

A number of enterprising Toronto dealers are preparing this season to import honey from Jamaica. This honey can be purchased there at about 5½c. per lb. and laid down in Toronto at 9c. It is of exceptional flavor, and can be obtained all the year around in any quantity desired. It is sweeter than the Canadian article, and is principally extracted from the blossoms of the logwood tree.

From the above facts it is hardly probable, even if this season's honey crop turns out a failure, that the prices of honey in Canada will advance this fall.

THE CEYLON GREEN TEA TRADE.

CABLE advices to hand this week from Colombo, Ceylon, report prices higher on green teas as the result of large buying on Russian account.

We have before us a report showing the quantity of green tea exported from Ceylon from January 1 to June 30, and this gives the quantity sent to Russia during that period as 106 435 lb. During the same period in 1901 no green tea was sent to Russia from Ceylon.

The total quantity of tea shipped from Ceylon to all countries during the six months' period was 747,732 lb., against 427,695 lb. the same period in 1901, an increase of 75 per cent.

According to our Ceylon exchanges the quantity of green tea on which a bonus had been paid during the six months ending June 30 was 1,414,391 lb. As the exports only aggregated about one-half that quantity, the curious are asking what became of the remainder. The opinion is ventured by some that possibly the figures of the Customs authorities are at fault, but no one appears to know.

NEW SEASON'S CURRANTS.

Samples of the first crop of new season's currants were received on the Toronto market this week, and the quality is decidedly fine.

Mail advices to hand this week said that cutting had begun in the southern districts of Greece, and that the market would likely open a week earlier than last year.

Prices rule steady, and they show an advance over the figures originally quoted for this season.

A moderate business appears to have been done on importation account.

DECREASE IN CEYLON TEA AREA.

IN furnishing The London Times with particulars about "Ceylon and its Planting Industry," Mr. J. Ferguson writes: "The most notable fact revealed by the figures is the falling-off in the area of tea, the total in cultivation on plantations being 4,000 acres less than a year ago, or, including native gardens, a decrease of 6,000 acres, making a total of 386,000 in place of 392,000 acres. This must be due to the abandonment of non-paying fields and of some unprofitable gardens; for it is accompanied by an extension of the total extent in cultivation by 1,000 acres, although poor 'coffee' has gone down, being 3,200 acres less than a year ago. Cacao, on the other hand, is 500 acres more in planted extent; cardamons are greater in area by 1,800 acres; cinchona shows an increase of 1,000 acres, and india-rubber (chiefly the Para or Hevea variety) of nearly 1,000 acres—which must, however, be rather under the actual area planted during the year, our total extent planted being about 3 400 acres. In several minor products, too—camphor, nutmegs, crotons—there has been a good deal of planting, and still more have we had in the Kelani Valley and other low country estates, a planting out of cocoanut palms among the tea, just as Para rubber has been put in freely on the Kalutara tea estates. The check to tea, and the fact that there are no clearings this year to plant, ought to strengthen the hopes of those who believe in a future for our staple, so soon as consumption overtakes production. A year ago we anticipated that there would be 400,000 acres under tea at an early date in Ceylon; whereas now we are in reality back to 386,000, with no immediate prospect of extension. In our shipments of tea from Ceylon this year we are so far 5,000,000 lb. behind the same date last year for the United Kingdom; but shipments to Russia and America show an increase. Our cocoanut palm industry — chiefly in native hands—covering 600,000 acres with a crop of 1,000,000,000 cocoanuts (for oil, copra, fibre, desiccating kernels, etc.)— is in a highly prosperous condition; while that in cinnamon bark and in plumbago mining continues fairly satisfactory. The Boer prisoners are making preparations against their return home—the first transport calling at Colombo shortly—and are likely to take a good deal of Ceylon tea with them."

SOME IMPORTANT TRADE QUESTIONS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has received from Charles W. Creed, secretary of the Maritime Board of Trade, the subjects for discussion at the annual meeting of the Board at Sydney, C.B., on Wednesday, August 20. They are as far as known to date the following:

1. Proper methods of curing, culling and preparing dry and pickled fish.
2. The urgent necessity of better aids to navigation on the Atlantic seaboard and the entrance to the Bay of Fundy.
3. The desirability of daily steamship communication between St. John and Digby throughout the year.
4. Is not the fast Atlantic service an absolute necessity in the development of the Maritime Provinces?
5. The necessity of the establishment of county Boards of Trade.
6. Trade with South Africa.
7. Forest preservation.
8. Preferential Customs tariff.
9. Steel shipbuilding.
10. Government ownership of the fast Atlantic service.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. R. T. Macdonald, of The A. F. MacLaren Imperial Cheese Co., Limited, Toronto, is holidaying at Windermere, Muskoka.

Mr. L. J. Levy, of the travelling staff of the United Factories, Limited, Toronto, has just returned from a pleasant holiday trip to Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago.

Mr. J. W. Powell and Mr. J. F. Holden, Western Ontario representatives of E. W. Gillett Co. Limited, are in Toronto using up part of their holidays in the "Queen City."

Mr. T. S. Annandale, grocer, New Westminister, B.C., who has just returned from a pleasure trip to the Old Country, was in Toronto this week. He had a pleasant holiday, but said he would be glad to get back to the Coast.

Mr. J. M. Lobb, formerly with W. G. A. Lambe & Co., Toronto, but now with Rodewald & Heath, Colombo and Shanghai, is sailing from the latter port this month for Canada on a business trip. Mr. Lobb's many friends will no doubt be glad to see him.

Lumsden Bros. made their first shipment of yeast cakes to Buffalo this week. This is a lot to be sold by their agents previous to their opening a factory in that city.

A consignment of Spanish "Queen" olives arrived this week for H. P. Eckardt & Co. They are exceptionally fine value and are packed in fancy shaped bottles.

Government Figures Have Arrived.

The Statistical Department of Ottawa handed us the figures this morning of the Imports of tea into Canada during the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1902 :

The Imports of Japan Tea were 5,736,495 lbs. They fell off last year over 2,000,000 lbs. Think of the change!

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| In 1899 the Imports of Japan Tea were | | | | | | 11,667,757 lbs. |
| In 1900 " | " | " | " | " | " | 9,762,032 lbs. |
| In 1901 " | " | " | " | " | " | 7,528,309 lbs. |
| In 1902 " | " | " | " | " | " | 5,736,495 lbs. |

Surely this proves to any reasonable person that Japan Teas are out of date and that it is only the old-fashioned that are adhering to them, and what we prophesied three years ago is coming true quickly, and is taking their place rapidly. It is finer in quality, better in flavor and more satisfactory to the Green Tea drinker. Are you handling it?

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, August 14, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE past week has been up to the average in point of sales. Several large orders have been filled for the Yukon trade, and local buying has been active. The whole of Saturday being generally observed as a holiday, Monday and Tuesday were particularly busy days, both with the wholesale and retail trades. The delivery points for Canadian syrups and starches have been extended to the upper lake points, including Sault Ste. Marie, until navigation closes. White beans are this week quoted as high as 2¾c. per lb., or $1.65 per bushel, an advance of 5c. per bushel over last week's prices. They are very scarce on this market. As yet there has been no advance on canned baked beans, but it is thought that these may be affected by the high price of the raw beans, and some jobbers are looking for an advance before long. Spanish onions are quoted for September delivery at 85c. per 50-lb. crate. This figure is about the same as that of last year.

SUGAR

There is a good demand for sugar, which becomes more active as the season for preserving fruits advances. The price has continued unchanged throughout the week, and the market is steady at $3.65 for granulated and $3 to $3.55 for yellows. The London market for beet sugar has been steadier of late and no change in prices is reported. Raw sugar in New York is steady.

TEAS

The demand from country buyers is reported satisfactory for this season of the year. Japan teas under 20c. are scarce on this market. A few lots, however, are being offered at 17½ to 19c. Black teas are moving fairly well. Green teas continue very firm and high in price. The scarcity is still felt, and the inquiry keeps up well.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The market is still very quiet for both lines. Barbados molasses is worth 23 to 24c., according to quantity. Antigua molasses sells at 24c. and Porto Rico, at 38c. In corn syrups there is only a small amount of business doing and no quotable change has been made. We quote as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in half barrels; 3¾c. in quarter barrels; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

CANNED GOODS

These continue to move well at unchanged prices. Canners of blueberries are reported to be a little uncertain as regards the new crop, and are now only guaranteeing 75 per cent. of the orders. Blueberries are quoted for future delivery at 80c. Other canned goods to arrive are now quoted as follows: Tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 80c. to $1.20; string beans, 80 to 85c.; strawberries, $1.45 to $1.60; raspberries, $1.45 to $1.60; gooseberries, $1.45 to $1.60; pears, 2's, $1.60 to $1.70; 3's, $2.10 to $2.15; peaches, 2's, $1.65 to $1.70; 3's, $2.50 to $2.75; 3-lb. apples, 85 to 90c.; gallon apples, $2.10 to $2.20; 2-lb. sliced pineapples, $2.20 to $2.30; grated pineapples, $2.50; pumpkins, 95c. to $1; spinach, $1.50; sugar beets, 95c. to $1. We quote spot goods as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; toma-

SPICES.

The market remains wholly unchanged. The feeling in peppers is still strong. They are in good demand; gingers, cinnamon and other lines for preserving purposes are commencing to move well. No quotable change has been reported, and the prices remain as follows: Nutmegs, 35 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c.; and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is a moderate demand for these lines. Tapioca has advanced 9d. on the foreign market, which is equivalent to about ¼c. per lb. here, and jobbers are now quoting 3½c. Pearl sago is higher on the primary markets, and although jobbers are selling at about 3⅜c. to-day, when stocks, which are not heavy, become exhausted, they will be compelled to ask 4⅜ to 4½c., the present selling price being less than the cost to jobbers. We quote: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb. and tapioca, 3½c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—Business continues to move along fairly well in this line. There is no special change to report. Recent quotations by cable gave the price of Filiatras at 13s., Provincials, 12s. 9d., and Amalias, 11s., cost and freight Montreal. The local prices are as follows: Fine Filiatras, 5½c. to 5¾c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5⅞c.; 1-lb. cartons, 6½ to 7c.; finest Vostizzas, 6½ to 7c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The latest news fram the primary market confirms previous reports regarding the damage to the crop by heat. Finest off-stalk for earliest shipment by direct steamer are quoted at 22s. 6d., but higher prices are looked for. Locally, finest off-stalk are quoted at 6½, and selected at 7½ to 8½c.

SULTANA RAISINS.—There are very few of these on the market, though the inquiry is still brisk. What there is left should be worth 9½c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—There is nothing of importance to report in this market. Trade continues fairly good and prices are still as follows: Citron peel, 15c.; orange, 11½c.; lemon, 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS.—Business in these is still of satisfactory proportions. The prices are steady and unchanged, and our quotations are as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—Some business has been done this week, but the market ruled rather quiet. Hallowees sold at 4½c. per lb.

FIGS.—There are not many on this market, and business is of very small proportions in consequence. It is stated that a further advance of 1s. per cwt. on new-crop figs has been made.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS. There is nothing new in this line. Trade continues fair and at unchanged prices. We quote: Pears, 10c.; peaches, 10½c. and apricots, 14½c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—No new reports of importance have been received from primary sources. The local market is fairly active for seeded raisins, and the price remains at 9¾ to 10½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—These continue to move out steadily. There is no particular feature on the market. We quote as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

NUTS.

During the past week the local market has been much more settled than in the previous week. Prices have not advanced further, though Grenoble and shelled walnuts and shelled almonds are very firm. In almonds it is expected that higher prices will be asked next week. We quote as follows: Walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 11c.; shelled walnuts, 18c.; shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; filberts, 9c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market has been quite active all round during the week. Blueberries are commencing to arrive, and the outlook for a good crop is bright. They are selling now at $1.50 to $2 per box. Asparagus, Californian cherries and apples, red currants and apricots are now out of the market. Canadian apples are in good supply, selling from $1.50 to $2.50 per barrel. Canadian peaches are 10c. lower. We quote: Jamaica oranges, in barrels, $5.50, in boxes, $2.75; Sorrento oranges, $3.75 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.25 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2 and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; Boston lettuce, 35c. per dozen; cucumbers, 15c. per dozen; Canadian cabbage, 75c. per bbl.; potatoes, $1.15 to $1.30 per bbl.; tomatoes, 4-basket carriers, 60c. to 75c.; watermelons, 25c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; raspberries, 8c. per box; gooseberries, 65c. per basket; blackberries, 6 to 7c. per box; peaches, $1.25 per box; plums, $1.25 to $1.75 per box; pears, $2.25 per box; limes, $1.50 per box; Canadian peaches, 40c. per basket, and plums, 50c. per basket; blueberries, $1.50 to $2 per box; Canadian apples, in barrels, $1.50 to $2.50, in baskets, 20 to 30c.

FISH.

The demand for fish is fairly good. There is a scarcity in some lines and prices show a tendency to advance. Haddock is already quoted 1½ to 2c. higher; salmon is now 16c., an advance of 2c., and dore is stiffer but not advanced in price as yet. Whitefish is the only line quoted lower this week. Quotations are: Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 5½c. per lb.; whitefish, 7 to 7½c.; dore, 7½ to 8c.; pike, 6c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 16c.; trout, large and medium, 8c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50; No. 1 British Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—The demand for Manitoba flour for export account has kept up well, and with a continued good local demand, the movement in Manitoba grades is brisk. Ontario flour is still firm, the offerings being as light as ever. Prices are unchanged. We now quote: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.10 to $4.20; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10.

GRAIN.—The grain market is not very active at present and some lines show a decided weakness. Peas are in fair demand at a lower price, 85c. In oats, both Manitobas and Ontarios, a further decline has taken place, and local buyers are holding off in expectation of still lower prices. We quote: Manitoba oats, No. 2 white, 46½ to 47c.; No. 2 Ontarios, 46½ to 47c.; No. 3, 45c. ex-store; rye, 67c.; peas, 85c.; corn, 71c.; buckwheat, 61c.; to 65c.; barley, 59c. in store.

FEED.—With the exception of somewhat lower quotations on Manitoba bran there has been no change in the price of feed. Business in Manitoba bran for export has been better. We quote: Manitoba bran, $17; Ontario bran, $15.50 to $16; Manitoba shorts, $23; Ontario shorts, $24.

OATMEAL.—The demand for rolled oats is not heavy and the market remains rather quiet. No further advance in prices is reported. In small quantities the price is $5.80 per barrel and $2.82½ per bag.

BALED HAY.—A fairly good demand is reported far baled hay at steady and unchanged prices. We quote as follows: No. 1, $8.75 to $9.25; No. 2, $7.75 to $8.25; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton in carlots.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—Between the heavy receipts and light inquiry for export, the butter market is, as a consequence, in a much easier condition than a week ago. Prices have receded from ½ to 1c. per lb. We quote as follows: Fancy Townships, creamery, 19¼ to 19½c.; finest Townships, do., 19⅛ to 19⅜c.; finest Quebec, creamery, 19 to 19¼c.; finest Ontario, creamery, 18½ to 18¾c.; fine creamery, 18⅜ to 18½c.; dairy butter, 14½ to 16c., according to grade.

The exports from the port of Montreal for the week ending August 9 were as follows: To Liverpool, per ss. Parisian, 515; to Manchester, per ss. Manchester City, 1,974; to Glasgow, per ss. Lahoma, 766; to London, per ss. Pomeranian and Cervona, 8,291. In all, 11,546 packages. For the corresponding week last year, 10,585 packages were shipped. For the corresponding week of the previous year, 18,106 packages. Since May 1, 1902, we have shipped from this port 216,693 packages, while for the corresponding period last year, 154,906 packages were shipped, and for the same period of the previous year, 133,959 packages.

King Edward is deservedly popular, and the loyalty of his subjects is undoubted. The same is true of the King of Coffees—Seal Brand.

CHASE & SANBORN, Importers, Montreal.

CHEESE.—This market is very sluggish this week, due, to a large degree, to the accumulation of stock and light demand from the other side. The Coronation holidays have very materially affected trade. However, this has been the slowest period for some time, and arrivals are looked for within a reasonably short time. The consumption of cheese in Great Britain has been much greater thus far this year than for the same time last year.

Prices are as follows: Finest Ontario, colored, 9⅜ to 9⅞c., ditto, white, 9⅝ to 9¾c.; finest Townships, colored, 9⅝ to 9¾c., ditto, white, 9½ to 9⅝c.; finest Quebec, colored, 9½ to 9⅝c., ditto, white, 9⅜ to 9½c.

The exports from the port of Montreal for the week ending August 9 have been as follows: To Liverpool per ss. Parisian, Roman and Lake Ontario, 22,611; to Manchester, per ss. Manchester City, 2,879; to Glasgow, per ss. Ontarian and Lahoma, 7,939; to London, per ss. Pomeranian and Cervona, 33,450; to Aberdeen, per ss. Bellona, 1,618; to Bristol, per ss. Memnon, 8,937 boxes. Total, 77,434. For the corresponding week last year, 40,975 boxes; corresponding week, 1900, 75,388 boxes. Total shipments since May 1, 1902, 986,828; corresponding period, 1901, 712,148; corresponding period, 1900, 1,036,788.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The quality of eggs being received is slightly better. Inquiries have been received from the other side, but we have not yet learned of any transactions having materialized. At present the demand is not very great. We quote as stock, 15½ to 16c.; straight receipts, 11½ follows: Selected, 17½ to 18c.; candled to 15c.; No. 2, 12½ to 13c. in round lots.

BEANS.—A firm feeling prevails. We quote $1.35 to $1.40 per bushel.

HONEY.—There promises to be an exceptionally good crop of clover this year, which gives ample reason to expect an increase in honey offerings. Doubtless, prices will recede somewhat. We quote: New crop white, strained, 8 to 10c., as to quality; white clover, comb, 12 to 13c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c.; buckwheat honey, 8 to 9c.; extracted, 7 to 7½c. per lb.

POTASH.—Trade is slow and prices are unchanged. We quote: Firsts, $4.10 to $4.15; seconds, $3.25 to $3.45; pearls, 8 per 100 lb.

POTATOES.—A good crop is promised. Business can be said to be fair. Price is about 55 to 60c. per bag.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—Nothing new has occurred since our last report. Trade is dull, but prices remain firm. Our quotations follow: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 80c.; small tins, 50 to 60c.; in wood, 5 to 5½c. per lb. Sugar, 7 to 8c. per lb.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Tapioca has advanced ¼c.

Fresh salmon is 2c. higher.

White beans have gone up 5c. per bushel.

Canadian peaches are 10c. lower per basket.

Tomatoes, in 4-basket carriers, are 25 to 30c. lower.

Alfred J. Bruce, one of Montreal's leading exporters of butter and cheese, has been proposed for membership on Board of Trade.

W. Grant, butter and cheese exporter, shipped per ss. Lake Champlain, on July 31, 3,098 boxes of cheese; per ss. Numidian, on July 31, 351 packages butter; per ss. Brazilian, for London, July 31, 222 packages butter and 2,495 boxes of cheese. Large shipments were also sent by other steamers.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., August 11, 1902.

A STEADY business is to be reported. The markets are firm. Several lines are quite scarce and show an advance. In cream of tartar, which is very largely sold here, considering the size of the market, stocks are light and dealers are not freely quoting in large quantities, as they have been waiting for the market to go off from the present rather high price, before replacing stock. In rice, the market is rather firmer. Though English rice is still offered at quite low figures, the importations have been very large during the summer. Canned goods have occupied much attention, and spot stocks are well cleaned up. Dealers have largely bought new goods and many lines below association figures.

OILS.—There is a marked increase in the movement of burning oils and many contracts have already been made for future shipments. Prices are unchanged. Paint oils are unchanged. There is still quite a steady sale. Considerable painting is done here in the fall. In lubricating oils, sales have been particularly large. Lumber mills, of which there are a great many, are having a successful season, and so create a large demand. Cod oil is received quite freely.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt the stock is quite light and there is an active demand. No further arrivals are due for some little time, so prices are very firm. There is a fair sale for fine, chiefly Canadian. Our quotations are as follows: Liverpool coarse, 55 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.75 to $2.85 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22-23c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 dozen; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per dozen; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—Dealers have largely bought their season's stock, particularly of vegetables. They bought chiefly out side of the association. Spot stocks in all lines are very firm, particularly tomatoes. Several western packers have withdrawn their quotations on new vegetables. The outlook is for higher prices. In fruits, some new pack Nova-Scotian strawberries have been received. The quality is particularly good. Quotations on Nova-Scotian apples, which are largely sold here, have been withdrawn. The spot market is bare. In peaches, quite a few of last season's pack have been sold from the west at figures below new goods. White peaches will not sell here. In salmon, the sale is good and prices unchanged. In domestic fish, such as sardines, haddies and herring, prices are rather easier, because of competition between packers. Meats are still high.

GREEN FRUITS.—Bananas are still large sellers, and prices are low. Apples have a free sale at quite full figures. The American stock received is very good. Californian fruits are freely received, and the pears, particularly, are good. Prices are lower than last season, and the sales are large. There are very few oranges moving. Lemons have a good sale at quite full figures. Berries are about out of the market. Some Nova-Scotian cherries are still received. A few Ontario plums have been offered, and sales are becoming quite active. Tomatoes are scarce. Cucumbers hold their price well. Melons and pines are in fair demand. The former have not a large sale here.

DRIED FRUITS.—In raisins, the market is well cleaned up. Prices of Californian loose and seeded continue to advance slowly, and higher prices will rule. Prunes are still low and there is a fair sale. During the week orders for new apricots and peaches have been placed quite freely. Prices are lower than last season, particularly apricots. This is not a large market. Figs will rule at quite full figures. Californian goods are not sold here. Peels are scarce. Dates will be quite low. There is a light inquiry for apples. Onions are high. In peanuts full prices rule.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter is quite firm at rather higher figures. Shipments have been light. Much higher figures are not expected. Eggs continue quite scarce, with the market largely supplied from Prince Edward Island.. The price is firm at full figures. Cheese is rather firmer, but there is very little movement in the local market.

SUGAR.—Sales continue large, the demand being for granulated. The low prices have been particularly appreciated during the preserving season. The Guild continues to work well.

MOLASSES.—There is little change. Prices are still low. There is considerable Porto Rico still to arrive. Porto Rico and Barbados are the only lines offered.

FISH.—The market is somewhat dull. In fresh fish, the weather has been unfavorable. Chiefly haddock are scarce. Fishermen have also been giving attention chiefly to sardines and pollock. In dry fish, cod and pollock, prices are unchanged. Smoked herring are dull and rather easier. New will soon be received. Pickled herring have a light movement. New Bay herring are to hand. Shad are very scarce. We quote as follows: Haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 6½ to 7c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.85 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.50 to $3.65; halibut, 10 to 17c.; shad, 15 to 25c.; salmon, 15 to 16c.; pickled shad, $6.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, prices are unchanged. Ontario flour is rather firmer. The outlook for Ontario wheat is brighter. While the coming crop of oats promises to be quite good, old stock is cleaned up. In the local market oatmeal is scarce and little is offering from the west. Cornmeal is firm and likely to continue so. Beans are in light supply and the outlook is for for full prices to rule. Barley shows rather an improved sale. Split peas are scarce. We now quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $4.30 to $4.45; medium, $3.95 to $4.10; oatmeal, $5.45 to $5.50; cornmeal, $3.30 to $3.35; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 56 to 57c.; handpicked beans, $1.75 to $1.80; prime, $1.65 to $1.70; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $5.15 to $5.25; barley, $4.40 to $4.50; hay, $10 to $14.

Seeded raisins show continued advance. The Maritime Spice and Coffee Company are fortunate in having quite a full stock.

The Lake of the Woods Milling Company have a large connection here. Two of the leading members of the company were in the city during the past week.

Mr. Hickson, of Andrews, Gillespie & Co., Liverpool, England, called on "The Canadian Grocer" this week. W. D. Hooper is the acting representative here.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, August 11, 1902.

BUSINESS is good in all lines, and the outlook is bright and satisfactory. The week shows few changes in prices, but nearly all lines are firm.

CANNED GOODS.—The situation with reference to the whole line of vegetables shows no change or improvement. A number of the larger eastern canneries have withdrawn prices on this market for tomatoes and corn. Although the extent of the pack of peas is now fully known, the extreme strength of tomatoes and corn is holding the price of peas stiff also. Present quotations for old stocks are: Tomatoes, $2.75; corn, $1.85; peas, $2, and beans, $1.85. There is nothing new with reference to canned fruit, and the movement is only moderate.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED FRUITS.—New apricots are in and selling at 10 to 10¼c. This is a very considerable reduction on the price at which old stock has been held. There is a very good demand for the cheaper grades of prunes, as country dealers were anticipating the harvest demands, and there are practically no evaporated apples to be had. The prices run from 4½ to 9c., according to size.

CURRANTS.—New currants are ordered, but the date of arrival will not be before October 1 and perhaps later. Old stock is selling at 7c. for cleaned goods. The reports as to the raisin crop are most unsatisfactory at present. Dealers here have placed orders, but no one is willing to state what the opening price may be.

COFFEE.—The market shows a slight advance and is firm and steady.

LOBSTERS.—New lobsters have arrived and are very high, being quoted at $13.50 for the four-dozen case. The supply also is likely to be limited.

RICE.—Japan is higher, although 5¼c. is still quoted it is to be doubted if any dealer would sell for that figure, and some sales have already taken place at 5⅜c. Patna is firm at 5c. Tapioca has not recovered from the decline previously reported and is in only nominal demand at 3¼c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.—The market is a brisk one and well supplied with all seasonable lines. New Californian lemons are in, and the quality shown is good. Early Crawford peaches are in full supply, and as they have reached a price at which they are profitable to can, the demand is good. Native-grown black currants are offering in moderate quantities. Prices for the week are as follows: Valencia oranges, $5 to $6; Californian lemons, $6; pears, Bartlett's, $2.50 per box; apples, boxes, $2.50; barrels, $6; peaches, $1.25; plums, $1.50 to $1.75, according to variety; bananas, $2.75 to $3; blueberries, 6c. per lb.; black currants, 10c.

BUTTER.—Creamery is offering in larger quantities than ten days ago, and as the bulk of the shipments are going to Montreal, dealers are making every effort to hold the price as low as possible. With the market improving somewhat in British Columbia, it is hoped prices for August may go a little higher. At present 16½ to 17c. is as high as any dealer can be got to offer, and some has changed hands at 16c.

DAIRY BUTTER.—The supply is increasing and the quality is rather better. A good deal is being purchased for cold storage. The price paid for good butter suitable for storage purposes is 12c. at country points, or 13c. Winnipeg.

CHEESE.—Prices have held very firm and some lots have been sold at a slight advance over previous quotations. In a regular way 9 to 9¼c. is the market price, but one or two lots ran to 9⅜ to 10c. during the week, and it is doubtful if any could now be bought under 9⅜c.

EGGS.—The supply is not increasing; in fact, there is every reason to believe it will decrease as harvest approaches. In the meantime the demand is keen and prices are 12½c. at country points.

CEREALS.—The business is dull in all lines, the only point of interest being the advance in white beans, which are now quoted at $1.85, while rumors are current that the price will run as high as $2.50 per bushel before the season is out.

FLOUR.—The market is rather dull with prices unchanged as follows: No. 1, $2.05; No. 2, $1.90; No. 3, $1.75, No. 4, $1.60; No. 5, $1.25.

VEGTABLES.—The supply in all lines is now full and satisfactory. New potatoes are down to 60c. per bushel. Squash and vegetable marrows are among the new lines offered this week.

MR. STEELE'S EULOGIUM OF THE WEST.

MR. R. T. STEELE, of the wholesale grocery firm of Lucas, Steele & Bristol, Hamilton, Ont., has just returned from a trip to the Pacific Coast. Mr. Steele, in his travels, is observant, and what he has seen convinces him that Canada is destined to produce the best men and best women in the world. This, however, on the side. In an interview recently Mr. Steele explained why he would have all Canadians visit the Far West. "We find Englishmen ignorant of Canada, but after what I have seen I have come to the conclusion that there is much ignorance of our country on our own part. We, in this Province, know little of the vast West."

PLACE FOR YOUNG MEN

The Northwest Territories and British Columbia are the places for young men, but they must be hustlers. None but that class are wanted in that great country. In the Northwest Territories farming and ranching are what all talk about. Those engaged in both occupations are making money, especially the cattlemen. They are accumulating fortunes rapidly. There is a great demand for mechanics and agricultural settlers, but of professional men and storekeepers there are already about enough for the country's needs. In the northern country, especially, the lands are increasing in value every day. No mistake can be made in buying land. On the Prince Albert line and the Edmonton line the immigration is tremendous. Among the new settlers are large numbers from the United States. These are mostly a fine type of people, physically, with more or less money, and great numbers of them are either Canadians by birth or descendants of Canadians.

WHY THEY COME TO CANADA.

"They are coming over here," said Mr. Steele, "simply because we have the better country and the better laws. I am firmly convinced that these men will make just as good citizens as our men have made in the United States, and the record of Canadians over there is one to be proud of.

"Up the Calgary and Edmonton branch," continued Mr. Steele, "there is fine ranching country, and further north, fine country for mixed farming, dairying being one of the principal industries. The opening of cheese factories and the establishment of Government creameries in that country has been a splendid foresight on the part of the Government, as the farmers get an immediate return, in part for their milk, and when the sales are made and final settlement effected they get a good big balance and all are satisfied.

"You meet a great number of Maritime Province men, and they are splendid citizens. I consider it should be the almost exclusive immigration policy of our Government to get the emigrants leaving for South Africa, South America and the United States to go out to our Canadian Northwest. They would do better and be amongst their own people. Amongst the travellers going into the country are many from the Southern States. At one station I saw one from Texas with 1,200 head of cattle. If any of the Boers are determined to leave South Africa they would make a fine class for this country. They make better settlers than many of those from Southern and Eastern Europe, many of whom seem objectionable and of a class that will take ages to assimilate.

"Very extensive sales of lands are going on. If possible, the Government should avoid selling big blocks of land except under absolute guarantee of actual settlement. The country does not need land speculators to advertise it. It is now enjoying such a boom that it advertises itself, yet, in many sections, fine land, bought by speculators and unoccupied, is a detriment to the country and a hindrance to settlement.

RAILWAY ACCOMMODATION.

"The country's railway accommodation is wholly inadequate. The Calgary and Edmonton road is owned by capitalists and operated by the C.P.R., and neither seem to make necessary repairs. It has a mail subsidy of $80,000 a year, yet runs only one train a day each way. The road is so poorly built that when heavy rains come many bridges and culverts are destroyed.

"The country also wants, and that as soon as possible, colonization roads and some good system of drainage. The absence of these has made it almost impossible, this season, for immigrants to get into their settlements. If something was done in advancing money to settlers it would give a magnificent return in encouraging people to go in. My impression is that the Dominion Government hardly understands the position of affairs and the representatives of the West are so few that in the rush at Ottawa they do not receive the consideration they should from the eastern members. To get at the bottom of it, I believe it would be a good thing to send out a deputation of plain, everyday thinking business men to size up the situation and say exactly what they think, but they should not be politicians. In the West now the people want many things, including Provincial autonomy. They are the most hopeful people I ever met. They have hail and rain and frost, but from past experience they think the recuperative power of the country is so great that all will come right. They are a free and generous people, and in that country honesty is a necessity. The hotel guest never locks his bedroom door. He throws his bags anywhere, and they are never touched. People driving will leave their rifles or saddles on the roadside, and they would rust and rot before being picked up by anyone else.

GOOD HOTELS.

"The hotels throughout the Northwest and British Columbia are A1. Their cooking is much better than in the average Ontario hotels, and during the whole time I was away I never slept on anything but an absolutely clean bed. The prices, too, are moderate.

"There is a great absence of firewood in the northern part of the country, but coal is very plentiful. It is found on the surface, and is delivered at centres of population, in the houses, at $2.50 a ton.

DULL IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

"In British Columbia things are a bit flat just now, owing to the low prices of silver and lead. Some people think the local Legislature is to blame. They have no politics in the Legislature, and my opinion is that they would be better off if they had. I never saw a community in which all classes are so thoroughly convinced of the incompetency and selfishness of the members of the Legislature. Everyone, almost without exception, tells you the Legislature is rotten to the core.

"In the mining district the Smelter Trust of the United States works against our interests. They have their own ores and don't want ours. You hear of railways working together, but you have to look at the practical results. We have the minerals, as rich as any country in the world, but the capitalists are afraid to invest. The same condition existed in Northern Ontario a few years ago, but the regulations in regard to the exportation of sawlogs stopped it, and the whole country is prosperous. The lumbermen are making money, and the people who went to the United States to manufacture our logs are now coming back to do it here. My opinion is that there should be an export duty on British-Columbian ore, and that tariff measures should be adopted whereby all refining should be done in Canada. I believe the prices of lead products would be no higher, and, if they were, the east could afford to be taxed a little to help the West, which is being taxed pretty heavily for what it buys in the east. The Western people should have our strong support and sympathy, and I think the result would be that our manufacturers would be greatly benefited.

SOUTHERN ALBERTA.

"Coming to Southern Alberta, heretofore only a ranching country, I find it is gradually being taken up by farmers, and as this occurs, the ranchers have to move back. Still, there are many thousands of acres of fine farming land available.

"Crow's Nest Pass country is bound to be a great factor in the West. Its coal production promises to be enormous, and new mines are being opened all the time. The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company at Fernie, Mitchell and Morrissey now employs nearly 2,000 men, and at Fernie have over 400 coke ovens.

"I met a great number of Australians, who are visiting Canada, partly as a result of the friendly relations growing out of the Boer War, and partly through the efforts of the C.P.R. One and all think Canada the greatest country in the world, and the most hospitable. Coming from Owen Sound to Toronto, some Australians I met were amazed to see the great fields of wheat and oats.

"I was surprised to find in so many sections that the snowfall is small, and the duration of the cold weather short.

"Taking all in all, I can only add that, although always intensely Canadian, I have come back more so than ever, and I hope all my friends will have an opportunity to see what I have seen of the country and its people, as I know they would return as enthusiastic as I."

CHATS ON WEST-INDIAN TRADE MATTERS.

MR. HARNETT, OF BERMUDA.

MR. L. B. HARNETT, of the firm of W. T. James & Co., Hamilton, Bermuda, is making one of his periodical trips to Canada. His object is principally pleasure, but he is also devoting some time to business, the firm he represents being large jobbers and retailers in Bermuda. He was in Toronto for a few days last week, and "The Canadian Grocer" had a pleasant few minutes' chat with him. He came to Canada by the Pickford & Black Line, and reports having had a pleasant voyage, and he spoke highly of the service. When questioned in regard to trade matters, he said: "Our desire in Bermuda is to trade with Canada, for we are of the same nation, but, of course, you can readily understand that we are compelled to buy where we can buy cheapest and to sell where we can sell to the best advantage. The trade between Bermuda and Canada is growing, but you have a great competitor in the United States."

"What Canadian products do you purchase principally?"

"Speaking for our firm alone, I might say that we buy all our flour from Canada, and we have been doing so for some years. Then we buy oats, hay, butter, cheese, bran, middlings, etc. Canadian soaps are beginning to come in more freely, and quite a little Canadian furniture is bought. Our firm is now buying a lot of canned goods from Canada, such as fruits and vegetables, and we find them of excellent quality. We prefer some of the canned fruits to those of California, their flavor and syrup being much better. So far, Canadian canned goods are knocking out New York prices. Of course, did they not do so we could not buy them."

"What about the dry goods trade?"

"Nearly all the dry goods we import into Bermuda come from England, our buyers going there twice a year. It is perhaps worthy of note that the people from the United States, who visit Bermuda in large numbers during the winter, purchase while with us a great deal of these English goods, particularly silks, dry goods and clothing. We have some fine tailor shops in Bermuda. These goods are largely purchased by the people from the United States who visit us, because they can get them a great deal cheaper than in their own country."

"Where do you get your hardware from, principally?"

"Our shelf hardware comes largely from Pittsburg, but the heavy goods are still largely imported from England. We have some good hardware stores in Bermuda."

Speaking of the products of Bermuda, Mr. Harnett said: "Our principal products are onions and potatoes. Of potatoes we raise three crops a year. The first crop is gathered about September, the second in January and the third in March. After the land has been given a little rest we produce on the same soil watermelons, muskmelons, and vegetables generally. There is only one crop of onions a year. The production of Easter lilies is quite an industry in Bermuda. Whole farms are devoted to their cultivation. The seed is sown in December and the flowers are gathered in July. It takes about three years to produce bulbs of saleable size. These fields of Easter lilies are a beautiful sight, particularly in the morning when they look like fields of snow, while the odor from them is delightful."

While a good many Canadians visit Bermuda in the winter, Mr. Harnett regrets that the number is not larger. "We have," he said, "a very fine climate and excellent hotels."

MR. CHARLES PICKFORD, OF HALIFAX.

Mr. Charles S. Pickford, who has been in the West Indies for nearly eight months in the interest of the Pickford and Black Steamship Company, is in Toronto, where he will remain some months looking after shipments for the West Indies. While in the West Indies he arranged for an exhibit at the Industrial Exhibition, Toronto. The goods are now on the way, and Mr. Pickford will have charge of the exhibit. During the volcanic eruptions at St. Pierre and St. Vincent, Mr. Pickford was in Barbados. He says the detonations were quite distinctly heard where he was, which was 90 miles from St. Vincent and that at five o'clock that evening the cloud of volcanic dust was so heavy in Barbados, that it was as dark as midnight, while by the next morning it had covered the island to the depth of an inch.

As in regard to Canadian trade with the West Indies, Mr. Pickford said: "There has been a great deal more Canadian flour sold than usual. The sales, however, are increasing in all lines, but particularly in flour, oats, biscuits and goods of that kind. The Christie, Brown Co., Limited, are now making regular shipments of their goods to the Islands. There is no reason why Canadian manufacturers should not sell in the West Indies nearly every kind of goods they produce, but one thing is sure, they must go and look after it."

"Do you think that the people of the West Indies are becoming more interested in Canada?"

"Yes: I think the sentiment in favor of trade with Canada is growing all the time. But the trouble is the United States manufacturers have their men going through the West Indies all the time selling their goods. It is only now and then that you meet a traveller representing a Canadian house."

"What about the shipment of West-Indian products to Canada?"

"That is not growing as fast as it should. I think if our people here would buy more goods in the West Indies, the sale of Canadian products in the Islands would increase more rapidly. We cannot expect those people to buy from us when we buy so little from them. Naturally, the inclination is to buy your goods from those to whom you sell. Another thing is that the exporters in the United States keep the merchants in the West Indies well posted as to prices of different kinds of merchandise, particularly on such lines as flour, peas and oats, while the Canadian exporters do not. This is a big mistake. While, as I have said, we do not buy as much from the West Indies as we should, our steamers have this winter brought up more sugar from the West Indies than ever before. The bulk of it came from Demerara, Antigua, St. Kitts and Montserrat."

"What are trade conditions like in the West Indies?"

"In Barbados, Demerara and the smaller islands trade is in a pretty bad state, and it is due to the fact that these islands are practically dependent upon the sugar industry. In Dominica, Trinidad and Grenada trade is good. In these places the cocoa, coffee and lime juice industries are quite important. Consequently, there is not the same dependence upon the sugar industry. In Demerara improvements have been made in the machinery in the sugar mills, but on the smaller islands in the West Indies they have not been able to do this on account of lack of money. The diamond industry in Demerara is making quite a stir, and oil has been struck in Trinidad, but I cannot inform you as to whether in paying quantities or not."

Mr. Pickford says that the weather in the West Indies during the last winter was wetter than usual. The number of people from Canada and the United States who spent last winter there was not as large, while the number of visitors from Great Britain was, on the other hand, much larger than usual.

Speaking of the transportation service, Mr. Pickford said that the railroad authorities say that there will be no difficulty in securing cars for conveying merchandise from points in Ontario to Halifax and St. John destined for the West Indies. It will be remembered that last year there was quite a little difficulty in getting a sufficient number of cars.

OUTLOOK FOR CANNED PINEAPPLES.

An exchange says: "Latest reports received from Singapore advise that the crop is practically at an end, and that producers refuse to make contracts for forward delivery. Shipments during May and June were short, and it is reported that deliveries also for July will show a deficiency of quite 10,000 cases. If this should prove to be correct, it will be a serious thing for many packers who, anticipating an enormous crop, made contracts for delivery during June, July and August at such ridiculously low prices that they now find they will be unable to fulfill their contracts unless at a loss."

CANNED SALMON IN ENGLAND.

The most important feature in the salmon trade having a bearing on this market is how to increase the demand so that a sufficient proportion of the pack may be attracted here. Recent experiences show that price is a very important factor, and with the collapse in the demand fresh in their minds, both importers and distributors have aimed at keeping prices within bounds all through this season, and have not made advanced quotations even when fully warranted by the position, excepting in the case of sockeye talls, where, for a time, the demand outran the visible supply, and even then there was practically no alteration in quotations to the retail trade. For the next few weeks the fishing reports will be of absorbing interest, for on the progressing pack depends the course of next season's trade; no one anticipates any sudden or extreme fluctuation in price, but a scarcity of tall tins in the Fraser and Puget districts would at least call for a recasting of selling prices.—Produce Markets' Review.

Is RED ROSE TEA advertised as much as other package teas ?

I think not !

Yet, fourteen travellers are employed. Warehouses at St. John, Toronto and Winnipeg are kept busy distributing tea from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Sales every year show a really phenomenal growth.

Why is this ? How have such results been obtained ?

Simply by putting up good tea. SO GOOD that people who use it recommend it to their friends.

RED ROSE TEA WILL HELP INCREASE YOUR TEA BUSINESS.

It is packed either Black, Mixed or Ceylon Green. Six grades, retailing at 25c. to 60c.

Are you selling it ?

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

August 14, 1902.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, St. John, N.B., and Halifax. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit. For Winnipeg market report and prices, see page 31.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lowest prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

THE EXPORT OF POULTRY.

By R. H. Ashton, of Scott & Ashton, Morrisburg, Ont.

THE question of fattening fowls is a most important branch of commercial poultry keeping. Of what use is it instructing the agriculturist to rear innumerable chickens, if, when he has got them, he is at a loss to know what to do with them? Canadian markets can be quickly overdone, but Great Britain has apparently an inexhaustible demand for really prime quality, well-fattened fowls. But the breeder must either be capable of fattening the birds on his own place, or must be able to hand them to a fatter, if the fowls are eventually to find their way to England. Therefore, it is that we look to the fattening industry as the pioneer that shall eventually enable us to compete successfully with other countries in poultry produce as a whole. There are many especially in the counties of Essex and Surrey, where men make a business of fattening fowls. A fatter, and by this term we mean the actual man who performs the duties of fattening, does not care to put on paper his mode of operation, for they are wide enough awake to know that if they were to—so to speak—"give themselves away," their occupation might be gone. In giving the benefit of our experience, and the methods we employ, no such sordid considerations bear weight with us.

The only branch of poultry keeping that will permit, with any certainty, of the being accurately prophesied is, in our opinion, poultry fattening. That anyone can, however, start in this line with a fair prospect of success is by no means to be taken for granted. But that one and all of the many thousands of poultry keepers would derive considerable benefit were a better knowledge of this branch more widely circulated, is a fact. There are, we have no doubt, a number of poultry breeders who would, if they only knew that they were eminently adapted by their connections and surroundings to make a success in this business, start at once in the undertaking. Before entering into any new business, it is everyone's duty to make himself as fully conversant as possible with the requirements of such trade or business, and when, having mastered these details, he is able to see an opening for his enterprise, he may start operations in the fattening line, with a certainty that by strict attention to business he can provide himself with a steady income in proportion to his undertaking.

Lest it may be thought that we advocate the all and every description of fowls that come to hand, and forward the same to the English markets, we desire to say such is by no means our intention; but though England will always take the best and the worst, there is generally a "glut" of what we call "thirds" and "culls," and if these are sent there, the returns would not be as much as what we could have obtained at our own door. This is where the difficulty with the novice comes in. He has lately commenced in this line of business and has produced better fattened fowls than he has ever done before, or seen in his neighborhood, and he at once jumps to the conclusion that they are really prime quality goods; but what he may call prime birds and what the English poulterer would designate the same, may be two very different things entirely. It is obvious then, that the one thing necessary (outside of practical experience),

TO INSURE SUCCESS

when starting a fattening business, is to find a demand for the lower quality goods that you will have for disposal. These, we might add, will be infinitely superior to the average quality found in the local market.

To suppose that a fatter, if he has, say, 500 birds up, can, as they become fit, send them all off to the markets and make a profit is an idea possessed by many, but which, if put into practice would, with few exceptions, result in failure. But we will suppose that the 500 birds previously mentioned are an average type of fowl, suitable for fattening, and these, for convenience, we will divide into the probable five qualities of which they will be likely to consist, and the quantity in each lot, thus: Prime, 50; seconds, 150; thirds, 150; culls, 125, bad, 25; total, 500.

ENGLAND DEMANDS THE BEST, and the 50 primes and 150 seconds as stated above, should, therefore, be sent there. It is the "thirds" and "culls" where the difficulty in finding an outlet is apparent. The 25 bad (that is the birds killed in transit), wasters, and we regret to add, diseased, also find their way to the packing establishments and consequently have to be thrown on the manure heap. The market supply of prime quality chickens is dependent upon two factors: First, the selection of the breed possessing the most suitable frame and form with a readiness of putting on flesh. Second, the adoption of the best methods of feeding and fattening. Apart from the greatly improved quality of flesh produced by special food and improved feeding, there will be a VAST INCREASE IN WEIGHT.

For example, the average 3-lb. chicken, as it comes from the farm, carries about six ounces of bone, 18 ounces of fat, and, after being cooked, there are about 13 ounces, or 28 per cent. of edible meat left. Suppose the farmer receives 30c. per pair for the birds in this condition. He may argue that they cost him little or nothing to produce, but is that a fair reason why he should throw away good opportunities of making more money simply because he has made so much without any effort? Suppose, instead of selling the birds for 30c. per pair, he puts them in the fattening coop for 21 days and expends 15c. more in food and then goes to the market with them. The chickens then weigh 10 pounds per pair, and after cooking them, we find 80 ounces of edible meat, which is three times as much as they possessed at the beginning of the fattening period. Suppose he sells them at the same price per pound, he would receive 50c. instead of 30c., as before; but like any other meat of extra quality, it fetches an extra price, as in the large markets to-day such poultry command two cents per pound above common stocks, such as is usually exposed for sale on the butchers' stalls.

The problem that has to be solved by the farmers of this country, is in other words, how to produce, how to fatten, and how to sell. To suppose that every breeder of chickens has either the time or the means to learn the fattening industry, is to suppose what is most unlikely. Even so, the cost of shipping in small lots to the cold storage and fattening establishments makes the business almost impracticable. What is required is a co-operative fattening station in every county, to form a connecting link between the producer and the exporter, with one or more branches where necessary, from which the producers can receive a fair market price for their poultry, and at the end of the season participate in the profits that have been derived by properly fattening and marketing their produce, each contributor receiving a share in the profits in proportion to the amount of poultry that he sold to the association during the past twelve months. The principle of co-operation has been successfully adopted for the manufacture of cheese and butter, and we see no reason why it should not be successfully carried out in the fattening and marketing of poultry. Capital is, of course, required to make such a society a success, but compared to the numbers it would effect, and the great benefits that each individual contributor would derive, the amount of capital would be insignificant, and we trust we may see the day when the Department of Agriculture will take this matter up, and place it on a sound basis, or, that failing them, private enterprise may step into the breach.

THE OLD STORY.

SEVERAL months ago two young Englishmen opened up business in St. John, N.B., under the name of J. C. Williams & Co. They claimed to belong to Manchester, England, and purchased goods for export. They dealt in flour, provisions, hay, etc. A few weeks ago they locked up their store and departed without saying a word to anyone. Their absence did not create any sensation, as it was thought they had gone to the country. They claimed to have bought for cash, and only owed a few small amounts around the city. It seems, however, they worked some sharp games on Ontario men. They ordered a quantity of flour, valued at $590, from Neil McCahill & Co., Forest, Ont., but when it came with the bill of lading attached they telegraphed they would not take it that way. McCahill & Co. wired instructions to give the firm the flour; a sight draft was accepted; Williams & Co. sold the flour from the cars below cost, put the money in their pockets and left town. On August 5 Judge McLeod granted a warrant under the Absconding Debtors' Act to C. S. Hanington, acting for McCahill & Co., and the goods in the store have been seized. There is little in the store except some hay, a roller desk and some chairs. As Senator Dever has distrained for a quarter's rent, $50, the Ontario men and other creditors will receive very little on their claims.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style. No. 9

EVERY storekeeper who wants a brightly lighted store should use this lamp—it is the only one giving 200 candle power.

IT makes its own gas automatically and is cheaper to run than a center-draft oil lamp.

THERE is no smoke or smell, of any kind, from it.

HUNDREDS of them are in use and every one is giving satisfaction.

IF THE LAMP IS NOT ALL YOU HOPE IT TO BE WE WILL CHEERFULLY RETURN YOUR MONEY.

Colman's Mustard

IS THE BEST IN THE WORLD

Just so with Vinegar

As with every other line the grocer handles to-day. The quality must be first-class—there must be no doubt about it—it must give perfect satisfaction, or the trade goes some place else. You all recognize this fact. Now, is the standard of quality. Manufacturers of pickles have proved this time and again, and consumers all over Canada can back up this statement.

"Imperial" White Wine Vinegar

Have you offered your customers "Imperial" White Wine yet? It will mean the basis of a large and profitable vinegar business for you if you do. It fills every requirement.

Ask your grocery traveller for it, and take no other. Price just the same as ordinary standard vinegar.

Summer Grocery Window Displays.

MUCH is heard of the way some grocers lose trade. But a careful observation of the business methods of those same grocers creates a still greater wonder that many more do not fall behind in their business, for many opportunities are wasted by neglecting to use the show windows to make displays. During the summer a good many grocers do nothing of importance to render their windows presentable. All that can he seen during that time of the year in a good many windows are a few boxes of goods

PILED UP IN A CARELESS WAY,

some tin cans, fly paper stuck full of flies, and lots of dirt. Others make more successful attempts at window decorating, but let the same stuff stay in their window week in and week out, until things are out of place, dirty, and not fit to be seen.

The grocer will give as his reason for neglecting the decorations of his window that goods put in it during the summer time are liable to be damaged by the flies and the sun. He will argue that the labels on cans and other packages will be dirtier and thus rendered unsalable by

THE DUST AND THE FLIES.

Tea, coffee or sugar would not be improved either by being exposed to the flies and the heat of the sun.

But something besides these mentioned above may be utilized for a window display with advantage. Anyhow, if reasonable care is taken, canned goods, if they are not left too long in the window, will not be much damaged in appearance by use in this way. Awnings should be brought into use in front of the store and this would serve to protect the goods from the sun. The store should be kept cool, and if possible the window should be such that it could be kept tightly closed. So when the window is dressed it may be shut and flies prevented from obtaining an entrance.

AVOID OVERCROWDING.

In making the display do not overcrowd the window, show one line at a time, and change the displays quite often. The window glass should be kept clean and all rough boards and framework covered.

A window thus shaded from the sun, and as far as possible kept clear of flies, will serve to make a good display of many articles in the grocery store with little liability of damage to the goods and much advantage to the grocer in appealing to the trade of his community.

FRUIT DISPLAY.

In the summer season fruit of various kinds will always serve to make a good window display. It is a line that rapidly sells and so what the grocer has on hand is generally fresh. By being put in a window valuable space in the store is saved and much is done to attract custom. Arranged in an orderly way baskets of fruit in the window always present a good appearance and advertise themselves to the general public.

A WINDOW OF SALT.

For a summer display salt may be made to appear with advantage in the window. The arrangement is simple. Make a background of white cheesecloth. In the foreground, in the centre of the window place a large box on the floor, covered with colored cheesecloth, on which some appropriate motto may be printed, On top of the box build salt sacks in pyramid style and cover the floor with loose salt. Sacks of flour may also be arranged in a window in much the same way.

A WINDOW OF CANNED GOODS.

A nice show window of canned goods may be arranged in this way. Take a number of cases of salmon, peas or corn, and knock off one side of the case. Pile the boxes in a row the length of the window at some little distance from the glass, with the open sides outward showing the cans packed therein. Let the pile be about three cases high, and on the top of each case pile some cans in the shape of a pyramid.

A WINDOW OF SOAP.

To make a soap window, a good plan is to build a castle of soap. No framework is required, as the structure can be built with common long bars of soap. Build a tower at each end, one a little larger than the other, leaving spaces for windows and a door, and between the towers build a wall, not quite so high as the towers, in which also make four or five windows. Battlements can be formed by means of smaller bars of soap, and on one of the towers a Union Jack may be placed on a small staff. Ground spice may be used for the floor and a pathway of block sugar may be formed leading from the door in the tower.

CROPS IN NEW ONTARIO.

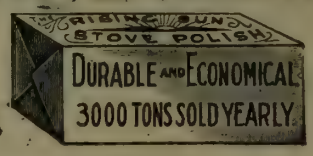
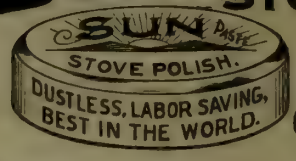
IN speaking of the New Ontario crop The Fort William Journal says : "From all parts of the district expressions of satisfaction can be heard. The farms in close proximity to the two towns have never looked better. Those on the Dason road, Arthur's, Heyder's and Wilson's, have tremendous grain crops, and the outlook for oats never was more pleasing. The hay crop has been gathered, and, owing to the splendid conditions during the spring, it is the heaviest for years. Barley, wheat and oats are all heading out nicely, and the yield per acre of these grains will be a surprise to the many who believe that there are no farming lands in New Ontario. On Arthur's farm it is estimated that the barley yield will be 80 bush. to the acre.



"If the present weather conditions prevail Mr. Tonkin will reap a harvest which will astonish old Ontario, as, at the lowest, it is estimated that the yield will be 100 bush. to the acre. The soil in this part of Canada seems specially adapted to the growth of barley, and it is not speaking beyond possibilities when we say that this part of New Ontario will be the greatest barley district in Canada. The burley grows to a height averaging 3 ft., and the heads are large and well filled.

"Mr. Baxter's farm, which has just been cleared in New Illinois Township, yielded 40 tons of hay on 12 acres.



"The farmers of New Ontario are prosparing, as is evidenced by the signs of progress going on. Farm houses and outbuildings of a permanent character are being erected, and on all farms the most improved farming implements are in use. Next season a large area will be cleared and ready for the plow.

"Mr. Burriss has made arrangements with the settlers for special samples of grain and hay for the eastern exhibitions. In all there will be 900 samples—300 from State River, 200 from Olive, 100 from Whitefish, 100 from Ox Drift and 200 from Rainy River.

CANADIAN FRUITS AND FRUIT GROWERS

THE papers read at the convention of the Pomological and Fruit Growing Society at Aylmer, Que., on August 14, were of the most entertaining nature, as well as very practical.

In the first paper, G. Renaud, gardener at the Trappist Monastery at Oka, Que., dealt with the culture of the pear in Quebec Province. He thought that the Flemish Beauty was most suited to that district. The trees, however, should be well sheltered and cared for. Discussing this subject, Robert Hamilton recommended some of the Russian pears. These could be successfully grafted, and by judicious handling could be improved. Close planting, he said, was the cause of the spread of the blight. It was stated that the grafting of tender varieties on hardy stocks would be successful here, but too much should not be risked on it.

"Plums" was the subject of W. W. Dunlop, of Outremont, whose paper, in his absence, was read by R. W. Shepard, president of The Ottawa River Navigation Co. The paper stated that although plums were not grown as much as apples on Montreal Island, yet there was a good demand for them. The trouble was in producing them at a sufficiently low price. In order to grow the tree from the seed, stones from ripe fruit should be used. They could be tested by pacing them in water; those that floated should be rejected. The stones should be planted about 3 inches apart in soil 1 inch deep. The sprouts should be transplanted after a year's growth. Grafting should be done in spring or fall when the sap was not running. The trees should be examined frequently to prevent black knot, curculis and such like diseases. Among the plums that were thought best for the Province of Quebec were: Cheny, Bixby, Hawkeye, Eigleber, German Prune, Glass, Gneii, Bradshaw, Bline, Claude Bavay and Yellow Eye. A committee was appointed to give names to those plums now known as Nos. 52, 53, 54 and 60.

The meeting then devoted its attention to cherries, and Mr. Brodie, of Montreal, exhibited several fine varieties of Russian fruit which he had grown. A new dwarf cherry, Koslob Morello, was recommended as a cherry tree that could be planted alternately with apple trees without interfering with the latter.

W. M. Pattison, of Clarlenceville, spoke of pruning. He contended that pruning of bushes, trees and vines was a necessity, if fine fruit was to be produced. Pruning should be done either late in winter or early in spring, whenever the sap was dormant. In the evening, Professor W. F. Macoun, of the Central Experimental Farm, at Ottawa, spoke on fruits for the home market, a subject on which he is certainly well informed. He recommended as the best apples for the Ottawa district: Yellow Transparent apples for summer and early fall; Duchess of Oldenburg for the fall; Wealthy, Alexander and McIntosh Reds for early winter, and Wolf River, Scott's Winter, Canada Red, Golden Russets and a new variety, Milwaukee, for winter. As for plums, he thought Cheny, Bixby, Silas Wilson, Bouncer, Hawkeye and Stoddard would be best. The strawberries recommended were Custer, Glen Mary, Bubach, Greenville, Bisel, Mele, Sample and Lovett.

Dr. Fletcher, of the Central Experimental Farm, told how to exterminate insects that were injurious to fruit, or reducing the damage they caused. He also showed how to get rid of certain weeds with which farmers were troubled.

W. B. Whyte, of Ottawa, spoke of floriculture, referring to the annuals that could be grown without using a hotbed.

In the discussion of grapes, Mr. Pattison said that, having had experience with more than 100 varieties, he had concluded that the Popular Champion was the most satisfactory.

Peaches were spoken of briefly, it being stated that their culture had proven successful in the Eastern Townships.

On the following day, several of the members of the society visited the Central Experimental Farm, where they were shown about the place and entertained at luncheon. Messrs. Pattison and Macaulay and Dr. Wood spoke highly of the work done by the Farm, Dr. Fletcher and Professor Macoun replying.

PETERBORO' RETAIL CLERKS.

A meeting of the retail clerks of Peterboro', Ont., was held on August 11. About 40 of the clerks of the town were present.

Organizer John Flett was present and delivered an able address, dwelling upon the benefits to be derived by being organized.

The following officers were elected :

President—R. J. Begley.
Secretary—R. K. Brown.

Money was subscribed for a charter, which will arrive in the course of 10 days.

Donald McLeod, of D. McLeod & Son, general merchants, Dunvegan, N.S., is dead, and their Broad Cove branch store is burned.

A REORGANIZED FIRM.

A BUSINESS change of considerable interest to retail merchants and manufacturers was concluded recently, whereby The Union Petroleum Co. of Canada, Limited, took over the business of The Atlantic Refining Co., importers and dealers in illuminating and lubricating oils, with headquarters at Toronto. The new firm is incorporated with ample capital for the carrying-on of such a business and with the following well-known business gentleman at the head of affairs : President, A. E. Lewis ; vice-president, A. C. Woodman ; secretary-treasurer, F. M. VanZant. The company is affiliated with The Union Petroleum Co., of Philadelphia, who are the largest independent dealers in lubricating products, etc., in the United States. They own and control the output of two large refineries, having a combined capacity of 30,000 bbls. per month.

The new company have retained the old trade marks of their predecessors, which have become so well and favorably known throughout Canada. An old reliable is that of "Pennoline," which is absolutely the best grade of illuminating oil imported into Canada, and which is enjoying an increased sale daily. Their lubricating oils are also becoming more and more popular. Still another familiar seller is "Elastic Carbon Paint," easily a leader in its line. The firm have branches at Winnipeg, Manitoba, Vancouver, B.C., and St. John, N.B., and report a very prosperous season. They will be pleased to keep in touch with all old friends of the Atlantic Company as well as to meet new ones. Samples and prices will be cheerfully furnished at any time.

GEORGIAN BAY APPLE CROP.

J. G. Mitchell, director of the Fruit Experimental Station at Clarksburg, in the Georgian Bay district, says : "Since last report the fruit situation has been somewhat changed. Apples are still showing well, and promise an abundant yield. So far the fruit is holding on well the dropping being no more than necessary. We have been particularly free from insect enemies, but apple scab is now showing signs of development, and may cause considerable damage should wet weather continue very much longer. All things considered, there are prospects of more than an average crop.

KNOWN FROM COAST TO COAST.

Merchants and manufacturers with foresight never pass by United Factories' goods to buy inferior qualities. All the largest and best dealers in Canada know Cane's Newmarket pails and tubs. Enormous sales prove that prices are as right as quality.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

Canada's Exports of Provisions—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

CANADA'S EXPORTS OF PROVISIONS.

OUR export bacon trade seems to more than hold its own. Last year we sent abroad $12,163,505 worth, an increase of $666,025 compared with the preceding 12 months. Great Britain is by long odds the largest consumer of Canadian bacon. Last year we sold the Mother Country $12,119,342 worth, $660,000 more than 1901. The United States bought from us $42,599 worth, an increase of $5,881. In the matter of hams we did not do so well, our export last year aggregating $241,485, or $44,000 below that of the previous year. Our butter exports show an increase of $2,311,000, the total for 1902 being $5,667,150, and for 1901, $3 355,197. Great Britain took $5,465,495; the United States, $41,554 ; Newfoundland, $47,066, and other countries, $113,035. Our sales of cheese abroad were rather disappointing last year. The value of our exports was $19,870,072, a decrease of $1,250,000 compared with the preceding 12 months. The Canadian hen continues to give handsome returns. Our exports of eggs last year reached the sum of $1,736,141, being an increase of $43,845. The purchasers were Great Britain, $1,691,024; United States $36,663; other countries, $6,454. In shipments of poultry, too, Canada did well, the total being valued at $238,175, or $96,653 better than in 1901. Nearly all our poultry went to Great Britain, only $7,612 being shipped to the United States and $14,000 to other countries.

A NEW COLD STORAGE PLANT.

Always keenly alive to the importance of keeping the trade throughout the country well posted as to the development of the large market centres and the facilities afforded for the proper handling of perishable goods, a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER this week visited the large establishment of D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., situated on Front street east, in the heart of the produce section of Toronto.

Established in 1873, at the present location, their business as pork packers, commission merchants and dealers in all kinds of produce has grown until they now occupy four large warehouses, 74, 76, 78 and 80 Front street east. The feature of their business which specially interested our representative was the large mechanical cold-storage plant recently installed by the Linde Co., a two-storey addition having been built in order to provide room for this plant, which includes an area of 50,000 cubic feet of cold air space. The system of brine circulation is in use, each room being controlled by four sets of pipes, by which they can be regulated and kept at any required temperature, according to the class of goods stored in them.

Eggs, butter, cheese and poultry are the principal commodities stored by this firm. For the last named they have a large room especially fitted up, in which poultry can be carried should the weather be unfavorable, pending an improvement in the market. This is at the disposal of, and will be appreciated by their large clientele of shippers. Having a plant of the large capacity indicated above, they are enabled to place cold-storage space at the disposal of country shippers and others, who can rely upon their goods being handled and carried according to the most up-to-date methods.

In their extensive export trade, D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. are enabled to assist in the building up of a favorable reputation in the British market for Canadian produce by placing the goods on that market in prime condition, through the medium of this cold storage, together with the facilities afforded by refrigerator cars and refrigerated space on steamers. Not only does their export business benefit by the cold storage ; their large increasing city trade is evidence that the city appreciates good service and goods in first-class condition.

LIVE STOCK COMING IN.

A despatch from Winnipeg says : Several large herds of stock are now being taken into Western Canada. Among them are Cresswell & Day's bunch of 10,000 2-year-old heifers from New Mexico and the Broom Cattle Co.'s bunch of 4,500 from Southern Colorado.

TO PASTURE IN CANADA.

C. W. Merchant, J. H. Parramere, and R. G. Anderson, of Abilene, and Capt. Willingham, of McMillan, prominent Texan stockmen, have arrived at Dallas en route to Canada, where they will engage a range for next season. Heretofore, Texas cowmen have been sending cattle to the Dakotas and the Wyoming country, but next spring they will try the experiment of using a Canadian range, as they expect in Canada to meet with less disturbance from public authorities. — National Provisioner, New York.

LIVE STOCK IN ONTARIO.

The following interesting statistics of farm live stock in Ontario on July 1, 1902, have been prepared by the Department of Agriculture :

Horses : Working horses, 393,307 ; breeding mares, 93,425 ; unbrokon horses, 139,374 ; total, 626,106, as against 620,343 in 1901.

Cattle : Milch cows, 1,010,746 ; store cattle, 458,834 ; other cattle, 1,093,004 ; total, 2,562,584, as against 2,507,620 in 1901.

Sheep : Over one year, 915,217 ; under one year, 800,296 ; total, 1,715,513, compared with 1,761,799 in 1901.

Hogs : Over one year, 238,992 ; under one year, 1,445,643 ; total, 1,684,635, as compared with 1,491,885 in 1901, and 1,771,641 in 1900.

Poultry : Turkeys, 732,359; geese, 332,781; ducks, 397,333 ; other fowls, 8,300,335, total, 9,762,808, against 9,755,286 in 1901.

The number of live stock sold or slaughtered in the year ending June 30, 1902, were as follows : Horses, 54,538; cattle, 673,544; sheep, 732,994; hogs, 1,991,906 ; poultry, 3,674,198.

The wool clip of 1902 was 5,690,673 lb.

The number of colonies of bees is 202,529.

THE SHORTAGE OF PIGS.

That the spring pig crop was small admits of no doubt. That stock hogs will be costly is a natural sequence.

The average feeder, and this exempts the big operator, is disinclined to feed unless he has hogs to follow his cattle. Whether he will be prepared to pay stiff prices for both feeders and stock hogs is open to speculation. If corn sells at a good round price he may be tempted to dispose of it and take a season off.

Should any considerable proportion of the multitude of small feeders follow this policy those who keep everlastingly at it will reap a rich reward. The experience of the past year justifies this prediction. It looks as

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

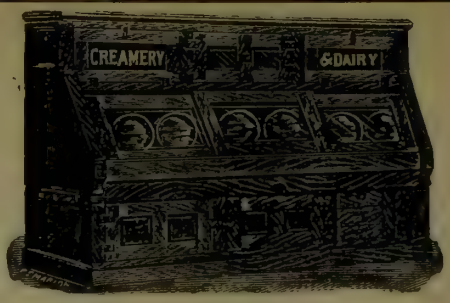
TORONTO.

Dressed hogs are dull and unchanged. Trade in beef is quiet and the prices of hind quarters have declined 50c. per 100 lb. Live hogs are firm and the receipts thereof are limited. Veal and lambs are slow. Quotations are as follows: Dressed hogs, $9.50 to $10; beef carcasses, $7 to $8.00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $8.50 to $9.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 8 to 9c. per lb., and lambs, 8 to 9c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25 to $7.37½, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $5.75 to $6.25 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.



The demand for smoked and pickled meats continues good. Lard is steady and in fair demand. Quotations follow: Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c.; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 11 to 11½c., and backs, 14½ to 15c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21.50; short cut, $23.50 to $24; lard, in tierces, 10¾ to 11c. per lb.; tubs, 11 to 11¼c., and pails, 11¼ to 11½c.; compounds, 8¾ to 10¼c; plate beef, $15 per 100 lb.

MONTREAL.

A decrease in the price of Jones' pork is to be noted, it being 25c. per bbl. flower. It is now quoted at $24.50. Pure lard has fallen ¼c. per lb. Trade in lard and smoked meats is fairly active, a particularly good demand obtaining for lard. Trade in fresh killed abattoir dressed hogs is fair at prices ranging from $9 50 to $10 per 100 lb. We quote: Pure Canadian lard, $2.37½ to $2.40 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 9¾c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20 lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20 lb. wood pails, ½c.; 10-lb. tins, ⅝c.; 5-lb. tins, ¾c.; 3-lb. tins, ⅞c. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.80 to $1.90 per pail; Cottolene, 11¼c. for 20 lb. pails, and 11⅜c. for 60 lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario; hams, 12 to 14c.; heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $24.50 to $25.00; Canadian short cut clear pork, $23.50 to $25.00; American short cut clear pork, $24 to $24.50; American fat back, $24.50 to $25.00; bacon, Wiltshire, 14 to 15c. per lb.; extra plate beef, $14 50 to $15.00 per bbl.

DEATH OF MR. W. ECKARDT.

Mr. William Eckardt, J.P., father of H. P. Eckardt, the well-known wholesale grocer of Toronto, died on August 17 at his residence, 740 Spadina avenue, Toronto. Deceased was one of the pioneers of York County. He was born in 1824 at Unionville, and his father, the late Godlip Eckardt, was born there about a century ago. The grandfather, Philip Eckardt, was one of the earliest settlers in Markham, having moved to that township from the Genesee Valley, New York State, in 1792. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Sarah Harrington, of Richmond Hill, whom he married in 1861. He also leaves four sons, A. J. H. and H. P. Eckardt, Toronto, and Ross and Alonzo Eckardt, Dawson, Y.T., and two daughters, Mrs. E. Y. Eaton and Miss Winifred Eckardt, Toronto.

TRADE CHAT.

T. J. McCAMMON, late of McCammom & McPherson, leaves on Tuesday for Moosejaw, where he has purchased the business of E. Glass & Co. Mr. McCammon has been in the city for the past five years, having been first with M. DesBrisay, and later, when the business changed hands, with the new firm of Hunter & Co. When Kirkpatrick & Wilson sold out he and T. S. McPherson purchased the business with which he has been connected since. He was well known socially and in business and will be greatly missed by his many friends here.—News, Nelson, B.C.

Jones Bros., grocers, of Ninga, Man., have purchased the stock of Hocy & Robertson of that place and will henceforth carry on a general store.

Mr. Russell, of Elora, has purchased the general store of J. A. Hunter, of Durham. Mr. Hunter has secured a lucrative position in Minneapolis.

The manufacturing plant of The Pond Mills Cheese Factory, of Pond Mills, Ont., owned by The Thames Cheese Company, was destroyed by fire on August 13. The insurance will probably cover the loss.

A company has been formed in St. John's, Nfld., for manufacturing soap, stove and boot polish, laundry blue, and other such articles. The capital is $50,000. Machinery has been purchased and building will be started at once.

On Thursday, the 14th inst., at the residence of the bride's parents, 71 Langley avenue, Toronto, Thos. Ross, of The Hudson's Bay Co., Winnipeg, and Miss Mary, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, were united in marriage by the Rev. J. McP. Scott.

The fourth annual picnic of the Hespeler Merchants' Association was held on Thursday, August 14 at Idylwild Park. The star event of the afternoon was the baseball match between two teams captained respectively by C. M. Schultz and S. H. Northcott. The Schultzites won out by 16 to 15.

Messrs. Finkle and Ackerman, of Belleville, have purchased the large new evaporator at Bowmanville, from R. J. Graham. Mr. Finkle has been manager of Mr. Graham's evaporgting business at Belleville and other places for the past twelve years, and Mr. Ackerman has been bookkeeper and office manager for Mr. Graham for eight years. With the capacity of from 700 to 1,000 bushels per day at their evaporator they are in a position to take everything that comes.

APPLES IN OWEN SOUND.

In Owen Sound steps have been taken in connection with the proper marketing of the apple crop. It has been decided that Owen Sound should have at a convenient location an apple-packing warehouse, capable of storing at least 10,000 barrels of fruit, with sufficient space to admit of a thorough sorting of varieties and conditions. The building must be frost proof and conveniently located for shipping purposes. Within the past fortnight developments have been rapid, and The Owen Sound Fruit Packing Company, Limited, has been incorporated to meet the demand. A charter has been secured with a capital stock of $25,000, which has been fully subscribed. The officers are W. P. Telford, president; J. S. Pinch, vice-president; S. J. Parker, secretary-treasurer; Adam Brown, general manager. A site has been acquired at the northwest corner of Water and Canning streets. The building will be constructed of Portland cement and have hollow walls. It will have a length of 110 feet with a width of 50 feet, and have two storeys. At present there is an evaporating plant on the lot, but this will be a convenience, for considerable unmarketable fruit can be easily transferred to the evaporators.

TRINIDAD SUGAR INDUSTRY.

UNDER date of July 11, 1902, United States Consul Alvin Smith transmits an excerpt from a statement by the Attorney-General, in regard to the sugar industry in Trinidad and the necessity for legislative action, which reads:

"The following figures were not, by any means, taken at random. The net loss per ton of sugar sustained by planters in the colony during the last crop was £2 14s. ($12.65), on the basis of sugar at 13s. 9d. ($3.65). There were 60,000 tons of sugar exported, which meant a loss of £160,000 ($778,640). The Secretary of State had intimated his intention to assist them by putting at the disposal of the Government a sum estimated at £41,000 ($199,527), to be applied in such a manner as the Government might think expedient. It was proposed to appropriate that sum in two ways—in the main, to refund to the planters the amount which could be calculated to have been paid by way of immigration tax during the last two years. It was at first proposed to give assistance by installments of 1s. (24.3 cents) per acre per month. That proposition had been withdrawn and another substituted, under which perceptible amounts could be advanced. The extent to which any employment of the funds of the colony would be at present sanctioned was £50,000 ($243,325). Any advance made out of this sum should be by way of loan, and should be a first charge on all estates to which the advances were made. A further condition was that the credit of the colony should not be used to provide funds for the planters, except it were proven to the satisfaction of the Government that such planters were unable to obtain the necessary funds for the cultivation of their crops from any other source whatever. Therefore, the conditions as to loans would apply to a comparatively small proportion of the estates of the colony, many of the owners of estates being in a position to carry on the industry if they felt sufficient confidence in its future."

WEST-INDIAN SUGAR.

CONDITIONS among the sugar planters of the West-Indian Islands are such as to give rise to considerable uneasiness, not only to the inhabitants of the Islands themselves, but likewise to statesmen in London. The population of many of the Islands is almost entirely dependent on the sugar industry, and, were that industry to be seriously affected in any way as is is at present, it becomes a problem what to do with the laborers on the plantations and those dependent on them.

Men of the Little Englander variety, like Mr. Labouchere, would be perfectly willing to see the difficulty removed by handing over the Islands to the United States, but this feeling is only entertained by a few. Sir Edward Grey voices the opinion of the majority of Englishmen when he adduces gratitude as a good reason for not deserting the Islands in their need. From no part of her colonial domains, he explains, has Great Britain drawn so much capital and given so little in return as from the West-Indian Islands. Consequently, at this time, she should not grudge supporting her West-Indian dependencies which have done so much for her.

This broader and more modern view has characterized the actions of those who have been striving of late years to help the West-Indian Islands. The Royal Commission which visited the Islands in 1896, under the chairmanship of Sir Edward Grey, discovered the evil at the bottom of the depression, and since then the Colonial Office has been bestirring itself to remedy it. It was in the operation of the European sugar bounties that Sir Edward Grey's Commission found the cause of all the trouble. These bounties, by means of which the beet-sugar industries of European countries were fostered, acted in a most detrimental manner to the cane-sugar industries of the Indies, and plunged them into the present state of depression.

The British Government immediately took up the cause of the Indian planters, and represented to the European governments the true state of affairs. As a result, a few months ago, a convention was signed at Brussels, by which the sugar-growing countries of Europe decided to abandon the bounty system in September, 1903.

But this was not enough. Pecuniary assistance from the British Government was requisite to tide over the present depression. In the words of The London Times: "There has been a serious danger that the delay in coming into operation of the convention and its benefits might mean a cessation of work on the sugar estates so widespread as to make their revival difficult and their total abandonment by no means outside the bounds of possibility. This result, nullifying a boon which, as the Colonial Secretary himself declared in substance, we ought to have secured for our West-Indian possessions long before, will now, we may reasonably believe, be averted by a timely measure of assistance which the Government is prepared to give to the sugar producers.

The measure of assistance voted to the Islands was £250,000. This was recently put through the House of Commons with little opposition and by a majority of two to one. It is to be hoped that by means of this expenditure, carefully handled, the planters will be able to keep going, at least until the abolition of the bounties gives greater relief.

STICK TO TRUTH.

IT IS not a wise thing for business men or anyone else to evade truth. Truth is the foundation of the State and of business, as well as of the Church. It is, therefore, a good thing for every sphere of action.

The freedom of business, the freedom of politics and the freedom of conscience which we enjoy to-day are born of the courage of the man who held truth to be something for which it was worthy to contend.

To evade truth often appears the easiest way in which to surmount difficulties. But the employment of such methods, while they may appear to surmount difficulties, undermines character. And he whose character is undermined has about as much chance of succeeding in life as a pricked bubble has of maintaining its comeliness.

Truth is the backbone of the courageous; falsehood is the refuge of the coward.

SMALLER PACKAGES FOR FRUITS.

THE chief of the fruit division of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, who is in England investigating the market there for Canadian fruit, reports that one of the objections retailers have is with the manner in which our fruits are packed. Barrels, they say, are too large, except for the very coarsest fruits, and smaller packages should be used.

This statement is backed up by Mr. Alex. MacLaren, M.P., who has just returned from England. In an interview with Mr. MacLaren, he said that although he was much struck with the progress made by Canadian goods on that market, we were still not alive to all our opportunities. More care should be taken in the packing of goods, particularly fruits. To obtain the best price for them in England, fruits should be put up in finer style and in smaller packages than our shippers have been sending. The importer was not so much affected; it was the retailer who found fruits in barrels altogether too inconvenient. And, as regards the more perishable varieties, no opportunity was afforded to keep the fruit cool in barrels.

It is to be hoped the representations of these gentlemen will be fruitful in good results.

THE CANNED SALMON PACK.

SINCE our last issue quite a change has taken place in the canned salmon situation as far as the new pack is concerned. The heavy run on the Fraser of two weeks ago suddenly fell off the beginning of last week, and so far we have heard of no improvement.

Up to the time the run of salmon eased off the pack on the Fraser was estimated at 250,000 to 300,000 cases, while up to the same time a year ago the quantity was about 450,000 cases. The total pack on the Fraser River last season was 990,252 cases.

On the northern rivers of British Columbia the pack this season, as pointed out last week, is satisfactory. According to official figures furnished by the managers of the northern canneries the pack there, up to two weeks ago, was 230,000 cases.

Based on this estimate the total pack in British Columbia up to a week or 10 days ago would have been approximately 500,000 cases. For the whole of last season the pack was 1,200,000 cases. In 1900 the pack was 585,413 cases, and in 1899, 732,437 cases.

The pack on the Fraser river up to August 14 was as follows: Scottish-Canadian, 9,369 cases; Phœnix, 8,500 cases; Terra Nova, 4,200 cases; Richmond, 3,543 cases; Dinsmore, 3 800 cases; Cleeve, 3,000 cases; St. Mungo, 5,000 cases; Wellington, 4,400 cases; Anglo-American, 4,000 cases; Star, 11,000 cases; Beaver, 4,663 cases; Gulf of Georgia, 11,960 cases; English Bay, 5,260 cases; Celtic, 2,000 cases.

The northern pack is given as follows:

Naas River—Naas Harbor, 11,000; Mill Bay, 10,000.

Skeena River—Standard, 10,000; A. B. C. Packing Co., 34,000; Wallace Bros., 14,000; Peter Herman, 9,000; Cunningham, 16,000; Aberdeen, 15,000; Carlyle, 10,000.

Princess Royal, 3,500; Lowe Inlet, 5,000; Bella Coola, 2,700; Namu, 4,000; Kinisquit, 7,000.

Rivers Inlet—Wadhams, 18,500; Brunswick, 14,000; Wannuck, 9,300; R.I.C., 15,000; Good Hope, 12,000.

Alert Bay, 2,000, mostly humpbacks, and Skidegate and Dempster's have about 3,000 apiece.

The pack on the United States coast is also short, being only about 300,000 cases, compared with 1,105,000 cases last year.

On account of the probable light pack the Canadian canneries are advancing their prices. Rivers Inlet sockeye has been fixed at $4.40; Fraser and Skeena at $4.85, and Clipper at $4.40. These prices are f.o.b. the Coast.

One prominent interest in New York gives the following interesting data concerning the situation last year: "In 1901 the English market was badly overloaded, prices depressed accordingly; this year the English market is bare and prices exceedingly strong; 1901 world's pack, 5,100,000 cases; this year's estimated pack, 3,500,000; practically not a case of last year's pack left in first hands, and with a sure shortage of 1,500,000 cases, and the price of meat higher to day than a year ago, which largely aids an increased consumption of salmon, is it not fair to assume that prices must do better as the consumption of salmon increased from the 1900 pack to the 1901 pack 2,000,000 cases? Price on Alaska red salmon will do better."

DYED CATSUP AGAIN.

THE subject of food adulteration has again been brought to public attention in Montreal by the city analyst. A few weeks ago a report was given in this paper of the investigations being made into the bright red catsups which all grocers handle, in which it was discovered that analine was used to produce the color. The experiments were continued, and now Analyst Hersey has sent to the Montreal Board of Health an exhaustive report on the subject. This, however, will not be made public until after it has been brought before the Board of Health.

Out of 20 samples of catsups sold in the city, 18 were found to be adulterated, although labelled "home made." Analine was used for coloring purposes, and salicylic and benzoic acids as preservatives. It is but fair to say that out of these 20 samples, 14 were catsups manufactured in the United States.

The acids used were not in sufficient quantity to poison a consumer, but, according to Dr. Laberge, medical health officer, enough was contained in the catsups to endanger public health to some extent. In the experiments conducted by Mr. Hersey, the adulterated catsups were found to dye silk handkerchiefs a variety of shades, from pink to a salmon color, according to the quantity of dye used in them, while real home-made catsups left little or no color. It is also stated that in the factories where such catsups are made the workmen have at different times shown symptoms of poisoning, and eruptions of the skin resulted from contact with clothing colored by the catsups. Dr. Laberge declares that if the acid had this much effect on the body, it would have so much more in the stomach. The action of the Board of Health is awaited with interest, as, if the case is sufficiently strong, it may result in the seizure of all such makes of catsups.

Other goods are being examined as well; among them, pickles. It is claimed that in some makes of pickles the very bright green tint is produced by some substance injurious to the health. It is certainly not the natural color of the pickle that we see in all bottles, although a perfectly harmless dye may be used to produce the desired color.

The publicity that will be given to such goods by the publication of Mr. Hersey's report will certainly have a reactionary effect on sales, and the trade should make careful distinctions in buying them.

HONEY CROP UNSATISFACTORY.

According to an item published in a recent issue of The Montreal Star, containing advices from San Francisco concerning the honey crop on the Coast, the outlook is very gloomy. It is predicted that the crop will be the smallest in years. A well-informed buyer, recently returned from Southern California, states that there will not be 50 carloads in that section. The cause is attributed to damp fogs and shrivelled-up sage blossoms. The article goes on to say that the bee men are holding what stock they have for high prices. At present they are asking 5c. for dark, 5⅛c. for dark amber, 5¼c. for light amber and 5½c. for white. Comb will be especially scarce, the price now being 12 to 13c. in Montreal in a jobbing way.

A REVOLUTIONIZING TREATY.

ALL of the thirteen articles comprising the British-Chinese Commercial Treaty, which has recently been arranged between Sir James MacKay, special commissioner, representing the British Government, and the Chinese authorities, have been adopted with the exception of Article 8. This article was of so far-reaching a nature, and its provisions were so unexpected by the Foreign Office in London, that no preparation was made for the possibility of its acceptance on the part of the Chinese. Hence, as it involves existant treaties, a short delay has been occasioned until the necessary legislation can remove all obstacles to its proper working.

Article 8 practically opens up China to the British or to any other trader who may follow the British lead. To understand how this very desirable result has been brought about, it will be necessary to recall two things. In the first place, until the time of the Japanese War, the Pekin administration regarded all standing armies and military preparations as a nuisance and relegated the care of such details to the Viceroys of the several Provinces. These Viceroys possessed almost Imperial power over their districts, and, because the pay from Pekin was small, they had recourse to taxes of all kinds to raise funds. Chief and most profitable among the taxes was the "likin" or internal transit duty, which was imposed on all goods going in or out of the district. By raising this "likin" to an exorbitant amount whenever foreigners were concerned, the Viceroys kept European traders out of their dominions.

The necessity for a standing army, which has been felt in China ever since the crushing defeats inflicted by Japan, has occasioned a change in the attitude of the central Government towards the Viceroys. This change has likewise been accentuated by the recent invasion of the powers, which has clearly demonstrated to the Chinese that if they are to keep their empire from being divided up among the European powers they must give foreigners free access to the country.

Sir William MacKay has shown the Viceroys an expedient to surmount their difficulty. While removing the "likin" on all but a few articles and placing all Customs control in the hands of the maritime officials, he suggests the imposition of a surtax over and above the existing Chinese Imperial tariff, which will in some measure repay the satraps for their losses. This feature requires the sanction of the British Government before it can come into effect, but its adoption will be so beneficial that there seems no question but that it will be approved.

The effect of this reform can scarcely be realized. Hitherto China, which has stood out as a huge terra incognita, swarming with a vast population and big with commercial possibilities, has thwarted all efforts made by foreign nations to secure access to her innermost regions. If only this treaty receives honest treatment on the part of the Pekin statesmen, there can be no question that Great Britain will find another and a greater India in China. There is much hope expressed that the duplicity which has hitherto marked all Chinese diplomatic relations will be absent in this case. The Chinaman who has been prominent in negotiating the treaty, and who is known to be a straightforward character, has just been appointed High Commissioner of Trade for the Chinese Empire. In this it is believed a happy augury is to be found.

While the agreement is made primarily with Great Britain, there has been no attempt made to exclude other nations. Any nation, whatever, is left at perfect liberty to march through the door thus so conveniently thrown open by the British Commissioner.

THE BUTTER SITUATION.

THE market for butter in Toronto is weak at 15c. for dairy of selected quality in tubs and 18½ to 19c. for creamery solids. The production this summer is heavy, and there has been heavy buying by merchants in the expectation of a large demand from the Old Country. This has resulted in an accumulation of stock on the local market, and as there has been no export demand recently of any account exporters now are not so eager to buy what is at present being offered in this line. The outlook on the English market is not too bright for the exporter of Canadian dairy butter. The home make there has been large; Ireland reports an extensive production of butter this season, and their continue to be large arrivals of cheap Russian creamery which, while it is of better quality than the product of the Canadian dairy, can be sold at lower prices than our exporters can lay the Canadian commodity down in England for.

Advices from the United States say the make has been large and that there is a large accumulation of stock there of both dairy and cheap creamery. Shipments from that country are commencing to be made to England from New York on the basis of 18 to 19c. for creamery and 15 to 16c. for dairy. It is said that speculation over there has been extensive, and that cold-storage accommodation there is well taken up.

INDIAN, CEYLON AND JAPAN TEAS.

From Home and Colonial Mail.

THE British Consul at Yokohama, while admitting that the Japan tea trade is contracting in volume owing to the falling-off of the export to the United States and Canada, is not content to record that fact, but ventures on a little prophecy about the future of Indian and Ceylon teas in the United States, although he does not explain how he arrives at his conclusions. He says: "The fact cannot be denied that the Japan tea trade is gradually contracting in volume, the annual export to the United States and Canada having fallen off by some 10,000,000 lb. during the last 10 years. The shrinkage has been more marked since the imposition of the tea tax in the United States, which has seriously interfered with the trade, as the American consumer, accustomed as he has been for many years to look upon tea as an economical beverage, has not taken kindly to an increase of nearly 50 per cent. in the cost, and the tea dealers and grocers are carrying smaller stocks both on this account and also owing to the prospective contingency of the tax being removed at no distant date." The consul then goes on to say: "The competition from Indian and Ceylon teas has not proved as dangerous as was expected last year. The efforts made by these growers have not met with much success in the United States, and it is now doubtful if they will ever make any serious inroads into the trade. In Canada, however, the Japan tea trade is certainly suffering from the competition of these teas, and it is probable that, except in the lower grades of Japanese, used chiefly for mixing purposes, the Ceylon product will eventually supplant the Japanese growths." It remains to be seen whether the consul is right about the future of Indian and Ceylon teas in America, for they do not know everything down in Yokohama.

THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.

A SKETCH OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION.

LAST Tuesday morning I was in St. John, where I received a telegram from my firm in Toronto (they are importers) to take a flying trip to Halifax to see one of our customers. Like a true business soldier, I obeyed the order nonchalantly. Much to my disgust, I found my customer out of town, and I was beginning to regard my side trip as a disappointment. But it wasn't. Falling in with one of the visiting manufacturers (and to be on the winning side I must needs fall in with them, for they had taken possession of the town) I wandered over to the Legislative Council Chamber in Nova Scotia's old Parliament buildings to attend the opening function of The Canadian Manufacturers' Association convention. In many respects it was like all receptions, warm in welcome and appreciation. But when at the conclusion President Munro read his address, which had, as its component parts, patriotism and practical ideas for the advancement of Canadian industry, I thought to myself here I am in a notable gathering, and I began to thank the fates or whoever it was that translated the spirit of my customer's grandmother to another world and had called him out of town to attend the obsequies. It was then I discovered what brought those 150 leading business men from British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec down to the Maritime Provinces to meet their fellow manufacturers. It was then I saw that the interests of Canadians are identical, if they are made so in conference. It was then I saw that this was more than a "red parlor" meeting called to devise ways and means to satisfy the greed of our "most insatiate" industrial class. Everything was open, except one secret meeting. Curiosity led me into that under false pretences, and the only question in regard to the convention I have not satisfactorily answered is—why was that meeting secret? Every word uttered was permeated with Canadian public spirit, and I am sure that the people of Canada would have appreciated the courtesy, and would have remained satisfied had they been informed of the process of reasoning taken by the manufacturers to arrive at their tariff conclusions, and of the means adopted to accomplish their ends in this direction.

"No, never have I come out of a more inspiring series of meetings and I regard my visit to Halifax as one of infinite blessing. I am a better man for myself, for my firm and for my country." That is a bona fide opinion expressed by a commercial traveller at the conclusion of the convention.

A GIGANTIC TASK.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association (incorporated) is setting itself to a gigantic task and it will need all the strength that it can muster to accomplish that task successfully from the fact that it is the largest manufacturers' association in the world. Primarily, of course, it is organized to protect the manufacturing industries of the country, to conserve the Canadian market for Canadian woollens and Canadian capital, to secure proper legislation and squelch improper legislation affecting our manufacturing or trade interests; and, in a word, to properly direct our commercial Government. It aims to present the views of all Canadian manufacturers in a harmonious form. There are all sorts of opinions and politics in the organization, but at the meetings Canadianism rules and any resolution that is passed has been adjudged according to the best interests of the country.

But the Association has not contented itself with passing resolutions, nor is that the major duty of the annual meeting, which is mostly concerned with receiving the reports of the committees that have been actively engaged during the year and to decide on the line of work for the ensuing year. At the head office, beside the Executive Conncil, which meets monthly, there are the Tariff, the Commercial Intelligence, the Reception and Membership, the Industrial Canada, the Parliamentary, the Exhibition, and the Railway and Transportation Committies. There are branches of the Association in Toronto, Montreal, Nova Scotia, Winnipeg and Vancouver with special executives at each centre to concern themselves with local affairs and to bring suggestions before the Executive Council. There are sections of the different trades to guard the interests of each trade. And yet consolidation has only commenced. The work has gone on actively during the past year and the reports brought in all told of "accomplishment," evincing earnestness and energy, but it would seem that the more the Association does, the more it wants to do. Perhaps one of the most convincing proofs of its positive usefulness was the recent telegram from the Postmaster-General to the Secretary of the Association informing him that the Ministers in England were arranging for a direct line of steamers with South Africa and asking him when he could fill the first boat. But of the detailed work of the Association we shall speak later. Meanwhile that is sufficient to justify 150 of our leading business men in going all the way to Halifax to attend this meeting. Many of the members were accompanied by their wives, and there was a fair sprinkling of sons and daughters.

Entertainment was not the main desideratum of the travellers, yet they took all that was "coming" and, indeed, in Halifax the Association was compelled to alter its programme of sessions to allow the good people of that city to give full vent to their feelings of hospitality. The first group that was formed gathered to the number of 60 in Toronto on August 9, and took the boat for Montreal where they arrived at 6 o'clock Sunday. Here they were met by a delegation of Montreal manufacturers and escorted to the Windsor Hotel. Later in the evening the party was added to by the Montreal members and at 11.30 p.m. a special train carrying 150 passengers pulled out of Bonaventure station. Monday was spent in Quebec at the invitation of the manufacturers of the fortress city. Mr. Geo. E. Amyot, of the Dominion Corset Manufacturing Co., had organized a pleasant excursion and the Quebec manufacturers provided a most sumptuous luncheon at the Kent House, Montmorenci Falls. About 250 sat down to the tables which were spread in front of the hotel. Toasts were proposed to the King, the guests, the Quebec manufacturers and the press, bringing out several volleys of rattling good speeches.

At eight o'clock the special was boarded again at Point Levis and at six o'clock on Tuesday the manufacturers pulled into Halifax, after having been joined along the route by quotas of Maritime confreres. In the evening the delegates were presented with tickets to a high-class military tournament, while the Programme Committee held themselves away to devise ways and means to crowd 48 hours of entertainment, planned by the Halifax people, and 48 hours of business mapped out before leaving Toronto into the allotted period of two days. As a consequence, the manufacturers were in session all the next day, and the first day's business was concluded in time to allow the delegates to attend the band concert tendered in their honor in Halifax's beautiful gardens. On the next afternoon a delightful excursion on the harbor was squeezed in. In the evening the banquet was held in the spacious dining-rooms of the Halifax Hotel, and immediately following, at 3 a.m., the special was again taken to Sydney to view the steel works. The town entertained to an excursion on the harbor in the early evening, and at 9 o'clock the return trip was begun. Many dropped off at Truro to go through the Annapolis Valley, others left the train at Moncton for St. John, while a small party continued on to Montreal, reaching there Sunday and Toronto Monday morning. So delightful was the trip that the idea has been well received that the Association should have a three-weeks' excursion out to the Pacific Coast next year.

Halifax, where the Manufacturers met.

provided that the annual meeting is not held in Winnipeg, and it is said that on account of limited hotel accommodation the manufacturers will not be able to go to Winnipeg.

Why should the manufacturers go on an excursion? The pleasure is great, to be sure, and the pleasure of intercourse greater, but that is not sufficient to justify it. It is rather the inspiration bubbling forth from the convention that produces the resultant feeling of satisfaction. It does one good to talk of Canada; it breeds confidence. If this year's convention did nothing else than popularize the term "Made in Canada" among the delegates and emphasize the need of their buying Canadian goods, of their showing practical patriotism, it will have done good. And missionary work was done outside the Association in this connection. John Taylor, of Guelph, late of The Dominion Radiator Co., without whom no Canadian Manufacturers' Association can hold convention hereafter, tells a good story in this connection. On the boat at Sydney a newspaper boy stowed himself away, and, after seeing himself at a safe distance from the wharf, began to prosecute his business among the delegates. He fell upon Mr. Taylor, who, being an up-to-date business man, conceived the bold plan of buying him out and forming a "skindicate." He ordered the boy to distribute all the papers free of charge, which was done, and then the "newsy" got his money. Whereupon he immediately proceeded to gather up the papers again and resell them to Mr. Taylor. To maintain his "skindicate," of course he had to buy them, and to pay for them he handed the boy a Yankee silver piece. The boy looked at it contemptuously.

"That ain't no good. That ain't made in Canada."

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Perhaps this talk about buying only Canadian-made goods was started by some ultra Canadian who noticed that the cars the party rode in were made in Dayton, Ohio, that the blankets that covered them by night and the silverware that fed them by day were made on the other side, and that even the matches provided to light the "imported" cigars were "made in Belgium." Mr. Munro's passionate appeal to popularize Canadian goods was also well received.

"There are needs which cannot yet be filled by Canadian manufacturers, but," he said, "the range is narrowing. We are finding out day by day that the range of possible Canadian industries is ever widening. Let us therefore unite our people from sea to sea in the patriotic sentiment to give 'Canadian-made' the first call.

"We are importing every year upwards of $100,000,000 worth of manufactured goods. May we not in the new fiscal year reduce this by at least one-eighth?

"The purchase of 5c. more of Canadian and 5c. less of imported products by every Canadian every week for a year would accomplish this. Let us stand together for one year and try.

"Every Canadian is a partner in the financial affairs of our Dominion, and is a partaker, therefore, in all her gains. Let us devise liberal things in promoting this movement, and all our people will be partakers with us in the benefit."

Certain it was that there were many bold resolutions made by the manufacturers themselves to use only Canadian-made goods wherever possible.

The manufacturers are doing all they can to the securing of the Canadian market for domestic factory products. It is a laudable aim, although not everybody approves of all the means the Association wishes adopted to attain the object. High duties in themselves are not desirable, but as a means to a desirable end they may perhaps be found a good expedient. In the resolution passed at the convention, the manufacturers left no doubt as to where they stood on this matter. They believe in adequate protection to home industry, and the Government will be asked to make a general revision of the tariff to transfer as much work as possible from United States and Continental to Canadian workshops.

Strong speeches were made on this subject by many of the manufacturers in attendance, chiefly Geo. E. Drummond, T. A. Russell, "Senator" Kloepfer, James Maxwell, H. Cockshutt and several others.

The late president, Mr. Munro, a man of moderate views, also referred to the need of a higher tariff in his presidential address in unmistakeable terms. In fact, the tariff brought out as spirited a debate as was heard during the convention, and when the Hon. Mr. Tarte declared himself for a "strong Canadian policy," and when R. L. Borden expressed his conviction that to the British Empire a factory in Canada was just as valuable as a factory in Yorkshire, they were cheered to the echo.

The manufacturers received great encouragement in their search for a higher tariff at Ottawa last session, and this is likely to induce them to press with redoubled vigor this coming winter. The Hon. Mr. Longley, in his banquet speech, prophesied the day when the present Government would be an advocate of a high tariff, and Mr. Borden's opposition would be decrying the "bloated monopolists." Time works miracles. It may be well to add the resolution as passed by the Association. It was as follows:

> Resolved, that in the opinion of this Association, the changed conditions which now obtain in Canada demand the immediate and thorough revision of the tariff upon lines which will more effectually transfer to the workshops of the Dominion the manufacture of many of the goods which we now import from other countries.
> That in any such revision the interests of all sections of the community, whether of mining, fishing, agriculture or manufacturing, should be fully considered with a view not only to the preservation, but to the further development of all these great national industries.
> That while such tariff shall be primarily framed for Canadian interests, it should, nevertheless, give a substantial preference to the Mother Country and also to any other part of the British Empire with which reciprecal preferential trade can be arranged to our mutual advantage, recognizing always that under any conditions the minimum tariff must afford adequate protection to all Canadian producers.

It will be noticed that the Association declared itself on the preferential tariff. An attempt was made to separate the preference clause from the protective clause, but it was felt that the Association should show that the two ideas can be combined. The first and foremost principle laid down was protection to home industry. No tariff can be wholesome without providing for that. Then we should raise a wall against foreign nations as they do against us, and give the difference to Great Britain. But it was also pointed out that in granting a preference to Great Britain or the colonies we should get something in return. The Association feels that the Empire and its parts will profit by mutual trade, but it is not satisfied that Canada should make all the sacrifice necessarp for the establishment. We should look for cooperation in the other colonies, and the manufacturers believe we will not look in vain.

President Munro dwelt forcibly on the possibilities of intercolonial trade. He said: "Now in regard to our exports to other British colonies, it is well to fully understand the point at which we have arrived. We were informed recently that our share of the West-Indian trade is about 5 per cent., and you have realized something of the room there is for improvement. But when we return to Australia we find an external trade nearly double that of Canada, and Canada's share is not 5 per cent., nor 1 per cent., but about one-third of 1 per cent. Looking toward South Africa and taking the figures for Cape Colony alone, the imports for 1900 (exclusive of Government imports) are set down at $80,000,000, Canada's share being represented by a fraction so small as to be scarcely visible.

"Of course, we must make allowance for shipments of Canadian goods via United States ports being entered as United States goods, but even then the truth is abundantly plain that we are woefully out of touch with our possessions in other lands, and they are equally out of touch with us, for their exports to us are even less than our exports to them."

Intercolonial trade is growing, however, and the Manufacturers' Association is doing much to encourage it. It has sent its delegates to the West Indies, and decided at the convention to send a man to South Africa. It has correspondents and agents in the different colonies and several foreign countries, and these gentlemen are doing good work in placing Canadian goods on those markets. The Trade Index is going out in large numbers to advertise Canadian industrialism, and direct lines of steamers are being inaugurated at the pressure of the manufacturers. It only rests with the individual manufacturers to follow up the advantage. The pointer they have given the Government, that the Canadian agents should be practical and competent business men, is in good season. It is said that some agents in the West Indies cannot be located.

But this matter of intercolonial trade was a digression from the tariff attitude of the Association, about which there is another word to be said. It must be noticed that the manufacturers are considering not only themselves in this matter; they are also considering the agricultural classes. They feel that the fact that the balance of trade in agricultural products against us with the United States is upwards of $18,000,000, entitles our farmers to some protection approaching to that enjoyed by the farmer across the border. Where farming is in an experimental stage the Association feels also that the industry should be encouraged. This was the reason that the Association urged that the duty on tobacco be raised from 10 to 20c. a pound. The resolution read as follows:

That the import duty on foreign raw leaf tobacco be increased to 20c. per lb,, and that the excise duty be reduced on the manufactured articles in Canada as follows: On cigars, to $2 per 1,000; on paper cigarettes, $1 per 1,000; on all-tobacco cigarettes or little cigars, not weighing more than 3 lb., 50c. per 1,000; and on all kinds of tobacco, plug, cut, or in leaf, for consumption, 5c. per lb., so as to compete with the United States on our border, and to have only one uniform color stamp, and discard the red and green stamps used now on our Canadian leaf, cigars and tobacco.

That the Inland Revenue (or excise) laws and regulations be amended so as to help consumption, growth and curing of Canadian leaf tobacco grown by our farmers in Canada, by allowing to blend with the foreign and use a unif rm stamp instead of a specified green stamp, which is detrimental to its consumption.

EXPORT DUTY ON PULPWOOD.

E. B. Eddy, of Hull, was one of the most energetic men at the convention, and that in spite of his 75 years. He made a characteristic speech in submitting his resolution that an export duty should be placed on pulpwood. He claimed that if this were done many of the United States paper manufacturers must needs move their factories to Canada. This suggestion has frequently been made before, notably by Mr. McGibbon, of The Laurentide Pulp Co., and the Association thought well enough of it to ask the Dominion Government to place an export duty of $4 per cord on pulpwood.

EXHIBITIONS.

The Association has devoted considerable attention to exhibitions, both in and outside of Canada, feeling that people have not an adequate conception of the high-class goods made in this country. Mr. Munro says the people of the West-Indies knew we exported lumber and packed fish, but never imagined for an instant that Jas. P. Murray made good carpets, or that Mason & Risch made high-class pianos in Canada. Foreign nations are ignorant of our industrialism, and loath to say, many of our Canadian people are in the same plight. This is the justification the Association puts forward for sending exhibits to the Wolverhampton and Cork Expositions, for drawing the attention of its members to the Peace Exhibition which is to be held in Cape Town next year, and for deciding to agitate for the holding of a British-American Exhibition in Canada in 1903, to include Canada, the West Indies and Newfoundland.

SOME THINGS ACCOMPLISHED.

The influence of the Association must always be reckoned with in transportation matters. During the past year the Railway and Transportation Committee has seen much accomplished. It has seen the report of the railway commissioner brought down in support of their contentions. It has seen the Government promise a permanent railway commission. It has seen the freight rates on the Yukon & White Pass Railway cut down on its intercession. It has seen the appointment of a forwarding agent in New York by the Association to look after the shipment of the goods of the members. It has seen its plea for a fast steamship service taken hold of by the Government. It has seen the establishment of a direct line of steamers with South Africa. Much it has not seen, but in view of its accomplishment it can hope that all the other desiderata will be added unto it.

One of the latest practical ideas that has been promulgated by this committee is the plan evolved for the improvement of the West Indian steamship service. It is contained in the following resolution:

Whereas, the representatives of the Association to the West Indies in their report submitted, pointed out that the service from St. John and Halifax to Demerara and intermediate points was not sufficiently frequent in sailings, and in some cases the rates were found to be higher than the rates on similar goods from United States ports, which does not give Canada a fair chance to compete with the United States; it was pointed out also that the service to the Island of Jamaica was at present of little value;

Be it resolved: That in the opinion of this Association the Government should arrange for a more satisfactory schedule of sailings together with competing rates on the route from Halifax to Demerara and intermediate points and that the Government should encourage a direct line from a Canadian port to Jamaica, and further, with respect to the Canada-Jamaica line the question of imposing an import duty on bananas iand other fruit when imported into Canada otherwise than by a direct route to a Canadian port, should be considered.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

The attention given to technical education in the meetings and at the banquet was phenomenal. "At the threshold," said Mr. Munro, "we are confronted with the fact that in developing our resources our Dominion cannot furnish the needed skilled labor." The Alien Labor Act has been amended just to meet this difficulty. "Can we ever hope to compete successfully with other nations while we are dependent on them for our factory managers, superintendents and foremen, or even, in some instances, for our general operatives?"

Great attention is being given to technical education in agriculture and mining, but what provision is being made for a supply of tradesmen? Toronto is our most fortunate city in this respect, but this year it receded, for its technical school estimates were cut down. The Montreal branch has been giving some attention to an investigation of the technical facilities of the city, and finds that the annual expenditure per pupil is about one-twenty-seventh of the expenditure of a properly-equipped institution in the United States. The existing schools are well attended, but the courses are insufficient in range and thoroughness. Twenty-five thousand Canadians are students of the United States correspondence schools, and these pay at least $500,000 in tuition fees annually. Surely this is a sum that should be saved to our country. Mr. Munro made a stirring appeal for interest in this subject during the coming year.

ASSOCIATION'S PROGRESS.

To the Association, as such, the past year was interesting as the year of its incorporation. It was also a year of added strength—the addition of 226 new members, making the total membership 1,021, representing a capital of over $225,000,000.

Great strides were also made in consolidation. An office was opened in Montreal with a permanent secretary in charge. A Nova Scotian branch was formed with an initial membership of 55. Sections have been organized, new committees put at work, and on all sides there is more interest being taken in the work.

Much of the credit for the healthfulness of the Association is due to Mr. Munro, the retired president, and it was quite fitting that Mr. McNaught's motion that he be presented with a testimonial of the gratefulness of the members should be accepted unanimously.

The new president, Mr. Birge, follows upon a series of active presidents, but he bids fair to keep the lamp trimmed and burning. He is an enterprising manufacturer and a man of large mind and keen grasp. He will be ably assisted by Geo. E. Drummond, a man of strength and one of the staunchest advocates of Canada for the Canadians. With these men at the helm and the old standbys, W. K. McNaught, J. O. Thorn, Wm. McMaster, W. K. George, John Taylor, C. C. Ballantyne, W. W. Watson, P. W. Ellis, Jas. P. Murray, Robt. Munro, Hon. J. D. Rolland, T. A. Russell, J. J. McGill and others we might mention at the oars, we can look forward for another year of active service for the Association. It means much to Canada that it should preserve its energetic character. Since the convention a strong Quebec branch has been organized, which will complete its thoroughly national representativeness. One of the most active Quebecers, Geo. E. Amyot, has been appointed chairman.

This sketch of the meeting cannot be brought to an end in better form than by quoting the conclusion to the late president's address: "But to whoever hears or reads, I venture to say that I know of no more patriotic organization on the round world than the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. We are striving to advance the Dominion's every interest, especially her industrial, and incidentally the interests of every other British possession. We have no political interests to serve or party to promote. May the day never dawn when patriotic business men, manufacturers of every shade and grade of political opinion, cannot heartily join in tbe deliberations of our organization.

"And let me add the prayer that the same enthusiasm, devotion and patriotism that has brought our organization to its present high state of efficiency will be not only maintained but advanced, so that the great themes that open out before us may be deliberated upon wisely, and that the labors of our new executive and committees may in the coming year help forward the development of our loved Dominion and the comfort and happiness of all our people."

ST. JOHN'S FISH CATCH.

The report of Fishery Inspector Belyea, of St. John, N.B., for the season's fishing shows that the catch of alewives has not been so good as last, while the price has ranged about 20 per cent. less. The catch last year was about 14,000 bbls., valued at $52,500, and this year it is about 11,000 bbls., worth $33,000. About 750 bbls. were smoked, against 900 bbls. last year, the values being $3,750 this year and $4,500 last year. The output of fresh fish or bait has been about 1,900 bbls. worth say $6,650, against 2,200 bbls. worth $8,800 last year.

The shad fishing this year was considerably better than last and the fish brought a better price as well. The catch is estimated at 51,500, worth $5,150, and 100 bbls., worth $1,100, against 30,000, worth $2,400, and 50 bbls. worth $400 last year.

The salmon catch this year is at least 40 per cent. behind that of last year, the catch being 8,900 first, valued at $12,000 against 16,020 first valued at $20,826.

These figures show that the total value of the catch this year is about $61,650, against a total value of about $89,426 last year.

PRODUCTS WANTED FOR AFRICA.

The officer commanding in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony has notified the Trade and Commerce Department at Ottawa that tenders will be received at the office of the Director of Supplies, Army Headquarters, Artillery Barracks, Pretoria, until Wednesday, October 1, 1902, for supplies of bread, groceries, forage, fuel and light, dry grass for bedding animals, and hospital supplies at the various stations throughout South Africa, for a period of nine months. The stations for which they are required are: Pretoria, Pietersburgh, Middleburgh, Barberton, Komatiespoort, Potchefstroom, Standerton, Kroonstadt, Bloemfontein, Harrismith, Mafeking, Kimberley, Cape Town, Maitland, Simonstown, De Aar, Victoria Road, Naauwpoort, Burghersdorp, Grahamstown, King Williamstown, Durban, Newcastle, Pietermaritzburg and Eshowe.

Forms of tender and conditions of contract may be had on application at the office above mentioned, either personally or in writing, and no tender will be considered unless made on the forms so obtained.

Any firms outside South Africa wishing to tender should do so through their South-African agents, who can obtain tender forms and all information on application to Director of Supplies, Pretoria.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

T. KINNEAR & CO. are in receipt of a shipment of Crosse & Blackwell's goods, including malt vinegar, Lucca oil and red currant jelly.

Some nice value is being shown by Lucas, Steele & Bristol in fine gunpowder teas.

A shipment of new evaporated apricots arrived this week for H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol still guarantee their "L. P. & C." spices to be of extra quality.

T. Kinnear & Co. are showing exceptional value in currants. Ask their travellers for samples.

Marshall's selected red herrings, 100 in a tin, are now in store with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

A fresh consignment of Dixon's Carburet of Iron stove polish just to hand with W. H. Gillard & Co.

Shaker salt, the "Handy Box," may be procured from Lucas, Steele & Bristol. It don't harden.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report that they are offering some special values in canned goods and canned salmon for present and future delivery.

NEW GRAIN COMPANY.

A. P. Stuart, importer, London, England, and R. D. Martin, E. S. Jaques, S. G. Archibald and Wm. R. Staveley, Montreal, have been incorporated as The R. D. Martin Co., Limited, and are authorized to conduct business in Montreal in grains and other cereals. The company is capitalized at $200,000.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. E. D. Marceau has returned to Montreal from a fortnight's holiday at Old Orchard Beach. Mr. Marceau promises to offer some bargains to his customers in next week's GROCER.

A man who had been arrested for murder, bribed an Irishman on the jury for $100 to hang out for a verdict for manslaughter. The jury was out a long time and finally returned with a verdict for manslaughter. The man went to the Irishman and thanked him and asked if he had a hard time. "Yes," said the Irishman, "a deuce of a time. The balance all wanted to acquit you."

ORIENTAL TRADE CONDITIONS.

"CHINA, Japan and the Philippine Islands," form the text of an article by W. C. Matthews, the general manager for R. G. Dun & Co., in Canada, which appeared lately in Dun's Review. Mr. Matthews has just returned fron an extended trip to the Orient, where he examined trade conditions at close range, and he is prepared to speak with authority on the situation there.

In the Philippine Islands, Mr. Matthews found conditions unsatisfactory. Trade was unsettled and capital slow of investment, mainly owing to uncertainty as regards the Uoited States policy on the currency question. In addition, the exclusion of Chinese labor was having disastrous effects. Filipino laborers will only work a sufficient time to secure the bare necessities of life, whereas one can depend on Chinese coolies for something more. The change meant a blocking of industrial and commercial progress.

The natural resources of the islands are enormous and there is abundance of land suitable for growing cotton and cereals, but the earliest field to be developed, according to Mr. Matthews, will be the forests, and there will presently be a need for sawmill machinery and railway materials. Native demands at present are principally for cotton goods and small metal wares. There are general importing houses which handle these articles, and later they are distributed through Chinese merchants.

Japanese trade during the last ten years has increased nearly threefold. Referring to the portion of it conducted with the United States, Mr. Matthews says that from Japan, the principal articles of trade are silk and tea, and from the United States, raw cotton and petroleum. In addition, there is a very good demand on the part of Japan for locomotives, railway materials and electrical supplies. The trading class is now held in higher repute in Japan than it was a few years ago, and business is rapidly becoming a more honorable calliog than heretofore.

In China, Mr. Matthews finds both Germany and the United States making strong efforts to get a share of the trade hitherto monopolized by Great Britain. Germany, especially, assisted by lines of subsidized steamers, is making great advances. The United States controls the flour trade, which is carried on with the mills in Washington and Oregon States without any serious competition. In Hong Kong large building operations are in progress, which are giving rise to a demand for structural steel, nails, bolts and builders' hardware. Concessions to railways, granted by the Chinese Government, will also cause a demand for construction materials. The market for steel is increasing steadily, because the destructiveness of the white ant is making the use of any other kind of material impossible.

Mr. Matthews sees great results from the abolition of the "likin" duties, if only the reform can be effected. There is no doubt that the foreign trade of China would increase with great rapidity upon the removal of these barriers, but it is to be doubted whether the change can be effected at one blow. The Government may succeed in destroying the system between the larger cities and the coast, but it will probably survive for some time in the interior. Aside from the "likin" taxes there are oo serious restrictions upon the Chinese trade.

A FOOD FAIR IN NEW YORK.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

THIS is the season for fairs, and the Siegel-Cooper Co., of New York, have recently held their sixth annual food exposition, which far exceeded their former efforts in this direction. The arrangements were perfect and the effect was most beautiful and brilliant, with pyramids of bottled goods lit in centre, green palms, flowers, flags, many colored electric lights, charming music, and the special attraction was the illuminated electric fountain with its colored water displays. The booths were very prettily decorated in green and gold, at which attendants served samples, sold and talked the merits of their goods. Health foods were very prominent—Shredded Wheat, Malta Vita, Germea, Maple Flake, Korn Krisp, Tryabita Food, Old Grist Mill Health Foods, and the Sanatarium Food Co.'s goods. Lipton's and Tetley's tea booths were well patronized, but this did not prevent the generous public from trying Suchard's cocoa, Kneipp malt coffee, Blankes coffee, together with the Croft & Allen goods. The Globe Metal Polish Co. had a fine display.

Canned soups and meats were well represented by The Armour Co., Cudahay Beef Co., Mullen-Blackledge Co. and Potter & Wrightington. In soaps, the Sunlight people made a good showing, also The Lekko Soap Co. The N. K. Fairbank Co. had a nice exhibit of Cottolene. Palumella olive oil was shown by Steege & Co., of Leghorn, Italy. Hanson's junket tablets, Tryfosa jelly powder, and Bromangelon were also demonstrated. The Hazel Pure Food Co.'s goods showed up well. The Royal Speciality Co. had a very attractive line well to the front. One of the prettiest stands was that of The Pacific Coast Borax Co. The Auspacher Chemical Co. and The Vanilla Crystal Co. had had well-arranged exhibits. Judging by the crowd that attended, and their evident interest in the goods offered for sale, this fair was a great success, and deservedly so for the exhibitors and the "Big Store" had a food fair well worthy of public patronage.

TORONTO GROCERS' HOLIDAY.

"IT was too lovely for anything — that shreded wheat factory," exclaimed an enthusiastic young lady, on her way home from the Toronto grocers' excursion to Niagara Falls on Wednesday; and though they did not all say it just that way, there is no doubt that the visit paid to The Natural Food Co.'s factory was appreciated by all the excursionists who accepted the firm's hospitality.

Wednesday's outing was the first annual excursion of the grocers' section of the Retail Merchants' Association, and judging by the success which attended it, it will not be the last. The weather, while not exactly of the best, was still quite satisfactory and the sail across the lake and back was very enjoyable. The Chippewa and Chicora each carried more than 200 excursionists, and the 11 o'clock and 2 o'clock boats took about 100 apiece, so that, all told, between 600 and 700 persons took in the trip.

At Niagara Falls the first arrivals were greeted by the officials of the Food Company, assisted by an excellent band, belonging to the factory. They were conducted to the place where the renowned shredded wheat biscuits are produced and, under the guidance of an experienced hand were shown the whole manufacturing process from beginning to end. In the large entertainment room of the factory, Mr. C. F. Olmstead, in a neat speech, welcomed the visitors, and Mr. Hewitt, the Toronto manager, who had accompanied the party, also added words of welcome. Chairman Higgins of the Association and secretary Trowern responded on behalf of the guests.

In the beautiful grounds of the Food Company beside the Niagara River, the visitors found much to interest them. There, the band played for their amusement and all the conveniences for picnicing were at hand, including a plentiful supply of shredded wheat biscuits. After spending some hours in the park, the majority of the excursionists returned on the Chippewa, arriving in Toronto at 8 o'clock.

All the leading wholesale houses of the city were represented on the excursion, among them being: Davidson & Hay Company, Eby, Blain Co., Humphrey & Co., and Comfort Soap. Of the officers of the Association: Chairman Higgins, Vice-Chairmen Simpson and Johnston, Secretary Trowern and Treasurer Nettleton were noted as being present.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

THE TEA SITUATION.

HARRISONS & CROSFIELD, London, Eng., advise: "The dullness which was influencing the market recently has now almost disappeared, and there has been a general recovery in prices due partly to the improved quality of the teas and partly to a more active demand. It is satisfactory to note, however, that whilst low-grade teas have largely shared in the general improvement in prices, there is also a good inquiry for the better grades, gnd brisk competition for all lots of specially attractive character. The early arrivals of Indians are never the best of the season, but nevertheless there has been good competition for all the strong liquoring new season's teas, as they have come forward. As to prospective supplies for season 1902-1903, no reliable figures are yet obtainable, but our Calcutta house is of opinion that the serious losses which producers had to face in recent seasons, owing to over-production, may tend to repress for some time all efforts at garden extension, and bring the supply into reasonable relation to the demand. As the fresh extensions in India and Ceylon during the last decade have totalled about 250,000 acres, supplies have in consequence generally exceeded the demand, and the production has gone ahead of what has been, and still is an expanding market. It is therefore far from surprising that so many tea estates made no return to their shareholders in 1901."

COLOMBO TEA AUCTION.

Dodwell & Co., Limited, Colombo, Ceylon, under date of July 9, report as follows regarding the tea auction there: "The quantity brought forward was 16,321 packages, equal to 1,278,146 lb., of which 11,817 packages, equal to 948,276 lb., passed the hammer. There was a fair demand for all descriptions at last week's rates, and the market on the whole keeps steady. Good tippy broken pekoes classed as fine met with a little more competition, and the prices realized were good. Dusts and fannings remain in strong demand at firm rates. Quality.—The selection was not so good as last week. The average price for the auction of the 24th ultimo was 30c. against 30c. for the previous sale."

SPICE AUCTIONS IN LONDON.

At the auction of spice last week considerable supplies were offered, and most goods met with a fairly steady demand. Nutmegs sold at late rates at an advance of 1d. a lb. on some sizes, but they still remain ridiculously cheap, and many buyers are taking advantage of the position. Pimento is distinctly dearer, but this article does not largely interest the home trade. Black and white peppers keep firm, Tillicherry black and Siam white both showing an advance of ⅛d. for the week. Jamaica ginger sold at slightly reduced prices for the inferior qualities, while good quality was unchanged; the crop of the latter is now practically finished, and there is every reason to believe that the price may go higher, seeing that similar quality Cochin is fetching 4s. per cwt. more money. Tapiocas: Medium pearl and bullet are both depressed, and values are lower; the prevailing prices do not pay importers, so it would appear to be only a matter of waiting till present surplus stocks are exhausted for an advance to take place. Flake is unchanged in price, but the finer qualities are not easily obtainable. The new crop caraways are offering and prove to be of very fair quality. Turkish canary seed keeps firm, but there is very little doing in it; the new Mogador seed is arriving, and prices are low for this fine bright seed. Home and Colonial Mail, August 8.

SALMON MARKET EXCITED IN THE STATES.

Not a little excitement and interest has developed in salmon trade circles within the last day or two. Spot sockeye salmon talls are under active buying interest as a result of the strong Coast advices regarding the new pack advanced to-day to $1.25, with last purchases recorded at $1.20. It is stated on good authority that the buying interest noted yesterday was mainly in the direction of purchases for Coast accounts and that while no large blocks were picked up here the aggregate purchases amount to considerable. An effort was made to purchase an offering of sockeye half-pounds, which, it is stated, was offered at 82½c. here. It is understood the seller declined to entertain the offer made, advancing to 90c. A block of futures was, according to a wire to-day from the Coast, picked up from a small packer for speculative account at $1.12½ f.o.b. for tall. It is now impossible to buy futures from any source, a wire states, at $1.05 basis on talls, or, in fact, any basis yet figured on. One wire received quotes an offering of a carload of new pack sockeye talls at $1.20 f.o.b. Coast. This offer came from a broker who did not make known the packer. A prominent interest on the Coast wires his representative here that the probable opening basis on sockeye talls will be $1.25, flats, $1.35 and half-pounds, 85c. f.o.b. Coast. The impression in salmon circles, particularly in buying quarters, is that on the basis, as above reported probable, the trade will take hold very slowly. Among the packers' representatives it is stated that more than enough business has been already booked subject to open prices to take care of the expected pack, even allowing for probable cancellations of orders. At the close of the day the market stood at $1.25 for talls, $1.35 for flats, and 87½ to 90c. for half-pounds. It is believed, however, that one small lot of flats could be picked up on quick offer at $1.27½.

A circular card issued on Tuesday by The Pacific Selling Company offering sockeye flats for immediate shipment from this market at $1.27½ f.o.b. here was cancelled to-day, this company quoting a flat price of $1.35. The company has also withdrawn the block of sockeye salmon on the way here and now due per ship Roanoke via Cape Horn. This would tend to emphasize the strength of the situation and appears as an added confirmation of the late reports from the Coast. The market closes with few sellers and plenty of buyers at figures a shade below quotations on talls. The feeling has been communicated to red Alaska spot and futures, although we are unable to learn of business at higher prices than $1.12½ for spot and 95c. for futures f.o.b. the Coast.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce, August 22.

THE INDIAN TEA CROP.

A cable from Calcutta says: Reports from the tea districts show that the weather in Assam last month was favorable and the yield normal, while the prospects were fair. In Cachar, Sylhet, the Duars, and the Terai the weather was moderate, the yield normal, and the prospects fair. In Darjiling the weather was unfavorable, the yield poor, and the prospects throughout the district generally unfavorable.

CALIFORNIAN PRUNES FOR FRANCE.

Mail advices from a prominent Californian prune interest, under date of August 6 last, state that a sale of 25 carloads of old prunes was just then completed for shipment to France. This would confirm reports received here regarding purchases by buyers for French accounts. A telegram received late in the day states that one of the largest holders of old prunes in California sold since Monday morning last a total of 40 carloads for export. It is stated also that France has been a large buyer of futures.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR.

A quiet and pretty wedding took place at the summer home of the bride's father, 31 Birch avenue, Toronto, on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 20, when Mr. Albert Cutler, of T. Kinnear & Co., wholesale grocers, Toronto, was united to Miss Bertha Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson. Rev. J. B. Warnicker performed the ceremony. Miss Emma Thompson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Joseph Mars was best man. THE GROCER begs to tender congratulations.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

Toronto, August 21, 1902.

THIS week, trade in wholesale groceries has been fairly well sustained. Most of the travellers are going out with their samples after their holidays, and business is expected to increase from this out. Canned vegetables continue firm and unchanged, with prospects that there will be a shortage in the crop of tomatoes this year, which will have a tendency to keep the prices of the canned article firm throughout the coming season. Reports from British Columbia regarding the salmon pack there state that the run on the Skeena River and Rivers Inlet is over and that the catch has been large, but that on the Fraser the pack so far has not been equal to the expectations of the canners. Trade in sugar continues fair and the prices are steady and unchanged. In teas there continues to be displayed activity in Indians and Ceylons, but the high prices of Chinas and Japans cause these to be inactive. Samples of Ceylon orange pekoes, which have just been received, show excellent quality in color and flavor.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation in corn, peas and tomatoes has not altered since last week. The high prices of these continue, and as the tomato crop of this season is reported poor, the indications are that the canned article will remain high throughout the coming year. Some people say that the prices of these will reach $1.25 before the season is out. This will have the effect of strengthening both peas and corn. The quotations this week are as follows: Peas, 82½c. up; corn, 80c. up and tomatoes, $1.15 up. Fruits are dull and meats are slow. Buying in salmon is very active on account of the upward tendency of the prices on the Coast, and buyers who have been holding back are now anxious to have their orders placed. Reports from British Columbia state that on the Fraser River the salmon run so far has been erratic and the catch has not been large. Up to the beginning of last week the pack on the Fraser River was 250,000 to 300,000 cases, while up to the same time last year it was 450,000 cases. In the north, on the Skeena River and Rivers Inlet, the pack is large, and one cannery, controlled by Bell, Irving & Co., of Vancouver, has broken the record in putting up the largest pack in the history of the north. It is over 34,000 cases. The official figures of the pack of all northern canneries amounts to about 230,000 cases this year.

COFFEES.

The bulk of the business doing is in green Rios, and the other lines are inactive. The outside markets have experienced a decline, which was followed by a slight reaction on reports from Brazil of frosty weather there. We now quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7⅜c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

NUTS.

No improvement is reported in the local demand for nuts, which are quiet and unchanged. Strong advices continue to come from the other side on the new crop of almonds and walnuts. On the New York market they are in fair request and show a good interest.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

A moderate amount of business is being done in rice on the local market, and tapioca is firm in sympathy with stronger advices from the primary markets. Advices from the South report large receipts of rough rice on the New Orleans market, which showed an easier tone. The outlook for the growing rice crop in the Southern States is reported as favorable. We quote: B rice, 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There has been a better inquiry for syrups and molasses, which continue steady in price. Outside advices report a moderate demand for the grocery grades of New Orleans molasses and free offerings of black strap, which was meeting with a limited demand. Our quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in barrels and kegs, sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle.

See pages 39 and 40 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John and Halifax prices current.

SPICES.

Little or no improvement is noted in the local spice business since last week, and prices are steady. Outside advices report small offerings of pepper from the East, with plenty of bids, but no trading doing in a large way.

SUGAR.

There continues to be a light jobbing business done in granulated sugars, which rule steady. Cable advices report the London, Eng., market for beet sugar unchanged and steady. The receipts of raw sugar in the United States last week were large, amounting to 54,142 tons. The meltings were 45,000 tons, and the total stock in the four ports was 148,139 tons, against 138,997 tons last week and 200,940 tons last year. The total stocks of sugar in the United States and Cuba amount to 426,139 tons, against 447,997 tons last week and 296,774 tons last year, an increase of 129,365 tons over last year. Sales of Cuban and centrifugal raw sugars in the United States during the past month or two have been so heavy that only a moderate quantity of raw sugars remain in the island, and a good part of these will be held over until next year to take advantage of the expected concession in duties, unless the markets should greatly improve meanwhile. The centrifugals now arriving, especially those from the north side of Cuba, show a falling off in test, as usual at this time of the year, running down to 93 deg. in many instances. Advices from the South report that the cane crop there is progressing nicely, and if favorable weather continues for a few weeks longer the crop may largely recover its losses by the drouth.

TEAS.

A little better inquiry is reported this week for Indian and Ceylon teas. Chinas and Japans are firm and inactive, owing to the high prices at which they are held. Samples of this season's orange pekoes are arriving from Ceylon and show a very fine quality, which has seldom being surpassed. Cable advices from Calcutta say there has been 1c. advance in Indian teas, the market for which is good and strong. Low-priced pekoe souchongs below 6d. are very scarce there, but there is nothing wrong with their quality and they are much in demand. Japan teas are reported very strong with 1c. per lb. advances in Yokohama. Kobe teas continue firm. During the month, according to mail advices from London, Eng., there has been a considerable recovery in the tone of the market for Indian teas, and low grades have shown an advance for the month. Medium and fine teas are also firmer. In Ceylons, broken pekoes recently showed remarkable value. A few parcels of new season's China green teas, pingsuey, young hysons and gunpowders were offered, but the market having previously been entirely bare, the supply was insufficient to depress market values, and consequently they realized very firm prices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—These continue in fairly active demand on the local market. Reports from Greece state that the primary market is steady. The retention law has been fixed at 20 per cent. of the total crop and the export quantity is expected to be cut down to 135,000 tons. We now quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c. and Patras, 6¼ to 7c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—Quite a number of inquiries continue on the spot for Valencia raisins, which are as scarce as ever on the local market. Selects are quoted at 8½ to 9c.

DATES.—Business in dates is almost at a standstill. The outside markets are reported firm and bare of stock. We quote: Dates, in bulk, 4½c. and in packages, 6¼ to 6½c.

PRUNES.—Trade in prunes is quiet on the local market. Coast advices report that in futures the situation is fairly steady and offerings light. French interests are reported as buying for October shipment in the Santa Clara Valley. We now quote: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 50's, 8¾ to 10c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—No business of importance in this line is doing on the local market at present.

Quotations are : 11 to 14c. per lb. for peaches and 13 to 17c. for apricots. New Santa Clara apricots are quoted f.o.b. the Coast at 7c. in 50-lb. boxes, and 7½c. in 25-lb. boxes in carload lots.

GREEN FRUITS.

The local green fruit market continues in a healthy and active condition. Apples, peaches, plums and pears are offering in liberal quantities, and business in them is brisk. The watermelons offering are of large size and fine quality. Tomatoes are a little more plentiful and lower, and a good demand for them is reported. Grapes from California are now offering at $2.50 per case and are of excellent quality. We quote : Peaches, 17 to 25c. per basket ; apples, 10 to 25c. ; plums, 30 to 60c. ; pears, 20 to 35c. ; tomatoes, 30 to 15c. ; canteloupes, 40 to 60c. ; lawtonberries, 5 to 6½c. per quart ; huckleberries, $1.10 to $1.25 ; watermelons, 20 to 25c. each ; green cucumbers, 15 to 20c. per basket ; onions, 25 to 10c. per basket ; Californian plums, $1.50 per case ; ditto pears, $2.25 per case ; ditto peaches, $1.25 to $1.50 per case, and ditto grapes, $2.50 per case. Californian late Valencia oranges, $5.50 to $5.75 ; Messina lemons, $2.25 to $2.75 per box ; bananas, $1.25 to $1.75 per bunch.

VEGETABLES.

The vegetable business is quiet and the prices are weak. Cabbage can be had at $1 per barrel, and other stuff is plentiful. We now quote : Green onions, 8 to 30c. per dozen ; rhubarb, 20 to 30c. per dozen ; lettuce, 20 to 25c. per dozen ; radishes, 20 to 25c. ; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c. ; turnips, 30c. per dozen ; cauliflower, 50c. to $1.50 per dozen ; cabbage, 30 to 50c. per dozen and $1 per barrel ; carrots, 15c. to 20c. per dozen ; beets, 15c. per basket ; peas, $1.00 to $1.50 per bag ; new potatoes, 50 to 60c. per bushel ; beans, 20c. per basket ; celery, 50 to 75c. per dozen ; vegetable marrow, 75c. per doz ; corn, 15 to 20c. per doz. ; squashes, $1 to $1.50 per doz.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS. - The receipts continue to increase and strictly fresh gathered are mostly in demand. Inferior stock is dull and not wanted. We quote : 15 to 16c. for strictly fresh ; ordinary candled, 14 to 14½c. and low grades and checks, 11 to 12c.

BEANS. The market this week for beans is firmer, owing to reports of a shortage in the bean crop. Some old stock are offering. The quotations range from $1.40 to $1.50 for handpicked.

HONEY.—Trade in this line continues dull and the prices are unchanged. Advices from some honey-producing districts of Ontario are to the effect that the shortage in the crop will not be as large as anticipated some time ago. We quote as follows : Honey, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c. ; in less quantities, 10 to 10½c. ; combs, $2 per dozen up.

DRIED APPLES.—None are being offered.

POULTRY.—There is a good demand and a limited supply. Young chickens are worth 50 to 60c. ; old, 40 to 50c. ; ducks, 60 to 65c. ; turkeys, dry picked, 11 to 12½c. and live chickens, 50 to 55c. per pair.

POTATOES.—The offerings are fair and the demand is active. Prices are steady at 35 to 40c. per bushel.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—Large offerings of butter continue to be made and stock is rapidly accumulating. The prices are weak and there is very little export demand. Speculators who have stored early are becoming uneasy. We now quote : Dairy, choice 1-lb. rolls, 15 to 16c. ; selected dairy, tubs, 15c. ; store-packed, uniform color, 13½ to 14c. ; low grades, 11 to 12½c. ; creamery prints, 19 to 20c. and solids, 18½ to 19c.

CHEESE.—There has been a slight decline in values of cheese this week and the make continues large. Buyers in Great Britain have become fairly well stocked up with this product and are holding back somewhat in the expectation of a decline of prices here. The local trade is fair. We quote : Finest at 10 to 10½c. and seconds, 9½ to 9¾c.

FISH.

There is a scarcity of trout and white fish, as the catch lately has much fallen off until only about one-quarter of the usual supply can be obtained, and prices have advanced to 9c. per lb. Bluefish also are scarce and have risen to 6c. per lb. Quotations are as follows: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c. ; perch, 4 to 5c. ; trout, 9c. ; and pike, 6c. ; British Columbian salmon, 20c. ; whitefish, 9c. ; blue fish, 15c. per lb. ; mackerel, 15 to 20c. ; rock bass, 4c. ; speckled trout, 25 to 30c. ; halibut, 15c. ; Niagara whitefish, 9c. per lb. ; blue pike, 4c. per lb. ; live lobsters, 25c. per lb., with very few offering.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN.—The market for Manitoba and northern wheat is firm in sympathy with the strong tone of the Chicago market. Reports all indicate that this year's yield of both Manitoba and Ontario wheat will be large. Quotations this week are 85c. for Manitoba No. 1 hard ; 84c. for No. 1 Northern and 82c. for No. 2 Northern. On the local market some red and white New Ontario wheat sold at 75c. and 80c. per bushel respectively. Old oats sold at 47 to 49c. and new at 35c. per bushel.

FLOUR.—Trade in flour is somewhat dull, as buyers are holding back awaiting the settlement of prices on the new crop. Our quotations are as follows : Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75 ; Hungarian patents, $4 to $4.10 ; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85 ; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS.—The demand for rolled oats continues moderate. Rolled wheat is active and has advanced 10c. per barrel. Our quotations are as follows : Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.20 ; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.90 per bbl. ; in wood, 10c. extra ; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra ; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbl. ; cornmeal, $4 ; split peas, $4.75 ; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

MARKET NOTES.

Rolled wheat has advanced 10c. per barrel.

Trout and whitefish have advanced 1 to 1½c. per lb.

New oats are arriving in increased quantities and the price is 35c. on the street, 13 to 14½c. lower than the market for last year's crop.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

Montreal, Aubust 21, 1902.

BUSINESS in wholesale circles during the past week has been a busy one, although not marked by any important feature. Shelled almonds are causing some inconvenience by their great scarcity. A few brands of Canadian pickles in bulk have advanced in price about 5c. per gallon. This is in the medium and cheaper grades, of which there is very little stock on hand. Chicago pork is down again, this time about 25c. Pure lard is also quoted ¼c. per lb. lower.

SUGAR.

Business in sugar has been brisk during the past week, the demand from country points having materially increased, and local buyers also making active inquiries. An advance of 5 points on confectioners' A, and 10 points on soft grades, by The American Sugar Refining Company, while it was not followed by an advance in price here, has, nevertheless, had the result of firming up this market to some extent. Buying, as a consequence, has been better, the impression being that further advances may follow. The market for raw sugar is also reported firmer. Locally, prices remain at $3.65 for granulated and $3 to $3.55 for yellows.

TEAS.

Jobbers report a better business with country points this week. Low-grade Ceylon teas have advanced on the primary and English markets, and a firmer feeling prevails here. Any good liquoring teas are in excellent demand. In China teas it is reported that a small amount has been purchased by Canadians this year, in comparison with former years, and it is the general opinian that teas will be firmly held throughout the season. China blacks have been in fair demand. A few green teas are still left, prices, of course, being very firm. The market for Japans is quiet, though firm. Buyers are unwilling to do business at the prices which have been quoted recently, namely, 17½ to 23c. for good medium to fine.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Trade in Barbados molasses moves along slowly. A small distributing business is reported at 23 to 24c., according to quantity. No sign of an improvement in the demand can be seen, but the trade for fall is expected to soon commence. There has been no change in Antigua molasses, which still sells at 24c.. Porto Rico is quoted at 38c. In corn syrups the situation has not improved. The demand is light and the market is somewhat quiet. Corn syrups are quoted as follows : 3½c. in bbls. ; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls. ; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls. ; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

SPICES.

Nothing of importance has occurred in this market since our last report. There is no sign of any easing off in the market for peppers. They are firm and in good demand. A fair business is doing in preserving spices, as is usually the case at this season of the year, and the prices remain as follows : Nutmegs, 35 to 55c. per lb., as to size ; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality ; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c. ; cloves, 15 to 25c. ;

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The situation in this market is unchanged. A fair demand is experienced, and business is done at unchanged prices. No advance as yet has been made in pearl sago, notwithstanding the higher prices on the primary markets. Stocks are gradually growing smaller, however, and prices on any sago bought now would be necessarily higher. Quotations are as follows: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb. and tapioca, 3½c.

CANNED GOODS

The demand for canned goods of all descriptions, meats, fruits, and vegetables, is of the best. Stocks are commencing to run low on several lines, and prices are firmer in consequence, though as yet we hear of no advance in prices. Canned vegetables are especially firm. Several orders are reported for the new crop goods, tomatoes having been booked at 92½c., corn at 82½c. and peas at 82½c. The quotations on new crop for future delivery are as follows: Tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 80c. to $1.20; string beans, 80 to 85c.; strawberries, $1.45 to $1.60; raspberries, $1.45 to $1.60; gooseberries, $1.45 to $1.60; pears, 2's, $1.60 to $1.70; 3's, $2.10 to $2.15; peaches, 2's, $1.65 to $1.70; 3's, $2.50 to $2.75; 3-lb. apples, 85 to 90c.; gallon apples, $2.10 to $2.20; 2-lb. sliced pineapples, $2.20 to $2.30; grated pineapples, $2.50; pumpkins, 95c. to $1; spinach, $1.50; sugar beets, 95c. to $1. We quote spot goods as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; tomatoes, $1.12½ to $1.17½; gallon apples, $2.50; salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River red sockeye, $1.40.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—These have not changed in price. The demand keeps up and a fairly good business is doing. We quote: Fine Filiatras, 5½c. to 5½c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5¾c.; 1-lb. cartons, 6½ to 7c.; finest Vostizzas, 6½ to 7c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—These are exceedingly scarce. In fact, the market is practically bare, and prices are nominal at 6½c. for finest off-stalk, and 7½ to 8½c. for selected. Raisins to arrive are quoted at 19s. 3d. for fine off-stalk and selected, 21s. 3d.; layers, 22s.

SULTANA RAISINS.—These have become very scarce. A few are to be had at 9½c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—These go as usual, with prices steady and unchanged. We quote: Citron peel, 15c.; orange, 11½c.; lemon, 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is a good demand for these at the prices we quote. Reports from primary sources state that a good crop is expected. Prices, locally, are now quoted as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to DATES.—Trade in dates is still rather quiet and there is no particular feature to note this week. The price of Hallowee dates is 4½c. per lb.

FIGS.—Nothing further has been learned from the primary market regarding figs. Business, locally, is dull.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS —The demand for these has been steady during the week, though the volume of business is not large. We quote : Pears, 10c.; peaches, 10½c. and apricots, 14½c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—There is a fairly good business doing in seeded raisins at 9¾ to 10½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—Nothing of importance has occurred on this market. There is a steady demand and trade is active. Our quotations are now as follows : 8½c. for 40-50's ; 8c. for 50-60's ; 7¾c. for 60-70's ; 7½c. for 70-80's ; 6¾c. for 80-90's ; 6½c. for 90-100's.

NUTS.

The feature on this market is the scarcity of shelled almonds, which has not been relieved this week. Prices, in consequence, are very firm, though no further advance is reported. Tarragona almonds and filberts are also tending higher, and our quotations are now as follows : Walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 11c.; shelled walnuts, 18c.; shelled almonds. 25 to 26c.; filberts, 9c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The movement in green fruits has continued brisk throughout the week, all lines being in good demand. Jamaica oranges, in barrels, are now quoted considerably higher, owing to the smallness of the stocks. Cucumbers are down 4c. per dozen, and blackberries have also declined. Canadian peaches and plums have been offering more freely and are selling from 5 to 10c. lower. Raspberries have disappeared from the market entirely. We quote : Jamaica oranges, in bbls., $7.50, in boxes, $4.25 ; Sorrento oranges, $3.75 to $4 per box ; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box ; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.25 per bag of 100 ; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2 and eight hands, $1 to $1.50 ; Boston lettuce, 35c. per dozen ; cucumbers, 11c. per dozen ; Canadian cabbage, 75c. per bbl.; potatoes, $1.15 to $1.30 per bbl.; tomatoes, 4-basket carriers, 60c. to 75c.; watermelons, 25c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; gooseberries, 65c. per basket; blackberries, 5 to 7c. per box; peaches, $1.25 per box; plums, $1.25 to $1.75 per box ; pears, $2.25 per box ; limes, $1.50 per box ; Canadian peaches, 30-35c. per basket ; plums, 40c. per basket ; blueberries, $1.50 to $2 per box ; Canadian apples, in barrels, $1.50 to $2.50, in baskets, 20 to 30c.

FISH.

Business in fish is, as usual in August, quiet. Trade, however, is as good as is expected at this season. Fresh haddock and cod show a decline of ½ to 1c. this week. Other lines, such as pike, trout, halibut, whitefish and dore, are somewhat higher, owing to a temporary scarcity, caused by the prevalence of bad fishing weather. We quote as follows : Haddies, 7 to 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box ; fresh haddock and cod, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; whitefish, 8 to 8½c.; dore, 8 to 8½c.; pike, 6 to 6½c.; halibut, 12c.; salmon, 16c.; trout, large and medium, 8½ to 9c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl. ; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg ; Holland herring, 75c. per keg ; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel, $12.50 per bbl. ; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes ; dried codfish, $4.75 per 112-lb. bundle ; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels, $12.50 ; No. 1 British-Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon ; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100 ; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—The feature of the market ddring the past week was the decline in Manitoba spring wheat patents and strong bakers', amounting to 10 and 5c. respectively. There is a fair demand this week and the market is steadier at the new prices. We now quote : Manitoba spring wheat patents, $4.00 to $4.20 ; strong bakers', $3.65 to $3.90 ; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70 ; winter wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10.

GRAIN.—Business in grain is quiet, both for local and export account, buyers apparently holding off until offerings increase. New crop No. 2 white oats are quoted at 31½c. west, high freights, September shipment. The demand for old stock is small and prices tend lower. Barley and peas are also quoted lower. We quote : Manitoba oats, No. 2 white, 46½c.; No. 2 Ontarios, 46½c.; No. 3, 45c. ex-store ; rye, 67c.; peas, 81c.; corn, 71c.; buckwheat, 64c. to 65c.; barley, 52 to 53c. in store.

FEED.—The market has been steady throughout the week under a fairly good demand for all lines. Prices have not changed. We quote as follows : Manitoba bran, $17 ; Ontario bran, $15.50 to $16 ; Manitoba shorts, $23 ; Ontario shorts, $24.

OATMEAL.—Trade in rolled oats is quiet, orders being confined principally to small lots for immediate requirements. We quote : Rolled oats, in barrels, $5.80 : in bags, $2.82½.

BALED HAY.—The tone of the market is steady and no quotable change has occurred. A fair trade is doing. We quote : No. 1, $8.75 to $9.25 ; No. 2, $7.75 to $8.25 ; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton in carlots.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—No improvement in the condition of the butter market can be reported this week ; in fact, the market is, if anything, a little heavier than when previously reported. Ireland is at the present time in a position to supply to a large extent the demand in Great Britain, and until there is a falling off in supplies from that source the market here will undoubtedly remain sluggish. Accumulation of stocks on both sides are heavy. Reports from Boston, New York and Chicago state that there is an abundance of summer stock in cold storage. Although at the moment adverse conditions obtain it does not warrant a pessimistic feeling as to the future, for Great Britain may yet require all our butter. A drop in prices is to be noted. We quote : Fancy Townships creamery, 18¾ to 19¼c.; last week's quotation was 19¼ to 19½c. ; finest Townships creamery, 18⅝ to 19⅛c. ; last week's quotation was 19 to 19⅜c. ; finest Quebec creamery, 18½ to 19c. ; last week's quotation was 19 to 19¼c. ; finest Ontario creamery, 18 to 18½c.; last week's price was 18½ to 18¾c. ; fine creamery, 17¾ to 18c.; last week's price was 18⅜ to 18½c.; dairy butter, 15½ to 16c.

For the week ending August 13, 11,546 packages were shipped from Montreal. For the same week last year 23,071 packages were shipped. From May 1 to the present time, August 13, 217,408 packages have been shipped from this port.

CHEESE.—There is little cause for complaint as to the condition of the cheese market. The demand and supply have been able to keep pace with one another. Stocks here are light and export business is steady. In England the increased cost of other provisions has caused, to a certain extent, the present impetus to trading in cheese. It is to be hoped that the present demand will be maintained, so that stocks will be kept on the move. Prices throughout are much the same as last week, and indications are that the present quotations will prevail for some time, although no one could possibly predict such a thing. We quote as follows : Finest Ontario, colored, 9¾ to 9⅞c., same price as last week: finest Townships, colored, 9⅝ to 9¾c., the same as last week ; ditto, white, 9½ to 9⅝c., same as last week ; finest Quebec colored, 9⅛ to 9⅜c.; ditto, white, 9⅜ to 9½c. per lb.

Exports from the port of Montreal for the week ending August 13 were 77,434 boxes, as compared with 52,300 boxes for the corresponding period last year. From May 1 to August 13, we have shipped 997,957 boxes, and for the same period last year the shipments were 738,002 boxes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Rather more inquiry on export account is being experienced. The quality is said to be somewhat better than heretofore. Demand from local buyers is quite good. Prices are as follows : Selected, 18 to 18½c.; candled stock, 15½ to 16c.; straight receipts, 14½ to 15c. ; No. 2, 13 to 14c. in round lots.

BEANS.—Trade in beans is reported to be satisfactory and mostly of a jobbing nature. A slight advance in price is to be noted, primes now being quoted at $1.40 to $1.45 per bushel, in lots of two or three-dozen bags.

HONEY.—No further change in the condition of the market is to be noted. A fairly good trade is passing in new crop white strained honey at 8 to 10c. per lb. We quote : White clover comb, 12 to 13c.; tinged, 10 to 11c.; strained, 9 to 10c.; buckwheat honey in comb, 8 to 9c.; extracted, 7 to 7½c.

POTASH.—Offerings are limited. The market is quiet. We quote : Firsts, $4.10 to $4.15 ; seconds, $3.25 to $3.45 ; pearls, $6 per 100 lb.

POTATOES.—Offerings are comparatively small which has resulted in making the market steady. The demand is good. Sales of Early Rose and Chilis were made at 55 to 60c. per bag for good to choice, and 50c. per bag for ordinary. There is an improvement to be noted in the quality of the stock being offered.

be sufficient for the demand, as at yesterday's sale pears brought as high as $2.25 to $3.25 a box, which is away above Montreal and Toronto markets. It is altogether likely a few days will see them lower. Early Crawford peaches sold at 95c.; late Crawfords, 95c. to $1; Crawford Clings, $1.15; Elbertas, 85 to 90c.; Susquehanna, 90c. In plums, Satsumas, $1 to $1.10; Burbank's, 90c. to $1; Wickson, $1.10 to $1.20; Tragedys, $1.40. A car of watermelons was sold and brought 16 to 17c.

In country produce receipts of butter and eggs are pretty large, with prices about the same. Butter in pails brings 15½ to 17c.; prints, 19 to 20c.; creamery, 21c. per lb.

Eggs are worth 16½c.

White beans are scarce and primes are higher, about $1.50 a bushel.

Potatoes are worth 40 to 45c. a bag, and are plentiful.

Cheese sold Friday last on the board at two prices; 1,488 boxes were registered, 1,106 of white and 383 of colored. For the corresponding period last year the receipts were 1,084 white and 198 colored. Bidding ruled low on the start, but became a little brisker until the limit was reached, 9½c. for white and 9⅝c. for colored.

RETAIL ASSOCIATION.

The Ottawa Retail Grocers' Association met in their rooms in the Ottawa Fruit Exchange Building on Monday night and transacted a good deal of business. There was a large attendance of members, it being as good a meeting as they ever had. After getting through the regular work and receiving reports of several committees, the peddler question was brought up, although it was before the Association last year and a test case made of it in court, which was decided against them. The Association do not intend to give up yet. Last year the greatest trouble was with fruit peddlers, but this year tea peddlers and vegetable men seem to have sprung up like mushrooms and the city is overrun; so much so, that householders are complaining of the nuisance. It was shown that business in tea and vegetables has decreased over 50 per cent., owing to the peddling, and it has become quite serious, so that the Association intend to move at once and have something done. A committee composed of Messrs. Bambrick, Bate and Ald. Cunningham was appointed to look up the by-law and if necessary make another test case, so as to find the strength of the by-law. If defeated, it is the intention to apply for a new by-law whereby a sufficient tax will be imposed and enforced.

The trading stamp question is still in hand, and the committee is arranging to have matters in good shape for the next meeting of the finance committee of the city council. It will likely get its final hearing then.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the wholesale merchants and friends who so kindly sent representations to the annual excursion on Dominion Day, and also to those who could not attend, but bought tickets instead. The secretary was instructed to reply to all communications received from the different firms.

A special vote of thanks was tendered to H. W. Bate & Sons for the large oak table and beautiful picture that they gave the Association some time ago. The secretary was instructed to write the firm to that effect.

Chas. J. Provost, president, was in the chair. It is likely a special meeting will be called for next Monday night.

THE EXHIBITION.

The Central Canada Exhibition opens this week and everything will be in readiness for visitors Monday morning next. Particular pains have been taken so that there will not be any delay in getting exhibits in place. All the space in the main building has been allotted, and several prospective exhibitors were disappointed in not being able to secure space. It is altogether likely that next year additions will be made to this building.

The full programme of attractions will be carried out from Monday morning until the end of the week. Horse races, parade of prize stock, and a beautiful display of fireworks at night, depicting the "Burning of Moscow," besides hundreds of other items on the programme, which have been arranged for at a great expense. Visitors to Ottawa this year will find great changes in the grounds as well as big improvements throughout the city. Anyone who can possibly arrange should not miss the Central Canada Fair this year.

THE APPLE OUTLOOK.

In speaking with G. W. Hunt, of the Ottawa Fruit Exchange, in regard to the apple outlook this year, he said: "With a large acreage and report of a heavy crop, the all absorbing topic of the apple growers all over the Dominion, and particularly in Ontario, is how they are going to dispose of their crop. However, during the last few weeks matters have taken a change, and the crop which at first appeared to be an average full crop is now being largely decreased by the heavy drop. But, notwithstanding this fact, the crop will be about equal to that of 1896, when Canada exported so many apples and had so many go to waste, owing to prices being so low. Everything points this year though, to prices somewhat similar to two years ago, when good apples sold for about $2 to $2.25 to the retail trade, which was equal to about 75c. to $1 per barrel for the fruit. Later reports from the various districts go to show that there is a larger percentage of the crop that has been hurt by the wet weather, and in some places the Ben Davis have suffered very seriously, being what they term "one-sided." The short crop over the United Kingdom will also go a long way towards increasing the value of our Canadian apples here. This, together with the Fruit Marks' Act, which is talked of so favorably on the other side of the ocean should also assist in maintaining prices, and there are inquiries now from the continent wanting to purchase large blocks of Canadian apples, and I would not be surprised if before the buying season gets near over you see buyers paying as high as $1.25 on the trees for fruit. At all events there is no possibility of the crop going to waste this year for want of an outlet, as our apples have been gaining favor in foreign countries so rapidly, that they can be shipped to various ports that were not known ten years ago."

EDDY CO.'S NEW OFFICES

Friday, the 22nd inst., the corner stone of the new offices being put up by The E. B. Eddy Co. in Hull will be laid. Added interest is being manifested in the occasion, it being Mr. Eddy's birthday anniversary, he being born on his father's farm, near Bristol, Vt., on August 22, 1829, and is accordingly in his 75th year. Building operations on the fibre ware factory were delayed, waiting for the structural iron work, but as this arrived yesterday, everything is resumed.

A LYING TEA PEDDLER

In connection with the peddler nuisance in Ottawa a certain tea peddler has been going his rounds telling people he is selling tea for Castle, the wholesale man on Queen street. Mr. Castle is greatly incensed over it and has advertised, offering a reward of $50 for information that will lead to the conviction of anyone making such false representations. If anyone in the city tries to do a strictly wholesale business in Ottawa, F. J. Castle does, and he deserves the confidence of the retail trade for being extra particular in this respect.

Archie Fleming, of Hopper & Fleming, Bank street, has sold out his interest in the business of J. S. Brown, the style of the firm now being Hopper & Brown.

H. S. Howland, Sons & Co., wholesale hardware merchants, Toronto, have opened a branch office and showroom on Sparks street. J. Thicker has been appointed local representative.

D. E. Brickler, of Lumsden Bros., who was in Ottawa last week, reported having an extra good demand for their "Jersey" yeast and baking powder.

Mr. Musgrave, of J. McIntosh & Sons; Mr. Merrick, of Rose & Laflamme, and Fred. Mitchell, of E. W. Gillett, called on the trade the last few days. Mr. Mitchell was pleased with the business he did with their goods.

J. J. Levy is in the city now representing The United Factories' Company. He is ready for any amount of business, having just returned from his summer holidays.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

HALIFAX, August 18, 1902.

TAKING into consideration the fact that this is the dull season of the year, the wholesale and retail grocery business has been remarkably well sustained, and all business houses are fairly busy. There is complaint about a shortage in the usual prompt remittances, but this might naturally be expected at this period, as there are few natural products to send to market as yet, and money is comparatively scarcer in the country districts. With the very bright prospect ahead for good crops, the condition of things will be very materially altered and a better tone infused into business. There are very few changes of great importance to note in the price situation. The market may be considered as firm in most lines, with an easier feeling in prospect as soon as agricultural and fish products commence to move freely.

The supply of flour in stock here is light, and will continue so until the mills commence operations. Prices are firm. On account of reports of shortage in the wheat supply, prices may rule higher later on. Rolled oats, oatmeal and cornmeal are also light in stock, and prices steady and firm with no anticipation of a decline. Middlings and coarse feeds are very scarce and high, though the demand just now is not very great as compared with the earlier part of the season. Hay is quiet, and prices for new crop have not been established; much will depend on how the crop is harvested.

The tone of the sugar market, under a good demand, is much stronger than a month ago. Raw sugars are much firmer, and an advance is expected at any time. The local stocks are only fair, but all orders are being filled promptly. The general tendency all around is for higher prices. Molasses firm.

* * *

Butter is now very plentiful, and the market price has eased off. Creamery prints are being offered at 20c.; 5-lb. tubs of very fine butter are also selling at the same rate, and second quality, 15 to 16c. The cheese market has an easier tone. Large is quoted at 9½c.; small, 9⅓c. Eggs are also easier, as parties do not care to hold much stock during the hot weather. The price quoted is 16 to 17c., fresh, by the case.

* * *

Reports now seem to indicate that the results of the summer fishing are only fair as compared with other years. Values have increased, and $3.60 is quoted for dry, slack-salted cod. Reports from Newfoundland and Gaspe show that the catch has been large, and has been cured well. Prices, on this account, for hard cod are easier. The West-Indian market has slightly improved, but may still be considered as dull. Brazilian prices have improved, and are now almost as good as a year ago.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, August 18, 1902.

ACTUAL business at the present time is light in jobbing circles, but all houses are busy and well satisfied in view of the continued excellent crop prospects and the outlook for heavy fall trade. In grocery and produce lines there is little if any news to report, prices remaining very steady in nearly all lines.

The number of canners withdrawing quotations from the market has increased during the week, and all quotations for salmon have been withdrawn on the understanding that the catch on the Fraser River will be light.

CANNED GOODS — Corn has been advanced 5c. per case, and is now quoted at $1.95 to $2. Tomatoes are very firm at $2.75. Peas are unchanged. New strawberries and cherries are on the market and the quality is very satisfactory.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—New apricots are selling well at 10½ to 12c. This is the only line of new goods in. Evaporated apples are over practically, and there is an active demand for dried, of which a fair supply of good quality is on hand. Quotations on new Valencia raisins are still awaiting, and there is nothing new to report. The market at present is supplied with Californian stock.

GREEN FRUITS—Demand is very active just now, more especially for preserving. There have been few changes of price during the week. Plums are quite short in supply at present. Prices are as follows : Oranges, $5 to $6 per case ; Californian lemons, $6 per case ; bananas, $2.75 to $3 per bunch ; box apples, $2.50 ; barrel apples, $6 ; watermelons, per doz., $4 to $5; pineapples, $3 per doz.; peaches, $1.25 per box ; plums, $1.50 per box ; prunes, $1.50 per box; pears, $3 per box.

SUGAR — Is unchanged and in good demand. We quote : Extra standard granulated, $4.35; extra ground, 5½c.; powdered, 5½c.; lumps, 5¼c.; bright yellow sugar, $3.75.

MAPLE SYRUP—Eastern townships maple syrup has been reduced to $5.25 for the case of 6 half-gal. tins.

BUTTER—Creamery is offering fairly, but the demand is light. Prices at factories run from 17 to 17½c. Dairy butter is plentiful, and 12c. Winnipeg is an outside figure for round lots of fresh made, the only grade being called for at present.

CHEESE—The supply is not large and market is firm at 9 to 9½c.

EGGS—Are very scarce, and Winnipeg dealers willingly pay 15c., Winnipeg.

CEREALS — The demand for rolled oats, especially for eastern trade, is increasing, and Winnipeg mills are considerably oversold. There is no change, the price being $2.20 for 80's, and other sizes in proportion. White beans have advanced and are quoted at $1.85 with every prospect of much higher prices in the near future; in fact, it is stated that they will reach the $2.50 before the season is over owing to a shortage of supply, but this may be a story similar to the one told a few weeks later than this last year, when the crop was reported very short and prices went up by leaps and bounds, but tumbled just as rapidly.

FLOUR — There is a good local demand, and milling companies are making considerable export shipments to Fiji and Australia. Prices are without change, being : No. 1, $2.05 ; No. 2, $1.90 ; No. 3, $1.75; No. 4, $1.60, and No. 5, $1.25.

CONVENTION OF LIQUOR DEALERS.

THE first annual convention of the Liquor Dealers' Association of the Province of Quebec will be held in Montreal on September 3 and 4. A programme has already been decided upon, which includes, besides the discussions of topics of interest to the Association, a visit to Sohmer Park and Delorimier Park, trolley rides about the city, with bands in attendance, etc. As special rates will be allowed by railway and steamship companies, many are expected to attend from Quebec, Sherbrooke, Three Rivers, St. Hyacinthe, Valleyfield and Hull, as well as from smaller places.

The convention will be opened at 10 a.m. on September 3 at the Monument National, the Mayor and Lawrence A. Wilson, president of the Licensed Victuallers' Association of Montreal, delivering addresses. A lunch will then he served in the drill hall, and the members, returning, will discuss the following subjects : "Licenses in rural municipalities to be based on the population, and made obligatory in certain cases"; "Should licenses be permanent, and a change be made in the present system?" "Is the appointment of a liquor inspector necessary?" "Means to be adopted to put an end to illicit stills, and unauthorized sale of liquors," and "The protection to be granted to liquor dealers by the Government first, and then by the municipalities, should be in proportion to the large amount paid by them as well in duties as in licenses."

THE BRAZILIAN COFFEE CROP.

EUGENE SEEGER, the United States Consul at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, under date of July 17, writes as follows :

"I give below the authentic figures of coffee production for the harvest year closed on June 30, 1902. They are :

| | Bags of 132 lb. |
|---|---|
| Received in the port of Rio..... | 4,971,686 |
| Received in the port of Santos..... | 10,149,327 |
| Total in the two ports..... | 15,121,013 |

"The receipt of the other ports (Victoria, Bahia, Pernambuco, etc.) will be sufficient to make up a total of 16,000,000 bags. The present harvest, the marketing of which commenced on July 1 of this year, may be estimated at 10,000,000 bags. The bears, of course, send out circulars to prove that the harvest will be much less than this quantity, and the bulls are not less energetic in the attempt to prove that the harvest will be a great deal more. At present there are no figures obtainable which are absolutely reliable.

"Coffee is now the subject of very active speculation, and prices, low as they are, are to a great extent upheld by speculators. The visible supplies in Europe, as well as in the United States, are more than sufficient to cover a year's consumption. If the new crop (the harvest of 1903), which will be in bloom about the end of October and then be susceptible of estmates, should turn out, as it is likely, to be a good one, a considerable decrease in the prices seems inevitable. This would naturally bring about a decrease in exchange and in the irredeemable Brazilian paper currency."

NEEDED CHANGES IN SHIPPING APPLES.

By R. & J. Graham, Belleville, Ont.

THIS subject naturally divides itself into two heads, viz.: "How can we transport the fruit?" and "In what kind of package shall we put it?"

To get an apple from the tree to the consumer at the least cost, and in the most perfect condition, is a problem seriously occupying the attention of all fruit growers and shippers, whose success or failure largely depends on their ability in this direction.

The first step in transportation is from the tree to the basket, where, in most cases, serious damage is done.

BRAINS NEEDED.

Apple pickers require brains as well as muscle, and to pick an apple properly requires some study and experience. The writer has noticed many apples literally pulled from the trees with the fruit spur attached, not only damaging the fruit, but ruining the tree itself for future bearing.

If apples are carefully turned upwards they will break from the fruit spur clean, with the least resistance, and avoid thumb-marks so common in apples, which seriously impair the keeping quality and spoil the appearance, particularly of green or yellow fruit. All shippers should instruct their packers very particularly on this point.

FROM BASKET TO BARREL.

The next move in transportation is from the basket to the barrel or package in which the apples are taken to market. Again they run a most hazardous gauntlet. Most apples are dumped on the ground in heaps, whereas, in the writer's opinion, apples should never touch the ground, but be carefully emptied on a canvas stretcher of simple construction, holding about three or four barrels at most, and about 3½ to 4 ft. high, so that the sorter may stand up to his work and use both hands and eyes in this most important transaction. From the stretcher they should go directly into the package for market or store, graded as the shipper's customers may desire.

Now that the fruit is in the package at the tree, it should be carefully railway or boat landing at once, on a conveyance having springs. Much fruit is damaged seriously by remaining in barrels on the ground after packing, or by being moved in lumber wagons without springs over rough roads. These can be easily procured to attach to any wagon, and no fruit grower should be without them.

TRANSPORTED TO THE FRUITHOUSE,

When we get the apples to the depot we again confront a difficult problem. What kind of a car should we use, or what kind of a car can we secure from the carrier? Arrangements should invariably be made with the railway to furnish the and as required. No apples should remain at a depot longer than is necessary to load them directly into a car and get away the same evening. For short hauls ventilated cars should be used, and the car not filled to the roof, as frequently happens, but leave ample room for circulation of air. For any distance requiring more than 24 hours' railway journey, refrigerator cars should be used, and have them sufficiently iced. From the cars the apples should go direct to destination without delay, either to the consumer, fruithouse or steamer, for ocean transportation. Here, again, we confront a problem. What kind of space shall we use, or what can we secure?

Apples usually receive little care at the hands of vessel owners and stevedores, are generally handled roughly, and placed in the hold as closely stowed as possible, and, in most cases, without ventilation, and if they survive this gauntlet without being cooked and ruined the shipper may consider himself fortunate.

Can this be remedied? Combined action can do much to bring about the much needed reform. Let there be an active transportation committee and let us shippers be loyal to their recommendations demanding ventilated space or cool storage.

THE FREIGHT RATE QUESTION.

Again, why should a barrel of apples pay more freight than a barrel of flour? This question has often been asked railway tariff committes, but has never yet been satisfactorily answered. So far as I can learn, the real reason is because they can collect more. They apparently think the business will stand it, but in a year like the present, when there is an abundant crop, cheap transportation would materially increase our markets, and place before the laboring classes, which form the masses of European population fruit, within the reach of their means.

Can this be accomplished? I maintain it can. A barrel of flour weighs about 50 lb. more than a barrel of apples, and usually is carried for about half the price. Does the barrel of apples get any more care from the carriers, any better protection from the weather, any better space, or is there any greater risk incurred? Do they pay any more claims or give any greater attention to the business? So far as I can ascertain the only thing they can claim is better, despatch en route as perishable freight is not so often side-tracked, but I have yet to learn of a railway that paid claims on apples for ordinary delay in transit, and I consider the handicap in weight quite sufficient to enable the carriers to move a barrel of apples quite as cheaply as a barrel of flour. Agitation would bring about this much needed reform.

KINDS OF PACKAGES.

We next consider the various kinds of packages in use and their respective advantages. The barrel is the standard used for perhaps 90 per cent. of the fruit, but is it the best? California has adopted the box of four or five tiers, averaging about 40 lb. net of fruit, and this package is getting quite popular in some localities, and has the advantage of being more suitable for a grocer to handle as package goods. Many people would buy a box of those apples who could not be induced to buy a barrel at a time. When apples are retailed by the pound much of the fruit is injured by the customer or dealer turning it over, pinching it and examining it in a variety of ways that would not be done in a package. The cost of the package is about the same in each case.

THE BUSHEL CRATE.

For the home trade and immediate use the bushel crate is becoming quite popular in Michigan, and has some advantages. It is cheaper than the barrel, saves all expense of packing, can be easier handled, all the fruit is open to view, any farmer can bring apples to the depot direct from the trees, and is a convenient package for the dealer and consumer when the apples are required for prompt use.

For high-class trade a compartment box is coming into use, and has been favorably received in the markets of Europe. These boxes are made to hold various amounts and different-sized apples, and are made something like an egg case, each apple having a compartment by itself and is thoroughly ventilated. A firm in London, Ont., are manufacturing them. Fruit growers of Niagara district are using them quite extensively. They cost more than a barrel, but for a high class trade there is nothing better. Apples stored in these packages for the Pan-American Exhibition with The Buffalo Cold Storage Co. kept in good condition for a year. One thing is essential to the transportation of apples in any package—air circulation.

I feel convinced that fully 50 per cent. of our apples are ruined from improper transportation from some of the causes referred to, and if apple shippers ever expect to climb the ladder of success to its topmost step it can only be accomplished by giving this most important question earnest consideration.

Goods that are Wanted in the West Indies.

By John M. De Wolfe, in The Halifax Herald.

A GREAT many in Canada are of the opinion that there is an unlimited market for all kinds of manufactured goods in the West Indies, and that the people down there are just waiting for some enterprising man or men in Canada to bring the goods right along to supply them and make their little fortune. But when you consider that at least two-thirds of the inhabitants of the British Islands do not get an average wage of 1s. or 24c. per day, you can readily see that their purchasing powers and their requirements are very limited. So, after getting their food and a little cloth for wearing apparel, there is very little left to buy manufactured goods or to spend for anything but the bare necessities of life.

THERE IS ALREADY A LIBERAL SUPPLY.

Any goods that there is a profit in are already supplied by the Americans, English or Germans, so if Canada wishes to do a trade down there (not already taken up by themselves), she will have to do a lot of missionary or pioneering work to get in at all. They will have to put their prices down low (or fine), put up their goods nicely and neatly with attractive labels, or they will not be able to compete.

I have taken goods down several times and thought, at starting, that my prices were all right. My goods were up to the standard, but prices were not in it, and to my very great surprise I could buy similar goods at retail, express duties and profits added, for less money than I could put them f.o.b. Halifax. As I sell those goods for a small commission, you can easily see how one is handicapped in that market trying to sell Canadian goods.

LOSS CAUSED BY DELAY IN SHIPMENTS.

Another drawback that will have to be remedied is, often after an order is taken in good faith the goods do not come forward in a reasonable time, and often not at all. I have been told frequently: "It is no use to give you an order; you do not fill it promptly nor up to sample; and, moreover, we could get our goods from Australia in less time than you take to get them along from Canada."

There is a better market for manufactured goods in Trinidad, and Canada is largely to the front there, especially in cordage, paints and oils, varnishes, leads, brooms, brushes, butter, cheese, funeral furnishings, etc. Although I note M. E. Tripp, of Trinidad, urges Canadians to look sharp after especial lines of paints, oils, cordage, etc., when he knew, or ought to have known, that the paint, oil and varnish lines are already represented by five of the largest manufacturing houses in that line in Canada, and brooms and brushes by three, so that Canada has now the best place and sells by far the greater part of the cordage used in that market.

It would not lead up to a busy, healthy trade to have too keen competition between Canadian manufacturers which would obtain if Mr. Tripp's advice were taken.

CANADIANS IN FRONT RANK.

There are a number of other lines in which Canadian manufacturers are in the front place, which has been brought about by hard, persevering work, and it is pleasing to note we have so many lines well in hand in the West Indies.

There are several lines we cannot handle at all to-day—galvanized iron and zinc goods, such as buckets, pails, roofing sheets, pans, etc.; also tinware, tin, granite ware, glazed ware, shelf hardware, crockeryware, wire nails, cut nails, etc. Woodenware is not used to any extent, as the heat soon destroys it. Galvanized iron and zinc take the place of it.

SHOULD HANDLE BEST GOODS FOR TRADE.

Now we shall take up the goods that Canada can supply to-day. Flour, peas, split and round, oats, bran, shorts, middlings, cornmeal, pork, beef, hams, bacon, lard and lard oil, butter, cheese, etc. The most important of these is flour, and if managed right large quantities can be sold. As we have made so many mistakes in the past, the only wonder is that one can sell flour at all. Still, our Canadian flour is getting into favor every day, and, with new and better methods of handling and selling it, looking sharp after the conditions of the market and its requirements, one may obtain here a ready sale.

Ship promptly good fresh stock, put up nicely, neatly labelled, good barrels, closely packed, just large enough to hold the required quantity—not as has been the case in the past, the barrel made to hold 10 or 12 lb. more flour than is required, causing it to sift out and shift about in the barrel when it is moved a little or roughly handled, and thus bringing it more in contact with the air, which will naturally help it to sour, especially in those hot storerooms down in the West Indies.

THE MANNER OF SELLING FLOUR.

There is another point I would draw attention to—the manner of selling flour and food products to bring successful results. The plan of the past has, in many cases, proved very unsatisfactory and must be remedied, and the sooner the better for the flour trade in the West Indies.

SHIPPER MUST BE IN TOUCH WITH DEALER.

You must get in touch with the dealers, and sell to them direct in as large or small quantities as they may require, and price might vary according to quantity. As most of the dealers are importers, it will be almost impossible to get them to buy from a commission merchant down there to whom the flour is sent on consignment, as is the usual way it is now shipped.

"But," you will say, "our flour cannot be bought any other way, and they must have it."

AMERICANS ALWAYS THERE TO COMPETE.

But that will not help matters at all, for the Americans are on hand to give them as good a brand at as low a price, and perhaps lower. And, moreover, if the dealer wants, say for a time, a particular brand, they will get their agents in New York to send it to them, or buy it through a New York house, and get it at first cost. The New York houses are bound to help them out, and their agents will sell direct to any one who will buy—that is able to pay for it—and he is on the alert all the time for new customers, offering all the inducements to get trade.

HINTS THAT CANADIAN GOODS ARE INFERIOR.

He does not forget to hint that the Canadian flour might sour soon and does not keep well. Knowing that one of the strongest arguments they use for successful sales is that their flour is largely ground from Manitoba wheat, leading them to believe or to suppose it is a particular brand of wheat, forgetting to tell the purchaser that the wheat is grown in Manitoba, one of the largest wheat-growing Provinces in Canada. Yet, they will urge that on account of having this wheat in the flour it causes it to keep much longer and make better bread.

NO OBJECTION TO FAIR CRITICISM.

I do not for a moment find fault with anyone for saying that our Canadian wheat will help the American flour if it is mixed with it, but I object to having the same wheat spoil and sour if ground in Canada. This seems to be the one complaint with our flour down in the West Indies—that it will not keep. My experience has been that the cause of any complaint of that kind is in the handling of the flour, for I know in a number of cases the flour was made and packed at least three or four weeks before it was in Halifax, and then perhaps delayed a time there, and that meant at least two months before it was in the hands of the consumers.

TIME CONSUMED IN HANDLING.

The same could, if properly handled, be put down in most of the islands in less than four weeks, making all the difference imaginable in its keeping qualities in the busy, hot West Indies climate.

You will kindly pardon me for taking up so much of your valuable space, but I thought it was due to our Canadian people to know some of the conditions of the West-Indian market. What they have to contend with to do a successful business in the West Indies I study.

A BETTER MARKET FOR SUGAR.

If we can make a better opening for the sale of their sugar in our markets, it would help materially in the West Indies. As we have already a branch of one of our live Canadian banks established in Trinidad, all arrangements for the monetary side of the question can be made, so that we will be able to do business in the West Indies with as much ease as we can in the more distant parts of our own Canada.

THE ADVANTAGES OF CONFEDERATION.

Until the British West Indian Islands are confederated and joined to us we may expect strong competition with England, Germany and the United States.

CANNING IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

The G. W. Hogg Co., canners of fruits and vegetables, Fredericton, N.B., is this year building a new cannery at McGowan's landing, Sunbury county, which is regarded as the centre of the vegetable producing region of the Province. The cannery there is going to the producer rather than making the grower bring his produce to the cannery. It is anticipated that great quantities of tomatoes and other vegetables will be put up at McGowan's, and if the business this year meets the expectations of the proprietors another season will see a big development of the canning business.

G. W. Hogg stated, after several weeks spent at the company's canneries on the North Shore, that the lobster fishing this season was about the average, although the weather was cold and stormy, and decidedly adverse to good fishing.

The company has already sold enough canned apples to consume 2,500 barrels of the fruit. Mr. Hogg states that crops are all some weeks later than the average year.

BRAZILIAN NUT AND CACAO CROPS.

FROM Para, United States Consul Kenneday reports as follows, under date of July 15, regarding the Brazilian nut and cacao crops: "The Brazilian nut crop for 1902 is nearly all in the hands of the dealers or in transit from the fields, and an accurate estimate of the total can be made. The crop is nearly double the combined output of the two previous years. The quality has also been unusually good, and the supply has been so judiciously handled that there has been neither a glut nor a shortage in the market during the season. Prices have ruled firm throughout and at no time has any stock accumulated. The demand from the United States increases steadily. In 1900, the United States took 44 per cent. of the crop and Europe the remainder. In 1901, we took 50 per cent. of the crop, and this year our purchases amounted to 55 per cent.

"The total shipments of nuts from the Amazon up to date have been 6,871 tons, of which Manaos shipped 3,778 tons and Para 3,093 tons. The most conservative estimates of the remainder of the crop place it at about 300 tons, thus making a total for the crop of 1902 of about 7,200 tons. The crop of 1900 was 2,514 tons; that of 1901, 2 808 tons.

THE CACAO CROP.

"The cacao market has been steady at average prices, and the demand fully equal to the supply. No crop in this country is subject to such fluctuations as cacao, and for this reason comparisons with previous crops are valueless. Little interest is manifested in the product in this region.

"The total shipments from the Amazon for 1902 have been:

| | Tons. |
|---|---|
| January | 314 |
| February | 310 |
| March | 409 |
| April | 408 |
| May | 562 |
| June | 587 |
| July | 300 |
| Total | 2,890 |

"Something more than one-third has been taken by the United States, and the balance by Europe. France, as usual, is the largest consumer, with Holland second. The trade with the United States is, however, increasing, and before long we shall doubtless consume the bulk of the cacao product of South America."

THE WINDOW-TRIMMER.

Among the many branches of the window-decorator's art, none is more apparently important than the one of sign, show-card and ticket lettering. The two combinations should go hand-in-hand. What a boon to the window-decorator with a practical knowledge of all the rudiments for the production of neat and attractive show-cards and price-tickets at his finger-ends. The finest window displays may be ruined by amateur lettering, while artistic lettering often attracts as much attention as the goods. Every window-trimmer that aspires to the best-paying position in his line should procure the instruction book advertised in this issue by W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., at $1 postpaid. Hundreds of decorators in all sections of the country are to-day reaping the benefits. The expense is small and success is sure.

POPULARITY is the proof of merit, and no brand has ever achieved popularity so quickly as

WHY ARE

Southwell's

Jams

superior to all other Imported Lines ?

Because each Jam has the individual flavor of its own fruit.

Many imported Jams taste all alike.

Southwell's Don't.

DOMINION AGENTS

Cultivating WEEDS

wouldn't be considered very profitable by the farmers, yet thousands of merchants are cultivating the weeds of business by continuing the Old Style Pass book—errors every day. Forgotten charges. Hundreds of little things make a big aggregate amount. Adopt the modern ALLISON COUPON SYSTEM and throw away your time-wasting devices. Look here—

If a Man Wants Credit

for $10, give him a $10 Allison Coupon Book, charge him with $10, and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for ten cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon—that's all. And so on for all his purchases up to limit of the book. NO PASS BOOK. NO WRITING. NO TIME LOST. NO KICKING. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? Let us send you a free sample.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

Makes its own Gas.

No. 8

OUR No. 8 is the best all around lamp on the market for either the store or home.

IT IS FITTED with an up and down adjuster so that the burner can be lowered two feet. You can hang it on a hook or screw it up—we supply a hook and a screw plate with it.

IT GIVES a light of â 100 candle power and is a fine lamp to show goods with.

THE COST of running it is less than an oil lamp and there is no smell or smoke from it.

YOUR MONEY REFUNDED IF YOU ARE NOT PERFECTLY SATISFIED.

VINEGAR PERFECTION

is more nearly approached by

Imperial White Wine

than any other vinegar.

Its delicate, delightful flavor makes it unequalled for table use.

Its uniform strength and keeping qualities make it the standard with Canada's foremost pickle manufacturers.

You take no risk selling Imperial to your most critical customers. It gives satisfaction every time—under all conditions.

Remember that Imperial costs no more than the ordinary standard vinegar. Ask your grocery traveller for particulars.

The Woman,
"The Power."

There is no question about it, a woman can make or mar your success. Here and there you will find a woman who does not criticize the food served at the table of her friends, but such cases are rare. And a woman is very quick to ask her friends for information when some particular article of food tickles her palate.

You look to the woman for your orders and why should you be "a penny wise and a pound foolish" by recommending quality in Dried Fruits that is only "just fair" when you can sell the

"Griffin" Brand Dried Fruits

and be absolutely sure that you are serving the very best there is or can be in Prunes, Seeded Raisins, Dried Apricots, Peaches and Pears?

The "Griffin" Brand is grown, cured and packed in one of the largest Vineyards on the Pacific Coast. From the moment the "Griffin" Brand leaves the Vineyards until it reaches your own hands it is absolutely untampered with—you get it in the original package always.

Remember the harm a woman's tongue can do and from now on be safe—sell her the highest quality in Dried Fruits and she'll buy other necessities at your store.

AN ADVERTISING TALK.

BY BLANK.

READERS who examined the contents of the last "Advertising Talk" will remember that two things were emphasized therein.

1st. Any grocer can write a fairly good advertisement if he uses in it the same persuasive force that he employs in his shop talk.

2nd. To make advertising effective it must not only be persistent, but varied as well.

Reverting to the first of these subjects it occurred to the writer that a few words as to the actual construction of an advertisement would not come amiss. It is all right enough, say some, to talk about the ease with which an advertisement can be written, but when it comes to sitting down and concocting one it is quite another thing. Well, mayhap it is, and for the benefit of such as these, the following suggestions are offered.

By way of preface it may as well be stated that the writer does not claim, for anything that he may say, that perfection which some may inadvertently attribute to it. He is merely setting forth what he has himself experienced in writing advertisements for merchants, with the addition of much useful information derived from the many publications on the subject, which appear at regular intervals. Judging from results, he is led to believe that there is considerable of value in what is to be here set forth.

In starting out to contribute an advertisement to a newspaper, some decision must be arrived at as to what the advertisement is to deal with. Let it be assumed that the series is running in a daily paper. In that event the wisest policy is to advertise only one thing at a time. The old adage, "one thing at a time and that done well, etc.", holds for the advertising business as well as

A CAKE of yeast will raise a hundred times its volume of dough; a drop of ink will color a hundred times its volume of water; a few cents extra per pound for coffee will give you an immeasurably finer beverage. It would avail us nothing to say this if it were not true. We are spending thousands of dollars to say it because it is true. One test will prove it! Don't take our word for it! Try a single cup of Chase & Sanborn's Coffee to-day. : : : : : : :

for all other occupations. There are good reasons for thus confining attention to but one subject. It does not exhaust material for future use. It enables each separate department to be adequately dealt with. It prevents crowding and thus gives a good opportunity for display, and it lends a degree of continuity to the series of advertisements.

When the article or line of articles to be brought before the public has been selected, the writer should set down in a plain, straightforward manner just what he wants to say. Let him imagine a customer before him, whom he is desirous of interesting in a new line of fancy biscuits, which have just been received. He is not stilted in his conversation with her, so he should not be stilted in his advertisement. Don't let him worry about grammar, spelling or punctuation, if he is a little weak in those points. Let him leave that to the editor or proof-reader to straighten out. All he has to do is to get down truthful telling sentences.

The next step is to discover the important point to be emphasized. There is to be found in every one-subject advertisement a statement that is the keystone, as it were, of the whole structure. In general, it concerns the price, but very often it deals with something about the quality or utility of the article advertised. Very frequently an advertisement is a failure simply because the writer has been unsuccessful in securing attention through having missed showing up the vital point. Many a grocer loses not only attention, but also much valuable space by insisting on having his name overshadow everything else. Everybody in town knows that Brown sells groceries, but they don't know that he has just got in something extra fine in the fancy-biscuit line. Let him use the big letters to tell about what people don't know and relegate his name a little more into the background.

Combining what has already been written, there is first the important statement, which is to appear in large type with the purpose of attracting public notice. Then, there is the descriptive part by way of explanation, and to wind up in the usual manner comes the firm's name. It is a question whether the writer is going to leave the matter of arrangement and display entirely in the hands of the printer, or is going to take a hand in the making-up himself. If he has confidence in the ability of the compositors on the newspaper in which his advertisement is to appear, he can allow them a good deal of latitude. However, there are one or two suggestions which he can very well utilize in giving instructions to the printers.

First, and quite important, is the question of "border." On inspection of his advertising sheet, an advertiser is likely to find one of two things. Either there are a great many advertisements encased in borders, or there are very few. It is seldom that the proportion of one to the other is at all equal. It is by making use of this fact that an advertiser can give his insertion prominence. If he sees that his newspaper uses very little border, he should insist on running a heavy one around his advertisement and having that advertisement placed among others without borders. Then, if he will take up the paper, he will find that his eye is inadvertently drawn down by the distinguishing feature of his advertisement. Or if, on the other hand, borders are common in the paper, it will pay him to leave his plain, and have it placed right in the midst of the bordered insertions. The aim is always to secure that contrast which is going to make his advertisement stand out prominently.

Next (judging from the ordinary run of advertisements in Canadian papers), let him instruct the printer not to use every font of type in the office in building up his advertisement. He will find that if three styles of plain type are employed and some neat rules are cleverely inserted, that his advertisement will stand out in marked contrast to any other advertisement in the paper. The principle that permeates all advertising now is the securing of directness and forcefulness, and these two qualities are best attained by simplicity of expression and simplicity of design. If a grocer is the first person to employ this principle in his town he has, indeed, a great advantage.

Again, there is absolutely no need of spending hours trying to make up something smart and original. If it can be done off-hand, well and good, but the public are not going to read a grocer's advertisement merely to admire the smartness of its compiler. Grocers' advertisements are read by housewives for the information and instruction they contain. Therefore, let the printer be told not to worry about filling in with ornaments and strange letters and such like. Give him instructions to keep everything quite plain.

The use of illustrations is, of course, always effective, provided the cuts and half-tones are good, but it is a great mistake to give an advertisement a blotchy effect by using wretched illustrations. With the more advanced processes now in use it has become possible to make cuts which show up well in an ordinary newspaper, but usually any attempt to run them in proves a failure. Good cuts are certainly an acquisition to any advertisement, but it is a question whether or not they really serve the purpose designed for them. They are useful in illustrating and explaining new machines and new processes, but in an ordinary grocery store there is little of this kind of thing to be dealt with.

Turning to the accompanying examples of advertisements, No. 1 has been made up especially to illustrate the theories given in this article. There is the emphasis on "Delicious New Fancy Biscuits," and the use of the rules is simple and serves to throw the description and the prices into relief.

Ad. No. 2 is given merely to show what good effects can be produced by the use of a single kind of type set solid inside a heavy rule border. Any grocer who has seen this advertisement in a paper will remember how clearly and well it stood out in comparison with the other advertisements in which many kinds of type were used.

Ad. No. 3 is from a Peterboro' grocery establishment. It is to all intents and purposes constructed from two kinds of type and a heavy rule border. The wording, too, is very good, and the emphasis laid on the right spot. It is of that general species of ad. which takes advantage of special seasons to emphasize its contents.

The fourth example is taken from a Victoria, B.C., paper. It deals with a single subject. It shows up the vital points. It gives useful information. The sole fault, which, by the by, may be charged up to the newspaper, is that the general character of the make-up was so like that of its accompanying advertisements, that this one practically lost its identity.

Good Butter

We have just nailed a big butter bargain.

We got the chance to buy a large quantity for a small spot cash price, and we did the trick and did it quick.

This butter is a creamery print butter.

It's as sweet as new mown hay and a darn sight more nourishing.

It's safe to say that you can't duplicate this butter for 5 cents more the pound.

We know you can't.

We want you to try this butter because we know a trial will kindle a kindly feeling toward this store.

If you buy a pound and don't like it, we will return your money without any argument whatever.

That's fair, isn't it? 23 cents a pound.

Ad. No. 5.

The fifth and last ad. is taken from a recent number of Printers' Ink, and is shown here to illustrate the kind of advertisement advocated by the theorists on that advertising paper. It has all the dash and snap of the American grocer worked into it, while, at the same time, everything is very simple and direct.

TRADE CHAT.

THE marriage took place on August 19 of Miss Mattie Kline to Edgar Parker, bookkeeper of Smith & Proctor, Halifax, dealers in butter and cheese.

Phileas Parent, grocer, brother of the Premier of Quebec, has been elected Mayor of Beauport, to the satisfaction of his many friends.

The Vancouver Tourist Association has issued a very attractive folder, descriptive of the charms offered by the "Terminal City" for tourists. The reading matter is condensed, yet complete, and can be taken in at a glance. Like those of the Victoria Association, the folders are easily circulated and for advertising purposes very effective.

W. C. Bullock, manager of The Industrial Financial Co., Toronto, and John Davidson, on August 13, closed arrangements for the establishment of a factory of The National Crossply Veneer Co., Limited, at New Westminster, for the exporting of tea chests to Japan and India. They will employ some 200 hands and will run night and day.

Dr. Archbold, chemist of the Prescott Starch Works, has returned from a trip to England, where he attended a meeting of the world's chemists. The glucose trade, he says, has suffered much in England, owing to the fact that arsenic has been found in the glucose, several cases of poisoning having occurred there from beer made from the arsenicated article.

Walter Belton has bought R. A. Cochrane's grocery, Almonte, Ont., and will take charge on Monday. Mr. Belton began his career as a merchant-apprentice with Mr. Cochrane, and now he becomes proprietor. The experience he has gained in the interval will fit him for the position, and, coming as he does right from the store of Conn & West, is a guarantee that he will be up-to-date in business methods.

EXCESS OF JAVA TEA.

The Java tea planters, according to The Home and Colonial Mail, contribute their share to the excessive supply of tea. The last season's production exceeded any of its predecessors. The quantity exported, as compared with previous years, was 16,750,872 lb. The bulk was almost entirely shipped to Holland and London, though regular small parcels of specially-prepared tea have been forwarded to ports in the Persian Gulf. Attempts are being made by Java planters to prepare their tea in tabloid form, with which they consider they stand the best chance of suiting the Russian market.

JAVA COFFEE CROP.

Although the Java sugar crop was last year the largest on record, it was not so with the coffee crop, which was smaller than the previous year. According to the British Consul: "At the close of the year there was a slight advance in price, owing to reports of smaller estimates from Brazil, but this proved to be only temporary. Government abolished the export duty, which amounted to about 10d. per 112 lb., and this may assist in resuscitating the culture, but the result of the Brazilian crops for 1902 and following years will exercise the greatest influence. The production of the coffee crop from private estates in Java last year was 175,000 piculs Java and 118,250 piculs Liberia, while next crop is estimated at 389,500 piculs Java and 93,600 piculs Liberia. The Government crop was again small, amounting to 78,200 piculs Java and 30,417 piculs Liberia coffee, while present estimate of next crop is 174,000 piculs Java and 25,000 piculs Liberia. The Government crop of Sumatra coffee for 1902 is computed at 37,750 piculs Sumatra and 1,200 piculs Liberia."

THE COUNTRY MERCHANT IS KING.

WORDS of praise has The Interstate Grocer to say for the merchant in the country. The following is an extract from that publication: "The country merchant is a king. The freest, most independent man in the world is the man who conducts a retail business in a town of 2,000 inhabitants and under. He has but two duties to perform; one is to make a living and the other is to pay his debts. Of course, the first, making a living, entails upon him the duty of being pleasant to those about him and to those with whom he intends to do business, but that is a pleasure to any right-minded man. Paying his debts is the same necessity that we are all under.

"As a rule, competition in the smaller towns is not as fierce as in a city and the country merchant can therefore get slightly better profits and make a living more easily than the city retailer. Then he has the pleasure of knowing every man, woman and child in his town. The city retailer does not sometimes know who lives across the street from him.

"The country merchant, if a straightforward and honest man, stands high in his community. He is consulted on all things about municipal affairs. If he is a good politician he can become mayor of his city. He can go to the Legislature from his district. He can become anything that he aspires to if he goes about it right. The city retailer cannot. The city retailer does not even get his name in the papers when he dies unless he is a big advertiser in them.

"The best-conditioned man in the world is the country retailer. He is, indeed, a king."

CHEESE IN PARAFFIN WAX.

A work of considerable importance to the cheese industry is being carried out at the Government cool cheese-curing rooms at Ottawa, under the supervision of J. A. Ruddick, chief of the dairy division of the Department of Agriculture. All the cheese at these curing rooms are now dipped in melted paraffin wax as soon as they are received, by which process the cheese are covered with a thin, impervious coating that improves their appearance, reduces their shrinkage, and effectually prevents the growth of mould or staining of the surface of the cheese.

Mr. Ruddick has been experimenting for some time with a view of determining the right quality of wax to use, the proper temperature to have it when the cheese are dipped, and the best means of carrying out the work expeditiously and with the least possible labor and expense. Special apparatus has been devised, and the work is in full swing at all of the four cool-curing rooms established by the Government this season. This practice has been tried before, but, so far as is known, it has not been successfully applied to Canadian cheddar cheese of the regular size, when cured at the temperature of an ordinary cheese-curing room. The heating of the cheese and consequent swelling and exudation of fat causes the wax to peel off.

It is hardly expected, therefore, that the cheese factory with an ordinary curing room can adopt this method of treating their cheese, although experiments are now being conducted to determine this point. But Mr. Ruddick expects that it will prove to be one of the greatest of the advantages to be derived from the cool curing of cheese.

Sale of Swine at Guelph—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

SALE OF SWINE AT GUELPH.

F. W. HODSON, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa, was in Toronto on August 23, on his way east from the sale of pure-bred Yorkshires at Guelph.

This was the first exclusive sale of swine ever held in Canada, and though a private sale, got up by Yorkshire breeders, it was eminently successful, attracting buyers from the United States, the Maritime Provinces and from all over Canada. The prices realized showed the high quality of the stock, and Mr Hodson pointed out that the significance of the figures would be increased when it was remembered that a great many of the animals were only three and four months old.

The success of this sale has been such that it is likely the breeders of other varieties will get up sales in their classes in future years.

The highest price at the sale was that paid for the famous sow, Julia, bred by J. E. Brethour, of Burford, which went under the hammer for $325. The details of the breeders and prices realized are as follows :

| Breeder | No. | Total price. | Average. |
|---|---|---|---|
| J. E. Brethour, Burford... | 40 | $1,828 | $45 70 |
| Hon. John Dryden..... | 4 | 129 | 32 25 |

THE BUTCHERS' PICNIC.

Horse races, automobile races, steeplechases, and many other fine sports were indulged in at the picnic of the Montreal Butchers' Association, at Royal Park, on August 20. It was a great picnic in every way, the attendance being estimated at about 6,000. Beautiful weather prevailed, and the committees in charge of the various arrangements had done their work splendidly—everything went off without a hitch. The Quebec Association sent three delegates to the picnic, and other honored guests were the mayors of Montreal, St. Henri and St. Cunegonde, besides several aldermen.

Music was provided by the band of the 65th Regiment.

A keen interest was shown in all the sports. When Mr. Felix St. Onge led the fat men down the home stretch loud cheers greeted him, and Mr. Wilfrid Girard's success with both the greased calf and the greased pig was heartily applauded. The horse races were very good.

Much credit for the success of the picnic was due to the following committees :

Reception—Alf. Leduc, J. B. Bourassa, J. B. Giguere, McDuff Lamb, Joseph Denis, Ed. Leduc, P. Bedard, F. Bayard, Jos. Jeannotte.

Finance—H. Poitras, F. Leroux, G. Courville, Alf. Leduc, H. Dubuc, J. B. Leroux, F. St. Onge.

Organization—Alf. Leduc, J. Lamoureux, J. Denault, H. Poitras, Art. Pare, L. R. Trudeau, A. Theorest.

Police—G. Courville, D. Masson, F. X. Brisebois, F. St. Onge, O. Hogue, W. Charest, L. Beaupre, Jos. Rochon, D. Belanger, S. Jeannotte.

Subscription—Alf. Leduc, H. Poitras, A. Dompierre, J. Lamoureux, Jos. Courville, Art. Leduc, A. Leclerc, A. Martin, J. Jeannotte, Ed. Mallette, P. Monette.

The prizes will be presented at the special meeting of the Association to be held in the Monument National, Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

The judges were well chosen, and performed their parts to everyone's satisfaction. The judges were : For races and games—A. Dompierre, A. Martin, D. Belanger, Art. Leduc, C. Fischer, Jos. Courville, A. Pare. For trotting horses—N. Ethier, starter ; P. Monette, I. Daoust, J. Denault. For running horses—James McVey and Dr. P. Maurice, starters ; E. Painchaud, Dr. Gauthier, McD. Lamb.

ABATTOIR PERMIT TO BE RESCINDED.

After a consultation with the city attorneys, Messrs. Ethier and Atwater, Ald. Laporte, chairman of the finance committee of the Montreal City Council, decided that Building Inspector Chausse would have to recall the permits he has issued to the Montreal Stock Yards Co. for the erection of an abattoir at Point St. Charles.

The Union Abattoir Co. has a contract with the city under which it is given an exclusive slaughtering privilege covering a period of years.

Not more than a year ago the city was, on this account, compelled to refuse permission to the Laing Packing Co. to establish a slaughter house in the same vicinity. Now the Montreal Stock Yards Co., which is understood to be encouraged by the G.T.R., seeks a similar privilege.

Mr. Chausse explained that the reason he had issued the present permits was because he labored under the impression that the Union Abattoir Co. and the Montreal Stock Yards Co. were the same concern.

The attorneys felt that Mr. Chausse's explanation was reasonable, in that the building inspector, in granting a permit, was concerned usually with the plans of a building and not with its uses, but they nevertheless pointed out that the building inspector could not grant a power he did not possess. Mr. Ethier furthermore remarked that the course decided on was fair, as it would relieve the Montreal Stock Yards Company from all misapprehension in the matter.

It is now hinted in well-informed quarters that the Montreal Stocks Yards Company will follow the plan pursued by the Laing Packing Co., when permission was refused the latter to erect an abattoir, and appeal to the Legislature at Quebec for the privilege. The Laing Compeny was successful, and the Stock Yards people think they have an equal prospect of success.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

During the week the offerings of live hogs have been free and the prices have declined 25 to 50c. per 100 lb. Beef is also more plentiful, and the offerings are of better quality than before. Veal and lambs are quiet and unchanged. The market for live hogs is steady and the visible supply is large. Live cattle are weak and the demand for them is slow. We quote: Dressed hogs, $9.25 to $9.50; beef carcasses, $6.50 to $8 00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $8.50 to $9.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.50 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; veal, 8 to 9c. per lb., and lambs, 8 to 9c. Select live hogs are worth $7.25 to $7.37½, and fat and lights, $7 per 100 lb. Choice export cattle are worth $5.75 to $6.25 per 100 lb., and lights, $5 to $5.75.

There is a steady volume of business doing in provisions, and the demand for lard is brisk. The prices are steady and unchanged. We quote as follows : Long clear bacon, 11 to 11½c. ; smoked breakfast bacon, 14½ to 15c. ; roll, 12 to 12½c.; medium hams, 13½ to 14c.; large

MONTREAL.

Trade during the week has run rather quiet. Prices in meats have been steady. In Fairbank's "Boar's Head" refined lard compound the tierce basis has been reduced ¼c. Pure lard remains steady at the decline of last week. In fresh killed hogs trade has been steady, though quiet, at $9.50 to $10 per 100 lb. in jobbing lots. We quote: Pure Canadian lard, $2.37½ to $2.40 per pail. Fairbank's "Boar's Head" lard compound, 9¾c. tierce basis, with extras as follows: 60-lb. tubs, ¼c. over tierce: 20 lb. tin pails, ¼c.; 20-lb. wood pails, ½c.; 10-lb. tins, ⅝c.; 5-lb. tins, ¾c.; 3-lb. tins, ⅞c. ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled pork and beef, prices are being shaded by Chicago dealers. It is said, however, that heavy stock is still scarce. Local price is unchanged and business is light. In lard, which is a line for which there is a very large and growing sale here, prices are being shaded, but just at present business is quiet. Hams and rolls have a light demand. In fresh beef, prices have been rather easier, and there is an improved business. Mutton has little sale as lamb is plentiful. Prices are unchanged. Pork is still high, and quite a quantity is contracted for at full figures. We quote as follows: American mess pork, $23 to $23.50; domestic mess pork, $21.50; plate beef, Canadian, $14 to $14.50; clear pork, American, $25.50; plate beef, American, $17 to $18; lamb, 7 to 7½c.; mutton, 5c.; fresh beef 8 to 10c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 12c.; pure lard, pails, 12¼c.; compound lard, tubs, 9½c.; compound lard, pails, 9¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾c. to 11c.; pails 11¼ to 11½c.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—Very good demand and the supply large and increasing. The best grades of dressed beef bring 7 to 7½c., but some lines of poor quality have changed hands at 6½ to 6¾c.

MUTTON—Demand is active and the supply short ; best dressed brings 8c., and lambs 12½c.

HOGS—Light demand with prices firm at 9 to 9½c.

CURED MEATS—This market is an extremely active one, and hams have advanced ½c., making the present quotations 15c. shoulders, 11½c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 15½c.; breakfast bacon (backs), 14½c.; short spiced rolls, 11¾c.; long spiced rolls, 12¼c.; dry salt long clear bacon, 12c.; dry salt backs, 12½c.

PROVISION NOTES.

E. J. Brown, butcher, Ottawa, has opened up a branch store.

Madame Roy, dealer in provisions, Montreal, has registered.

John Slemmon, butcher, Carberry, Man., has sold out to R. Lawrie.

Dr. Laberge, of Montreal, has announced his intention of pursuing his investigation into the condition of the foodstuffs exhibited for sale in that city. His experience with the catsup has led him to believe that other products are in the same condition. If the examination reveals the same state of affairs the pickles, canned goods and other products found to be deficient will be confiscated.

CROPS IN ESSEX COUNTY.

Reports from Essex County say that the oat crop will be heavier than usual, while the grains will be almost as plentiful as in other years. Not more than half a crop of corn is expected, but the apple crop will be one of the heaviest ever harvested in the county. It is said that the supply throughout the county will amount to 50,000 bbls. People will this year miss the abundant supply of melons that that they have secured in years past from the farmers of Essex County. The vines have suffered from the wet weather, and very few of the melons will mature. Joseph Durocher, one of the heaviest growers of the county, says the crop this year will be almost a total failure. He planted the usual acreage, but will have very few melons to show for his work.

COLOMBO TEA AUCTIONS.

Dodwell & Co., Limited, Colombo, under date of July 16, write : "Fifteen thousand, nine hundred and eighty four packages—1,280,124 lb. were offered, of which 4,104 packages—348,101 lb. were withdrawn for higher limits. Prices for common and medium teas were most irregular, and in many cases ruled in favor of buyers. Teas showing improvement in quality were well looked after ; the demand running chiefly on good tippy broken Pekoes, which were well competed for and realized firmer rates than last week. The strong demand for dusts and fannings stlll exists, prices being very firm. Quality from the low-country is poor ; a few high-district teas show a marked improvement. The average price for the sale held on July 3 was 30c. against 30c. for the previous sale, and 29c. for the corresponding sale last year. The total exports to the United Kingdom from January 1 to date are 63,000,000, as compared with 64,125,000 for the same period last year. The total exports to Australia and New Zeaiand from January 1 to date are 10,250,000 against 11,750,000 for the same period last year."

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

WILLETT & GRAY say that the slight improvement in prices for beet sugar is due partly to the exceptionally cool and rainy weather experienced in the principal sugar-beet districts of Central Europe, where a spell of dry, warm and sunshiny weather is needed, as recent tests show that the crop has fallen of in weight and saccharine compared with the crops of the last few years.

FIRM SICILY FILBERT MARKET.

Business aggregating around 1,000 bags of Sicily filberts has been done on spot and to arrive within the last few days and the market is quoted stronger at from 9 to 9¼c. with, however, few holders showing any willingness to sell in a large way at even the outside figure. It is believed that spot stocks are reduced to very small compass, and the fact that offerings from the primary market are limited to small lots has induced a very strong feeling among holders here. Some few lots of Naples filberts are available at 9c. for round, with a cable from one holder on the other side quoting 9⅝c. for September shipment cost laid down.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

TEA IN NEW YORK.

The general report was of a slow market, but prices were reported as holding firm, offerings being small. The advices received from the East continued of an encouraging character, there being no attempt on the part of first hands to hurry sales, and the few changes that were occurring in prices were reported in sellers' favor. The line business was reported as quiet. Later in the day it was learned that a sale was made of 1,000 packages of new crop Formosa, grading about superior down, due to arrive at the end of October at 17c. in bond. New crop Hysons for delivery in January were reported offered at 11½c. — New York Journal of Commerce, August 25.

A FIRMER COFFEE MARKET.

New York Journal of Commerce, of August 25, says: "The feature of the week has been the receipt of cable advices from Brazil reporting damage to the growing crop by frosts. . . . Most of the cables mentioned above, it will be noted, report serious damage to the crop, and this information served to exert a bullish influence in speculative circles. There developed fair buying by shorts to cover contracts, and there has also been a moderate amount of buying for investment account. The advance from the low prices touched on Saturday was about 60 points. The improvement, however, was not fully maintained. Lewisohn Bros. took advantage of the upturn to prices and were steady sellers of December and the more distant deliveries, presumably as a hedge against their recent heavy purchases of September. The sales by Lewisohn Bros. the past week, it is figured, amount to about 200,000 to 250,000 bags.

Aside from the frost reports there have been no developments of an encouraging character. The available supply of coffee in sight is enormous, and with the full movement of the Brazil crop during August the indications are for a world's visible supply on September 1 of close to 12,000,000 bags.

GRECIAN CURRANT CROP.

A statement concerning currant shipments and the prospects for the new currant crop has just been received from C. Ceroni, Patras, dated August 4. The total shipments for the year ending July 31, 1902, amounted to 121,600 tons net, compared with 49,350 tons during the preceding year and 122,800 tons during the season of 1899-1900. These shipments were divided up as follows:

| | Tons. |
|---|---|
| Liverpool | 28,500 |
| London | 27,400 |
| Holland | 23,700 |
| New York | 17,700 |
| Germany | 10,300 |
| Australia | 5,000 |
| Outports | 4,000 |
| Canada | 1,400 |
| France | 900 |
| Belgium | 900 |
| Sundries | 1,800 |
| Total | 121,600 |

The stocks remaining in Greece are estimated at from 4,000 to 5,000 tons, all of which is of a more or less inferior quality. Two steamers were at the time of writing on the seas with cargoes of about 800 tons altogether.

As regards the condition of this year's crop the writer says: "Fruit cutting is now progressing everywhere, as the weather is favorable. The quality promises to be good or very good in some districts, provided that no rain comes to damage the fruit before it is housed. It seems that in some districts the crop will fall below the estimates recently made. We are not in a position to give an exact estimate, but would simply mention the figure of 160,000 tons."

NEW SMYRNA FIGS SHIPPED.

New York Journal of Commerce, of August 25, said: "According to private advices received here the first shipment of the new crop Smyrna figs destined for this market left Smyrna to-day. The shipment is made via Liverpool, and the fruit is expected here on or about September 15 next. The receivers here, it is stated, have made no opening prices on the shipment, but are taking open orders for the same subject to a price on arrival."

CANNED TOMATOES IN THE UNITED STATES.

Just at present the weather conditions throughout the United States are generally favorable, although the condition of some of the canners' crops is not all that could be desired, and there is danger of a considerable slump in the supplies of staple articles, which at present are keeping the packers busy. These various influences have caused fluctuations again in the value of tomatoes in tin; and the question now before all interested parties is what is likely to be the fall and winter price in the average of No. 3 standard.

The market conditions respond with extreme alacrity to the crop and packing conditions in all parts of the country. Thus the variation in values of tomatoes on the Atlantic coast has induced the Pacific coast packers, through their association in San Francisco, to suspend all quotations on tomatoes, which means that the sudden drop in values of canned tomatoes in the east has put a virtual stop to the views of tomato packers in California. We do not think that the Californian pack, no matter what its extent of tomatoes this year, can do any possible harm in the market; as we feel assured that the eastern moiety of the United States will not secure enough canned tomatoes to nearly supply their requirements.

We have maintained that the recent drop in the value of tomatoes was unnecessary and unnatural. The packers who sold at such prices were just throwing away opportunities, and we repeat once more that we believe $1 per doz. for standards to be the fall and winter value of goods, and by value we mean the quotation price.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md.

CALCUTTA TEA SALES.

At the Calcutta tea sale on July 12, 15,750 packages were sold. There was a full attendance of buyers, and a brisker tone than last week. Really good teas were keenly competed for, and good mediums were firm. Common, flavorless, thin sorts were out of favor and sold at 3 pies lower. There was a good demand for the colonies. One hundred and six chests—about 8,465 lb.—of Manabarie green teas were sold—the highest at 6 annas 1 pie; and the lowest at 4 annas 6 pies —Planting Opinion, Madras, July 19.

---

Among the exports from Canada to the United States last week was 27,000 lb. of "Salada" Ceylon tea.

BARGAIN DAY IN CANNED SALMON.

THE PROVINCE, Vancouver, of August 16, says: "Five hundred cases of talls for $905. It was bargain day at Steveston on Saturday, and Mr. J. E. Macrae got salmon cheaply. They were cheaper than 5c. fish, and a lot of trouble was saved, besides.

"This cut-rate business happened at the Star Cannery, one of the properties of The Canadian Canning Co. Provisional Tax Collector Fagan sold the fish to settle up an old score of the Government. The claim was one for $1,165 for personal property tax, on which a rate of three-quarters of 1 per cent. now goes.

"Payment was resisted by the company on several grounds. While objecting strenuously, however, a tender of $890 was made, but the claim covers several years of taxes, running back, in fact, to 1894. So the olive branch was refused, and Bailiff Foster and distress stepped on the scene. Two steamers, the Bermuda and Fraser, were attached for $125. This amount was paid, and the boats plied on in the fishing business. Then a big pile of this year's pack caught Mr. Fagan's eye, and that was promptly collared and sold as above stated.

"The Canadian Canning Co., however, are not satisfied with the deal, and to-day its solicitors, Russell & Russell, issued a writ in the Supreme Court claiming $5,000 from Collector Fagan and his bailiff, and the merits of the whole question, which has been a bone of contention for some time past, will now be sifted in open court.

"This morning, too, the Government is reported to have made a refund of a small part of the profits of the sale."

ANOTHER NEW BANK.

Another new bank is likely to be in existence before a great while. It is to be called the "Crown," and its prospectus is in circulation. It is understood that the promoters have met with a great deal of encouragement, a large sum of money having already been subscribed, and that by well-known capitalists. The head office of the "Crown" will be in Toronto.

This appears to be a time of development of the chartered bank system of Canada; but this is the natural concomitant of the industrial development of the country.

PROMISES AND PROMPTNESS.

"BE sure and send them before 6 o'clock to night, Mr. Grocer." "Oh! yes, Madam. They'll be sent up right away."

And then, about 5 minutes after 6, when the head of the house will shortly be home for his dinner, Madam has to walk down to the grocer's and remind him that the butter and some other things haven't come yet, and they must have them for dinner.

We leave the grocer to make his own excuses. But no matter how good they be, a promise has been broken, and a continuance of this sort of thing is apt to make customers feel a little shaky in their faith in the grocer. It might have been impossible to get the goods up before 6. That is not the grocer's fault. His fault, however, lies in promising to send them when he knew it couldn't be done. This is a bad habit, of which we have heard more than a few customers complain.

In many localities, where people deal with the nearest grocer, the merchant is apt to think that he has the trade well in his hand, and there is little danger of losing it unless another merchant starts in business near him. But he should not be so confident about the matter. People like promptness, and they like also to do business with a merchant upon whom they can rely. If there is a grocer a little further off, they commence to go, one by one, until he of the promise-breaking proclivities has ample time in which to be prompt with the remainder.

It is no doubt very annoying for a customer to drop in a few minutes before 6, when all the delivery carts are on the jump around town, and want things delivered right away. There are people who appear to always make a point of doing this. They are the same people, by the way, who drop into the store just as the clerks are closing up at night, and keep them there for half an hour longer. But to promise these people that they will have their goods in as short time as they ask for them, besides being a bad thing for the grocer when the promise cannot be kept, only tends to encourage them in giving these short notices. If they were told that it was impossible to make deliveries on time under such circumstances, it would not be very long before they began to look out for their own interests and come around to do their buying earlier in the day. Sometimes it is unavoidable with the customer; but the grocer always knows "who's who" among his trade, and can act accordingly. An extra spurt can often be made to oblige some particularly valuable customer. The other kind can be "educated" up to the proper standard.

GRAND TRUNK STOCK.

SUCH steady progress has been made by the Grand Trunk Railway within the last few years that there is some prospect that a dividend on the third preference stock will be declared shortly. As it is, a larger distribution than ever before was made on the second preference stock, while a comparatively small balance of some £2,600 was carried forward for future needs. The smallness of this sum shows how optimistic is the English board of the continued prosperity of the road. Were it otherwise, a smaller dividend would have been declared and a greater grant to the future would have been made. But in order to distribute even a dividend of 1 per cent. on the third preference stock, it would require £71,680. Financiers in Britain feel confident that a few years will show such increased earnings that this result will be possible. Meanwhile there is but little prospect of dividends for years to come on the £22,500,000 of ordinary stock.

The result of increasing the dividend on the second preference stock has been to cause a rise of prices on both first and second stocks. The first preference, which two years ago stood at 83, has risen slowly but surely to 108, and there are many who believe it will reach 115. At 108 it is yielding 4½ per cent. on its money. The second preference stock is now at 93¾, having advanced from 44½ in 1899 and a still lower figure in preceding years. As it returns 5½ per cent. to the purchaser, it would appear to be a fairly good though somewhat risky investment.

AN INSULTER OF BUSINESS MEN.

JUDGE MEAGHER, of Sydney, N.S., did not add to the dignity of himself or of the judiciary when he insulted the members of the Maritime Board of Trade who had assembled at the Court House steps by calling them blackguards.

If members of the judiciary want to be considered not as other men they must act differently from other men. When they become insulting to respectable and honored citizens they must expect to be treated as any other man would be who forgot that he was a gentleman among gentlemen.

The men who had assembled at the steps of the Court House were representative of the best class of business men in the Maritime Provinces, and were there not as trespassers, but as the guests of the municipal authorities. If anyone should have treated them with courtesy it should have been a judge, whom we have been taught to look upon as the embodiment of all that is courteous and dignified.

When our idols are shattered it is only natural that we should lose faith in them, and desire to reprimand them when they offend. Judge Meagher offended, and he is entitled to the severest censure.

A SHORT SALMON PACK.

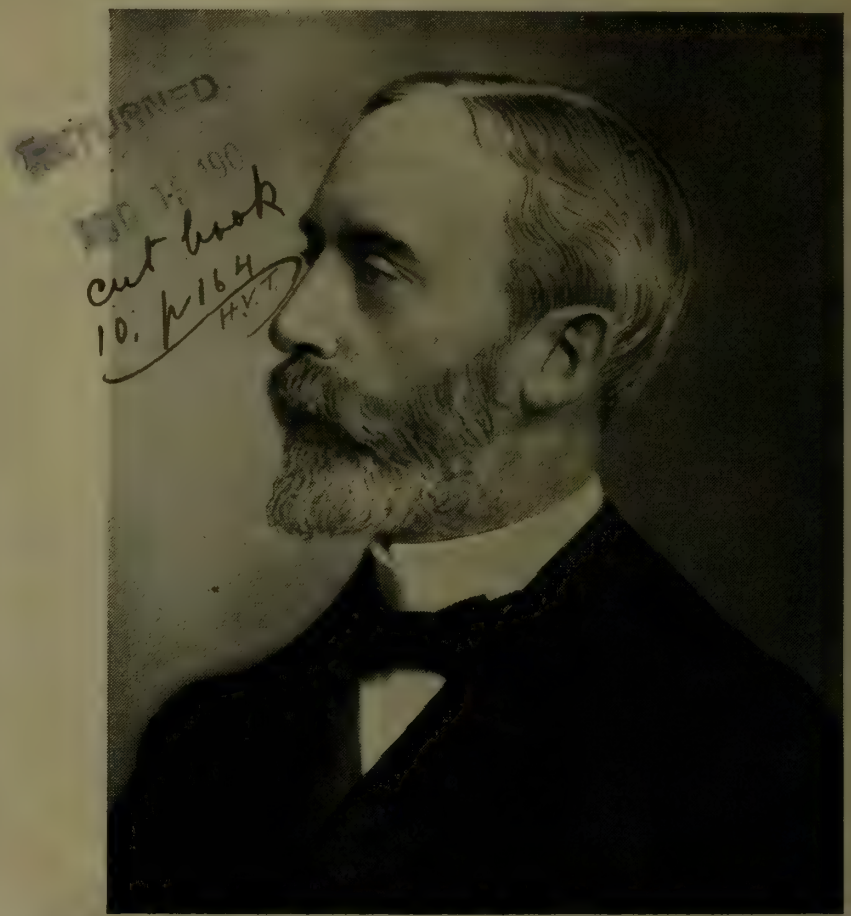
THERE does not appear to be any doubt as to the smallness of the pack of salmon on the Pacific Coast. With the single exception of the northern rivers of British Columbia, the pack is not only a great deal smaller than last year, but it is below the average of some years.

At the northern canneries the season is over, and while on the Fraser River a few fish are still being packed, most of the canneries have closed down for the year.

The pack of sockeye salmon on the Fraser River is officially stated to be 262,482 cases, the quantity put up by the different canneries being as follows :

| Cannery. | Cases. |
|---|---|
| Atlas | 4,412 |
| Albion | 7,056 |
| Alliance | 3,245 |
| Acme | 3,389 |
| Anglo-American | 5,204 |
| Brunswick | 5,135 |
| Brunswick | 8,858 |
| Canadian Pacific | 6,349 |
| Celti | 3,426 |
| Cleeve | 3,347 |
| Colonial | 3,831 |
| Currie & McW | 5,723 |
| Delta | 7,156 |
| Dinsmore | 4,819 |
| Ewen's | 11,307 |
| Greenwood | 3,782 |
| Hume | 4,315 |
| Imperial | 5,370 |
| Pacific Coast | 6,372 |
| Provincial | 3,048 |
| Terra Nova | 7,042 |
| Westminster | 4,390 |
| Britannia | 5,726 |
| British America | 3,730 |
| B. C. Packing Co | 2,000 |
| Canoe Pass | 2,823 |
| Phoenix | 5,965 |
| Wadhams | 5,228 |
| English Bay | 6,501 |
| Gulf of Georgia | 15,908 |
| Scottish-Canadian | 14,808 |
| Star | 11,084 |
| Fraser River | 5,768 |
| Vancouver | 6,145 |
| Beaver | 6,556 |
| Richmond | 5,600 |
| Federation | 2,903 |
| Great Northern | 5,371 |
| St. Mungo | 9,200 |
| Eagle Harbor | 3,500 |
| Industrial | 4,500 |
| Deas Island | 5,500 |
| B. C. Packing Co | 8,000 |
| Total | 262,482 |

With one exception, this is the smallest pack of sockeye salmon on the Fraser for 10 years, as will be seen by the following figures :



| | Cases. |
|---|---|
| 1893 | 457,797 |
| 1894 | 363,967 |
| 1895 | 400,368 |
| 1896 | 356,984 |
| 1897 | 860,459 |
| 1898 | 184,685 |
| 1899 | 331,361 |
| 1900 | 527,396 |
| 1901 | 990,252 |
| 1902 | 262,482 |

It is significant that the pack in the whole of British Columbia and at the Puget Sound canneries is less by some 200,000 cases than the pack on the Fraser alone last year. In fact, the pack on the Fraser in 1900 was larger than that in the whole Province this year.

In view of the short pack of sockeye salmon we may expect a firm market for canned salmon during the year, and this in spite of the fact that an effort will no doubt be made to put up all the cohoes and humpbacks procurable.

Meanwhile nothing is likely to be gained by delaying purchases, for it must be remembered that besides a short pack the situation is largely controlled by the combination.

While in Great Britain the past season has not been a satisfactory one, the market there is, at the moment, in a healthier condition, and as, in spite of a recent advance, spot parcels in London and Liverpool are showing the best value for some years, we may expect rather liberal buying there now that a short pack is assured for the present season.

Mr. Horace Haszard, Charlottetown, P.E.I., President of the Maritime Board of Trade.

A TEA MYSTERY.

A PECULIAR case has come to light regarding a car of tea consigned from exporters in the United States to a Toronto broker. The car was supposed to contain 366 half-chests of China and Japan teas, each weighing about 55 lb. The total amount involved is in the neighborhood of $5,000. Mr. C. W. Irwin the well-known Customs House broker had the passing of the entry. Shortly after the car arrived in Toronto the exporters telegraphed asking that its contents be destroyed.

It was stated that during a passage of over three months from Japan and China the water had got into the hold of the vessel and damaged the tea. But before burning the chests the Customs House officials examined their contents, and, to their surprise, found a lot of old rubbish, cans and rags, and not a single pound of tea. The whole affair is a mystery, and it looks as if a gigantic fraud was attempted to be perpetrated. It is understood that the authorities are taking action to sift the matter to the bottom.

THE MARITIME BOARD OF TRADE.

The Annual Convention at Sydney—Fast Atlantic Service, Steel Shipbuilding, South-African Trade, and other Live Topics discussed by the Business Men of the Maritime Provinces.

THE passenger service of the I.C.R. on the line to Sydney was taxed to its utmost capacity to accommodate the large number of delegates who attended the eighth annual convention of The Maritime Board of Trade. Upwards of 100 delegates were in attendance and came from all parts of the Provinces. The members of the local board who kindly extended the invitation to hold this year's Convention in Sydney had no conception that the magic word "Sydney" would draw such a crowd. Every effort was made to properly accommodate the visiting delegates, but unfortunately the capacity of the hotels was entirely inadequate and several of the fine new business buildings were converted for the moment into hotels, and thus all the delegates were properly housed. An amusing incident on the arrival of the delegates was the race for rooms. The fastest teams were engaged and a furious drive up the hill commenced, and a desperate scramble to get names on the hotel registers, only to find that others had secured places in advance by use of the telegraph.

The first session of the Maritime Board of Trade opened in the County Council Chamber of the Court House at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, August 20. The total number of delegates who were reported from the various districts amounted to the goodly number of 81, which is much the largest number of any meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade since the organization meeting held eight years ago. The following is a list of the delegates :

Sydney—
Dr. McGillivray.
E. A. Mackee.
E. C. Hanrahan.

North Sydney—
W. A. Smith.
G. H. Dobson.

The chair was taken by the president, W. A. Black, of Halifax, and the vice-chairs by the vice-presidents, W. S. Fisher, St. John; and H. Haszard, Prince Edward Island. The president, in calling the meeting to order, said it was a matter for congratulation that so large a number had attended and accounted for it to a large extent by the fact that the city of Sydney had a great interest for all who were interested in the progress of Canada.

After the calling of the roll of delegates, the president introduced the mayor of Sydney, W. Crowe, who, in a few pleasant words, extended to the Convention the hearty welcome which the local members of the Board of Trade and the council and citizens of Sydney extended to the Maritime Board of Trade.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS

The appointment of a Committee on Resolutions of one member from each board was adopted, and the following members were elected and asked to report :

Halifax, Geo. W. Campbell; St. John, Wm. Jarvis; Truro, C. E. Bentley; Yarmouth, A. Cann; New Glasgow, W. A. MacIntosh; Kentville, A. E. Calkin; Windsor, J. W. Blanchard; Charlottetown, J. A. Messery; Moncton, J. Peters; Sackville, Senator Wood; Sydney, E. C. Hanrahan; Glace Bay, Chas. McKay, Louisburg; Dr. Morris, Kings County, P. Innis; Amherst, John Laws; North Sydney, P. A. Smith; Pictou, Robt. Fraser; Wolfville, Dr. De Wit; Middleton, Geo. Armstrong.

SECRETARY-TREASURER'S REPORT.

To the President and Members of the Maritime Board of Trade.

Gentlemen,—Your secretary-treasurer begs herewith to hand you his report for the current year. After the close of the annual meeting held at Chatham on the 21st and 22nd of August last, and on receipt from the late secretary of one book and papers; also the balance of cash on hand, $69.75, I commenced preparing all the various resolutions, etc., passed at the annual meeting and forwarded them to the Dominion and Local Governments and to the members of the same where needed, as also to all the various boards of trade in the Upper and Maritime Provinces, and in many cases with good results. The correspondence connected with the same is too voluminous to read as also is the correspondence with the boards for the year. The correspondence with each board is separate and are now both on the table for the inspection of members.

Later in the year I commenced a systematic course of notices to the boards, both affiliated and unaffiliated, and have to report most satisfactory results. I found many boards which it was supposed were affiliated and indebted to the institution had never affiliated, although delegates from those boards attended the annual meetings; also that a number of affiliated boards, indebted for four years, had ceased to exist. As a result of this special canvass I have the pleasure to report that ten boards have affiliated, viz.: Annapolis Royal, Moncton, Louisburg, Canning, Amherst, North Sydney, Yarmouth, Sackville, Pictou, Glace Bay. Six of which have paid their per capita tax. Four have answered they will pay at the annual meeting. I have collected all the back dues from five boards, thus, this year, commencing with a clean sheet.

I have also thoroughly ascertained the feelings of all unaffiliated boards and have reason to believe that during the ensuing year many of those boards will be on the membership.

The boards of trade in the Maritime Provinces are as follows:

Nova Scotia (24 Boards)—Amherst, Annapolis, Berwick, Bridgewater, Canning, Dartmouth, Digby, Halifax, Kentville, Kings Co., Lunenburg, Liverpool, Middleton, New Glasgow, Parrsboro', Pugwash, Pictou, Stellarton, Springhill, Truro, Windsor, Wolfville, Westville, Yarmouth.

Cape Breton (4 Boards)—Sydney, North Sydney, Louisburg, Glace Bay.

Prince Edward Island (3 Boards)—Charlottetown, Souris, Summerside.

New Brunswick (9 Boards)—Chatham, Fredericton, Moncton, Newcastle, St. John, Sussex, Sackville, St. Stephen, Woodstock.

Total Affiliated Boards 13 (Nova Scotia)—Amherst, Annapolis, Canning, Digby, Halifax, Kentville, Kings Co., New Glasgow, Pictou, Truro, Windsor, Wolfville, Yarmouth. Doubtful 5—Berwick, Middleton, Stellarton, Westville, Parrsboro'.

Cape Breton 4—Sydney, North Sydney, Glace Bay, Louisburg.

Prince Edward Island—Charlottetown.

New Brunswick 5—Chatham, Moncton, St. John, Sackville, St. Stephen. Doubtful 2—Newcastle, Sussex.

The year now closing has been a banner one with this board with regard to its financial situation, and the receipts will nearly double those of any previous year. The various boards have taken a more live interest than ever before in the endeavor to place the Maritime Board in a first class position amongst the deliberative commercial institutions of the Dominion.

CORRESPONDENCE.

I would beg leave to impress upon secretaries of boards the great necessity of answering correspondence promptly. When it remains unanswered the business is sure to lag. Correspondence quickly answered is the life and vitality of trade and all institutions.

PERMANENT SECRETARY

This is a most important office and the yearly change of secretaries has been in a great measure the cause of the board's loss of vitality.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MEETING.

A meeting of the Executive was held at Truro on June 11. The business transacted there is contained in the minutes which will shortly be read.

In conclusion, I beg to say that during the year I have had the interests of the board fully at heart and have industrously worked for the benefit of the institution, at the same time doing all in my power to assist your worthy president, in which I had the very able assistance of our late lamented fellow-member, James A. Chipman, M. C. De Wolfe, of Kentville, and W. S. Fisher, of St. John, one of our vice-presidents, who did excellent work corresponding with many of the boards.

ACCOUNTS FOR THE YEAR

The accounts for the year are all prepared, but as several boards will pay their capita before the close of this day's meeting, they will be presented to-morrow for your approval and audit.

CHARLES M. CREED,
Secretary-Treasurer.

W. H. Roach, seconded by G. De Wolfe moved a vote of thanks to the secretary-treasurer. Mr. De Wolfe in his remarks said the meeting was the best meeting he had ever attended but one and that was the meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at Halifax. He spoke in warm terms of appreciation of the energy and work done by the secretary, and although an old man he was better than men much younger.

The president also spake feelingly of the valuable services rendered by the secretary.

In reply, Mr. Creed, the secretary, said he was not a public speaker but a worker, and as reference had been made to his age, he felt as young as he used to be, and he was proud to say he had doubled the finances of the board this year.

Chas. M. Creed, Halifax, the Permanent Secretary.

The vote was given with loud applause.

There were no communications to the board except letters of regret from the Montreal and Toronto boards of trade; also the Manufacturers' Association, that they could not attend.

While waiting for the report of the committee, the president took the opportunity to thank the mayor and council of Sydney for their hearty welcome and for the magnificent programme provided by them for their pleasure and entertainment during their stay in Sydney.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

To the President and Members of the Maritime Board of Trade:

Gentlemen,—It affords me unfeigned pleasure to greet you at the eighth annual Convention of the Maritime Board of Trade in such a rapidly growing centre of industrial activity as Sydney. On the western portion of this continent we have become more or less accustomed to the rapid rise and continuous progress of localities previously comparatively unknown to the world at large, but the development of the flourishing city in which we are now assembled in the brief space of three years is without a parallel in either hemisphere. The important interests with which the two Sydneys are now identified have made their names familiar as household words in all the great centres of trade, and the Maritime Board of Trade may certainly regard it as a subject of congratulation that its deliberations are being held at a vantage point destined, in the very near future, to enhance the status and prestige of the Maritime Provinces of the Dominion in a marked degree.

The last annual meeting held at Chatham, under the presidency of W. S. Loggie, was well attended and full of interest even to its closing hours.

CORONATION OF EDWARD VII.

The great event of the past year has undoubtedly been the Coronation of our Monarch in the chair of St. Edward, which notable Imperial ceremony has at length taken place, shorn of some of its splendor in consequence of the King's illness, but significant still in its grandeur of the power and might of the great Empire of which we form a part. The termination of the war in South Africa added lustre to the occasion, and the eyes of all are now turned in the direction of restoring harmony in that desolated portion of King Edward's Dominions and substituting the blessings of peace for the horrors of war.

TRANSPORTATION.

A period of seven years has elapsed since the formation of the Maritime Board of Trade at Halifax. It may be of interest to take a brief retrospect of the aims and objects, the solution of which led to a concentration of efforts on the part of local boards in the three Provinces. The leading question advanced in the address which I had the honor of presenting to your notice in August, 1895, was "Transportation," and it may, with truth, be admitted that it is still the most important subject with which we have to deal. The tariff, cold storage, local assessment and arbitrary fire insurance rates were also subjects brought forward at the inception of this board. One or two of these matters have been so far regulated as to render further agitation of them needless.

The transportation question, however, is always with us and it seems probable that in those Provinces by the sea it will, at all times, be the first on our programme. A certain amount of progress has been made in railway transit facilities during those seven years, but much remains to be accomplished. While it may be beside the mark to attribute eastern railway progress to any special efforts of this board, there can be little doubt that the mere fact of the existence of such an organization has acted as a beneficial stimulus for the promotion of legitimate railway enterprise. The Maritime Provinces, in common with the other Provinces of the Dominion, right away across to the shores of the Pacific, undergo the same experience as the result of contiguity to the United States border, and it is not uncommon in some localities to find a run to the land of our great neighbors more easy of accomplishment than a corresponding journey of the same relative length within our own limits. In the Island of Cape Breton, both internal and external rail and steamship communication have obtained a more satisfactory impetus within a recent period; the advantages resulting must prove of great ultimate benefit in modifying the disposition to seek fresh fields of endeavor and possibly diverting the stream back to our own channels in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

SUBSIDIZING PARALLEL RAILWAYS.

Public attention has been drawn in the Upper Provinces of late years to the absolute necessity of calling a halt in the policy of subsidizing parallel lines of railway, but a few miles apart, in districts already amply provided for. Nothing of this kind has ever taken place in the Maritime Provinces, where, as a rule, a contrary policy has unfortunately prevailed, resulting in hampering and restricting the proper development of their resources on modern lines. A change is being gradually brought about in this vital matter, and the Ottawa authorities are beginning to recognize that the prosperity of the whole Dominion is largely interwoven with the contingency of doing justice to the east as well as to the west. Before passing from railways and in looking forward to a fast service on the Atlantic it would be, I think, desirable that this board urge on the Minister of Railways and the Government that serious consideration be given to the shortening of the Intercolonial road, reducing the grades and double-tracking where necessary.

MARITIME UNION.

The South Shore Railway of Nova Scotia has taken tangible form since our last annual meeting and the work of construction is on the eve of being vigorously started. That five of the earliest settled and most flourishing counties in the Maritime Provinces, so favorably situated (geographically) for extensive business operations, should have been obstructed for so many years from securing adequate railway facilities emphasizes the need of Maritime Union from a political point of view in the clearest manner.

IMPROVED SERVICES.

The Midland Railway, serving Hants and Colchester in Nova Scotia, has been opened since our last meeting, and it is understood that the negotiations in progress for the Musquodoboit Valley Railway eastward to Guysboro' and the Strait of Canso are nearing a satisfactory conclusion.

In the Province of New Brunswick the leading feature is the proposed transfer of the Canada Eastern Railway to the Canadian Pacific Railway and its incorporation with that company's system.

The railway conditions in Prince Edward Island show no special feature of new interest, communication by both land and sea being reasonably adequate.

Local transit by steam vessels on the Atlantic coast of the Dominion (almost wholly within the limits of the Maritime Provinces) is admitted to be on a fairly satisfactory basis, although much criticism has been directed at the substitution of the ss. Lunenburg for the ss. Prince Edward on the route between Halifax and Yarmouth.

UNSATISFACTORY ATLANTIC SERVICE.

As regards communication between the Maritime Provinces and the Motherland the unsatisfactory conditions which have obtained ever since Confederation was brought about, remain in full force. The Atlantic mail service, which, if properly conducted at the nearest points to Europe in the Maritime Provinces, might be made one of the most efficient in the four corners of the globe has gone from bad to worse, and it has come to knowledge that the credit of one of the Maritime Provinces recently ran the risk of being seriously jeopardized in consequence of the remittances for the interest on its bonds in London having been entrusted to one of the subsidizid apologies for mail steamers that carry His Majesty's mails across the Atlantic at the same rate of speed in vogue 62 years ago, at the inception of trans-Atlantic navigation. It has long been known in the Maritime Provinces that this backward state of affairs in the important matter of mail communication with England is largely the result of the divided phase of ocean navigation during the summer months by the St. Lawrence route. It has been borne patiently by the good people of Canada down by the sea, although not without unceasing protest, for a period of well nigh 30 years, the fact being well understood that improved mail and passenger communication with the Old Country formed essential conditions of the terms of union. The deterioration of the Atlantic mail service and the spasmotic experiences of permitting cattle steamers to "drift" across the Atlantic with the mails, affords an exhibition of public indifference and resignation in sharp contrast with the complacent language in which Canadians generally indulge when conning over the lavish expenditure of Dominion funds to further other great public requirements. At the seat of Government, in the very kernel of the Dominion, it is necessary for the postmaster to warn merchants and citizens in the official Post Office Time Table that if they wish their correspondence transmitted by the National Canadian Subsidized Atlantic Mail Service, such correspondence must be "specially" addressed "Via Canadian Route," otherwise it will be transmitted by the United States. No one phase of the transportation question is of greater significance to these sea-girt Provinces than the Fast Atlantic Service, and, as usual, it will be one of the principal subjects for your consideration, and there should be no uncertain sound as to the class and speed of the service, nothing inferior to the best and fastest crossing the Atlantic should receive Government recognition; in fact, to use a familiar forcible expression, Canada should go one better! Adopt a Maritime port all the year round, then the one-fifth of the population of this fair Canada would have the speedy service to which they are entitled and the four-fifths would not suffer by the delay of one single hour but would rather be the gainers.

In connection with the transportation interests and in direct touch therewith, the item of is fraught with unlimited possibilities for the Maritime Provinces, and it will doubtless appear on the list of subjects for your deliberations. The results achieved on the Clyde, the Tyne and the Mersey by means of this far-reaching industry are familiar to you all. It should be remembered, however, that the industry has been long established in those quarters and it will be well to derive our lessons from more recent developments. A considerable revival of the art of shipbuilding on the modern lines, consequent on the substitution of steam for sail, has taken place in the neighboring Republic, but Germany affords the most striking object lesson for our Maritime Province people in this regard. The following extract from the April number of The German Export Review, published simultaneously in Stuggart and London, is well worthy of thoughtful consideration:

As late as 1890 more than one-half of all the ships required by German shippers were still being built in England. Hamburg and Bremen had extended their connections to all parts of the globe, and also other German seaports prospered, but our dockyards could not keep pace with the requirements (a state of things fully discussed at the time in the book of Director Haack and Admiralty Counsellor Busley). In 1895, however, the latter was in a position to report on most substantial successes by our shipbuilders, but England still remained in the first rank with our fast steamers Lucania and Campania. The last bar was duly scaled and in 1898 the German shipbuilding industry won the laurel with the famous steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, built by The Vulcan Company at Stettine, for the North-German Lloyds. On her first voyage she displayed in prominent letters on either side the significant words "Made in Germany," and thus distinguished she entered New York harbor. Tecklenborg's dockyard had previously carried off the palm in the sailing line with the five-masted sailing ship Potosi. M. Schichau since the nineties, with his torpedo boats, has also conquered the first place in the markets of the world.

The Maritime Provinces, and even Canada as a whole, it may be admitted, can hardly venture to enter the lists seriously with Germany, but the deductions are obvious. The Deutcheland has since converted the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse into a back number, and more recently still the German Emperor honored with his presence the launching of a record-breaker designed to eclipse the Deutcheland.

The subsidiary industries connected with steel shipbuilding are so numerous and varied that a well-known authority has designated the shipbuilding industry as one of the grandest within the compass of modern effort.

CONFERENCE OF COLONIAL PREMIERS.

The Conference of Colonial Premiers which has just been brought to a close in London has had under consideration a number of highly important subjects, some of which have special interest for the Maritime Board of Trade. I have already referred to the Fast Atlantic Service and the question of a direct line from the Maritime Provinces to Capetown and Australia may also come up for your deliberation. These questions were prominent at the Toronto Conference of Canadian Boards of Trade which was attended by numerous delegates from Maritime Province Boards, whose voices and influence are frequently with us at meetings of this board. It seems impossible to doubt that these assemblages of active and energetic business men on both sides of the Atlantic are certain to produce results of permanent benefit to the commerce of the group of nations forming the British Empire.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES.

Much feeling has been aroused throughout the Provinces because of the decisions of the boards of underwriters to largely increase rates. Protests have been set up and strenuous efforts have been made to counteract this determination of underwriters without any good results.

In our business relations it is always desirable that the best of feeling exist, but I fear that in many cases, at least, this feature, once so universal, does not now prevail.

If it be true that the fire insurance business of the Maritime Provinces has been profitable to those engaged in it, then the money exacted for advanced premiums must be absorbed by losses in the western sections. We should continue our protests and agitate until more moderate rates are granted.

One new Provincial company, The Nova Scotia Fire Insurance Company, launched since our last meeting, deserves hearty support.

MARINE INSURANCE.

Marine insurance is a subject which has agitated the minds of the business people of the Maritime Provinces for years past, and I regret to say that apparently no progress has been made towards removing what was admitted even by individual underwriters on the floor of Lloyds to be not only unfair and unjust, but grossly so. There is no justification for the excessive rates of premium applicable to Maritime Province business rates, 20 to 50 per cent. in excess of those charged on United States business and in some cases in excess of those applicable to the St. Lawrence.

I will not further occupy your time with this subject, but in leaving it express the hope that this board will again protest in unmistakable language against this indefensible discrimination by underwriters.

WEST-INDIAN TRADE.

There has been during the past few years a growing interest in this branch of the trade of Canada. Farm products and manufactured goods once foreign to those Southern markets are growing in favor and things Canadian are sought after. The prejudice which has existed for years against Canadian flour is now almost wholly overcome. Facts are stubborn things and the West-Indian consumer has realized this one, namely, that a barrel of Canadian flour is superior to a barrel of American flour, costing the same money, consequently a better loaf is obtained. On a recent trip through the Islands a representative of one of Canada's milling companies sold about 25,000 barrels of flour, something that could not have been accomplished in five seasons previous to 1895.

It seems fitting that mention should be made of the energetic efforts of so influential a body as the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to bring the West-Indian markets prominently and forcibly before the beehives of Canada in sending its president and secretary to the various West-Indian Islands. This delegation was most painstaking, making inquiry into every detail of the trade, and I would commend the report which it submitted to its Association to your careful perusal. The result has been an awakening of widespread interest in these markets throughout the Dominion and the representatives of manufacturing firms are to be found on almost every West-Indian liner.

At its meeting in Halifax last week resolutions bearing still further upon West-Indian trade were unanimously passed, which should receive hearty endorsation by this board.

CANADIAN COAL IN THE WEST INDIES.

Some thousands of tons of coal have been sent from these waters to the West-Indian coaling stations, and for the first time in the history of Canada Canadian steamers are this year buying Canadian coal in the West Indies. The by-products of the coal treated not far from us as we sit here have also been sold there for the first time this year. I must not, however, specify any particular articles of manufacture that may find purchasers in the South, but will risk the broad statement that all and everything which is manufactured in Canada, as well as the products of our lands, can find buyers.

It is a matter for congratulation that prosperity in a marked degree prevails throughout the Maritime Provinces; in fact, over our whole Dominion.

TOURIST TRAVEL.

is supremely important to the Maritime Provinces and each and every board throughout the land should use its utmost endeavors to encourage the same.

It would be presumptuous for this board to take credit for more than lending assistance towards directing the destiny of our common country, still, whilst small, comparatively speaking, we represent varied and important interests throughout the Maritime Provinces and our influence has been felt in support of reforms and working out much of our country's benefit.

STEAMSHIP SERVICE TO SOUTH AFRICA.

I will simply mention as two important subjects upon which the board has passed judgment, the South-African Steamship Service and the Fast Line (so-called). The former would appear from reports which have reached us since penning reference to this line in the earlier part of this address to be an accomplished fact. The latter project has received an impetus which we now believe it will not lose until all difficulties have been overcome.

THE LATE J A. CHIPMAN.

By the death of the late Mr. Chipman the Maritime Board of Trade is called upon to mourn the absence of one who had taken a whole-souled interest in all our proceedings ever since its foundation. He has attended, we believe, nearly every one of our annual gatherings, and his presence and invaluable counsel will be greatly missed on the present occasion. On questions of freight rates, especially in connection with flour and grain, our lamented fellow-member was an admitted authority, and a deep interest was also shown by him in transportation matters, of which he took a broad view at all times, although stoutly maintaining Maritime Province rights.

In conclusion, I congratulate you, gentlemen, upon the flourishing state of your board. Never have there been so many affiliated boards—27 in all—and in good standing, never so financially easy, never so large and enthusiastic a meeting. This prosperity is largely due to our aged (although retaining all the energy of youth), Secretary C. M. Creed, who has been untiring in his efforts on behalf of the board during the past year.

I feel that I have trespassed too long upon your time, and in closing beg to thank you for the confidence reposed in me in having elected me to the responsible position of president of the Maritime Board of Trade.

W. A. BLACK,
President.

Mr. Blanchard, Windsor, moved the adoption of the address, which was seconded by M. G. De Wolfe, and carried by a rising vote.

SUBJECTS FOR CONSIDERATION.

Peter Innis, of Kentville, reported the result of the Committee on Resolutions, and the following were adopted at the instance of M. G. De Wolfe:

1. Halifax.—"Forest Preservation."

2. St. John.—"The Development of Transportation Facilities."

3. Sydney.—"Subsidizing Steel Shipbuilding."

4. Truro and Halifax.—"Better Country Roads."

5. North Sydney, Halifax and New Glasgow.—"The Union of Canada and Newfoundland. Better Trade Relations with the British West Indies."

6. Glace Bay.—"Reopening of the harbor and the building of a public wharf.

7. Windsor.—"The Route of the South-Western Railway."

8. Yarmouth.—"The urgent necessity of better aids to navigation on the Atlantic Seaboard."

9. Wolfville.—"Better Steamboat and Mail Service on Minas Basin."

10. Kentville.—"In what manner can the efficiency of the Maritime Board be increased?"

11. Pictou.—"Government Ownership of the Fast Atlantic Line."

12. Kings Co.—"Is not the Fast Atlantic Service an absolute necessity in the development of the Maritime Provinces?"

13. Louisburg.—"Extension of the I. C. R. to Louisburg and Glace Bay."

14. Moncton.—"The encouragement of insurance on stocks of goods by small country traders."

15. St. John.—"South-African Trade."

16. Yarmouth and Digby.—"The desirability of daily steamship communication between St. John and Digby throughout the year."

17. "Discrimination of Marine Insurance Companies against Canadian Ports."

18. "Portage."

A discussion then took place as to the advisability of having the resolutions printed after they were selected by a Committee of the Council. Several members were spoken to on the subject, but the matter was finally allowed to stand for further consideration.

FOREST PRESERVATION.

The first subject, "Forest Preservation," was then taken up and introduced by Geo. E. Faulkner, Halifax. He said when we consider the vast importance of the lumber trade and the pulpwood industry of this country, it was well for us to reflect on the value of the forests we possess. The Governments of Europe are paying close attention to this subject; so also are those of the United States and Ontario. He suggested that it was time the Legislatures of the Maritime Provinces should take up this subject, especially as Canada was so rich in its forests. He stated that while Britain had only 14 different woods and Europe, 35, the Dominion of Canada possessed no less that 121 kinds. The following resolution was introduced:

Whereas, the subject of forestry has in recent years engaged the attention of the Governments of many countries of the world, and some of the Provincial Governments of Canada have taken action looking to the preservation and care of their timber reserves,

Therefore, resolved, that in the opinion of the board the time has arrived when laws should be made for the protection of the timber limits of the Maritime Provinces, in the direction of securing as far as possible immunity from the ravages of fires, for a more careful and scientific practice as regards the cutting of lumber and also as far as may be practicable the encouragement of the replanting of forests.

J. E. De Wolfe, Halifax, seconded the resolution and said it was desirable that something should be done at once towards the preservation of our forests in the Maritime Provinces. He referred to the interest the United States were taking in this subject by sending 30 students to Germany to study the question. He thought the cut should be restricted and better fire protection given the forests. S. B. Benjamin, Wolfville and Geo. S. Campbell, Halifax, also spoke to the resolution, and it was carried unanimously.

DEVELOPMENT OF TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES.

W. S. Fisher, St. John, introduced the next subject, "The Development of our Transportation Facilities." He said there is no more important question before the people of Canada than transportation. It applied to the railway and to the steamship. With the rapid growth of the Northwest our facilities for transporting were entirely inadequate at the present time. What would it be when the country was fully developed and the crops were four times the size of the present production? He called attention to the fact that the vast expansion of shipping over United States railways and American ports was marked. While in 1897 we imported through United States ports to the value of $16,000,000, in 1901 it had increased to $21,000,000. Notwithstanding this increase of imports through United States ports, the exports of Canadian products through United States ports and over United States railways showed a still greater increase, amounting in 1897 to $16,000,000 and in 1901 to $36,000,000. It behooved Canada to take some steps to bring about a change in this condition of affairs. His resolution read:

Whereas the rapidly developing resources of Canada have rendered the transportation question one of the most important to the future prosperity of this country, and

Whereas, it is most desirable in the national interest that every effort should be made to have the import and export trade of Canada carried on over Canadian routes and through Canadian seaports, and

Whereas, to carry this out most effectively, it is necessary that our national waterways and ports be so thoroughly protected and equipped that the traffic may be carried on with the greatest possible safety and rapidity and at the least possible cost. Therefore,

Resolved, that this board expresses its approval of the action the Government have already taken to bring about this result, and the further hope that no effort will be spared to assist in placing our ports and lines of communication in a position to secure the bulk of Canadian commerce in summer and winter.

Further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of the Dominion Government and to each Canadian board of trade.

Senator Woods, Sackville, seconded the resolution in a thorough review of the development of transportation, both by water and land. Senator McSweeney, Moncton, also spoke on the subject and suggested that if the Canadian railways would reduce their rates to compete with the United States railways, the question of using all-Canadian routes would be settled.

Harvey Graham, New Glasgow, asked that the resolution should be more specific as it would then call attention and create discussion. He advocated the approval of greater expenditure of money by the Government to improve transportation.

J. P. Longard said he approved of the extension of the Intercolonial to the Great Lakes and would ask the Government to do so.

Other speakers who took part in the discussion were Mr. Spinny, Mr. Haszard, P.E.I.; Mr. Paton, P.E.I. It was then referred to the committee to amend.

The delegates, on adjournment for lunch, were photographed on the steps of the Court House.

BETTER COUNTRY ROADS.

C. E. Bentley, Truro, introduced the next question for consideration in the following resolution:

Whereas, the country roads of the Maritime Provinces are to a large extent in a very deplorable condition, notwithstanding the large amounts granted by the respective Governments as well as the statue labor performed on them, and

Whereas, this Maritime Board of Trade is satisfied that the present system of disbursing the large amounts voted for road purposes does not produce the best results; and,

Whereas, the aforesaid bad condition of these roads is a serious menace to the growth and prosperity of the country.

Therefore, resolved, that this Maritime Board of Trade would strongly recommend that each Province appoint a competent instructor in road-making, to instruct country or district supervisors, and to generally oversee the construction and maintenance of public roads.

Mr. Bentley, in introducing the resolution, said he considered this a better subject than subsidizing steel shipbuilding; the subject was not good roads, but better country roads. For cities and towns bad roads should be relegated to the age of primitive field culture. And how many farmers want to go back to those times? He found that next to education the largest item is the amount voted to spend on roads. In Nova Scotia, for the year 1901 the sum of $117,644.97 was voted to be spent on the roads. Add this to statue labor and the amount is enormous. It is safe to say that not less than $400,000 was spent, including statue labor, by the Province of Nova Scotia last year. The roads are the arteries of our agricultural commerce, and are left to the tender mercy of men, who, in most cases, have no practical knowledge of road making. The Province should appoint a practical road-maker, the same as has been done in the Province of Ontario. He also said that the county councils had spent large sums of money in purchasing road-making machines, but far better work would be done if a practical road-maker was at the head of affairs.

F. O. Allison, of St. John, seconded the resolution, and said it was only too true that better roads were needed. The resolution passed by an unanimous vote.

UNION OF CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

The union of Canada and Newfoundland and better trade relations with the British West Indies was the next subject discussed by the meeting, and was ably presented by D. H. Smith, of North Sydney, who read the following resolution :

That, whereas closer trade relations with all the British colonies within the Empire is desirable, and

Whereas, the union of Newfoundland with the Dominion of Canada has long been a subject of interest in both countries, and,

Whereas, the trade between Canada, Newfoundland and the West Indies is capable of great expansion, and should be on a basis of the greatest benefit to all. It is,

Therefore resolved, that in the opinion of this board it is desirable that the Government of Canada should endeavor to establish closer relations with Newfoundland and the British West Indies, whether by Federal or commercial union.

Mr. Smith said it was a subject of vital importance to the whole of Canada. In the past year there had been carried between North Sydney and Newfoundland 20,000 people and about 15,000 tons of freight. All the products of the Maritime Provinces found a market in Newfoundland, although they met with a heavy duty. This could be overcome by a union of the colonies. Newfoundland's debt of $18,000,000 was quite heavy, but as an offset to this debt she had very rich mineral deposits. Under federation it would give to Newfoundland a free breakfast table of which Canadians were so proud. Regarding our relations with the West Indies, he suggested that we required many of their products, and already our products found a good market there. The condition of the people there presented some obstacles, but the solution was closer trade relations with Canada.

J. Devere Stevens, Halifax, seconded the resolution in an able speech, giving his personal experience on this island.

A. C. Bell, New Glasgow, also spoke to this resolution. He said they held the gateway of Canada, and there was a pressing necessity to compel Newfoundland to attach herself to Canada. " We can none of us fail to recognize the fact that Newfoundland is a necessity to Canada. Give them good terms and they would come in." The resolution carried by a unanimous vote.

James McKay, Glace Bay, proposed the following resolution, but as it was not seconded it was laid on the table :

Resolved, that the Maritime Board of Trade views with favor the decision of the Government to spend $10,000 for the placing of Glace Bay harbor in such a condition that it will be of service to the mercantile community.

ROUTE OF A RAILWAY.

" The Route of the South Western Railway," was a subject that was introduced by Dr. Black, of Windsor, who showed by map and chart the route he thought it should take. This resolution created considerable opposition from the Halifax members. The resolution read :

Resolved, that it is desirable that the route of the South Western Railway, so-called, be such that it shall be of the greatest service to the largest amount of trade and commerce of Nova Scotia proper, Cape Breton and Prince Edward Island.

Dr. Bligh, of Truro, seconded the resolution in a strong speech.

Messrs. Stevens and J. E. De Wolfe, of Halifax ; Robert Caie, of Yarmouth, and Mr. Longard, Halifax, spoke strongly against the resolution and at the suggestion of M. G. De Wolfe it was withdrawn.

In order to save time, resolutions Nos. 8 and 17 were coupled and Augustus Cann, Yarmouth, handed the board the following resolution on " The urgent necessity of better aids to navigation on the Atlantic seaboard " :

That in view of the patriotic determination of our Government to have a Canadian freight and passenger steamship service equal to the best, this board respectfully urges upon the attention of the Government the necessity for better aids to navigation upon the Atlantic seaboard and the Bay of Fundy.

Mr. Cann stated that in view of the great losses of ships on the coasts it was needed that the boards of trade agitate for better aids to navigation. While the inland lake navigation was well protected, the sea coasts needed more powerful fog signals, better pilots, closer and more frequent examinations as to the ability and disability of the pilots.

Senator Wood seconded the resolution in an able speech on the subject, and the resolution was passed unanimously.

At this stage of the proceedings the president begged leave to say that he had just heard that J. E. De Wolfe, vice-president of the Halifax Board, had been arrested by the sheriff at the instance of Justice Meagher. This created great excitement and many members left the chamber. When order was restored M. G. De Wolfe presented the following subject for discussion : " In what manner can the efficiency of the Maritime Board be increased ? " :

Whereas, the efficiency of the Maritime Board is one that appeals to the loyalty of each affiliated board of trade and each member thereof, anh whereas much difficulty is experienced by the president and secretary of the Board in getting local boards to respond to correspondence, etc., in making their arrangements for the annual meetings.

Therefore resolved, that we in session assembled do pledge ourselves to do all we can to assist in every way the overcoming of all local obstacles that tend to detract from the object and aims of the board and to facilitate the progress of business in our annual meeting.

Mr. De Wolfe urged on the members of the various boards to take a more personal and active interest in their local boards, to attend the meetings of the boards and see that the membership be kept alive by creating interest in the many important subjects that are constantly being brought to the front. Mr. De Wolfe said he was the father of many local boards that he had created, but many of them had ceased to take a proper interest in the boards, which he much regretted.

The following resolution was then introduced by H. G. Harris, of Kentville, for E. C. Hanrahan, Sydney, and seconded by H. G. Harris.

Whereas, it is desirable in order to further increase the usefulness of the Maritime Board of Trade that the organization should make arrangements with a proper trade journal to publish an official report of its annual gathering and throughout the year to be a medium for the dissemination of information and official notices of the board to its members, and,

Whereas, that in the past journals of Upper Canada have more or less been regarded as the organs of the Maritime Board and that it is desirable that the official organ should be published in the Maritime Provinces.

Therefore, resolved, that a committee be appointed to look into the question of an official organ of the board and that said committee make proper arrangements for this purpose, reporting back to the board the action taken.

Mr. Harris named J. C. Studart, of Halifax, as one of the committee, but he refused to act. The resolution was carried and referred to the incoming Executive Committee.

INSURANCE ON STOCKS IN COUNTRY STORES.

The encouragement of insurance on stocks of goods by small country traders was introduced by Mr. McSweeney and seconded by J. Messery, and was carried without discussion. The resolution read :

Whereas, many merchants in the country districts, towns and cities are not in the habit of insuring their stocks of merchandise and business premises sufficiently, or not at all, and,

Whereas, it is highly important and most desirable that all merchants should keep their property well insured.

Therefore resolved, that the Maritime Board of Trade takes this opportunity of directing attention to this important matter and recommends merchants to seriously consider their position in relation to this question.

SOUTH AFRICAN TRADE.

South-African trade was next brought up by W. H. Fisher in the following resolution :

Resolved, that the Maritime Board of Trade heartily approves of the action of the Dominion Government in establishing steamship communication with South Africa, and desires to emphasize the importance of extended intercommunication between Canada and South Africa, the West Indies and other British colonies.

The resolution was seconded and carried without discussion.

POSTAGE RATES.

W. S. Fisher, of St. John, moved a resolution in regard to postal rates, and spoke very strongly on the subject and against the new postal arrangements. The matter was also discussed by J. E. De Wolfe, Mr. McKinley, J. E. Stewart, Mr. Robinson, Moncton, and Capt. Taylor Woods. It was finally decided to defer action. The resolution read :

Whereas, the new regulations of the Post Office Department put in force July 1, 1902, whereby the postage on circulars, catalogues, books, samples and many other [illegible] under the headings of 3rd and 4th class matter, have been doubled, and have placed a serious burden upon the mercantile classes (while the tendency of such increased rates is not to augment the revenue), and for which there seems to be no justification.

Therefore, resolved, that the board memoralize the Government requesting that the former rates be restored, and,

Further resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to every board of trade in Canada.

FRIDAY'S SESSION.

THE JUDGE MEAGHER AFFAIR.

The first business before the meeting was the report of the committee who were appointed the previous evening to investigate the Judge Meagher episode. The report read :

To the Maritime Board of Trade :

The committee appointed to inquire into the circumstances connected with the committment of J. E. De Wolfe, vice-president of the Halifax Board of Trade and a delegate from that board to the Maritime Board of Trade, to the custody of the sheriff of the county of Cape [illegible] by Mr. Justice N. H. Meagher of the [illegible] Court of Nova Scotia, have to submit [illegible] lowing report :

That the circumstances under which the committment of Mr. De Wolfe was made appears to have arisen from Mr. De Wolfe resenting certain language used by Judge Meagher regarding members of the Maritime Board of Trade.

That the interview between Mr. De Wolfe and Judge Meagher appears to have taken place on the steps of the county court house, rooms in which had been placed at the disposal of the board through the courtesy of the municipal authorities, or in the vicinity thereof.

That as far as the committee could ascertain Mr. De Wolfe, in the course of the interview, stated to Judge Meagher, that he, the judge, had used disgraceful language, and that Mr. De Wolfe was therefore committed to the custody of the sheriff as aforesaid.

That upon Mr. De Wolfe expressing his regret that he had used the word disgraceful the committment was canceled.

That the committee do not feel called upon to express any opinion as to Judge Meagher's conduct or language.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. JARVIS,
G. S. CAMPBELL,
HORACE HASZARD,
G. E. DE WIT.

Sydney, N.S., August 21, 1902.

The report was adopted, but several members spoke strongly in terms of disaproval of the Judge's action.

BETTER MAIL AND STEAMBOAT SERVICE.

The next subject was "Better Steamboat and Mail Service on Minas Basin." Dr. G. W. E. De Wit, who presented the resolution, spoke strongly in its favor, and the seconder, M. G. De Wolfe, ably supported him. The resolution, which read as follows, was carried unanimously:

Whereas, it is realized expedient to establish a steamship and daily mail service between the ports of Wolfville, Kingsport and Parrsboro' on the Basin of Minas.

Whereas, under existing conditions, two days are consumed while the mails are en route from Wolfville to Parrsboro' or from Parrsboro' to Wolfville, and,

Whereas, the whole of the Annapolis Valley and the western counties of the Province feel the necessity of a shorter and more direct mail service to Parrsboro' and all sections of the country east of Parrsboro', and,

Whereas, the proposed route across the Basin of Minas is 20 miles and the route now travelled by the mails from Wolfville to Parrsboro' is 200 miles, the latter route necessitating the detention of the mails over night at Halifax, and,

Whereas, the time occupied by steamship across the Basin would be one and a half hours and would bring mail matter and passengers directly in touch with the D. A. R. at Wolfville and thus avoid the delay over night at Halifax, and,

Whereas, the tourist travel has greatly increased within the past two years in the towns of Wolfville and Parrsboro', and,

Whereas, the said travel would greatly increase with a daily service and become a strong factor in the financial support of the steamship companies.

It is resolved that it is the opinion of the Maritime Board of Trade that a daily mail and passenger service between the ports of Wolfville, Kingsport and Parrsboro' would be of immense value and advantage to the western and eastern counties of the Province and to the public generally. It is Further resolved, that the Dominion Government be asked to grant a subsidy or a daily mail service on the Basin of Minas, between the ports of Wolfville, Kingsport and Parrsboro', and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Dominion Government by the secretary of the Maritime Board of Trade.

STEEL SHIPBUILDING.

One of the most important subjects before the board was then taken up. This had been deferred until to-day at the request of the Sydney and Halifax boards. The subject was "The Subsidizing of Steel Shipbuilding." E. A. Mackee, of Sydney, moved the resolution, which read:

Whereas, it is most desirable that Canadian products should, as far as possible, be carried in Canadian-built ships, and,

Whereas, the establishment and operation of large shipbuilding plants in Canada would prove to be of immense advantage to the whole country, and,

Whereas, other Maritime centres have either directly or indirectly given liberal financial assistance to their merchant marine, and prospective Canadian builders are therefore seriously handicapped in competing with the old-established yards of Europe and the United States.

Therefore, resolved, that the Federal Government of Canada be asked to grant a tonnage bounty large enough to enable Canadian builders to compete in this industry and have it extended over a term of years sufficiently long to secure the permanent establishment of this industry, which is vitally important to the business interests of the country.

Mr. Mackee said every member of this board is thoroughly convinced of the fact that steel shipbuilding is of the greatest importance; also every person knows that any nation that has attained fame and supremacy in the world owes it to the building of ships. He then referred to the ancients who succeeded each other by their superiority in the building and possessing of ships. England's enviable position as a maritime power was owing to an Act of Parliament, which gave bonuses to shipbuilders. It is a matter for us in Canada to consider whether we should or should not take up this great industry. "We are here as the fairyland and we should seize the opportunity to put ourselves to the front. It would be very remiss, indeed, if we do not do so."

Geo. E. Campbell, Halifax, seconded the resolution. He endorsed the building of steel ships as one of the national industries of these Provinces. "The Local Government have granted a bonus of $100,000, but we must have yards built on a large scale; we must import skilled labor, and the Federal Government should give a bounty of so much per ton for a number of years. A united effort in this direction will result in a bounty. Every board of trade is directly interested in this question, and should pass strong resolutions this fall before the meeting of the Federal Parliament, and, if successful, and no doubt it will be, it would be on an enormous scale."

M. E. G. De Wolfe, said Mr. Campbell's remarks were the key note to the situation and they would get what they wanted if they would work together.

The resolution passed unanimously.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE AND MARITIME PROVINCES.

"Is not a Fast Atlantic Service an absolute necessity in the development of the Maritime Provinces?" was a subject introduced by Capt C. O. Allen, Kentville. He said that England was anxious to promote a Fast Atlantic Service and we had everything to gain and nothing to lose. A consideration of the transportation question from our grain belts shows a vast field for improvement. In one shipping season alone, out of 6,000,000 barrels of flour and 200,000,000 bushels of cereals, the greater bulk of which came from the Northwest, 5,850,000 barrels of flour and 170,000,000 bushels of wheat were carried through United States channels, while only the comparatively small quantity of 150,000 barrels of flour and 30,000,000 bushels of wheat and corn passed through the channels of Canada. It is estimated that 21,000,000 tons of freight that should have gone through Canadian ports, passed through the waterways to Buffalo, thence through the Erie canal to New York and were finally placed on the markets of the world as the product of the United States, thus keeping our own country in obscurity and building fame for our border competitors.

It was pointed out only last month by James Osborne, general superintendent of the Atlantic Division of the C.P.R., that $46,000,000 worth of our own exports were handled by other ports because of our lack of proper facilities.

An at present minor product of Ontario, the cheese export, shows that a large quantity of this article, which the consumers supposed was purely of United States manufacture, coming as it did through New York, was really Canadian which had passed over Suspension Bridge into the ports of the adjoining Republic.

Capt. Allen strongly urged the meeting to see that every influence be brought upon the legislators of the Maritime Provinces to earnestly entreat the Federal Government to carry out this Fast Atlantic Service. "Heavy subsidizing by a Government to promote a new trade is open to controversy, as particular concerns would reap the benefits and handicap outside competing lines," he continued, "Canada's present situation is vastly different, for we have the trade but not the means, and consequently our transporting is being conducted and carried through another country. There is no doubt that if the Canadian Government will assist in operating a fast line for ten years, the country will be in such a state of prosperity that the subsidies can then be withdrawn, when the trade

"QUAKER" BRAND Canned Goods

ALL GOODS in the fruit and vegetable line packed under this label are grown among the Quaker Community of Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, Ontario, Canada.

This place is situated in the garden of the Bay of Quinte district—celebrated for growing the finest flavored fruits and vegetables in the world. Surrounded as it is, on one side by the waters of Lake Ontario, on another by West Lake, and on still another by the Bay of Quinte, the growing crops have at all hours the benefit of the cool breezes that continually sweep across one or other of these sheets of water. For this reason the crops in this locality—even in the dryest and hottest weather—have never been known to shrink or dry up, and always retain their pure, sweet, natural flavor. It is no exaggeration to say that there is not a spot on the Continent so splendidly adapted for the perfect growth of fruits and vegetables.

Recognizing that it was an ideal spot for a canning factory, two years ago the Bloomfield Packing Co. erected a plant and factory in this locality, at an expense of $40,000.00, solely for the purpose of canning fruit and vegetables. This is recognized as the most complete canning factory in Canada, and pronounced by visitors, conversant with the canning business in the United States, the equal of anything in that Country. One of the first things we did in starting was to register the word "QUAKER" as a trade mark, so that consumers could, under this label, find canned goods that would be known as the standard in quality from one end of the Dominion to the other. No expense has been spared in procuring the most experienced and practical men for the packing and management of the business, so as to insure perfection in the class of goods placed before the public.

The retail trade throughout the Dominion can procure will offer its own inducements to carry out the requirements, and Canada will forge ahead by leaps and bounds, similar to the prosperity the border Republic enjoyed during the period between the years 1870 and 1891, when its population increased 24,000,000 in 21 years, while this vast Dominion with as great possibilities was standing virtually still.

"If we review what other nations have been doing along this line, we will find that their commercial prosperity has been built up by Government assistance.

"The Canadian blue book shows $200,000 subsidy paid to trans-Atlantic steamship companies. At the Colonial Conference held at Ottawa some years ago, it was pointed out by the Postmaster-General that this amount was inadequate and far belaw what was actually required for the rapid handling of mails. At present the merchants of Liverpool stamp on their mail matter 'via New York' on the very day that the Canadian mail boat leaves Liverpool via Moville or Rimouski, preferring to have it go by the circuitous and indirect route to Southampton, where the United States mails leave during certain days of the week, thence to New York and finally over the long-rail route to Montreal, Sydney or Halifax. Experience has proven that owing to slow Canadian mail boats and subsequent delays around the Grand Banks and Gulf of St. Lawrence, the mails will actually reach their destination with much more certainty.

"It appears unnecessary for a Government to grant a large subsidy to a fast freight line. We have been striving for a long time to secure a fast mail service, and even in trying for this why should we weaken our hand by asking too heavy a subsidy, such as would be required to carry out both the mail and freight services? The three or four boats required to complete the mail service would carry all our perishable freight. The greater bulk of our freight, which is not perishable, could go by slower and less expensive boats.

"The speed of Atlantic mail boats is increasing every year, it being only a question of the trade paying the price. Let not Canada's interests be sacrificed, but let us have a line not only as fast as any now afloat, but as fast as any now building on the stocks in Europe. The North-German Lloyd boat, now under construction, is to be a full knot faster than any at present in commission.

"The Allan line, trading up the St. Lawrence, lost eight ships in as many years, besides many other accidents, entailing loss of life and property, owing to these steamers running through a region abounding in ice, where the percentage of fog reaches the maximum, threading up a long and dangerous Gulf into the narrow and shifting channels of the river. Against this let us compare the record of the Cunard boats, plying between Liverpool and New York, where they have run an unbroken record of 62 years without losing a life, and nearly as long without the loss of a letter.

"The St. Lawrence, from its geographical position, with its long pent up channel, has had in the past so many serious accidents, which have unfortunately given a bad name to the whole Canadian waters. Only during the brief period of three months that navigation has been open in the Gulf there have been calls on the underwriters amounting to three-quarters of a million dollars.

"The Hydrographic Office at Washington has just issued charts, dated July, 1902, taking data from the past three years, 1898 to 1901, which show that during the month of July a region at about 320 miles south of Cape Race, fog exists 17.6 days during that month, when only 60 miles further south there are only 1.8 days of fog. Around this latter spot the White Star, Cunard and North-German Lloyd ships pass, and so must the fast Canadian mail boats, no matter where the terminus may be. Through a region like the former the mail boats would have to go under a greatly reduced speed."

The resolution read:

Whereas, public opinion in Canada has pronounced emphatically in favor of a fast service between Canada and the United Kingdom, equal in speed and appointment to any crossing the Atlantic;

And whereas, we are of the opinion that full advantage should be taken of the ports of the Maritime Provinces, which are hundreds of miles nearer the commercial centres of Europe than the inland ports of Canada, and especially as ocean routes can be followed to these ports which are quite as safe and shorter than those taken by the fastest ships out of New York;

Therefore resolved, that the representatives of the Maritime Board of Trade here assembled urge the Government to take immediate and definite action on this question by granting the necessary subsidy to insure the inauguration of such a service with the least possible delay;

Further resolved, that ocean routes to be followed by steamers of the line should be such as would enable them to run as nearly as possible at full speed from port to port, with the least risk of danger or detention by fog or ice;

And further resolved, that in the opinion of this Convention the terminus in Canada should be the nearest available port to Europe, where ships of such large size can come and go with safety and despatch at all seasons of the year.

The resolution was seconded by M. G. De Wolfe, of Kentville, who said he had always strongly favored a fast Atlantic service, and believed we should go about this matter with great earnestness. He referred to the late Mr. Chipman as having done a great deal in bringing this matter to the attention of the Maritime Board.

G. H. Dobson, of North Sydney, depreciated the adoption of a 20-knot service, and considered that it would be a waste of public money. "We must have the very fastest steamers afloat," he said. He also insisted that the port of Sydney must be a port of call.

G. S. Campbell, Halifax, agreed with the previous speakers. He said a great change of sentiment had taken place in Canada in regard to the fast Atlantic service, and the West were now strongly in favor of it. Nova Scotia had always been in favor of a first-class service. The time had now come to consider the details and the terminus of a fast Atlantic service. The ports available were Montreal, Quebec, Sydney, Halifax, and St. John. The questions to be considered were the speed of the ships, safety of the route, and the most available port all the year. He considered that it would be to the best interests of all for the line to call at one port all the year round.

Jas. Paton, Charlottetown, P.E.I., considered the Quebec route the back door to Canada, and thought that Halifax should be the all-year port.

H. C. V. LeVatte, Louisburg, took exception to the previous speaker's remarks, and stated that if the nearest port was selected then Louisburg was the nearest port to Europe.

Dr. De Wit: The nearest and safest port?

Mr. LeVatte: That answers for Louisburg.

Wm. Jarvis, St. John, said it was unwise and unfortunate to specify any particular port, and suggested that the selection of the port should be left with the company or companies who intend operating such a line. The question of speed was of the greatest importance, and he did not think the present subsidy sufficiently large to maintain a speed which would make the service valuable.

W. H. Fisher, St. John, said he was heartily in favor of the resolution. In his opinion it would be well if Canada adopted a 20-knot service, and afterwards make it equal if not superior to the best crossing the Atlantic. "Let us take a step at a time in trying to compete with the great people to the south of us," he said.

J. E. De Wolfe, Halifax, said: "This is a question of a slow or fast line, and I doubt if a 20-knot-service could be called a fast line. This is the point to decide. Do we want a fast line? Let us ask for it."

Senator Wood, Sackville, favored the adoption of a service equal in speed and appointments to any crossing the Atlantic. We want the greatest route on earth. The resolution was carried unanimously.

EXTENSION OF THE I.C.R.

H. C. V. LeVatte, Louisburg, introduced the resolution for the extension of the I. C. R. to Louisburg and Glace Bay. It read :

Whereas, freight carried by the I. C. R. for points south of Sydney, connected by the Sydney and Louisburg Railway (except in carloads) is at present stored at Sydney, but reshipped on the Sydney and Louisburg cars, thus causing expense and delay, and,

Whereas, passengers travelling west by the first express train of the I.C.R. from Louisburg and all points south of Glace Bay, and by the fast express on all points south of Sydney, are compelled to remain in Sydney overnight, and,

Whereas, the mail service is very unsatisfactory on account of the said railway service,

Resolved, that this Maritime Board of Trade believes that it would be to the material interest of the people living between Sydney and Louisburg on the line of the Sydney and Louisburg Railway, comprising a large percentage of the population of Cape Breton county, and also the mercantile and travelling community at large that the I.C.R. express and freight trains should run to Louisburg over the Sydney and Louisburg Railway track, connecting as it would with the great mining districts.

Further, resolved, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Minister of Railways at Ottawa.

S. E. Landry seconded this resolution, and after a short discussion it was passed.

WANT BETTER FACILITIES.

E. H. Spinny, Yarmouth, introduced the next subject, namely, "The desirability of a daily steamship communication between St. John and Digby throughout the year." He pointed out that now for only about four months in the year they have a daily service, and it was necessary that they should have a daily service all the year round. He presented the following resolution :

Whereas, the increased requirements of commerce in the south-western section of Nova Scotia, coupled with that of the Annapolis Valley, demand greater transportation facilities ; therefore,

Resolved, that the Maritime Board of Trade urge the Government to encourage such increase of steamboat service between St. John and Digby by granting such subsidies as will accomplish that object.

The resolution was seconded by J W. Blanchard, of Windsor, who said it affected the entire western portion of Nova Scotia. The resolution was passed unanimously.

THANKS TO THE MACLEAN PAPERS.

W. H. Fisher, St. John, asked permission of the chair to say a few words and asked the meeting to pass a vote of thanks to The MacLean Publishing Company for having been good enough to send down each year, at a great expense to them, a representative to report the meetings of this board, and he therefore moved that a vote of thanks be passed.

M. G. De Wolfe, Kentville, seconded the motion. He said he had the interest of the Maritime Board of Trade at heart and he regretted that the resolution which was passed yesterday had not been reconsidered, but it was brought in during a time of great excitement while most of the members were absent, and, in fact, it was "railroaded through"—you know what that means ? He said that the board highly appreciated the service rendered by "The Canadian Grocer" and "Hardware and Metal" in so freely reporting the meetings.

J. C. Stewart, Halifax, said the resolution brought in the day before was a complete surprise to him, and he promptly declined to serve on such a committee. He considered that it was a reflection on The MacLean Company's papers which should not have been made. "I strongly favored the encouragement of all trade journals publishing the proceedings, and especially those which were so widely circulated as the papers published by The MacLean Publishing Co. The resolution was passed unanimously.

The secretary's report was then read. He reported having collected the sum of $261.75, and expended $31.

It was moved that the secretary be granted $100 for his services, and Mr. Paton moved the adoption of the report, which was seconded by Mr. Dobson and carried.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES.

J. E. De Wolfe, Halifax, introduced the following resolution :

Whereas, it is reliably stated that fire insurance in the Maritime Provinces has been very profitable during the past 20 years ;

And whereas, the rates have recently been increased in many places by the tariff companies without any justification for the same ;

Therefore resolved, that we ask our members to unite in giving business to and assist in the promotion of non-tariff companies that are willing to take risks on their merits independently of any combination, and that the secretary be authorized to send a copy of this resolution to every board of trade in the Maritime Provinces.

In speaking to the motion Mr. De Wolfe said the question of insurance rates had become one that needed the consideration of this board. He then read the following resolution passed by the Bridgewater Board of Trade :

At a special meeting of the Bridgewater Board of Trade, held on Tuesday evening, the 12th inst., the following resolutions were passed :

Whereas, the Nova Scotia Board of Fire Underwriters has imposed a rating taking effect on the first day of March inst., increasing the heretofore existing rates for fire insurance more than one-third in the business district of this town ;

And whereas, the aforesaid district, subject to the increased rates, was rebuilt after the fire of January 12, 1899, in accordance with the advice and ideas of a representative of said board, who stated that if such plans were adopted the fire insurance rates would be materially reduced ;

And whereas, by incurring the expenditure of $25,000 for expropriating the water front so that no buildings could be erected thereon, thereby providing an easy and effective means of procuring water for fire protection purposes in said district, and the laying out of a cross street in said district and two others widened for fire-breaks ;

And whereas, all wooden buildings in said district were restricted to two storeys in height and were also required to be built with flat roofs ;

And whereas, a water service with a reservoir a great elevation above La Have River is to be installed this year at an expenditure of $40,000, a prime consideration in incurring such expenditure being to give greater protection from fire to said district ;

And whereas, the rate now imposed is unjust, oppressive and unfair in consideration of the facts here recited ;

Therefore resolved, that the Bridgewater Board of Trade in meeting assembled, protests strenuously against the imposition of the increased fire rates and respectfully requests the Board of Fire Underwriters to carefully consider this resolution and the facts it contains, and in view thereof to revoke the increased rates imposed on March first inst. ;

Further resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent to the Nova Scotia Board of Fire Underwriters and also to the Maritime Board of Trade, the Halifax Board of Trade, and to C. E. L. Jarvis and F. W. Butcher, insurance adjusters, requesting their co-operation, and that the local agents be requested to bring to the notice of their respective companies the injustice and inequality of the increase and the danger of loss of business thereby.

Mr. Stevens said that the merchants had been paying unduly high rates in some instances to make up for losses elsewhere, and he considered there should be some remedy for it.

G. E. Faulkner spoke on behalf of the insurance companies, and said the question of insurance was entirely a business proposition. He said the companies must charge enough to warrant them doing a safe business. It was not true that the rates were fixed so that burned districts had to pay all the losses the companies sustained in them.

W. H. Roach, Windsor, said the premiums paid by Nova Scotia amounted to $600,000 and to non-tariff companies, about $35,000. He considered the non-tariff companies should be encouraged, and as far as paying losses were concerned, he knew they always paid promptly. He called attention to the fact that during this summer the tariff companies had raised their premiums 50 per cent.

Wm. Jarvis, St. John, said there was really a great misunderstanding in the matter. He, as an insurance man, had done everything possible to moderate the rates. He said that two of the largest companies who had done business in New Brunswick had gone out of business there on account of the unprofitable business they had done. It was the disposition of the companies to act fairly with all.

Thos. H. Summerville, St. John, opposed endorsing non-tariff companies, as the tariff companies might withdraw from the Provinces. "We want the best companies to carry our risks," he declared.

Mr. Campbell, Halifax, favored the encouragement of the non-tariff companies as much as possible in the Provinces, because there was a combine among the tariff companies to fix rates. He had no doubt fire insurance companies had made money. The resolution passed.

ATLANTIC MAIL SERVICE AND MARITIME PROVINCES.

Geo. Dobson, North Sydney, moved the following resolution :

Whereas, the usefulness of the Canadian subsidized English mail service between Montreal, Quebec and Great Britain is seriously restricted in the delivery of mails, particularly to the Maritime Provinces, by the use of Rimouski, an inland port, as the first port of call, delaying the mails to the Maritime Provinces from two to three days, and,

Whereas, improved transportation is of vital importance to the large and growing industries of these Provinces by the sea, therefore,

Resolved, that the Dominion Government be urged to give its immediate consideration to the selection and use by all Canadian subsidized mail lines plying between Montreal, Quebec and Great Britain of an Atlantic port of call that will afford these Maritime Provinces equal or better despatch for mails, etc., with the other Provinces of the Dominion.

The resolution was seconded by P. Innis and adopted.

COMPANY STORES.

W. H. Chisholm, of Glace Bay, brought up the question of company stores in the following resolution :

Whereas, it is a fact that the wages of many workmen employed by large industrial corporations in the Province of Nova Scotia are paid in merchandise through or by means of company stores, and,

Whereas, the system of paying labor in supplies, commonly known as the "truck system," instead of in the coin of the realm, is inimical to the progress of the community, checks economy, impairs the self-reliance of the workmen in business, and diminishes the purchasing power of the work of the laborer, and,

Whereas, the said system places barriers on trade, withdraws money from circulation, directly tends to the stagnation of enterprise within its immediate influence, and technically injures the commercial life of the country in general ; be it therefore,

Resolved, that the Maritime Board of Trade recommends the amendment of the present Cash Payment Act of Nova Scotia, so as to embrace the provisions of the English Act on the subject.

The resolution was seconded by D. D. Mackenzie, M.P.P., and passed unanimously.

VOTE OF THANKS TO SYDNEY BOARD.

On motion of G. S. Campbell and W. H. Fisher a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered the Sydney Board of Trade for its hospitality.

H. C. V. LeVatte responded for the county. He said : "We pride ourselves on treating our visitors well, and we regret the unfortunate occurrence of yesterday. We trust you will all come again."

Horace Haszard, Charlottetown, wished to return thanks to the citizens of Sydney and to the local board of trade on behalf of himself and Prince Edward Island delegates as well as the Convention for the reception they had received He was glad to witness the wonderful progress that Sydney had made. "I am also bound to refer to one unfortunate incident, as I feel I have been insulted and propose to move a resolution and I feel that we should put ourselves on record that we resent the insult given our members." He moved the following resolution :

That before leaving Sydney the members of the Maritime Board of Trade wish to express their sense of the courtesy shown to them during their visit with one unfortunate exception ; that they desire to disclaim any intentional discourtesy towards a member of the judiciary of the Province, who is personally unknown to very many of them ; that they were greatly surprised at the attempt made to push through those of their numbers who were grouped on the steps of the court house building—rooms in which had been placed at their disposal by the municipal authorities—and still more so at the language made use of on that occasion. And they desire to place on record their regret at an occurrence for which they feel that they have been in no wise to blame and their opinion that the language used towards members of the board was entirely unjustified.

P. R. Rentley, Sydney, seconded the resolution and regretted the occurrence. The Sydney Board were anxious that all should have a good time, and no doubt the unfortunate occurrence had put a damper on every one.

The resolution then passed unanimously.

NOTICE TO AMEND BY-LAWS.

G. E. Faulkner gave notice of the following resolution :

Resolved, that By-law No. 3 be repealed and the following substituted therefor :

Subjects for consideration at the annual meeting, and resolutions dealing with such subjects shall be forwarded to the secretary at least 30 days prior to date of annual meeting and the council of the board shall arrange the order in which the various subjects pcesented for consideration shall be taken up and shall have the list of subjects, with resolutions to be offered in connection therewith, printed and distributed to the affiliated boards at least ten days before the date of the annual meeting.

NEXT PLACE OF MEETING.

Invitations to meet next year were received from Moncton, Yarmouth, Charlottetown and St. John. Charlottetown was decided on as the next place of meeting.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE.

A nominating committee to select officers for the ensuing year, composed of the following, was chosen by the chairman : M. G. De Wolfe, Wm. Jarvis, A. M. McKinley, Jas. Paton, Robt. Caie, E. C. Hanrahan, Dr. De Wit and Peter Innes.

Peter Innis, chairman, reported the following as the selection of the committee, and they were elected :

OFFICERS ELECTED.

President.—Horace Haszard, Prince Edward Island.

Vice-President (for Nova Scotia)—J. E. De Wolfe, Halifax.

Vice-President (for New Brunswick)—D. H. Walsh, Moncton.

Secretary-Treasurer.—C. M. Creed, Halifax.

Corresponding - Secretary.—E. T. Higgs, Charlottetown.

Auditor.—F. O. Allison, St. John.

J. E. DE WOLFE'S ACTION ENDORSED

The following resolution was moved by Alexander Stephens, seconded by P. R. Rentley, and unanimously passed :

Whereas, J. E. De Wolfe, of Halifax, a delegate from the Board of Trade of that city, worthily upheld the dignity of the members of this board, in resenting gross insult offered them by Justice N. H. Meagher, and,

Whereas, Mr. De Wolfe in so doing was placed in a most unenviable position ;

Therefore resolved, that the board express its confidence in Mr. De Wolfe, and thank him for having pursued the course he did, thereby maintaining the reputation and dignity of the board.

Mr. De Wolfe, in reply to the resolution of thanks, thought the report of the committee a weak one, and certainly if no further action had been taken in the matter, he would have considered it his duty, in self-respect, to resign from the board. He was glad, however, that he still had their confidence when they selected him vice-president for Nova Scotia.

VOTE OF THANKS TO MR. BLACK.

M. G. De Wolfe moved a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring president, W. A. Black, and complimented him on the interest which had grown so large under his presidency. He referred to the meeting as being the largest held during the existence of the board.

J. E. De Wolfe, of Halifax, seconded the motion, which was carried amid loud applause.

W. A. Black, the retiring president, responded and thanked the members for the assistance they had given him and was pleased to see the interest taken in the meeting. He also spoke feelingly of the able work done by the secretary-treasurer, C. M. Creed, who had done hard work in the interests of the boards of trade.

After singing "God Save the King," the meeting adjourned sine die.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, August 28, 1902.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS in wholesale groceries this week has been fair for the season, but the markets are quiet as they usually are during August. The wholesale jobbers are making preparations for a big trade in September and the months following. In the canned goods market the situation in salmon is the feature most important. Reliable reports from the Coast estimate the pack of this year some 1,750,000 cases short of what it was last year and the latest quotations from the Coast have maintained the advance of 30 to 40c. per case on British Columbian salmon. Some orders have been placed for new crop tomatoes at open prices, the uncertainty prevailing as to the crop of this year making it impossible to settle on a fixed quotation. In teas the demand for Ceylon greens has been probably increased by the scarcity and dearness of Japans, and if the high prices of the latter continue buyers will be more inclined to turn their attention to the former. Ceylon blacks on the local market still show good value and the trade in them continues good. Coffees are quiet with a little call for green Rios. Rice and tapioca are in moderate demand.

CANNED GOODS.

Peas and corn have been quite active and a number of orders have been placed for this season's tomatoes at open prices, the uncertainty of how this year's crop would turn out making it impossible to buy them in any other way. Stocks of these three vegetables in the hands of the local jobbers are light and the market will likely be bare of stocks of these during the year to come. We quote: Tomatoes, $1.15 up; corn, 80c. up and peas, 82½c. up. The amount of trade doing in meats has not been of much account. There is now an active demand for salmon as dealers have come to the conclusion that it is unwise for them to delay any longer in booking their orders, as there will be no lowering of prices on this year's pack. Reports from the Coast all confirm the earlier advices regarding a shortage in the pack of this season on the Fraser River. In a letter to the trade here J. H. Todd & Co., of Victoria, B.C., say that there will be a very short pack of Fraser River salmon this season, and that a heavy advance in prices may be looked for in canned salmon. The total pack on the Sound and Fraser River in 1901 was about 2,200,000 cases. This year the total pack, they say, will not exceed 500,000 cases, leaving a shortage of 1,750,000 cases this year.

COFFEES

The local coffee market is quiet in tone and the bulk of the trade continues in green Rios. There have been sharp advances on the outside markets, where the buying has been active, owing to reports of damage done to the crop in Brazil by recent frosts. One cable stated that 80 per cent. of the young trees were destroyed, while another estimates the loss at about 100,000 to 150,000 young trees. We quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

NUTS.

The tone of the local nut market continues quiet and prices are unchanged. On the outside markets Brazilian nuts are higher and filberts are strong, with little disposition to move at the prices at present offered.

See pages 49 and 50 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John and Halifax prices current.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Trade in rice and tapioca is of a moderate nature on the local market. The outside rice market is reported quiet with prices reported sagged, especially for the new crop Honduras grades, which were offered with increased freedom. The new crop in the South will not begin to move, according to the latest reports, until after October 1. Our quotations are now as follows: B rice, 3½c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Quietness continues in syrups and molasses and the prices are unchanged. Blackstrap on the outside markets was fairly free, but the demand was moderate, causing the market to show an absence of tone.

SPICES

In spices little business is as yet being experienced by local jobbers, and the market is unchanged. Cable advices from the East continue to report firm markets for pepper.

SUGAR.

Business in sugar continues to hold back on the local market, but an active demand is expected in a few days, as soon as the canneries get in full operation. A slightly easier market for beet sugar is reported from London, Eng., by recent cable advices, and prices showed a partial decline. In the United States raws are steady and refined holds firm in tone with a fairly full volume of business. Refiners are from three to five days behind in their shipments of assorted orders, and some even were reported from one to two weeks late in their shipments. The receipts of raws for the week in the Republic amounted to 34,376 tons and the meltings were 45,000 tons, leaving the total stock in the four ports 137,515 tons, as against 148,139 tons last week and 190,616 tons last year. The prices of raws are expected to rule steady as there is no probability of any great quantity being placed for sale in the immediate future, and the indications are that although large arrivals are expected within the next few weeks, that such unsold sugars as may yet come can be readily placed on a basis of ⅜ for 96 deg. test. Holders of sugar in Cuba are not offering freely. Large shipments of Java sugars will be made, which should arrive in the United States in February, March and April next year, in time to compete with the next Cuban crop. It is calculated on later data that the total crop of the Island of Cuba will probably reach 840,000 tons.

TEAS.

On the local market the demand is at present principally for the black teas of India and Ceylon. There is also some demand for Ceylon greens, which has probably been increased on account of Japans keeping so high and scarce. Ceylon blacks show good value. Cables from London, Eng., say that the better qualities of orange pekoes there were a little dearer, and from China cables report a slight easing off in the prices of young hysons, but figures are still stiff from 10 to 15 per cent. higher than last season. On the London, Eng., markets Ceylon teas met with a fair demand. A rather large selection of this growth of Java teas met with a steady demand, and a few parcels of medium Indian tea sold rather cheaply. A cable this week from Calcutta reports a firmer market.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The local demand for currants is easing off a little. Some lower quotations on this season's crop arrived at the end of last week, but cables this week report considerable damage to the growing crop by rains, and a hardening of prices. About one-third of the crop is reported to be cut and on the drying grounds, and any rains would seriously damage the fruit after it is cut. We quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c. and Patras, 6¼ to 7c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—These are almost out of the market. We quote as follows: Selects, 8½ to 9c.

DATES.—Very little business is doing in dates. We quote: Dates, in bulk, 4½c. and in packages, 6¼ to 6½c.

PRUNES.—This line continues quiet and unchanged. Prices of all lines of prunes on the Coast are firmly held. We now quote: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—Quotations for Californian figs are now on the market, but they are not attracting the serious attention of the trade, as Californian figs have not the quality of Smyrna fruit and are not likely to seriously compete with the Turkish figs until the quality of the Californian fruit is considerably improved. Our quotations are now: 11 to 14c. per lb. for peaches and 13 to 17c. for apricots. New Santa Clara apricots are quoted f.o.b. the Coast at 7c. in 50-lb. boxes, and 7½c. in 25-lb. boxes in carload lots.

GREEN FRUITS.

With the advance of the season the arrivals of apples, peaches, plums and pears on the local market become heavy and prices settle on a more solid basis. The receipts of tomatoes are quite free, but the prices are not much lower than they were a week ago. The first Canadian grapes were offered on the market this week and sold fairly well. Crabapples are also coming in. The watermelon season will soon be over. Huckleberries are becoming scarce and a better quality of peaches has begun to arrive. Peaches, ordinary, 18 to 25c. and best, 75c. to $1.25 per basket; plums, 30 to 50c.; pears, 25 to 50c.; apples, 10 to 15c.; muskmelons, 40c.; huckleberries, $1.10 to $1.25; grapes, 50c.; crabapples, 25c.; peppers, 25 to 40c.; watermelons, $17 to $25 per 100; Californian plums, $1.50 per case; ditto pears, $2.25 per case; ditto, peaches, $1.25 to $1.50 per case; ditto grapes, $2.50 per case; Californian late Valencia oranges, $5.50 to $5.75; Messina lemons, $1.50 to $2.50 per case; and bananas, $1.25 to $2.25 per bunch.

VEGETABLES.

Business in vegetables continues to be slow. Corn is more plentiful and has dropped 5 to 7c. per dozen. Cabbage and celery are plentiful and are moderately active. We quote: Green onions, 8 to 30c. per dozen; rhubarb, 20 to 30c. per dozen; lettuce, 20 to 25c. per dozen; radishes, 20 to 25c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; turnips, 30c. per dozen; cauliflower, 50c. to $1.50 per dozen; cabbage, 30 to 50c. per dozen and $1 per barrel; carrots, 15c. to 20c. per dozen; beets, 15c. per basket; new potatoes, 50 to 60c. per bush; beans, 20c. per basket; celery, 50 to 75c. per dozen; vegetable marrow, 75c. per doz.; corn, 8 to 15c. per doz.; squashes, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; egg plant, 75c. to $1 per doz.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—The arrivals of these are still large and receipts continue to show a large shrinkage. The local demand for strictly fresh gathered has improved and the prices are firm. The second grades are a little easier. We quote: Strictly fresh, 15 to 16c. per doz.; ordinary candled, 14 to 14½c.; and low grades and checks, 11 to 12c.

BEANS.—Trade in these is not heavy, but shortages in the crop have induced holders to advance prices. Handpicked are quoted at $1.50 to $1.60 and prime, $1.50 to $1.60 per bushel.

HONEY.—The new crop has turned out better than anticipated and as it is now on the market prices have taken a drop of 2½ to 3c. per lb. Quite a large stock of this produce has been carried over from last year. We quote: Honey, in 60-lb. tins, 7 to 8c.; in less quantities, 8 to 9c. and combs, $1.40 to $1.60 per dozen.

POULTRY.—The demand is good for poultry in general. Live chickens are much wanted. Young chickens are worth 50 to 60c.; old, 40 to 50c. and ducks, 60 to 65c. per pair. Turkeys, dry picked, are quoted at 11 to 12½c. per lb. and live chickens, 50 to 55c. per pair.

POTATOES.—The market for these continues steady at 35 to 45c. per bushel.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter market is inactive. Large quantities are being offered at country points, and although the prices are weak very little business is being done. Only goods of the best quality are meeting with attention. Some inquiry continues for choice creamery for export. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. rolls, 15 to 16c.; selected dairy, tubs, 15c.; store packed, uniform color, 13½ to 14c.; low grades, 11 to 12½c.; creamery prints, 19 to 20c. and solids, 18½ to 19c.

CHEESE.—Business in cheese is a little unsettled. The make continues large and the exports to date from the port of Montreal alone show an increase of over 250,000 boxes over the same period last year. The local demand is now good. The finest is now quoted at 10¼ to 10½c. and seconds and culls, 9½ to 10c. per lb.

FISH.

The demand for whitefish and trout exceeds the supply. Trade in other lines continues brisk and Lake Erie herring are meeting with good sales. The prices all round are firm. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 9c.; and pike, 6c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 9c.; blue fish, 15c. per lb.; mackerel, 15 to 20c.; rock bass, 4c.; speckled trout, 25 to 30c.; halibut, 15c.; Niagara whitefish, 9c. per lb.; blue pike, 4c. per lb.; live lobsters, 25c. per lb., with very few offering.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN.—There has been no change in the prices of Manitoba and Northern wheat, nor is there likely to be any until the new crop is ready for the market. Very little of the old crop is left. We quote: Manitoba No. 1 hard, 85c. per bush; No. 1 Northern, 84c. and No. 2 Northern, 82c. per bushel. On the local market the arrivals of all kinds of grain have been light. We quote: Oats, new, 36½c. per bush.; old, 47c.; white wheat, 75 to 79c.; red wheat, 70 to 75c.; rye, 50c. and barley, 47c.

FLOUR.—There has been a decline of 10c. per bbl. in the prices of Ontario patent flours. Trade is steady with no special demand. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.50 to $3.65; Hungarian patents, $4 to $4.10; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS.—There has been quite an improvement in the demand for rolled oats, and dealers throughout the country have commenced to stock up for the fall trade. Rolled wheat is selling freely and trade in the other lines is fair. Our quotations are as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $5.20; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.90 per bbl.; in wood, 10c. extra; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $4; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25 in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES.—There is a fair demand for hides, and stocks are bought up well. The market is steady. We quote: No. 1 green, 8c.; No. 2 green, 7c.; No. 1 green, steers, 9c.; No. 2 green, steers, 8c.; cured, 8½ to 9c. per lb.

SKINS.—Trade in skins is fair and the stocks are readily bought up. We quote: Veal skins, 6 to 14 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 10c.; No. 2, 8c.; do., 15 to 20 lb. inclusive, No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies), 60 to 70c. each; shearlings, and lambskins, 40c.

WOOL.—The market for this article is inactive and prices are steady. Fleece wool is quoted at 13½c. and unwashed, 7½c. per lb.

TALLOW.—There is a good demand for tallow and prices are firm. We quote 6¾ to 7c. per lb.

MARKET NOTES.

Ontario patent flours have gone down 10c. per bbl.

There has been a decline of 2 to 2½c. per lb. in honey.

The bean market is firm and prices are up considerably.

There has been an advance of 30 to 40c. per case on British Columbian canned salmon.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, August 28, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE week in wholesale grocery circles has been an active one. Although a number of changes of interest to the trade, which are here given, are reported, there has been no striking feature during the week. Among the quotable changes are Upton's jams, jellies and marmalade, in glass jars and pails. They have been reduced, the jars now being quoted at 95 to 97½c. per doz., and in pails the new price is 6¼ to 6½c. per lb. Cornmeal has weakened somewhat, and is now quoted at $1.80 per bag. Pearl barley has advanced from $4 25 to $4.75 in sympathy with the recent weakness in the fresh meat market. Clark's corned beef and ready lunch has been reduced to $1.55 for 1-lbs. and $2.75 for 2-lbs. Jones' pork has again advanced, and is now $25.25. Canadian bottled pickles have become scarce. Some lines are entirely out of the market.

SUGAR.

No new feature of importance has developed in the Quebec sugar market since last week. Trade continues fairly active, both local and country buyers buying freely. But although business with jobbers is of this satisfactory nature, refiners report things quiet. New York reports give the market for raw sugar as still firm. Locally, prices are $3.65 for granulated sugar, and $3 to $3.55 for yellows.

TEAS.

Jobbers report an increased demand from country points for teas. The market for Japans is quiet, but somewhat firmer. It is doubtful if any old Japan teas are left in first hands. As to the third crop, which is now occupying the attention of buyers, it is felt that prices will be well maintained. It is reported that although the cup quality is good, the leaf is not as nice, as there was less care in preparing it. A recent cable states that it will be difficult to fill Canadian orders. Ceylon green teas are ½c. higher and are firmer at the new price. Blacks are also stronger. In China greens the market has also declined on highest grades, but the liquor is not as fine. On medium teas prices are higher, if anything.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business in corn syrups is not of a very active character, and the market is featureless. No notable changes occur and prices are as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½-bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼-bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails. As to Barbados molasses, the market has not, as yet, improved at all. Business in small lots continues to be about all there is doing in this line. The price is 23 to 24c. In Antigua and Porto Rico molasses there is very little doing. The former is quoted at 24c., while Porto Rico molasses is worth 38c. for finest grade.

SPICES.

There is no quotable change to report this week. Trade continues brisk, and the market is steady on all lines. Our quotations are as follows: Nutmegs, 35 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb., as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c.; and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

These lines continue to be in fair demand at unchanged prices. We quote: B rice, in bags, $3.02½; in ½ bags, $3.07½; in ¼ bags, $3.12½; in pockets, $3.17½. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $2.92½ in bags; $2.97½ in ½ bags; $3.02½ in ¼ bags, and $3.07½ in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4 to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3½c.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods is of a most satisfactory nature. In spot goods there is no change in prices. In tomatoes to arrive, however, it is reported that in view of the prospects for a small crop, many canners have withdrawn prices. Jobbers have felt that the situation warrants them in advancing prices, which they have accordingly done. For future delivery we now quote: Tomatoes, $1.05 to $1.10; corn, 80 to 85c.; peas, 80c. to $1.20; string beans, 80 to 85c.; strawberries, $1.45 to $1.60; raspberries, $1.45 to $1.60; gooseberries, $1.45 to $1.60; pears, 2's, $1.60 to $1.70; 3's, $2.10 to $2.15; peaches, 2's, $1.65 to $1.70; 3's, $2.50 to $2.75; 3-lb. apples, 85 to 90c.; gallon apples, $2.10 to $2.20; 2-lb. sliced pineapples, $2.20 to $2.30; grated pineapples, $2.50; pumpkins, 95c. to $1; spinach, $1.50; sugar beets, 95c. to $1. We quote spot goods as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, 82½ to 85c.; tomatoes, $1.12½ to $1.17½; gallon apples, $2.50; salmon, pink, 92 to 95c.; spring, $1.25; Rivers Inlet red sockeye, $1.30; Fraser River red sockeye, $1.40.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—On the local market no change is reported. A fair demand continues at the following prices: Fine Filiatras, 5⅛ to 5¼c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 5⅝ to 5¾c.; 1-lb. cartons, 6½ to 7c.; finest Vostizzas, 6¼ to 7c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Practically no spot stock exists. In sympathy with the market in Spain some sales of 1902 crop have been effected at higher prices.

SULTANA RAISINS—The price quoted is 9½c. per lb. Opening prices on 1902 crop have been made by one interest in Smyrna on a basis of 35 to 37s. per cwt. f.o.b., 3-crown grade.

CANDIED PEELS—There is no change. A fair business is doing. We quote: Citron, 15c.; orange, 11½c.; lemon, 10½c. per lb.

MALAGA RAISINS—All reports indicate a good crop in these raisins. A good demand still exists in the local market, and prices are: London layers, $1 50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3 35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4 60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES—In accordance with the state of the primary market dates have been advanced ½c. per lb., and Hallowees are now quoted at 5c.

FIGS—There is little doing in this line. Nothing further regarding new stock has been learned.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—These are going as usual. The market is steady, and we quote: Pears, 10c.; peaches, 10½c.; apricots, 14½c.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS—The demand in seeded keeps up very well. The market is steady. Seeded raisins are quoted at 9¾ to 10½c. per lb.

PRUNES—These are in good demand, with no new feature on the market. Quotations are: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

NUTS.

Tarragona almonds and shelled walnuts have both advanced. Other lines are steady, and a fairly active market prevails. We now quote: Walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 17½ to 18½c.; shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; filberts, 9c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

GREEN FRUITS.

Business during the week has been very good. Californian pears have advanced 25 to 50c. per box. Canadian basket tomatoes are now on the market, and are selling at 30 to 40c. per basket. New Messina lemons have appeared. They are quoted at $3 50 per box. We quote: Jamaica oranges, in bbls., $7.50, in boxes, $4.25; Sorrento oranges, $3 75 to $4 per box; Messina lemons, $3.50 per box; pineapples, 13 to 20c.; cocoanuts, $3.25 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2, and eight-hands, $1 to $1.50; cucumbers, 11c. per doz.; Canadian cabbage, 75c. per bbl.; potatoes, $1.15 to $1.30 per bbl.; watermelons, 25c.; muskmelons, $3.50 per crate; blackberries, 5 to 7c. per box; peaches, $1.25 per box; plums, $1.25 to $1.75 per box; pears, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; limes, $1.50 per box; Canadian peaches, 30 to 35c. per basket; plums, 40c. per basket; blueberries, $1.50 per box; Canadian apples, in barrel, $1 to $1.50, in baskets, 20 to 30c.; egg plant, $1.10 per basket; Canadian basket tomatoes, 30 to 40c. per basket; Canadian pears, 40c. per basket; Spanish onions, $1 per crate, $3 per case.

FISH.

Haddies are a little higher this week, but otherwise prices are unchanged. A fair business is doing in the general list of fresh fish. We quote: Haddies, 7½c.; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 4 to 4½c. per lb.; whitefish, 8 to 8½c.; dore 8 to 8½c.; pike, 6 to 6½c.; halibut, 12c.; salmon, 16c.; trout, large and medium, 8½ to 9c.; No. 1 herring, Nova Scotian, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl., and $2.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herring, $6.50 per ½ bbl., and 95c. per keg; Holland herring, 75c. per keg; No. 1 green codfish, $5 per bbl.; mackerel $12.50 per bbl.; boneless cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dried codfish, $4.74 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces, and in barrels $12.50; No. 1 British-Columbian salmon, $6 per ½ bbl., and $12 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Marshall's kippered herring, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Nothing of particular importance has taken place in the butter market. Trade has been rather quiet, but prices, on the whole, have been well maintained. We quote: Fancy Townships creamery, 18¾ to 19¼c.; finest Ontario creamery, 18 to 18¼c.; dairy, 15½ to 16c.

CHEESE—The market is reported a little easier this week. The demand is not large, but although offerings are fairly good, stocks have not accumulated to any great extent. Finest Ontario, white and colored, is quoted a little lower, being now 9⅝ to 9¾c. Fines Townships, white and colored, 9½ to 9⅝c.; finest Quebec, white and colored, 9¾ to 9½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—No quotable change is reported in this market. Business continues fairly

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

Office of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., August 25, 1902.

BUSINESS has shown rather an improvement during the week, and with the opening of September a much increased volume of sales is expected. The buying of dried fruits is a matter of interest. The outlook is for higher prices than last year. The outlook is that Malaga loose muscatels will be quite freely sold this season. In pork and beef, barrelled, Chicago quoted rather lower prices, but stocks are light. Cream of tartar is held very firm at the advanced price. The stock held here is light. The meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade at Sydney, during the past week, was attended by quite a number of our leading business men.

OIL—In burning oil increased business is being done. There is also the booking of fall orders, which is about completed. Prices have favored buyers and are unchanged. In paint oils, prices are also unchanged. Lubricating oils continue to have a large demand. The season has been exceptionally good. Cod oil is quite freely received. The lower prices are unchanged.

SALT—In Liverpool coarse salt, there is a continued large sale. Stocks are lighter than usual at this season. There is quite a quantity afloat for here. Prices are held firmer at full figures. Those in want should have their orders in so as to have shipment from ship's side. In fine salt, there is good, steady sale. A small stock of English mineral salt is always held here. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 55 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.75 to $2.85 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22 to 23c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (selected lumps).

CANNED GOODS—New goods continue to arrive. While new peas are about the only vegetable received, they are held firm at full figures. There is very little stock of old tomatoes here. Our dealers have bought quite freely, and at right figures. At present prices have been withdrawn by packers. Fruits have little sale. Dealers have largely placed their orders. The feeling in gallon apples seems firmer for local packed than earlier in the season. Spot market is bare. Salmon are higher, and a further advance is looked for. Dealers have not bought full stocks. Meats are less in demand. Oysters are rather higher. Domestic fish, such as haddies, herring and sardines, are freely offered.

GREEN FRUITS—Business is very active. The first car of Ontario fruit is to hand, consisting of plums, pears and peaches. Prices are quite low. The Georgia peaches are the best we receive. Californians are quite low this season, as are pears, and the quality of the latter is particularly good. Barrelled pears are freely offered. Bananas have been rather scarce. In oranges, Jamacias are freely received, and the stock is good. Lemons are rather lower. The sale has been light, as the season has been cold. Apples are rather firmer, but with New Brunswick stock right to hand prices will be lower. American grapes are here and Ontarios are expected shortly. Native tomatoes are now offered. Melons are low and about out of season.

DRIED FRUITS—There has been considerable interest in raisins during the week, and in Malagas, both layers and loose muscatels have been bought. Dealers are put at a great disadvantage by the prices on Californians not being named till so late. It is said Valencias will be quite high. Spot loose and seeded are higher. Stock is light. In currants, prices are rather lower. New cleaned will be imported direct this season. Prunes have little sale. While new will be late, prices will be low. New evaporated apples are quoted. Prices are quite high. In dates, package goods have a light sale. Onions keep high.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs are rather higher. Prices have ruled at full figures all through the summer. Butter is but a fair sale, and only best stock has prompt movement. Cheese is rather firmer.

SUGAR—The sale is large, and, while prices are unchanged, the market is quite firm, so that dealers keep fully stocked.

MOLASSES—In this line there is but a fair demand. The competition has been keen, and the retail trade has been kept fully stocked. Porto Rico has the market.

FISH—Business is rather light. Fresh fish are scarce, even such stand-bys as cod and haddock. A few halibut are seen and some mackerel. Dry cod are being received, but the demand is not active. Pollock are also quiet. In finnan haddies there is little sale and but few are offered. Smoked herring are rather easier owing to quite a quantity coming on the market this week. Pickled herring are dull at easy figures. Pickled shad are very scarce. We quote as follows: Haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 6 to 6½c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.85 per half bbl.; dry cod, $3.40 to $3.55; halibut, 11 to 12c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In Manitoba flour prices are unchanged and the market easy. In Ontario flours lower prices are expected with new wheat. Feed is still scarce and high. Oats and oatmeal have a fair sale, and prices are firmly held. Beans are rather easier. Cornmeal is unchanged. Barley is in fair supply. Peas are scarce. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.70 to $4.80; best Ontario, $4.30 to $4.45; medium, $3.95 to $4.10; oatmeal, $5.45 to $5.50; cornmeal, $3.30 to $3.25; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 56 to 57c.; hand-picked beans, $1.75 to $1.60; prime, $1.65 to $1.70; yellow-eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $5.15 to $5.25; barley, $4.40 to $4.50; hay, $10 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Jones & Schofield are making quite a specialty of cheese.

Mr. Gunn, of D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., called on THE GROCER last week.

The Exhibition, which opens next Saturday, promises to be one of the best we have ever had.

Pickling spice is now being largely sold. That packed by The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. has a large sale.

Baird & Peters are actively pushing the sale of Christie's biscuits, and since they took over the business the sale has largely increased.

Wm. White, representing The Wm. Davies Co., is again in the city, making this his headquarters for Maritime trade. During the time Mr. White has been here for this house he has worked up a large connection.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, August 25, 1902.

ANOTHER week of fine weather has added to the security of the crop, and, as the full of the August moon has been passed without frost, farmers and merchants are beginning to breathe more freely. Harvesting is general in Manitoba and will be so in the Territories by the end of another week. Harvesters continue to arrive by the hundred and the thousand, and still the West cries "more, more." Something under 5,000 have arrived up to date of writing, and the estimated need of the country is 20,000. The men coming this year are a very fine class, and a large proportion look like trained agriculturists. The British editors coming in the other day had a unique experience. Eighteen colonist coaches of harvesters were attached to the regular express, the Pullman being the last of 22 coaches, and they had the pleasure of seeing the harvesters disembark. It was a fine sight; and perhaps more than anything else gave our British visitors an idea of the needs and possibilities of the West.

Business is good and everyone is busy. Markets are steady in nearly all lines.

CANNED SALMON—One of the features of interest is the salmon market. Latest reports here give the Puget Sound pack at about one-quarter and the Fraser River one-third of last year. Quotations for new salmon are still withdrawn from this market, and last year's stocks have been advanced about 35c. per case, present quotations being: Cohoes, white, $3 75; cohoes, pink, $4.75, and sockeyes, $3.75 per case.

CANNED VEGETABLES—The situation as to the reports of the corn and tomato pack shows an improvement for the week. Quotations are withdrawn, and all orders accepted subject to pack, only a very small percentage of deliveries being guaranteed. Peas and beans are higher in proportion than they should be, in sympathy with corn and tomatoes. There is an increasing demand here for canned asparagus, and this season the supply from California is not equal to the demand, not from any shortage of crop, but from the increased consumption. One or two houses here are importing asparagus from France.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED FRUITS—All reports now indicate that currants are a good crop, and that prices will be lower. Jobbers are not prepared to give the opening prices for new goods as yet. In the meantime the best grades of last year's goods, cleaned, sell at 7c. Reports of Valencia raisins continue to indicate a shortage in the crop owing to hot weather, and no quotations are given, but it is generally understood the advance will be from 10 to 15c. per box higher than the quotations given when the market opened. Sultanas are reported a heavy crop, and prices will rule about the same as last year. The crop of Californian muscatels is also large. In Californian evaporated fruits, the supply is large, and peaches, apricots and nectarines are offering freely. Apricots of choice quality and new goods sell at 10c. There are no peaches on the market. Some houses are offering a fine line of last year's goods at 7c.; white nectarines, 9c.; red nectarines, 8½c.; red pitted plums, 8½c. Reports of prunes indicate a good supply, but jobbers are not yet willing to quote prices.

COFFEE—There is a steady market, and prices are firmer. No. 5 Rio is worth 8¾ to 9¼c.

SUGAR—Demand is good and there is no change in price, extra standard granulated being $4 35, and bright yellow $3.75 per cwt.

FLOUR—Local trade is rather more active than at the close of last week, and foreign inquiry, especially from Australia, is increasing. Prices are without change: No. 1, $2.05 per 98 lb.; No. 2, $1.90; No. 3, $1.75; No. 4, $1.60.

CEREALS—This is always a slow market at this season of the year. The only line moving at all actively is rolled oats, the shipments being mainly eastward. Prices are without change: Rolled oats, 80c. to $2.20; 40's, $1.15; 20's, 60c.; granulated and standard, $2.75 for the 98-lb. sack; split peas, $2.90 for the 98-lb. sack; pot barley, $2.25; pearl barley, $3.50; cornmeal, $1.80; white beans, $1.85 to $1 90 and liable to further advance.

BUTTER—The market is not a very satisfactory one at present owing to the weakness of prices at Montreal. Creamery butter is increasing in supply and quotations are slightly lower, 16½ to 17c. being about the top of the market. Dairy butter is not so plentiful this week owing to the increased consumption in the country incident to harvest. This decline in supply has helped prices a little and 13c. Winnipeg is quoted for the best grade.

CHEESE—The market is firm with good demand. Offerings are rather light for the season. Prices are unchanged at 9 to 9½c.

EGGS—Supplies are still very light and dealers are offering 15c. Winnipeg for all fresh-gathered eggs.

INTERVIEW WITH MR. COWAN.

One of the visitors in Winnipeg this week was Mr. Cowan, of The Cowan Chocolate Co., of Toronto. Mr. Cowan is returning from his first trip to the Coast, having gone there by way of the Northern Pacific. In conversation with THE GROCER correspondent Mr. Cowan said: "I am very glad that I went out by the Northern Pacific, as I was so much better able to appreciate the fertility of our own Northwest, after the 1,000 miles or so of barren land we passed through on the Northern Pacific. It seems to me that much of the sage bush land in Montana, and even in Washington, can never be reclaimed, even by irrigation. The contrast was the more startling because they had had heavy rain in Alberta just before I came through, and as soon as one came to the foothills of the Rockies everything was green and fresh and one could see vast herds of sheep and fat cattle grazing, then on through the wheat fields of Assinboia and Manitoba.

"To be a Canadian is surely good enough for anyone. It is a great good country. I found business in the Coast cities much better than I had anticipated. There was no rush, but business appeared steady and satisfactory. I did not touch the Kootenay, as I had not time. Business in Winnipeg has also been satisfactory, and we shall devote ourselves more and more to the Western trade. One very pleasant feature of Western trade is the demand for high-class goods."

Fire Notice.

By reason of the very disastrous fire which occurred in our works on the 12th inst., we lost almost the whole of our Stock, and the Plant was damaged to a very considerable extent. However, we are putting forth every effort to get things in shape at the earliest possible moment, and will, in a very short time, notify our numerous customers and the trade generally when our factory will be in full running order again. Meanwhile we crave their indulgence.

While deeply regretting the great loss this fire has occasioned, we feel sure that the new machinery we will need to purchase will put us in a better position than ever to serve the interests of our many patrons throughout the Dominion.

Assuring the trade of our heartiest thanks for all past favors.

"Marguerite" Cigars

you think some other kind would have done better, would have brought more trade, or satisfied your customers better, we'll pay you back again for the lot.

Fair, isn't it? We couldn't afford to make this offer to 5,000 grocers, if we were putting out cigars we weren't sure of.

But we are sure of "Marguerites."

CANADIAN PRODUCTS IN ENGLAND.

A. F. MACLAREN, M.P., of Stratford, colloquially known as the "cheese king," is at the Walker House after a sojourn of several weeks in England.

"I was in London for 30 days," said Mr. MacLaren to The Mail and Empire last night, "and it was like a 30-days' trip around the world, such was the diversity of peoples assembled for the Coronation. With regard to Canada's relations with England, the fact that struck me most was that all the other parts of the Empire—Australia, New Zealand and India—were much better known in England than Canada. The average Englishman has just begun to wake up to the fact that there is such a country as Canada on the map."

"What about a preference?"

"Well, I think Canada can obtain a sentimental preference if she keeps her goods to the fore," said Mr. MacLaren. "Five years ago the English business man did not care a button whether he dealt with Canadians or Americans; in fact, the latter enjoyed the greater prestige. Now all that is changed; all things being equal, the Englishman is anxious to buy from Canadians in preference to Americans. I did not hear the question of a tariff preference very much discussed.

"To reap the full advantage of the sentiment to which I have alluded Canada must aggressively press her wares on the attention of the British people. Russia is making a desperate bid for the English market in dairy and agricultural products. Particularly is this the case with regard to butter and cheese. Canada at present sells to England 70 per cent. of the cheese she imports, but Russia is beginning to undersell us. In the matter of butter this is especially marked; the Russians are placing their butter on the market at 10s. on the cwt. cheaper than Canadians can do at the present time. To meet this competition we must have cheaper freight rates and cheaper insurance on the St. Lawrence route. Exporters are laboring under an immense disadvantage in this matter at the present time.

"We must have commercial agents in all the chief cities of England to press the interests of Canada, and we must deliver our products in better shape than we have been doing. There is a great market awaiting our fruits if some care is taken in this direction. The system of handling at the point of delivery must be improved. Cold storage transportation is valueless unless there are proper facilities for handling the goods at the other end. It would be the duty of the commercial agent to look to this. Lord Strathcona is doing magnificent work to advertise Canada, but the High Commissioner's office cannot look to these matters.

"My idea would be to have an agent-general at London, who would appoint deputies at Bristol, Liverpool, Manchester, and other points. The whole staff could meet once a month and discuss measures to press Canada's wares. Their operations might be extended to Europe also. Some such measures are absolutely necessary if we are to make a showing in the race for business."

AUSTRALIAN TRADE.

COFFEE DRINKING IN GREAT BRITAIN.

It has often been urged in explanation of the large demand for tea, as compared with coffee, that there is an absence of push in connection with the latter product, and that there is scope for enterprise in connection with coffee, in which the planter might take a hand. One explanation offered as to the decline of coffee drinking in the British Isles is that genuine coffee has been superseded to the consumer by bottles of a concoction which may contain a proportion of coffee, which is thick and comparatively flavorless, but above all which is recommended for its ease and quickness of preparation. Never mind, if it is not so refreshing to the palate and suggestive to the higher instincts of the mind, in can be "prepared in one minute." Of course, really good coffee is a different thing, but it cannot be prepared in a minute, and tea can, or in three minutes. Whether it would pay to run any special growths of coffee or to advertise, say, the merits of Indian coffee in particular is a question that could only be decided by an expert. Anyway, a Californian company is experimenting in the direction of pushing the sale of coffee by issuing a booklet entitled, "What You Don't Know About Coffee," or "Or an Answer to the Decryers of the 'Intellectual Drink.'" In it is told all that needs to be known what coffee is, as a drink, its effect on the system, as a medicine, as a berry, and last and not least, how to make it.—Home and Colonial Mail.

GRAIN BY CANADIAN ROUTES.

The continued increase in the exports of grain via Canadian routes, as compared with New York, is the subject of a statement issued by the Canal Association of Greater New York. The statement is entitled, "Object Lesson No. 8," and shows that since the opening of navigation to August 1, over 6,000,000 bushels more wheat were shipped via the Canadian routes. The following figures give the total amount of wheat exported during May, June and July, this year, by the two routes:

| | Bushels. |
|---|---|
| Via Canadian routes | 11,613,896 |
| Via New York | 4,899,371 |
| Canadian excess | 6,714,525 |
| Canadian inc. over 1901 | 3,034,289 |
| New York dec. from 1901 | 4,394,187 |

The growth of the Canadian shipments is attributed to the Dominion's activity in increasing and developing water transportation facilites. Attention is also called in the statement to the fact that the movement of grain through the port of Buffalo for July showed a decrease of nearly 200,000 barrels of flour and over 6,000,000 bushels in wheat, as compared with the same month last year, showing that the lake grain traffic is being diverted from Buffalo.
